George Lynch was referee and he evidently had the hook out for the Examiner team, who were constantly being penalized for trivial offences. Craig was the worst offender, getting three sentences for tripping and throwing his stick. Burridge, Clarke Theobald also fractured the hockey laws, or at least the referee said they did, and were sent to the side. Meanwhile the Review team were doing everything but committing murder and were allowed to go unpunished.

About six hundred wildly excited fans saw the contest and the rooting was something terrific, the Examiner team being the odds or favourites from the start. The proceeds will result in a neat sum for the Children's Aid Society, under whose auspices the game was played.

Below will be found the cast:

Review	Examiner

D. Tecumseh Dobbin	... Josiah Craig

About the play itself there is little to be said. The Examiner lead from the start, pressing from the face off, but for some moments could not score. Then Craig broke loose from the nets, passed to Huston, who handed it over to Theobald and the latter tobied it back to the goal keeper, who drove it past Dobbin. Then came the downfall and before half time the Examiner has spilled five pails of whitewash over the losers. At the turn the score board read Examiner 5, Review 0.

In the beginning of the second half the Review scored their first goal, McGuire doing the trick. The Examiner tallied again and then the Review got their second, leaving the score 6—2. Then the great team representing this journal rattled in eight goals in a row, while the Review players gazed at them in pained surprise and with envious feelings. Craig jumped his job and did his best for the Review in the last

Notes by a Fan

Clarke and Burridge were immense, and have never been seen to better advantage.

Craig appeared in a diving suit and got down to everything in sight and out of sight.

Tiny Tim Yokome's sly glances at his opponents' feet were a feature of the evening.

Dinny Dobbin complained after

every goal was scored that a string was broken in his stick.

Craig's specialty was stopping shots that were not on the goal.

Huston, who played a brilliant game at centre, was moved on several times by an officer for loitering.

MacRae looked neat and clean in his new uniform, which only cost the laundry bill, 33 cents.

Burns had a peculiar feature of bodying himself—when he shaped up

Thompson played a silent game at point.

MacRae put us in mind of a poultry show on skates.

There was a long delay until Robertson appeared, which proved to be the longest thing on the ice.

The spectators complained of Clarke

Wilson had his hair nicely parted but a bump from Clarke put him all to the bad.

McGuire was seen appealing to the relief officer at half time, which made his team mates think he was looking for the shutter.

A Chopping Yokome looks good for the stone heap. At times he was brilliant but only at times. He swung his hockey stick like Simon Legree in Uncle Tom's Cabin.

Passed to rest on Thursday, Feb. 27th, 1907, in the first year of its age, after a brief but agonizing illness, the Review hockey team of 1907. Quos amant dii ex-peterent juvenes.

Mascot Benny Taylor, of the Examiner, says he can see no "proof" that the Review had anything to "copy" off in learning the game.

The referee should have penalized Gatineau MacRae for making "falls" moves.

The Examiner team is evidently in the same class as Stratford. The score was almost too big.

Reviewing the situation, our opponents were at a disadvantage—the space in the cellar being too small for working out a combination.

MacRae and McGuire appeared in a very humourous sketch, "Not Much."

Strathcona Wilson just arrived from the High Commissioner's office for the game.

MacRae did not look like a bottle of Guiness' stout, but some others on the ice did.

There was ease in MacRae's manner
As he skated into his place.
There was pride in MacRae's bearing,
And a smile on MacRae's face,
But when his feet slid far apart,
In pair of scissors-like style
The ease had disappeared, alas
The audience had the smile.

McGuire says that every one at his boarding house is in mourning at the result of the game. Even the hash felt out up.

Davy Hartley gained three laps in half an hour when he heard the score. He is eager to get home to shake hands with the Examiner team.

Beef Tea Huston took an over dose of his favourite beverage at half time.

Owing to the non-arrival of Miss Crane's trousseau and Prof. Hoganni's handcuffs, neither of those talented artists were able to take part.

Craig reminded one of that classic ballad, "I don't know where I am going, but I'm one the way."

Robertson was not in shape, but it must be remembered that there is a lot of him to get into condition.

The biggest defence in captivity was there with the bells on.

D.U.B. MacRae was the victim of circumstances in connection with the big game. If he hadn't been the ex-officio manager of the Review team he would not have been on it.

The Examiner was short two men last night—Josiah Craig was wearing his best suits.

The Review's slashing hockey and slashing editorials are very similar—both off-side.

Manager MacRae has lost his job. He has now joined the Dawn-and-Out Club.

Elbert Hubbard says: "Oblivion yawns for the man who thinks nothing, says nothing, and does nothing." The Review team can easily qualify in the first and last respects.

Harry K. Thawobald wishes to state that he had no "Evelyn"-tentions of caressing his cheek too strenuously.

Toronto, Feb. 28.

Examiner, Peterborough:

Congratulations; glad you gave them plenty. Can endorse this.

M. J. HUTCHINSON.

And now all the undertakers are sore because the Examiner refused to be dead ones like the Review seven.

The favour of the ladies was divided between Josiah and D.U.B. The latter was treated to the yellow fruit.

Lady Craig's fine shape was not appreciated. The dressmaker had made a mis-fit.

Mr. Frank Wise, the superintendent for the "City of the dead," announces that he has everything ready for the burial of the Review team—but this is a very grave subject to talk about.

One of the city ministers states that during his Sunday morning service he will make a very touching address on the "Review Deceased."

The referee tried to be fair, but some of the players think he had a very on-fencive way of administering Lynch law.

The report of Roland Maxville Glover, the official stenographer of the press game, while possibly true to fact, is suppressed as unfit for publication.

The funds of the Children's Aid Society will be considerably augmented as a result of the liberal patronage of the game. The rink company and the press teams turned over all the receipts after deducting the expenses of the game.

THE KNOCKERS AND WEST ENDS TO CLASH

Meet To-night From 7 to 8 o'clock at Brock Street Rink.

The Knockers and West Ends will meet at Brock street rink to-night from 7 to 8 o'clock in their second annual game. Last year when they met the West Ends came out second best, the score being 1—0. This year they will endeavour to turn the tables on the Knockers but the latter declare that they will be there all the time. The teams will probably line up as follows:

West Ends.	Knockers.
Goal
R Halpin	Allen

H Barrett	Campbell
Cover Point
C Dobson	Henderson

G Rose	Dorrie

The game should be a fast one as both play fast hockey.

SCHOOL GIRLS HAD A GAME

Picked Team From Form B and C Too Much for Form A Yesterday.

An exciting and somewhat unusual game of hockey was played at the Brock street rink yesterday afternoon between the young ladies of the town forms of the Collegiate Institute. A team picked from Forms B and C defeated the girls of Form A by five goals to one before a big crowd of spectators who rooted vigorously for their favourites. Some of the girls played really clever hockey, and the match was a good one. Miss Hargatone refereed satisfactorily.

WEDDING BELLS.

HARRISON-MATTHEWS

At the rectory of St. John's church at 7.30 o'clock last night Mr. John Harrison and Miss Stella Matthews were joined in holy matrimony by Rev. Canon Davidson. The groom was supported by Mr. Charles Coates and Miss Amy Matthews acted in the capacity of bridesmaid.

PEACOCK-HOOEY

Rev. E. A. Pearson officiated at a quiet wedding, which took place on Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the George Street Methodist Church parsonage, the principals being Miss Edith Gertrude Hooey, of Burkton, and Albert E. Peacock, of Cartwright, son of William John Peacock. They were unattended.

ELPHICK-TUCKER

A quiet wedding took place at "Maple Hall," this town, Tuesday, Feb. 25th, at 1 p.m. The contracting parties were Harry E Elphick, contracting bricklayer of Peterborough, and Miss Emma Beatrice, daughter of William H Tucker of the firm of Tucker Bros., of this town. The ceremony was performed in the presence of the immediate relatives, the officiating clergyman being the Rev. Wm. H. Peake, Methodist minister, of Belleville.

A noticeable fact in this connection is that Mr. Peake officiated at the marriage of the bride's parents. The Rev. Dr. and Mrs. W B Tucker, of the town of St. Johns, Que., were among those present. The bride has grown up in Norwood and has in many ways shown her appreciation of works calculated for the good of society by identifying herself with them in the services of her church. Numerous and valuable presents testified to the high esteem in which she is held. The young couple left by the afternoon train for their home in Peterborough, followed by the well-wishes of their large circle of friends and acquaintances. They become members of the congregation of Charlotte street Methodist church. After March 12th they will be at home at 513 King street in that city.—Norwood Register.

OBITUARY

DAVID KING

The death of our oldest and one of our most respected citizens took place Sunday morning last, when Mr. David King passed away at the advanced age of 91 years and 5 months. Mr. King had lived here for over seventy years and was one of the earliest settlers. His wife predeceased him a few years ago. He leaves six children to mourn his loss, his daughters being Mrs. Woodward of Cannington, Mrs. Murphy of Peterborough, and Miss Tenta, who resides at home; his sons are Mr. D. W. King, Mr. W. P. King and Mr. Edward King, all of Oakwood.

The funeral was one of the largest in our neighbourhood for years. —Oakwood correspondence to Lindsay Post.

A REGULAR CIRCUS

Every Time Children Had to Take Cod Liver Oil.

We have all seen or experienced it—they had to be bribed—their noses held, and some sweets ready as soon as it was swallowed, and even the grown-ups demanded preserves, lemon or coffee in which to take cod liver oil.

That was years ago before two eminent French chemists, Morgues and Gautier, discovered how to separate the medicinal and curative elements of the cod's liver from the useless, nauseating oil, and produced Vinol.

Vinol is not a patent medicine, but a real cod liver preparation, containing in a highly concentrated form all of the body-building, strength-creating and curative elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, with all the useless oil eliminated and peptonate of iron added. It is delicious to take, and children love it.

We ask every mother in Peterborough who has a weak, delicate or ailing child, every run-down, debilitated old aged person, and every person suffering from pulmonary troubles, to try Vinol on our, offer to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. Hartley Still Holds Fifth Place In The Big Race

Misleading Reports Yesterday—He Had Gone 173 Miles At Midnight.

Peterborough's pedestrian David Hartley still stands fifth in the great Kansas City race. Misleading reports have come in on two occasions, but last evening's Toronto papers seemed to dispel all doubts entertained as to Hartley being out of the running.

Last night's News says:

Kansas City, Feb. 27.—The standing of the competition in the six-day walking race in Convention Hall shows Hoagland in first place, with 154 miles, 5 laps. David Hartley, the Canadian, is still in the race, occupying fifth place.

	Miles.	Laps.
Hoagland	154	5
Slater	149	1
Meiser	148	0
Player	144	10
Hartley	125	7
Stokes	83	9

The Star gave the following account:

Kansas City, Mo., Feb 27—David Hartley, the Canadian walker, who is entered in the six-day walk in Convention Hall, is still in the race, holding fifth place, with 132 1-2 miles to his credit. Hoagland leads with 154 miles.

Player, fourth, with 144.

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 28.—When the walkers in the six-day race stopped for the day at midnight last night the score was as follows: Hoagland 198, Slater 193, Meiser 191, Player 187, Hartley 173, Blake 160, Lloyd 110 miles.

The Mail and Empire of this morning contained a despatch similar to the above, with the following introduction:

At midnight to-night the fourth day in the six-day walking match at Convention Hall our seven pedestrians were left in the gruelling grind. The feature of the past two days has been Slater's sprinting.

Josiah Craig has asked the associate sporting editor of the Examiner to explain why he scored the Review's last goal. It was thus:—Craig drew No. 17—the number of his boots—in a two dollar pool and the only chance of winning was by scoring the last goal. He scored on the Examiner when the goal minder named Craig was out and won the money.

THAT TEN CENT POOL.

There was a young fellow named Craig,
Whose "rep." has come down quite a peg;
He fixed up a scheme,
Quite clever—though mean—
And now he won't have to beg.

An exciting game of hockey was played on Knox rink last evening when the Old Maids defeated the Bachelors by the score of 6 to 0. From the start it was seen the Old Maids would win, although they had a tendency to play off-side, but they had a number of things in their favour which helped them to hand the Bachelors the lemons. At first it was quite noticeable that they were the better with the brooms and able to get into the corners before the Bachelors, and lightning rushes from behind the goal generally resulted in a score for them. The Bachelors had to be ruled off a number of times for mixing it up between themselves. It seemed as if they were "scrapping" over which of the fair sex they would skate with after the game, and at and at times were seen in the corners trying to decide this matter. Either that or the Old Maids were taking advantage of it being leap year and were trying to settle their trouble. A number of proposals were made and it is expected that knots that are not easily untied will soon be tied. In the first half Mr. Duncan Campbell acted as referee and peace-maker, but did not give satisfaction. There were too many of the Bachelors ruled off, and the Old Maids found it very lonesome on the ice by themselves. In the second half Mr. Dan Hillier tried to restore peace and it was generally said by the large crowd present that he gave satisfaction. As both teams are very modest they desire their names omitted, as a change may be made for some of them in the near future. The Bachelors are not at all satisfied with the lemons they received and wish to have it stated that the return game will be played soon, when different results are anticipated.—Com.

PROPOSED GREAT CENTENARY FESTITAL TO TAKE PLACE IN WINNIPEG IN THE YEAR 1912

Ernest Thompson Seton Suggests Celebrating The Landing of Lord Selkirk's Pioneers

ON BANKS OF THE RED

(Winnipeg Free Press.)

Herewith the Free Press presents a couple of articles on a subject which should prove of interest to the whole of Canada, from the pen of that distinguished author, Ernest Thompson Seton. The first deals with the centenary of the settlement of the north west and the second with the formation of a Roll of Fame for the Far West. With both schemes, few will be found to disagree and their promulgation should excite a lively exchange of ideas. The father of them, although born in England, came to this country at so early an age that he is to all intents and purposes a Canadian. For over twenty years he lived in the backwoods of Canada on the western plains and he has always been a close observer of nature. As will be remembered, he was official naturalist for the government of Manitoba. In 1889 he published the Mammals of Manitoba and a few years later the Birds of Manitoba. While Mr. Thompson Seton is a prolific writer, he is also well known as an animal painter and illustrator. Probably his best known book is "Wild Animals that I Have Known." He is to-day one of the most sought after lecturers in America, having delivered considerably over a thousand lectures. This is the man who propounds the scheme for holding a world's fair in Winnipeg in commemoration of our centenary. This is what Mr. Thompson Seton says:

Mr. Seton's Proposals

Ninety-six years ago next August, there landed here on the banks of the Red River a little band of Scottish Highlanders, who came by boat from Norway house and York Factory as the advance guard of Lord Selkirk's pioneers.

Many explorers, missionaries, hunters and adventurers had entered the northwest before them, but these were the earliest settlers, the very first white men that came here with their families to establish homes, to possess the land and till the soil.

Magnitude of Future

Gibraltar Point, then is the Plymouth Rock of the northwest, and in four years we shall be in a position to celebrate the centenary of that auspices event. How great an event that was, the world does not realize. It rests with us to show its importance by blazoning forth the facts.

No one who has visited and studied the continent of grass lands that lies to the northwest of Winnipeg can have any doubt as to the magnitude of its future. No one who has been on the ground and seen the tremendous energy with which its occupation and civilization are being pushed can doubt that our people have risen to the greatness of their opportunity, and no one who has followed its history, but will heartily join in honouring the names and deeds of the heroic pioneers and far-sighted statesmen, who founded this great empire of the gold that grows.

In what form then can we who have seen, give greatest publicity to the facts? How can we best demonstrate to the world the wealth and coming power of this white man's last great opportunity and at the same time do justice to those whose heroism or wisdom made possible all that we to-day are proudest of as colonists.

Tradition, feasibility, and results elsewhere, all show an exposition to be the fittest celebration we can have for the centenary of the founding of the colonies. I propose, therefore that:

Nature of Proposals

In 1912 we hold at Winnipeg a world's fair that shall be worthy of this great country and worthy of the men who won it for us.

Expositions elsewhere have commonly been crippled by two great errors:

1. They began too late, allowing a year or at most two, for preparation, whereas three or four are needed.

2. Each has tried to outdo the last in point of size. Each wanted to be "the biggest, thing on earth."

Let us be warned. Let us begin now to prepare a definite scheme that will make this no the biggest show that has been, but the best, the most admirably conceived and harmonious, and at the same time throughout a product of Canadian brains and energy. The central thought and most important building should be, I think:

The hall of fame—A building, small permanent, fireproof, of the highest art. It should have four doorways—the cardinal points, and represent, ing the original gateways of the northwest, viz. York Factory, on the north; Fort William, on the east; Winnipeg, on the south; Vancouver, on the west. In the hall should be fifty niches with provisions for adding to this number and in each would appear the names and portraits of the fifty makers of the northwest, the men, who as pioneers teachers or statesmen, were prominent in the winning of our west. Under glass below the portrait of each should appear a map of his travels, and a brief life, getting forth time and place of his birth and death, and the achievements which entitle him to a place in this hall.

Preliminary Suggestions

The preparation of the list will naturally lead to many contentions, but also to much valuable history now hidden away and in danger of being lost. The fullest discussion will be given to each name, then the vote of a large and representative committee will be final. This I present as my preliminary roll, inviting criticism and standing ready to amend. As committee, I suggest the president of each college and all public librarians in the northwest, each with one assistant nominated by himself.

The Hall of Fame should be of a size and plan to answer as a permanent hall of history and archives, the proper home of all historical documents and precious relics of the northwestern heroes, as well as an ornament to Winnipeg. Doubtless it would be placed in the custody of a permanent archivist and should be located not on the fair grounds, but at the place best suited for such a permanent establishment. The value of such an undertaking has already been seen. The mere preparation of the list has stirred up a wide interest in the history of the country, and at mention of the hall, many who are possessed of historical documents, have intimated their readiness to present or deposit them in the collection as soon as they shall have provided a fireproof place, where they will be properly cared for and used. Among the new features of the fair I would propose also to make outdoors a relief map of the northwest. It is a remarkable fact that a map is usually impressive in proportion to its size. I should therefore make it 300 or 400 yards square. This should be painted in colours, to show prairies, forests, cattle ranges, farm lands taken, and open and mineral regions. It would be of waterproof material as asphalt, and in case of rain the water would merely set the real rivers running. An elevated board walk around it and across at one or two meridians would afford a view.

H. B. Company Promise Aid

The Hudson Bay company have already promised to take an active interest to help with all their stores of unique historical documents. They will probably establish a model primitive post in which the goods of current times can be bought by the old method of barter and also run an old style voyageur brigade from the Fair Grounds down to the old fort whence the return can be made by train. Officials of the great railroads have already promised zealous support and no doubt the Governments of the provinces will respond when the matter is brought to their notice.

Besides new ideas, we must adopt many features of world's fairs elsewhere, such as art galleries, displays of manufacturers, products of industrial arts and agriculture, keeping in mind always that we do not wish this to be "the biggest show on earth," but the best of the world's fairs best in the sense of being complete on time, well conceived, representative, harmonious and tasteful. With which characteristics it is much more likely to be a financial success—leaving us without a deficit, with some new permanent buildings and with a happy gain in self-respect as well as the respect of other nations.

The Second Article

In a second article, Mr. Thompson Seton gives a list of the men whom in the opinion did most of the opening and civilizing of the Canadian Northwest, by which term he means all of Canada west and north of Lake Superior. The distinguished writer invites criticism of his list.

He states that in the preparation of his list he has been greatly assisted by Rev. Dr. G. Bryce, by his honour Judge Prud'homme and C. N. Bell. In commencing this article he makes the following stipulations:

The Roll of Fame

(a) The list is limited to 50.
(b) No living man admitted.
(c) The order to be chronological with reference to their most important achievements or their arrival in the country.
(d) The more important names in capitals.
(e) Ultimately the date and place of birth and death and grounds for including each will appear.

1—Capt. Henry Hudson — Born in England. Died in Hudson Bay, 1611. Discovered (1610) and explored Hudson Bay.

2—Radisson — (Pierre Esprit de Radisson) born in Paris. Came into Canada on May 24, 1651, taken prisoner by the Iroquois in 1652. Saved from being burned by an Indian woman who adopted him as her son. In 1661 he set out with his brother-in-law, des Groseilliers. Early in the spring of 1663 they reached James Bay, being the first white men to reach the bay by land. It was on their report that the Hudson's Bay Company was organized.

3—Prince Rupert — Born, Prague, 1619; died November 29, 1682. Founder (1670) and first governor of the Hudson's Bay Company, which for 200 years was the sole and sovereign representative of law and order in the Northwest, and carried out the responsibilities of its great power with humanity and consistency that won the respect alike of the white pioneer and the native.

4—La Verandrye—(Pierre Gaultier de Verennes Sieur de La Verandrye) born at Three Rivers, P. Q., November 17, 1685. The discoverer of the Northwest. He reached Lake Nipigon in 1728 and started for the West August 26, 1731; built that year Fort St. Pierre, at the mouth of the Rainy River. In 1732 erected Fort St Charles on the north side of northwest Angle Inlet, near Buskete Island, and later Fort La Reine, now Portage la Prairie. From 1738 to 1743 he explored the Red River, the Assiniboine, Lakes Manitoba, Dauphin, Winnipegosus and the Saskatchewan. He died in Montreal on December 6, 1749.

Missionary and Martyr

5—Father Aulneau — (Jean Pierre Aulneau, S.J.) The first missionary and martyr of the Northwest. Born in Mortaire, Province of Vendee, France, on April 21, 1705. Arrived in Quebec on August 16, 1734. Left for the West on June 21, 1736, with La Verandrye, and arrived at Fort St. Charles, Lake of the Woods, October 23, 1736. On June 8, 1736, he camped with twenty Frenchmen on Massacre Island, Lake of the Woods. During the night a band of 200 Sioux warriors surprised and murdered them all.

6—Arthur Dobbs, the first historian of Hudson Bay. In 1744 he published at London an "Account of the Countries Adjoining Hudson's Bay, etc."

7—Andrew Graham, Hudson's Bay Company factory at Albany, 1754 to 1771. He was the author of the famous natural history and historical work on Hudson Bay, known as "Hutchins' MSS."

8—Samuel Hearne — Born in London, 1745; died in 1792. His travels and exploration from Churchill to the Polar sea, thence to the Saskatchewan and back to Churchill (1771-1774) is an exploit almost without parallel.

9—Simon McTavish—A founder and leading spirit of the Northwest company (1783), which, commercially, developed the Red River country really in advance of the Hudson's Bay Company.

11—Laurent Leroux—He was the first white man to visit Great Slave Lake and built Fort Resolution there in 1784. In 1789 he accompanied Sir Alex. Mackenzie on his expedition to Mackenzie River, and built Fort Providence. Died in 1855.

Another Great Pioneer

12—Sir Alexander Mackenzie—Born at Invergness, Scotland, about 1755; died in Scotland March 20, 1820. Northwest trader on the Athabaska, 1781 to 1789. Discovered Mackenzie River, 1789, tracing it from source to Arctic ocean. There he first reached the Arctic ocean by the river route. In 1793 he followed the Columbian River west to the Pacific, thus being the first man to cross the continent north of Mexico.

14—Capt. Geo. Vancouver—Born in England, 1758; died in England, 1798. Surveyed the west coast from latitude 30 northwest. Explored and named Vancouver Island, 1792. (It was discovered, 1592, by Juan de Fuca.)

16—Simon Fraser. Discoverer of the Fraser River, 1808, and the first white man to descend it to the Pacific.

17—Alexander Henry II.—An energetic fur trader and explorer on the Red River and Saskatchewan, 1795 to 1814. He left a copious journal, now among our most prized records. He was drowned at the mouth of the Columbia, May 22, 1814.

18—David Thompson — The first geographer of the Assiniboine, Red river, Athabaska and Thompson rivers. He lived and worked in the end of the eighteenth and early part of the nineteenth century.

19. Peter Pond—An energetic fur trader, adventurer and explorer in the Peace river country, about 1800.

20. Daniel Wm. Harmon — Born 1778 in United States. A Northwest company officer. Served with distinction on both sides of the Rockies from 1800-1819. Wrote a graphic and interesting journal of his travels, 1820.

Founder of Northwest

22. Lord Selkirk—Baron of Daer and Shortcleuch, born June, 1771. Founder of the Northwest colonies.

... MAN—A WOMAN'S VIEW ...

He goeth forth in the morning, and a storm striketh him far away from home and filleth him with woe and rheumatism.

In the autumn he putteth on his winter pants and a wasp that abideth in them filleth him full of intense excitement.

He goeth to the races, and putteth his money on the bay mare with the star blaze, and the black gelding with the white stocking winneth.

He marries the red-haired heiress with the squint-eyes, and the following week her father goeth bankrupt, and cometh home to live with his beloved son-in-law.

He mounteth a chair to hang pictures, and the chair betrayeth his trust and hurleth him to the ground, setteth upon him and runneth one of his legs into his ears.

He goeth to the dentist with an aching tooth, and after he ringeth the bell the offending molar ceaseth to ache.

He starteth to run away, and the dentist openeth the door suddenly and catcheth him in the act.

He planneth a trip abroad in the summer, and the baby developeth measles, and he stayeth at home to fill hot water bottles.

He thinketh himself in the throes of death, biddeth his loving family a fond farewell, maketh his last will and testament, and then his doctor telleth him he only suffereth from a bilious attack.

He putteth up a swing for the children and tryeth it to be sure of its safety; and the swing giveth way, which causeth him to eat his meals from the mantlepiece for the space of many days.

He findeth his name in the paper as the winner of a Limerick competition and then discovereth it is a printer's error.

He sitteth on another man's hat for fun and presently discovereth that he sitteth upon his own in mistake.

He buyeth a railway ticket when travelling and the conductor calleth to ask him for it, so that when he arriveth he kicketh himself for a fool.

He sitteth up at night to prepare a funny anecdote for an after dinner speech, and the preceding speaker telleth the same story in other words.

He taketh his best girl into a candy store and buyeth her chocolates and then discovereth that he has left his purse at home.

In the joyful days of spring he planteth seeds in the back garden, and his neighbour's fowls immediately develop a gardening mania, and war fat on the proceeds of his toil.

MINERAL POISONS DO NOT CURE

A great deal of harm results from the use of mineral poisons, particularly the mercurial poisons, such as calomel, or pills containing calomel. Many people do not understand the action of these poisons. The fact is that when a person is bilious or constipated, it is an evidence that the cells of the body are enervated or weakened. The taking of calomel stimulates the cells to temporary activity, in the attempt to throw off the poison, just as, even a weak person in great danger, is capable of surprising strength and activity. This is always followed, however by complete exhaustion when the danger is past. So it is with these poisons. The cells while temporarily stimulated, are eventually weakened and the trouble is aggravated. The proper method is to feed the cells, to supply them with nourishment, and this is best accomplished by the vegetable remedies Nature has provided. The most perfect combination of these is found in King Palmetto Compound, composed of Saw Palmetto, Corn Silk, Cascara Sagrada, Couch Grass, Golden Seal and Senna. No secret, just plain common sense, but scientifically prepared from absolutely pure ingredients. For Constipation, Biliousness, Sick Headache and a generally run down condition, King Palmetto Compound is better for you than pills or the virulent poisons. It purifies the blood and strengthens while it cures. If taken in time, King Palmetto Compound will prevent the development of the incurable diseases arising from impure blood, such as Bright's Disease and Chronic Rheumatism. Price $1.00 per bottle. Send for free Sample. King Palmetto Company, Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold and guaranteed by Red Saunders

...By...

HENRY WALLACE PHILLIPS

COPYRIGHT, 1908, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & COMPANY

"'Let's go out and meet 'em,' says I. And away we went. They weren't a particle surprised. I suppose they thought the whole universe had stopped to look on. We pump handled away and laughed, and Loys she laughed kind of teary, and Kyle he looked red in the face and proud and happy and ashamed of himself, and we all felt loosened up considerable, but I told him on the quiet, 'Take that fool grin off your face unless you want Uncle Jones to drop the moment he sees you.'

"Now, they only had three days left to get an action on them, as that was the time set for Loys to go back to college.

"Next day they held a council behind the big barn, and they called in Uncle Red—otherwise known as Big Red Saunders or Chanta Seechee Red, which means 'Bad Heart Red' in Sioux language and doesn't explain me by a durn sight—to get the benefit of his valuable advice.

"'Skip,' says I. 'Fly for town and get married and come back and tell Jonesy about it. It's a peaky sight stronger argument to tell him what you have done than what you're going to do.'

"They couldn't quite agree with that. They thought it was sneaky.

"'So it is,' says I. 'The first art of war is understanding how to make a grand sneak. If you don't want to take my advice you can wait.' That didn't hit 'em just right either.

"'What will we wait for?' says Kyle.

"'Exercise—and the kind you won't take when you get as old and as sensible as me. You're taking long chances, both of you; but it's just like playing cards, you might as well put all your money on the first turn, win or lose, as to try and play system. Systems don't work in faro nor love affairs nor any other game of chance. Be game. Put your marker on the grand raffle. In other words, take the first horse to town and get married. Ten chances to one Joneay will have the laugh on you before the year is out.'

"'I don't think you are a bit nice today, Red,' says Loys.

"'He's jealous,' says Kyle.

"'That's what I am, young man,' says I. 'If I had ten years off my shoulders and a little of the glow off my hair I'd give you a run for your alley that would leave you breathless at the wind up.'

"'I think your hair is a beautiful color, Red,' says Loys. 'Many a woman would like to have it.'

"'Of course they would,' I answered. 'But they don't get it. I'm foxy, I am.' Still, I was touched in a tender spot. That young woman knew just the right thing to say, by nature. 'Well, what are you young folks going to do?' I asked them.

"They decided that they'd think it over until next day, but that turned out to be too late, for what must Kyle do but get chucked from his horse and have his leg broke near the hip. You don't want to take any love affairs on to the back of a bad horse, now you mark me! There was no such thing as downing that boy when he was in his right mind.

"Now, here was a hurrah! Loys, she dasn't cry, for fear of uncle, and Kyle, he used the sinfulest language known to the tongue of man. 'Twas the first time I'd ever heard him say anything much, but he made it clear that it wasn't because he couldn't.

"'What will we do, Red? What will we do?' says he.

"'Now,' says I, 'don't bile over like that, because it's bad for your leg.'

"He cussed the leg.

"'Go on and tell me what we can do,' says he.

"'When you ask me that, you're pulled the right bell,' says I. 'I'll tell you exactly what we'll do. I go for the doctor. Savvy? Well, I bring back the minister at the same time. Angevine, he loses the Jersey cow over in the canebreak, and uncle and Angevine go hunting her, for not even Loys is ace high in uncle's mind alongside that cow. The rest is easy.'

"'Red, you're a brick. You're the best fellow alive,' says Kyle, nearly squeezing the hand off me.

"I've tried to conceal it all my life, but I like new it would be discovered some day,' says I. 'Well, I suppose I'd better break the news to Loys. 'Twouldn't be any more than polite.'

"'Oh, Lord! I wonder if she'll be willing?' says he.

"'No reason I shouldn't turn an honest dollar on the transaction. I'll bet you a month's wages she is,' says I. He wanted to do it, thinking I was in earnest, but I laughed at him.

"She was willing all right—even anxious. There's some women, and men, too, for that matter, who go through life like a cat through a back alley, not caring a cuss for either end or the middle. They would have been content to wait. Not so Loys. She wanted her Kyle, her poor Kyle, and she wanted him quick. That's the kind of people for me! Your cautious folk are all the time falling down wells because their eyes are up in the air, keeping tabs so that they can dodge shooting stars.

"Now, I had a minister friend up in town, Father Slade by name. No, he was not a Catholic, I think. They called him 'father' because it fitted him. His church had a steeple on it, anyhow, so it was no maverick. Just what particular kind of religion the old man had I don't know, but I should say he was a homeopath on a guess. He looked it. 'Twas a comfort to see him coming down the street, his old face shining in his white hair like a shriveled pink apple in a snowdrift, God blessing everything in sight—good, bad or indifferent. He had something pleasant to say to all. We was quite friends, and every once in awhile we'd have a chin about things.

"'Are you keeping straight, Red?' he'd ask when we parted.

"'Um,' I'd say, 'I'm afraid you'd notice a bend here and there if you slid your eyes along the edge.'

"'Well, keep as straight as you can; don't give up trying, my boy,' he'd tell me, mighty earnest, and I'd feel ashamed of myself clear around the corner.

"I knew the old man would do me a favor if it could be done, so I pulled out easy in my mind.

"First place, I stopped at the doctor's, because I felt they might fix up the marrying business some other time, but if a leg that's broke in the upper joint ain't set right you can see a large dark complected hunk of trouble over the party's left shoulder for the rest of his days. The doctor was out, so I left word for him what was wanted and to be ready when I got back and pulled for Father Slade's. The old gentleman had the rheumatism, and he groaned when I come in. Rheumatism's no disease for people who can't swear.

"'How are you, my boy?' says he. 'I'm glad to see you. Here am I, an old man, nipped by the leg and much wanting to talk to somebody.'

"I passed the time of day to him, but felt kind of blue. This didn't look like keeping my word with the kids. I really hated to say anything to the old man, knowing his disposition; still, I felt I had to, and I out with my story.

"'Dear, dear!' says he. 'The hurry and skurry of young folks! How idle it seems when you get fifty years away from it and see how little anything counts! For all that, I thank God,' says he, 'that there's a little red left in my blood yet, which makes me sympathize with them. But the girl's people object, you say?'

"I made that all clear to him. 'The girl's always all right, father,' says I, 'and as for the man in this case, my word for him.'

"'Now, it ain't just the right thing for me to say; but, seeing as I've never had anything in particular to be modest about, and I'm proud of what the old gentleman told me, I'm going to repeat it.

"'Your word is good for me, Red,' says he. 'You're a mischievous boy at times, but your heart and your head are both reliable. Give me your arm to the wagon.'

"Then I felt mighty sorry to think of lugging that poor old man all that ways.

"'Here,' says I. 'Now you sit down again. Don't you do anything of the sort. You ain't fit.'

"He put his hand on my shoulder and hobbled his weight off the game leg.

"'Reddy, I was sitting there thinking when you came in—thinking of how comfortable it was to be in an easy chair with my foot on a stool, and then I thought, "If the Lord should send me some work to do, would I be willing?" Now, thanks be to him, I am willing and glad to find myself so, and I do not believe there's any work more acceptable to him than the union of young folk who love each other. Ouch!' says he as that foot touched the ground. 'Perhaps you'd better pick me up and carry me bodily.'

"So I did it, the old housekeeper following us with an armful of things and jawing the both of us, him for a fool and me for a villain. She was a strong minded old lady, and I wish I could remember some of her talk. It was great.

"We went around and got the doctor.

"'Heo!' says he. 'Is it as bad as that?' I winked at Father Slade.

"'It's a-plenty worse than that,' says I. 'You won't know the half of it till you get down there.'

"But of course we had to tell him, and he was tickled. Funny what an interest everybody takes in these happenings. He wanted all the details.

"'By Jove,' says he, 'the man whose feelings ain't the least dimmed by a broken leg—horse rolled on him, you said; splintered it, probably—that man is one of the right sort. He'll do to tie to.'

"When we reached the ranch the boys were lined up to meet us. 'Hurry along!' they called. 'Angey can't keep uncle amused all day!'

"So we hustled. Kyle was for being married first and then having his leg set, but I put my foot down flat. It had gone long enough now, and I wasn't going to have him cripping it all his life. But the doctor worked like a man who gets paid by the piece, and in less than no time we were able to call Loys in.

"Wind River Smith spoke to get to give the bride away, and we let him have it.

"We'd just got settled to business when in comes Angevine, puffing like a buffalo. 'For heaven's sakes, ain't you finished yet?' says he. 'Well, you want to be at it, for the old man ain't over two minutes behind me, coming fast. I took the distance in ten foot steps. Just my luck! Fust slipped when I was talking to him, and I dropped a remark that made him suspicions—I wouldn't have done it for a ton of money—but it's too late now. I'll down him and hold him out there if you say so.'

"'Children, be ready,' says he, and he went over the line for a record.

"'Hurry there!' hollers old Bob from the outside, where he was on watch. 'Here comes uncle up the long coulee!'

"'What are your names?' says Father Slade. They told him, both reddening.

"'Do you, Kyle, take this woman, Loys, to have and keep track of, come hell or high water, her heirs and assigns, for ever?'—or such a matter—says he, all in one breath. They both said they did.

"Things flew till we came to the ring. There was a hitch. We had plumb forgotten that important article. For a minute I felt stingy. Then I cussed myself for a mean old long horn and dived into my box.

"'Here, take this!' I says. 'It was my mother's!'

"'Oh, Red, you mustn't part with that!' cried Loys, her eyes filling up.

"'Don't waste time talking. I put through what I tackle. Hurry, please, father.'

"'Has anybody any objections to these proceedings?' says he.

"'I have,' says I, 'but I won't mention 'em. Give them the verdict.'

"'I pronounce you man and wife. Let us pray,' says he.

"'What's that?' screeches Uncle Joneay from the doorway. And then he gave us the queerest prayer you ever heard in your life. He stood on one toe and clawed chunks out of the air while he delivered it.

"He seemed to have it in for me in particular. 'You villain! You rascal! You redheaded rascal! You did this! I know you did!'

"'Oh, uncle,' says I, 'forgive me!' With that I hugged him right up to me, and he filled my bosom full of smothered language.

"'Cheese it, you little cuss,' I whispered in his ear, 'or I'll break every rib in your poor old chest!' I came in on him a trifle, just to show him what I could do if I tried.

"'Nuff!' he wheezes. 'Quit! 'Nuff!'

"'Go up and congratulate 'em,' I whispered again.

"'I won't,' says he. 'Ouch! Yes, I will! I will!' So up he goes, grinding his teeth.

"'I wish you every happiness,' he grunts.

"'Won't you forgive me, uncle?' begs Loys.

"'Some other time; some other time!' he hollers, and he pranced out of the house like a hoastyle spider, the maddest little man in the territory.

"Loys had a hard time of it until Kyle got so he could travel, and they went up to the Yellowstone with a team for a wedding trip.

"The rest of Loys' folks was in an unpleasant frame of mind too. They sent out her brother, and while I'd have took most anything from Loys' brother, there comes a place where human nature is human nature, and the upshot of it was I planked that young man gently but firmly across my knees. Suffering Ike, but he was one sassy young man! Howsomever, the whole outfit came round in time—all except uncle and me. He used to grit his teeth together till the sparks flew when he saw me. I was afraid he'd bust a blood vessel in one of them fits, so I quit. I hated to let go of the old ranch, but I'm pretty well fixed—I'm superintendent here. It's Kyle's ranch, you know. That's his brand—the queer looking thing on the left hip of that critter, over the vented hash knife. Loys' invention, that is. She says it's a cherublim, but we call it the 'flying flapjack.' There's a right smart lot of beef critters toting that signal round this part of the country. Kyle's one of the fellers that rises like a setting of bread—quiet and gentle, but steady and sure. He's going to the state legislature next year. 'Twon't do no harm to have one honest man in the outfit.

"Now, perhaps if I'd married some nice woman I might have had 1,000 steers of my own and a chance to make rules and regulations for my feller citizens—and then again I might have took to gambling and drinking and raising blazes and broke my poor wife's broom handle with my hard head. So I reckon we'll let it stand as it is. Now, you straddle that cayuse of yours and come along with me, and I'll show you some rattling colts."

CHAPTER III.

REDDY was on the station platform, walking up and down, looking about him anxiously. We caught sight of each other at the same time.

"Hi, there!" said he and jumped for me. "Gad-dog your little hide!" he cried as he put my right hand in line for a pension. "I thought I was booked to go without saying goodby to you. You got the note I pinned on your shack?"

"Sure."

"Well, there's time for a chin before the choo-choo starts. Thought I'd be early, not savvying this kind of traveling a great deal. Darned if you ain't growed since I saw you! Getting fat too! Well, how's everything? I didn't say nothing to the other boys about pulling my freight, as I wanted to go sober for once. You explain to 'em that old Red's head ain't swelled, will you? Seems kind of dirty to go off that way, but I'm bound for God's country and the old time folks, and somehow I feel that I must cut the budge out of it. 'Nother thing is I'm superstitious, as you may or may not have noticed, and I believe if you try the same game twicet you'll get just as different results as can be the second time. You heard how I hit it in the mines, didn't you? No? Well, that's so. You ain't seen many people out on the flat, have you? Hum! I don't know principally where to begin. You remember Wind River Heath's pardner that the boys called Shadder, because he was so thin? Nice feller, always willing to do you a favor or say something comical when you least expected it. Had kind of a style with him too. Yes, sir, that's the man. Well, him and me was out in the Bend one day, holding a mess of Oregon half breeds that was to be shipped by train shortly, when old Smithy comes with the mail. 'Letter for you, Shadder,' says Smith and passes over a big envelope with wads of sealing wax all over it. Shadder reads his letter and folds it up. Then he takes a look over the country—the kind of a look a man gives when he's thinking hard. Then says he, 'Red, take off your hat.' I done it. 'Smithy, take off your hat.' 'All right,' says Smith, 'but you tell me why or I'll snake the shirt off you to square things.'

"'Boys,' says Shadder, 'I'm Lord Walford.'

"'Lord Hellford!' hollers Smithy. 'You'd better call somebody in to look at your plumbing. What you been drinkin', Shadder?'

"'Read for yourself,' says Shadder, and he handed him the letter.

"Wish't you could have seen old Smithy's face as he read it. He thought his pardner had been cut out of his herd forever.

"'It's the God's truth, Red,' says he slowly, and he had a sideways smile on his face as he turned to Shadder. 'Well, sir,' says he, 'I suppose congratulations are in order?'

"Shadder's hand stopped short on its way to the cigarette, and he looked at Smithy as if he couldn't believe what he saw.

"'To hell with 'em!' says he as savage as a wildcat, and he jabbed the irons in and whirled his cayuse about on one toe, heading for the ranch.

"'Now you go after him, you jealous old sorehead,' says I. 'Go on,' I says as he started to argue the point, 'or I'll spread your nose all the way down your spinal column!' The only time to say 'No' to me is when I'm not meaning what I say, so away goes Wind River, and they made it up all right in no time. Well, Shadder had to pull for England to take a squint at the ancestral estates, and all of us was right here at this station to see him off. Lord, it seems as if that happened last world! Well, it took a little bit the edge off any and all drunks a ranch as an institution had ever seen before. There was old Smithy crying around, wiping his eyes on his sleeve and explaining to a lot of eastern folks that it wasn't Shadder's fault—gad hook it all! He was the best, hootin', tootin' son-of-a-sea-cook that ever hit a prairie breeze in spite of this dum foolishness.

"'They can't make no "lord" of Shadder!' hollers Smithy. 'That is, not for long. He's a man, Shadder is—ain't cher, yer d——d old gangle legged hide rack?'

"And Shadder never lost his patience at all, though it must have been kind of trying to be made into such a holy show before the kind of people he used to be used to. All he'd say was, 'Bet your life, old boy!' Well, it was right enough, too, as Smithy had nursed him through smallpox one winter up in the Shoshonee country and mighty near starved himself to death feeding Shadder out of the slim grub stock when the boy was on the mend. Still, some people would have forgot that.

"But did your uncle Red get under the influence of strong drink? Did he? Oh, my! Oh, my! I wish I could make it clear to you. The vigilantes put after a horse thief once in Montana, and they landed on him in a butt end canyon, and there was all the stock with the brands on 'em as big as a patent medicine sign, as the lad hadn't had time to stop for alterations.

THE BEST FRIENDS OF PE-RU-NA ARE THE MOTHERS AND CHILDREN

Pe-ru-na Should Be Kept In Every Household

Where There Are Little Children.

Peruna should be kept in the house all the time. Don't wait until the child is sick, then send to a drug store. But, have Peruna on hand—accept no substitute.

Pe-ru-na Contains No Narcotics.

One reason why Peruna has found permanent use in so many homes is that it contains no narcotic of any kind. Peruna, if taken according to printed directions, is perfectly harmless. It can be used any length of time without acquiring a drug habit. It does not produce temporary results, but it is permanent in its effect.

It has no bad effect upon the system, and gradually eliminates catarrh by removing the cause of catarrh.

Mrs. F. Brockman, 618 Meade street, Appleton, Wis., writes:

"I have never had a return of the catarrh, which had made me so miserable and unhappy before I began taking Peruna.

"I would not be without it in the house, now.

"I have a baby-boy, two years old, to whom I give Peruna for a cold, and my husband also takes Peruna.

"I thank you and wish you well."—Mrs. F. Brockman.

No Doctor Required.

Mr. Edward Otto, 927 De Soto street, St. Paul, Minn., writes:

"I cannot say enough for Peruna. It has done great work in my family, especially for my oldest boy. We had doctored with three or four different doctors and they did not seem to do him any good.

"We gave up hopes of cure, and so did they, but we pulled him through on Peruna.

"We had several doctors and they said they could do no more for him, so we tried Peruna as a last resort, and that did the work. Since then we keep it in the house all the time, and no doctor is required."—Edward Otto.

There are a multitude of homes where Peruna has been used off and on for twenty years.

Such a thing could not be possible if Peruna contained any narcotics.

The Benefit Which the Children of the United States Have Received From Pe-ru-na Can Never Be Put Into Words.

The chronic ailments it has prevented, the suffering it has mitigated, will never be fully recorded.

But at least this much can be said that the coming generation owes a great debt to Peruna, for it is in the tender years of youth that slight ailments are liable to develop into lasting disease, thus blasting the whole career of the individual.

The mothers who are bringing up their children to-day to believe in Peruna are speaking from their experience.

These children brought up to believe in Peruna from the start, will, when they become heads of families themselves, use Peruna with unquestioning faith.

A Child's Life Saved.

Mr. G. H. Farmer, New Martinsville, W. Va., writes:

"Our little son, Harry, is well and healthy now and we think if we do as you directed us, he will keep his health and grow strong.

"We know that our little son's life was saved by your wonderful medicine, Peruna, and we shall always praise Peruna and use it in our family when needed.

"Should we have any more catarrhal trouble in our family, we shall always write to you for treatment."

Mr. W. F. Doring, Mt. Vernon, Mo., writes:

"I have used Peruna to my entire satisfaction and am exceedingly well pleased with the results, having suffered greatly with catarrh of the stomach."

Mrs. J. C. Sterling, 139 Brown Avenue, Norfolk, Va., writes:

"My little boy, Meredith, suffered with indigestion so badly he could not eat anything without it making him very sick, so I thought (as many others have) that I would try Peruna, and it worked like a charm.

"Now he eats anything he wishes, and I would not be without it for anything.

"My other little boy, Alfred, two and a half years old, has taken it and received as much benefit from Peruna as his brother.

"I hope my testimonial may be of more benefit to others, as I feel as though I cannot praise it enough."—Mrs. J. C. Sterling.

Mr. Howard Andrew Stenger, 424 Canal street, Reading, Pa., writes:

"I have Peruna in my house all the time and would be without it. It is good for children when they take a cold or croup. It cured my baby boy of croup.

"I have introduced Peruna into six families since I received your last letter, and four have seen relief already."

—Howard Andrew Stenger.

Pe-ru-na Protects the Entire Household.

As soon as the value of Peruna is appreciated by every household, both as a preventive and remedy, many lives may be saved and thousands of chronic lingering cases of catarrh may be prevented.

When Sickness Comes to the Little Ones

It Is the Mother Who Chiefly Suffers.

She suffers even more than the child who happens to be sick.

Her sympathy is deeper than that of any other member of the family.

The mother looks forward with dread to the torrid heat of summer, thinking of her children and the many liabilities to disease that are before them.

Spring and summer are sure to bring ailments, especially among the little folks.

It does not take a mother very long to discover that Peruna is the best friend she has in time of illness among the children.

A Multitude of Mothers

Have discovered that Peruna is their stand-by, and that in many of the ailments of spring and summer to which the children are subjected, Peruna is the remedy that will generally quickly relieve.

Whether it is spring fever or stomach derangement, whether it is indigestion or bowel disease, a catarrhal congestion of the mucous surfaces is the cause.

Peruna quickly relieves this condition of the mucous membranes. Its operation is prompt, the children do not dislike to take the medicine, it has no deleterious effects in any part of the body.

It simply removes the cause of the disagreeable symptoms and restores the health.

Peruna is a household remedy for all catarrhal ailments of winter and summer, acute or chronic.

The mothers all over the United States are the best friends that Peruna has.

Mr. C. Hallock, Antwerp, Ohio, writes: "My daughter Allie, after taking three bottles of your Peruna is entirely cured of catarrh of the head of two years standing. We have used Peruna as a general tonic as well as for catarrh and are well pleased with it and recommend it to anybody who has catarrh."

Not only because it has cured them of their various ailments, but because it promptly rescues the children from the throes and grasp of catarrhal diseases.

We have in our files many testimonials from mothers whose children have been cured by Peruna. However, the large majority of mothers who use Peruna, we never hear from.

But we do hear from a great number of mothers who are so overjoyed at some special good they have received from Peruna, that they cannot restrain their enthusiasm. They are anxious to share these benefits with other mothers.

The Sheffield Choir May Come To Peterborough

One Of The Greatest Musical Organizations Of The Old World —A Great Musical Event In Canada's History.

HEARTY WELCOME EXTENDED

Examiner Special

Ottawa, February 25. — If the average business man was to be asked whether he was in favour of the people of Canada giving a warm welcome to the celebrated Sheffield Choir upon the occasion of its forthcoming visit to Canada in October next, he would probably reply that he had no objection, but that so far as he was concerned he could see no great financial benefit which Canada would gain from the visit. That is where the average business man would be wrong. For the members of this famous organization are nearly all business men, or the sons and daughters of men prominent in the life of the Cutlery City, and its environs, and it is impossible to imagine that 250 such keen intellects as theirs will be able to tour the province of Ontario and Quebec, without gaining some distinct personal knowledge of the commercial opportunities which Canada offers to the North of England commercial man.

They will come primarily as musicians to show us how an English choir can render English music; but they will also be holiday makers, and will be disposed to secure all the good impressions which they can during their stay in this country. In this sense, therefore, the tour of the Sheffield Choir —important though it will be from the musical point of view—will also have an economic value which will make it unique among the artistic events in Canada's history. This fact has been grasped by the executive council of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and by the civic authorities of Ottawa and Toronto, each of whom have sent letters to the Lord Mayor of Sheffield, extending to himself and the choir as well as to the friends who will come with them the heartiest of welcomes to Canada. A similar letter is about to be sent to the Lord Mayor by the new Mayor of Montreal. Mr. Payette, and it is stated that the Boards of Trade of Toronto, Montreal and Ottawa, will also forward similar testimonials to His Worship. The choir, which will only be in Canada less than a fortnight, will travel on a special steamer of the Allan Line, and will give concerts in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Hamilton, London, Peterborough and other towns in Ontario, winding up its tour with a concert at Quebec.

The resolution of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, not only extends a hearty welcome to the choir, and its friends, but assures the Lord Mayor that members of our Association individually will do everything in their power "to make your visit both profitable and enjoyable."

Mayor Oliver of Toronto, in his letter to the Lord Mayor of Sheffield, says, "We, in Canada, are always pleased to welcome our kinsmen from across the sea, and we shall be doubly delighted to welcome the Sheffield Choir and to do our best to make your entire party feel you are by no means strangers in a strange land."

The resolution of the corporation of the City of Ottawa, passed last month was in these words, "That the municipal corporation of Ottawa learns with pleasure of the intended visit to Canada and Ottawa of the Sheffield Musical Union in October next. That we desire to express to the Lord Mayor of Sheffield, to Mr. J. H. Lawson, and Dr. H. Coward, and to all those who are arranging for the visit of these musicians to the Dominion of Canada our appreciation for their efforts, and our assurance that the Sheffield Musical Union will be heartily welcomed in our city."

SUGGESTS CHANGES IN SYSTEM

Hall's Glen Man Doesn't Believe in "Road Work"—Payment By Taxes.

CONDITION OF THE ROADS

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Though not given to newspaper writing I have composed the following article which though it may appear of no importance to the average reader is of much consequence to those who, like myself, are necessitated by business calling to use the roads a great deal.

Why is it that a large number of the roadways between Warsaw and Peterborough are impassible while others are and have been, with the exception of a very few days in fair condition for traffic? Is it because the geographical situation is to be considered? Or that some of the residents along the route are exceptional in generously by giving time and labour in keeping the roads open for the travelling public?

In the case of what is known as the Dummer Road to Peterborough there is much chance for complaint. That road has now been blocked for nearly a month, though the stage driver has a "trail" which leads through fields, barnyards, orchards and ditches for nearly twenty miles, while the highway is but fourteen. In one case the owner of a farm is said to have refused to allow anyone to drive through his fields, nor would he assent in opening the roads. This is one of the main roads in the county, over which there is much traveling in addition to the Warsaw stage passing twice daily. The condition of this road is a disgrace to any community and it shows very little of the spirit of neighbourliness that goes to make life in the country endurable, when the farmer who hasn't hay, wood or grain to haul will not turn out and assist in breaking the roads that his neighbour, who is less fortunately situated or that a doctor may use them.

With the system now employed it would not be fair to lay the blame for such a state of affairs on the shoulders of the municipal representatives.

In conclusion, isn't it time that Dover and Dummer joined the municipality and did away with that relic of pioneer days, namely, statute labour, and formed a system of direct taxation that would provide roadways which might be used the year round?

Though this subject is one that will bear much argument I decline to presume further on your valuable space.

Thanking you in anticipation of publication, I am,

Yours truly,

"PRO BONO PUBLICO."

A NEW RECORD REACHED IN RAILROAD BUILDING

The Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway has just extended the train service on its new Pacific Coast extension as far west as Terry, Montana.

Here the new line crosses the Yellowstone River for the first time. At present trains are in operation as far west as Marmarth, North Dakota, 191 miles beyond the Mississippi River, 191 miles beyond the Missouri River. This extension carries the new train service about 100 miles farther west.

The record of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway, in building its Pacific Coast extension, has never been equalled in the matter of time by any similar undertaking. Track is now being laid at the rate of five miles per day, and the east and west track-laying forces in Montana will soon meet in the vicinity of Miles City. It is confidently expected that trains over the new transcontinental line will be operated from Chicago to Butte, Montana, by May, 1908, and to Seattle and Tacoma, Washington, about one year later.

Havelock Hopes For A Great Advance Next Spring

C. P. R. Extensions And New Lines Will Entail a Great Change In The Building Operations Of The General Conditions Of The Railroad Town.

And we're doing it, I guess."
We're in it with the best,
We're bound to keep the best;
"Keep going," is our motto.

The year 1907, was Havelock's growing time, but when it was predicted that even greater advances will be made, I think that you will sit up, and take notice. As I said before, great advances have been made, but still greater are looked for, as "Keep Going," the watchword of busy Havelock, is ever kept in view by the prosperous and enterprising citizens of that hustling railway town.

The wonderful building expansion at Havelock last year, will still continue, Although houses are continually being built, still there is a demand for them. Houses are so scarce that in some instances two families are living in one, and rent is very high, and will continue to soar. Every building that can be called a house is pressed into service and occupied by one or two families.

In the spring of 1906, King street, north of Mathison street, was surveyed and opened up, and at once there was a rush to purchase the lots, and houses sprang up on either side as if by magic and now every lot has been built upon, except three which have been reserved as a school play ground.

In September, 1907, another street was surveyed, and opened up, south of George street and east of the Havelock Park, and there was a rush to purchase lots, and a large number were sold. Several dwelling houses were erected on this street during the fall, and this year a great many more will be added.

This street which runs to the east end of the town is called Park street, or Mathison street east.

A great many other dwellings have been erected in all parts of the town. In the west end on Alexander street, several houses of white brick, and of the latest design have been erected, and a large number of lots on both sides of Donald street, north of Alexander, have been sold, and several dwellings have been erected, and this year the street will likely be completed. In the near future Mr. Thos. Curtis will erect a large brick block, on Ontario street, opposite the ice house. On account of the large increase in his business Mr. William Cornell found it necessary to construct a large cement building in the east end for his planing mill, and he is now able to do many different kinds of work. Since the spring of 1906 eighty houses have been erected in Havelock, and still the demand for dwellings continue.

That Havelock will continue to grow and expand is a truth little doubted, for there are numberless reasons for believing so. The town seems as if it will grow northward instead of southward, for connection with the south is cut off by the C. P. R. yards, the two crossings to the south being about seven-eighths of a mile apart. This was one of the mistakes made in laying out Havelock, not having more crossings over the railway. There is good building land to the south, and several buildings have been erected there and it is likely that some way will be found to better the connection with it. The town is also growing considerably to the east.

Havelock's growth with the Toronto-Montreal line of the C.P.R. is a self-proving maxim. Hence if you want to judge the growth of Havelock, keep an eye on the doings of the C. P. R. on this branch. There is something worth noticing in store for Havelock next year. It is reported that the C. P. R. are going to double track their line from Toronto to Montreal. This means a growth in Havelock, for the double tracking will mean more traffic over this line, and that means several men and their families will be added in Havelock.

New Grain Route

Another thing that the people of Havelock are looking forward to is the construction of the grain route from Victoria Harbour, which will mean a great advancement in Havelock, as that small metropolis is now quite sure of being the divisional point. If Peterborough were about 25 miles east of its present site it would quite likely be named as the divisional point, but, as the case is, it is not, and so it will fall to Havelock to be the divisional point, while Peterborough seeks success elsewhere. Havelock is about 100 miles from Victoria Harbour by direct line, while Peterborough is only 75 miles, and that is much too short for a division, while the division to Smiths Falls would be 125 miles, and that is too long, so that in all probability Havelock has won the point.

When the line was surveyed last year it was found that the best route would be to pass a little south of Lakefield, pass near Warsaw, go near Norwood, and join the Havelock-Toronto line a little above Havelock. This route would be the easiest to construct because it is a much easier grade than by way of Peterborough. The C.P.R. has also purchased a large tract of land to the south of the yards at Havelock upon which to lay tracks, as a great many more tracks will be needed on account of the increase in traffic.

When this grain route is constructed it will cause the C. P. R. to station a large number of men at Havelock. It is estimated that one hundred men and their families will be stationed here, and perhaps more. There will be need of conductors, brakemen, firemen, engineers, car repairers, wipers, shopmen, etc., mounting up to the hundred mark. Havelock, with the present railway line has a population of about 1300, and the new grain route to be constructed, will need as many men as the present line, and thus the population will be doubled.

One hundred families need one hundred houses. The erection of one hundred houses will need a large number of masons and carpenters. The larger the population the greater the demand for food. Thus there will be more doing needed, and so, following it on further and further, it can be seen how Havelock will soon become an incorporated town.

In the spring of this year work will be started on the present coal chutes, which are much too small. The coal chutes will be built larger so as to hold five cars. The sheds will also be constructed so that engines may be coaled on both sides. At present there are only chutes on one side, and the company finds that enough coal cannot be stored in the chutes at once to supply all the engines. During the last storm they ran out of coal at the chutes and had to fill the engines from the dump, where it took eleven men all morning to coal one engine.

Great improvements will be made in the round house, which now is a semi-circular building. This year the whole will be made into a circular building, with places for the engines on all sides of the turntable. This is being done to have a repair shop for the engines that will be used on the new grain route. The new addition to the building will be of brick, with a strong cement foundation, and will be the same height as the other part. There will be two openings, one at the east end to allow the engines to run down to the coal chutes to be loaded and the other at the west end to allow the engines to go out to be filled with water. The turn table will be covered over so that snow cannot get on it in winter. Several devices will also be installed to carry off the steam and smoke given off by the engines. When the new parts are constructed to the round house had coal chutes, the number of employees in these departments will be doubled.

It is rumoured among the C. P. R. men that a new station will shortly be erected here. If a new station is constructed the present building will likely be used for freight and express offices.

Another needed improvement is a large freight shed, as the present one is much too small for the amount of freight that is received at this point. It is quite likely that a large number of tracks will be laid this year to the south of the present yards as the C. P. R. have bought land there, and large quantities of supplies are being stored in Havelock for their construction.

A new water tank has lately been built to replace the old one, which collapsed some time ago. The new one is a very large round one about the same size and holding as much water as the old one. It is built on a foundation of cement and hooped in with a number of iron hoops, so that there need be no fear of it collapsing.

The farmers in this vicinity have taken up the watchword of Havelock, keep going, and are contemplating erecting a creamery in Havelock. The need of a creamery has long been evident, and since the Melrose Abbey cheese factory was destroyed by fire the idea has grown in favour with the farmers in this vicinity.

Mining Prospects

The mining industry in East Peterborough, which at the present time is being revived will benefit Havelock considerably for it is the centre of them all. Blairton proves to contain a considerable amount of iron. The Seabrooker Mine at Preneveau, which was supposed to contain large values in gold, has turned out to be a valuable copper proposition. The gold mines in Cordova also will likely be opened up in a few years. With the development of Healey Falls there will be a chance for the mining companies to do something as they must have electric power to smelt thier ore.

An electric railway will likely bring the Blairton ore to Havelock, where it will be shipped by the Georgian Bay grain route to Victoria Harbour, from whence it will be sent by steamer to the Canadian Soo. The capitalists who have at present an option on the Blairton iron mines, which are at present owned by the Messrs. Pearce of Marmora, have made arrangements with a large steel manufacturing concern, presumably at the Canadian Soo, by which ore mined at Blairton will be bought from the company. A test has been made of its quality and it is pronounced to have the proper constituents to satisfactorily work with the Helen mine ore, which the company at the Soo smelt.

So much for this growing and prosperous town. With the way it is growing now, its superiority over the surrounding towns, and with the bright prospects that are now presenting themselves to help along its growth, Havelock is bound to become in the near future one of the most important and prosperous towns in this part of Ontario.

Mount Julian, February 26th. — The annual tea meeting of Eden Church, which was to have been held on St. Valentine's evening, but had to be postponed on account of the bad roads, will be held on Friday evening, Feb. 28th. Tea will be served from 5.30 to 7.30 in the schoool room. A good programme of music, speeches, recitations and dialogues, will be given in the church, beginning at 8 o'clock.

Our school had to be closed for some day on account of the severe cold and the deep snow.

The quantity of snow in the woods it has it impossible for the men to work to advantage. The Hamilton Bros., near Mount Julian, have closed their lumber camp.

The usual traffic across the ice on Stony Lake was stopped for a few days last week, as there was so much water with the snow that teams could not get over.

Little Howard Spence, who was very ill with tonsilitis has recovered.

Mrs. George Lane of Lakefield and little son and daughter, have been visiting her mother, Mrs. Thomas Northey.

OMEMEE ROADS IN BAD CONDITION

Omemee Hockey Team Defeated By Peterborough.

Omemee, Feb. 26.—The roads are in a terrible condition and farmers are experiencing considerable difficulty in reaching the village.

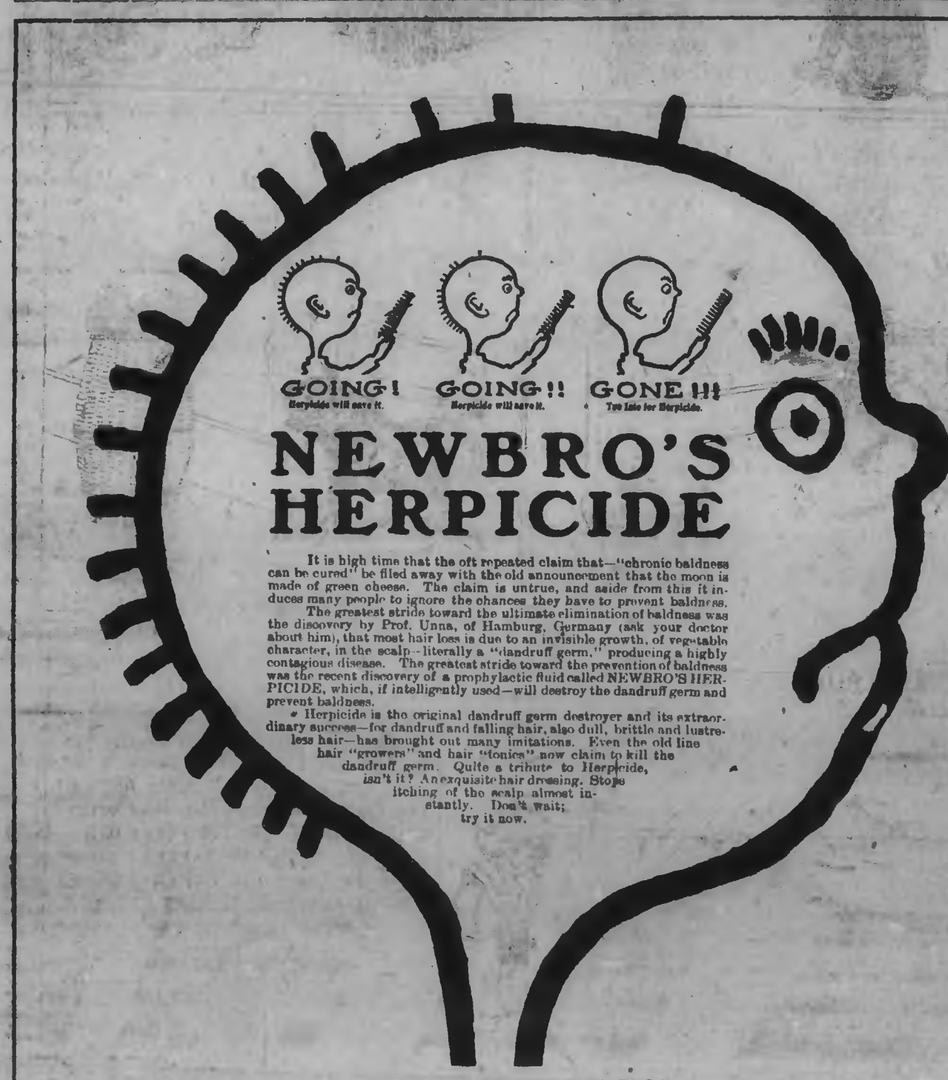
The hockey match between the Peterborough Knockers and the Omemees seven last Saturday night resulted in a score of 8 to 4 in favour of the visitors.

A quiet wedding took place in the village on Wednesday last when Miss Godfrey was united in marriage to Mr. Wm. Evans of the Salvation Army.



NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

It is high time that the oft repeated claim that—"chronic baldness can be cured" be filed away with the old announcement that the moon is made of green cheese. The claim is untrue, and aside from this it induces many people to ignore the chances they have to prevent baldness.

The greatest stride toward the ultimate elimination of baldness was the discovery by Prof. Unna, of Hamburg, Germany (ask your doctor about him), that most hair loss is due to an invisible growth, of vegetable character, in the scalp—literally a "dandruff germ," producing a highly contagious disease. The greatest stride toward the prevention of baldness was the recent discovery of a prophylactic fluid called NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE, which, if intelligently used—will destroy the dandruff germ and prevent baldness.

Herpicide is the original dandruff germ destroyer and its extraordinary success—for dandruff and falling hair, also dull, brittle and lustreless hair—has brought out many imitations. Even the old line hair "growers" and hair "tonics" now claim to kill the dandruff germ. Quite a tribute to Herpicide, isn't it? An exquisite hair dressing. Stops itching of the scalp almost instantly. Don't wait; try it now.

THE HASTINGS TEAM WAS BEATEN

Norwood Won Trent Valley Game—The Firemen's Concert.

Examiner Special

Hastings, Feb. 24.—Mr. George Hill and family, of Peterborough, spent Sunday with Mr. A B Spellman.

Mr. Joseph Carey, of Toronto, has been renewing old acquaintances in Hastings.

Mrs. Weir is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Elmhirst.

Mr. Paterson, of Norwood, has been in the surrounding country purchasing some valuable horses to export out west.

The ice harvest has commenced in Hastings and the ice is of excellent quality, being of the desirable thickness and of solid formation.

Hastings and Norwood hockey teams played off their league match Saturday evening, which only part of the team played, but came out with a score of 7—2. Hastings can handle the bat a great deal better than the hockey stick. They will have to get the loose of some ice house and continue their practice throughout the year before they will have any showing in the league.

The Hastings Fire Brigade are having a concert on Friday, 28th, composed of the local talent. They are trying to raise sufficient money to supply the members with rubber suits.

The local grain dealers have purchased very little grain for the past few weeks. The farmers in the surrounding country have very little to spare, outside of wheat, after wintering their stock.

The stock buyer, Mr. J. Richardson, agent for Mr. Black of Campbellford, made a large shipment to Montreal of cattle and pigs on Friday.

OBITUARY

THE LATE WILLIAM PEGG

By the death of William Pegg, at his late residence on Belmont street, adjoining the village of Norwood, on Wednesday morning, the 19th day of February, A. D., 1908, aged eighty-eight years, nine months and seventeen days, one of the oldest pioneer settlers in the county of Peterborough has passed away. Although the infirmities of old age have been telling on him for many years, he continued to move about, and up to last fall, would walk into the village and transact his business in a manner to be wondered at at such an advanced age. He retained his faculties up to within two hours of his death, when he peacefully passed away to join the great majority, from whence none ever return.

William Pegg was born at Bristol, Eng., on the second day of May, 1819, and came with his parents to Canada in 1832, and settled in the west half of lot No. 2, in the 10th concession of the township of Dummer, which he continued to own and occupy until January 2, 1902, when he sold the old homestead to Matthew Elliott. He had previously purchased a couple of acres of land and built a comfortable home on Belmont street, adjoining the village, and with an adopted daughter, Martha Salter, resided up to the time of his death. By his long residence he was widely known as an honest, industrious man, and greatly enjoyed telling of the many trials and hardships experienced by the early pioneer settlers of seventy years ago, in relating incidents of his past life, and also of early settlers in Norwood, and surrounding townships. He was remarkably accurate in details and dates. He was married three times. His first wife, Elizabeth Bowes, died 15th January, 1844, and his only child a baby boy, died in two months after its mother. His second wife, Mary Ann Ford, died 6th June, 1862, and his third wife Ellen Bryan, (nee Howden) mother of Mr. James Bryan, merchant and village clerk of Havelock, to whom he was married in 1884, died in 1895. One sister, Mrs. Mary Rogers, still survives him. In religion he was a Methodist, and in politics a life long Reformer. The funeral will be from his late residence on Belmont street, to the Norwood cemetery, on Friday, Feb. 21st. Service at the house at 2 o'clock p.m.—Norwood Register.

HOME-MADE COUGH MIXTURE

Procure from your druggist the following ingredients and mix at home:—

One-half ounce fluid extract licorice, one-half ounce fluid extract cascara, one ounce elixir tolene, six ounces best rye whiskey. Dose: One dessertspoonful every two or three hours. Children in proportion.

This mixture is said to be very effective in the treatment of coughs, whooping-cough, colds, and bronchitis.

Relief is certain after a few doses.

HOME-MADE MEDICINE

Said to Relieve Kidney Trouble and Rheumatism

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion;

One ounce Compound Salatone;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla;

Mixed and taken in teaspoonful doses after meals and at bedtime, is stated by a prominent physician to give most excellent results in kidney or urinary afflictions, and also in rheumatism and sciatica. The mixture opens the clogged pores of the kidneys, thus assisting them in their work of filtering all waste and poisonous matter from the blood, and expels these in the urine. To allow this poisonous matter to remain means that it will settle in the muscular tissues or joints, and cause the untold misery known as rheumatism.

The mixture is composed of harmless vegetable ingredients which can be purchased at any good drug store, and mixed at home.

Anyone suffering from any of these afflictions will no doubt be pleased to learn of so simple and highly recommended remedy.

LONDON PREPARES EXPOSITION

The Franco-British Fair Will Be Monument to Friendship of Neighbouring Powers.

TO OPEN IN MAY NEXT

London, February 24. — (Special). — All London and Paris for that matter, as well as the British colonies and the French dependencies, are looking forward to the opening of the Franco-British Exhibition. Its object is twofold—to cement the existing friendship between Great Britain and France, and to stand as a monument to the peace of Europe.

The Franco-British Exhibition is unique in that it is to record to history the fact that, after more or less strained relations lasting for a century, Great Britain is at peace with France. It is the result of the diplomatic abilities of King Edward, who, after his ascension to the British throne sought and made possible the friendship now existing between these two great European powers. It was the French people themselves who first proposed the scheme. The exhibition which is to be opened early in May next, is being hastened towards completion at Shepherd's Bush, a suburb of Great London. It covers an area of 140 acres. In all there will be some 30 huge palaces, which will be dedicated to science, art and industry of the two nations—Britain and France—for each no account will other countries be allowed to exhibit.

Some idea of the practical interest France has taken in the scheme is evidenced when it is stated that out of 35,000 applications for space so far received, 19,000 have come from across the Channel. One half of the entire space available—21 acres or one and a quarter square miles of floor space—is to be devoted to French exhibits, which will be more comprehensive than those displayed by France at any exhibition outside of Paris.

The buildings are spacious and artistic structures and are built for the most part of steel, iron, concrete and plaster. Wood is conspicuous by its absence, with the result that all the edifices will be fireproof. The giant of the palaces is the Machinery Hall, and it is the largest building ever erected at an exhibition. It covers an area of over six acres. Each side building is 661 feet long by 220 feet wide, and the cross building 302 feet long by 310 feet wide. There will be a total floor space to this one building of eight acres.

The next largest edifice is the Indian Court, where the products of the Indian Empire will be displayed.

The hanging space for pictures in the Fine Arts Palace is two and a half times greater than that at the British Royal Academy.

There will also be an Irish village and a native settlement, including an Indian village from Western Canada.

FIRST TO WEAR OUT WITH AGE

mple Recipe for Bladder Trouble Should Be Valued by Elderly People

GIVES THIS VALUED RECIPE

The great majority of men and women at the age of 50 years begin to feel the first signs of advancing age in some form of kidney trouble and bladder weakness. Few are entirely free from that torturous disease, rheumatism, which is not a disease in itself, but a symptom of deranged function of the kidneys which have become clogged and sluggish, failing in their duty of sifting and straining the poisonous waste matter, uric acid, etc., from the blood, permitting it to remain and decompose, setting about the joints and muscles, causing intense pain and suffering.

The bladder, however, causes the old folks the most annoyance, especially at night and early morning.

A noted authority in a recent article stated that he has wonderful success with the old-time "vegetable treatment. He states: "Of sixteen cases of bladder troubles and rheumatism which have been treated with this treatment only one very complicated case failed to fully yield to its remarkable influence. It is the most harmless treatment I have ever found to clean the system of rheumatic poisons; remove irritation of the bladder and remove urinary difficulties of the old people. It is a true vitalizing tonic to the entire kidney and urinary structure, reinvigorating the entire system."

What he terms "old vegetable treatment" consists of the following simple prescription, the ingredients which can be obtained from any good pharmacy at small cost: Compound Kargon, one ounce; Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and upon going to bed, also drink plenty of water. This prescription, though simple, is always effective in the diseases and affections of the kidneys and bladder. 14

BABY'S OWN TABLETS SAVE A LITTLE LIFE

Mrs. T. Osborn, Norton Mills, Vt., writes: "I do not think enough can be said in praise of Baby's Own Tablets. I am satisfied that our baby would not have been alove today if it had not been for the Tablets, as he was so weak and sick that he took no notice of anything. In this condition I gave him the Tablets and they have made him a bright-eyed, laughing baby, the pride of our home. He is one year old, has nine teeth and is now as well as any baby can be. He sits and plays nearly all the time and lets me do my work without worry. I would say to all mothers who have sick babies give them Baby's Own Tablets, as I did mine and you will have healthy, happy babies." The Tablets will cure all the minor ailments of little ones and are absolutely safe. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

WHAT TO SEED DOWN WITH ALFALFA

Growers in Ontario Have Had Good Success With Barley.

What kind of grain is best to seed down with alfalfa clover? What time of the year is best to seed down? How does it do on sandy land?—G. W. B., Ont.

In the Western States, where alfalfa has been grown for many years, the practice generally adopted is to seed without a nurse crop. Some growers in Ontario have had good success by seeding with barley, or some spring grain. Others report good results with short straw and peas, though as to this we are not prepared to recommend the latter plan. Whether a nurse crop is used or not, it will be a safe plan to inoculate the alfalfa seed before sowing with the bacteria suitable for its growth. These can be had by applying to the Bacteriological Laboratory, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and will be sent with full instructions as to their use.

The best authorities on alfalfa do not seem to be convinced as to which is better, fall or spring seeding. Growers in the United States seem to favor fall sowing, especially when no nurse crop is grown, as it gives the plant a better chance. In Canada it will, perhaps, be better to practice spring seeding. Other things considered, that is proper cultivation, etc., alfalfa will do well on sandy land. There are only two kinds of soil on which alfalfa will not flourish if given a chance. These are soils constantly wet, and acidy soils.

ENGLAND

The funeral took place at Mersham, Surrey, recently, of Mrs. Mary Ann Maynard, who reached the age of 100 on February 18 last, on which date she was the recipient of an autograph letter of congratulation from the Queen. A remarkable fact in connection with Mrs. Maynard's life was that she was one of seven members of her family who married seven sons and daughters of a neighbouring farmer named King. Of the 28 members of the two families, Mrs. Maynard saw all but five carried to the grave. Mrs. Maynard was a woman of a particularly happy disposition. She was born at Croydon, and married in 1836. Mr. and Mrs. Maynard went to live at Mersham shortly after their marriage, where for 30 years they had a grocery and drapery business. The husband died in 1867. Until quite recently Mrs. Maynard's sight and hearing were remarkably good.

The intention of Mr. Alfred G. Vanderbilt to put his well-known American coach "Venture" on the Brighton road next summer is welcomed heartily by British driving men, as the result is likely to be a revival of the coaches of the road. Mr. Wilson, manager to Mr. Vanderbilt, has arrived in England with 66 horses under his care, 60 of the animals being destined for service on the "Venture." Mr. Vanderbilt has already engaged the services of an English guard, and it is probable an English coach will travel the road on alternate days, so that there will be a daily service between London and Brighton. The second coach will be Mr. J. Thompson's "Earlivy."

Particulars have been published of the will of Mr. R. Wilkinson Smith, J. P., a well-known Nottingham lace manufacturer, who left a large part of his fortune for the benefit of Nottingham widows and spinsters. The estate has been valued for probate at £335,712. After making various bequests to relatives and friends, the testator bequeaths the residue of his estate, about £300,000, to provide annuities for necessitous widows and spinsters resident within the city or county of Nottingham. Part of the fund is to be used to purchase land in the city or county and erect thereon almshouses for the widows and spinsters.

A strange story was told by a woman named Lily Whiteross who was charged with drunkenness at Bradford City Court the other day. She stated that she was a circus rider by profession and had become a crack shot with Buffalo Bill's show. She went to South Africa and was engaged by De Wet as a despatch rider. She wore military dress and passed as a man. Subsequently she deserted, and joined the British at Modder River, afterwards acting as a nurse. She told the Bench that her father and husband were both officers. She was fined.

Mr. Eaton, a farmer of Branston, near Burton, Staffordshire, found on returning from a drive that his collie dog, which he had taken with him, was missing. The dog was found next day lying on a rug on the high road some miles away, but no one could entice it to leave. When Mr. Eaton visited the spot the dog joyfully relinquished possession of the rug, which, it appears, had fallen from the back of the trap. The collie had kept vigil over it for 15 hours during intense frost.

Professor Boyd Dawkins of Victoria University, Manchester, has discovered an ancient pit-dwelling in boulder-clay on the estate of Col. Haworth Booth at Holston, near Hornsea, Yorks, the dwelling is 5 feet 8 1-2 inches deep. At the bottom were found bones of horses, deer, and other animals, including the small Celtic shorthorn ox, together with rough flint knives and cooking pots. The remains indicate an age prior to the Neolithic.

At the annual dinner of the Bristol University College, Colston Society, Mr. O. A. Wills, president, announced that his father, Mr. H. O. Wills, had promised £100,000 towards the endowment of the University of Bristol and the West of England, provided a charter be granted within two years. It was stated that of the £250,000 required before the charter can be applied for, £197,000 had been given or promised.

IRELAND

A sensational affair is reported to have taken place adjacent to Stewartstown, Co. Tyrone, the other night. Three young men dressed in police uniform followed a farmer down the Castlefarm road and placed him under arrest on a charge of drunkenness. They rifled his pockets and abstracted a sum of money from him. They beat him and he was compelled to take refuge in a farmhouse for safety. The moonlighters then retraced their steps in the direction of the town, but on the way called at a farmer's house. They rapped at the door and asked the servant, who came to the door, to see the master. He informed them he was in bed. They forced their way in and proceeded to his bed and dragged the farmer out of it. They beat him and dragged him a considerable distance along the road and threw him in a side drain. The moonlighters then returned to the house and ransacked it. The farmer, as soon as he recovered, proceeded to a neighbour's house and reported the occurrence. Both returned to the farmhouse where they found the disguised policemen in possession. A regular fight ensued, fists and weapons being freely used.

During a recent run of the County Down Stag-hounds, the stag which was unlocked near Banbridge and headed southwest, led the hounds a distance of over forty miles, eventually taking to the sea at Newcastle. After swimming some distance seaward it returned to the beach, and, racing along the shore, again entered the water near the quay. The animal was eventually captured some distances out in the bay by fishermen, who rowed after it.

The Donegal County Council has failed in its efforts to recover the rates from the fishermen-farmers of Dunboy, a small island off the mainland. It was stated at the last council meeting that the sum involved would not amount to a £5 note, but the principle of non-payment might prove contagious. A collector who seized a boat in which some of the semi-civilized islanders visited the mainland was severely handled by them.

Representations have been made to the admiralty authorities that the Maulbow-line Dock at Queenstown, which is about to be extended from 420 to 600 feet, should be still further lengthened to 800 feet. The Admiralty authorities are being asked to reconsider the plans in connection with the work so as to admit of the largest British liners afloat entering the dock and repairing there in case of necessity.

In connection with the institution of a bath at Ballymoney Workhouse, the clerk has reported that during the second week of the experiment only eight tramps went through the ordeal and were received in the workhouse, compared with fifty tramps received in the corresponding week of last year.

Belfast citizens have decided to erect a statue to Lord Kelvin, a native of the city.

SCOTLAND

One of the latest claimants to a peerage is William John Dougherty, mole-borer, Port Glasgow, who holds that he is entitled to the title of Viscount and Baron Gardiner of Torwoodhead, along with the estates. Dougherty, who met with a severe accident three years ago, and whose elder brother, Patrick, was mysteriously murdered at West Calder a few years back, asserts that he is descended from Colonel the Hon. James Gardiner, who was killed at the battle of Prestonpans in 1745. His eldest surviving son, David, was the claimant's great grandfather, whose eldest daughter, Lad Mary Gardiner, was his grandmother. In the rebellion of 1798, Lady Mary Gardiner's father saw service with his regiment in Ireland, and during his absence the young lady fell in love with the family coachman, Patrick Dougherty, and married him, only to be declared no longer a member of the family. This, Patrick, who was the grandfather of the claimant, and his wife lived in Dungiven for several years, and eventually died in Londonderry. An Edinburgh solicitor is said to be preparing the claim and when sufficient proofs have been collected it will be presented to the Judicial Committee of the House of Lords.

The time honoured and popular meet of the Dumfriesshire foxhounds at Hallaths, near Lockerbie, took place recently. There was a large muster of the usual patrons of the hunt, augmented by a big turnout of the sport-loving citizens of the royal burgh of Lockmaben. A fox was started in the vicinity of the mansion house, and after various turnings, as a last desperate effort made for the gardens on the east side of High street. Several of the burghers had the novel experience of viewing a fox hunt among their cabbages. Horse proved to be rather an encumbrance than a help among garden walls, hedges, pallings and railings and those nimble enough of foot who could follow the wily animal, as it threaded its way through and through the gardens, seeking to elude its pursuers, were in at "the kill," as the hounds bowled over victim in a garden.

In connection with a national campaign against rats which has been inaugurated in Great Britain, some interesting experiments in their extermination have been entered on by the representatives of the Ratin Bacteriological Laboratory of London. The Island of Little Cumbrae, in the Clyde, which is the property of the Marquess of Bute, is simply teeming with rats and applications are now being made for the special bacteriological preparation called Ratin. The Board of Agriculture and Fisheries is interesting itself in the matter, and has asked that a report may be made to the board as to the progress of the experiments.

The Fierce Man Eating Crocodile Of Australia

WILL TACKLE ANYTHING

The crocodile of the Nile differs very little from that of Australia, which is generally termed "alligator," though in reality a true crocodile. The head of a true alligator is broader and shorter than that of the crocodile. There is also considerable difference in the teeth and their disposition in the jaws. The teeth of an alligator are unequal and the larger of the lower canine enters a cavity in the upper jaw, while that of a crocodile simply enters into a grove on the outside of the upper jaw, leaving the tooth clearly visible when the mouth of the monster is closed. There are also differences in the webbing of the toes and the form of the legs, though to the casual observer there is little or no difference.

The crocodiles no doubt feed largely upon fish but as they grow older and stronger and require great quantities of food they will when hungry attack anything from a sheep or a kangaroo to a bullock, a big crocodile making short work of a bullock weighing over half a ton. Some of these monsters measure as much as twenty-seven feet in length, and possess immense strength, besides wonderful patience and courage. One will lie in wait at any watering place frequented by animals, hardly distinguishable from a log of wood, so still and impassive it has become. The animal coming down to drink, is seized in the crocodile's huge jaws and drawn into the water, and drowned.

At other times the tail is used to sweep the animal into deep water, where even though its prey may be a heavy bullock it has little or no chance against its enemy, which is specially provided by nature with an arrangement that prevents the water rushing down its huge throat, even though its jaws are fully distended through holding its prey. Thus after a few brief seconds the unequal struggle is over, and the saurian takes the carcass in tow to some favoured locality, where he can enjoy it at his leisure.

In the early days at Port Darwin, South Australia, bathing in the open sea was forbidden owing to the danger from crocodiles, there and nearly everywhere else in Australia, called alligators, though in reality no true alligators exist in Australia. A young trooper named Davis, a fine swimmer, disregarded the general order and one morning early went for a swim. Far out in the harbour he noticed what he and others took to be a floating log. Many of the northern trees float and are washed down in the wet season to the open sea. But went the strong swimmer, nearer and nearer to the supposed log, until too late he recognized his mistake and that he was approaching instead of a log a huge and apparently lifeless crocodile.

But the knowledge came too late to be of any service to poor Davis though some men called out to him from a small craft close by "Come back! Come back!" and Davis did make an attempt to retreat and was swimming manfully shoreward when the huge brute flashed down upon him at a terrific speed and, opening his great jaws, to their utmost capacity, came down with a smack that was heard even to the shore, and inside their cruel grasp went Trooper Davis' head! Then, with the quickness common to the saurian, it had disappeared with its victim.

Crocodiles at night-time low and bellow just like cattle, especially like bulls, and I have spent some nights in an open boat in Cambridge Gulf, northwestern Australia, where the whole place seemed to be alive with them and what with their splashes and cries, the weirdness of the whole scene and their close proximity as they at times rocked the boat, sleep was impossible, for there are several instances on record, where crocodiles have taekn, or have attempted to take, men from out of camps and boats.

A poor fellow named Reed, the mate or second mate, of the Gulnan, had gone in his vessel to some river in Carpentaria Gulf—I believe the Roper. The vessel was at anchor near the mouth of the river. The mate, Reed, had been dispatched in charge of the watering party and was some distance up the river in a large open boat. Water had been obtained and they were all ready for a return to the ship. The night was a very bright one, the shining unclouded, when towards midnight the sleeping camp was awakened by some terrific shrieks. These were the cries of poor Reed, who enveloped in his bedding and mosquito curtains, was being borne off by a crocodile.

It is said by those who knew him well and accompanied him on this and other previous trips that he had the habit of sleeping with his foot on the gunwale of the boat and no doubt this afforded the crocodile an easier opportunity of seizing him.

The crocodile has a remarkable eye. It can arrange the pupil to a vertical or horizontal position at will to suit its requirements by day or night. It has a special natural protection to the eye, and through a duct escapes the fluid which the monster weeps. In fact he is a peculiar brute altogether, with many special gifts besides his huge jaws that help to make of him the terror he is.—Sydney Mail.

Evolution of The Stage Coach For Carrying The Mails

How The System Developed in The Old Country—Receivers of Letters Often Had to Pay For Them.

It seems strange to reflect, in these days of frequent collections, and prompt deliveries, that it is very little more than a century since letters despatched from London on a Tuesday night were not in the hands of the addresses in Edinburgh, until the following Sunday, says the London Daily News. In the early years of the nineteenth century, delays were continual in the less frequented parts of the country. When we consider the kind of postmen we had, the wages paid to them and the work they had to do, this is not to be wondered at.

Before the introduction of the mail coach, of which use was first made in 1784, letters were carried by "boys," who were frequently men of 50 or 60 years of age. They were mounted on ponies, almost as ancient and broken-down as themselves. They were exposed to the buffetings of the weather and to the rigour of the winter, and they often found a good inn fire, with a glass of two of hot grog, very alluring.

Down to the period of the introduction of the coach, the post office was generally a stable as well, and the term "postmaster" had then a double significance. He was the person lentrusted with the receipt and despatch of letters and with the provision of horses to carry the mails. The first part of the duty was often left to the bar men and chamber maids, and was generally badly done, while the horses provided were, as has been indicated, the worst instead of the best obtainable. The postmaster at Aberdeen in 1768 received a salary of about 90 pounds a year, and at Glasgow the official's salary was 140 pounds and that of his clerk 30 pounds.

The coming of the mail coach brought into being a new body of men, the mail guards and the coachmen. The guards wages were about half a guinea a week, but they received much more in tips, and some of them earned 300 pounds a year in that way. Being, moreover, the newspapers of that time carrying news and gossip from town to town, they were always in demand at the local hostelries, and their weakness was very cleverly hit off in a set of anonymous verses called "The Mail Coach," in which were introduced the names of nearly all the famous inns of the period.

Guards were fined for carrying fish, poultry or anything of the kind on their own account, and they were forbidden to blow their horns in passing through towns during the hours of divine service on Sunday, a regulation which was recently revived in regard to the horns of motor omnibusses. The principal cause of fines with regard to the drivers, was losing time on the road.

In days of war the coming of the mail coach was eagerly waited in the market pplace of each town, and on the occasion of any great victory, as at the Nile or Waterloo, the horses were decorated with laurel, and flags were flown on the coach. The guard then donned his best scarlet coat and his gold trimmed hat and blew his horn with might and main. Sometimes he would even discharge the blunderbuss, and generally do everything he could to indicate that he was the bearer of good news.

Each big town had its special distributing centre for news, and there all the bloods of the town gathered to receive the earliest intelligence. In Glasgow the Tontine Coffee House was the recognized place, but London had a general post office in Clock Lane, Dowgate Hill, in 1660, and a new one was entered at the Black Swan in Bishopsgate street, a year or two later. Subsequently the headquarters of the postal service in the British Isles down to 1829 was at Sir Robert Viner's mansion in Lombard street.

De Quincey's description of the run of a mail coach on a summer's nigh, from the Gloucester Coffee House to Bristol is well known, but in the winter it was a very different thing. Many stories are told of snowed up mails and of guards and coachmen frozen to death at their posts. This was especially the case in Scotland. In the Annual Register, in February, 1795, we read:

"My letter of two days ago is still here for though I have made an effort twice, I have been obliged to return not having reached half of the first stage. Two mails are due from London, three from Glasgow, and four from Edinburgh. Neither the last guard that went hence for Glasgow on Thursday nor he that went on Wednesday, have since been heard of."

Another kind of postman was he who went around the town after the ordinary collections of letters from the receiving office had been made to gather in late letters for the mail. The custom remained in force in Dublin until 1859, although it had been abandoned in almost every other city years before. Each of these bellmen as they were called, carried a locked leather wallet into which through an opening, letters and other articles were deposited. For the convenience of this arrangement those who posted letters into the late fee bag paid one penny on each newspaper, in addition to the ordinary postage, as a personal fee to the man. The profession appears to have been a fairly profitable one.

The postmen of those days needed to have a great deal of patience. The pre-payment of letters was not compulsory and sending of letters often left the receivers to pay for them. This involved delay and two or three visits to the house before the work was done. The streets, moreover, were not named or numbered systematically as they are now, (numbering first began in 1764 with New Burleigh street and Lincoln's Inn Fields) and addresses were frequently long and incomprehensible. Thus in 1708 we learn that a letter was addressed to "Mr. Archibald Dunbar of Thunderstone, to be left at Captain Dunbar's writing chamber at the Iron Revell, third story below the cross, north end of the close, at Edinburgh."

MR. R. H. LEARY IS A DIRECTOR FAIRS AND EXHIBITIONS ASSOCIATION

Peterborough Representative Elected Third Director at Convention Held in Toronto Last Week.

The annual convention of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions was held in Toronto last week and a large amount of business was transacted of a practical character. A strong delegation waited upon the Ontario Government and asked that the present appropriation for agricultural societies be increased from $70,000 to $100,000. The usual promise of consideration was granted.

An important item discussed was whether the value of grounds and buildings of agricultural societies should be taken into consideration in awarding Government grants. Mr. E. Boughner of Simcoe, introduced the matter, but a majority decided in favour of the government continuing to make grants on the basis of the prizes offered only.

Mr. John Brockbank made a special plea for the general purpose horse at fairs. There was no show for it in ch ing it judged with the heavy draft horses. He defined a general purpose horse as one whose weight ranges from 1,15 to 1,300 pounds. No decision was reached by the meeting.

The President's Address

The address of the opresident, Mr. Wm. Laidlaw, Guelph, was most optimistic as regards the future of the association. He suggested that the act be so amended that one third of the prizes would be paid by the Government and two-thirds by the society.

Supt. J. Lockie Wilson stated that he total amount expended by the societies in 1906, was $700,107.25. The amount expended for agricultural purposes was $250,251.15. Prize money to the amount of $5,192.97 had been paid at the spring shows. The Legislative grant to fall fairs was $66,584.84, and to city exhibitions $4,622. About 700,000 people attended the rural fairs in 1906; 178 expert judges had been sent out during 1907. Under the new act 40 small fairs had been merged with other societies.

Seed Fairs

The giving of prizes for seed grain competitions was commended by the convention. The feeling prevailed that the prizes given by the Government for this purpose should be distributed more over the province. The plan adopted last year of giving the prizes to the society of district first making application was not fair. The province should be divided into districts and the money divide between these districts.

Good work is being done by the District Fair Association in arranging dates for holding fairs, in economy in putting up sho wbills and in other ways. Mr John Farrell, Forest, who discusse dthis subject, also spoke strongly in favour of educational features at fairs. These should begin with children, by arranging for prizes or school drills, for judging fruit, etc. Domestic science features are also valuable.

The expert judges sent out by the Government every fall seem to be growing in favour. Dr. Simmons of Frankford, thought so much of the plan that he urged that something should be done towards securing independent and competent judges for every department of the fair. The beef judge should not judge dairy cattle as well, not the heavy horse man judge light horses. But this would entail large expense on somebody, and could not be expected to materialize for some time to come. The Government should endeavour, however, to increase the number of judges as much as possible.

A number of resolutions of more or less importance were presented to the meeting. In most cases they were ordered printed in the annual report without the convention coming to any decision about them. These included resolutions asking that the expenses of delegates to the annual conventions be classed as money expended for agricultural purposes in awrding the Government grant; that the woman's department at local fairs be placed under the charge of th eoffiers of the Women's Institute in the district.

A recommendation from the Canadian Holstein - Fresian Association asked that agricultural societies place the dairy breeds of cattle on the same footing as the beef breeds at their local fairs, and that special dairy judges be selected to do the judging.

The treasurer's statement showed a balance on hand at the head of the year of $124.21 as compared with $51 at the end of 1906.

One hundred and twenty-two societies were represented at the convention.

Pres., Wm. Laidlaw, Guelph.,

1st Vice-Pres., H. J. Gould, Uxbridge.

2nd Vice-Pres., Dr. Simmons, Frankford.

Directors, R E Cowan, Galt; Johnson Ellis, Lindsay; R H Leary, Peterborough; Geo S. Lee, Highgate; J Thos Murphy, Simcoe; John D Orr, Meadowville; and J W Shepherd, Cayuga.

There were twenty nominations for directors, with seven only to be elected. Mr. Leary's election as third man on the Board was a decisive acknowledgement of his practical usefulness.

LICENSE TAKEN FROM THE WOMAN

Feminine Agent Published Misleading Advertisements to Attract Immigrants.

London, February 27. — (Special) — The Commissioner of Immigration, Bruce Wallace, was interviewed on Saturday with reference to an important case involving immigration questions, tried at the Guildhall, London, before Alderman Sir Marcus Samuel, during the present month. The details of this case were given in the issue of the Times' Weekly Edition Supplement of February 7.

From this account it appears that Mrs. Elise Kauffman Kendall of London, England, had for the past fifteen years held a passage broker's license and had been actively engaged in the work of securing immigrants for Canada. The passage broker's license was issued by the government through the Board of Trade, and the sum of five thousand dollars was deposited by the holder with the government, as a guarantee that the business would be properly carried on. During the past year Mr. Walker, acting in London, as the representative of the Canadian government, had become exceedingly dissatisfied with the manner in which the business of Mrs. Kendall was being prosecuted. Application was consequently made to the Board of Trade to refuse the renewal of the license at the end of the year. After looking into the matter the Board of Trade agreed to refuse. Mrs. Kendall then took action to compel the Board of Trade to comply, and the matter came before Sir Marcus Samuel.

At the trial it appeared that Mrs. Kendall had inserted advertisements in the press of Great Britain, guaranteeing positions to immigrants in Canada and stating that five thousand labourers and other servants were required immediately. The advertisements had been continued until the close of the past year and were inserted at a time when the additional labour in Canada had entirely ceased. Mrs. Kendall had changed the nature of her advertisement but apparently not to a sufficient extent to satisfy Mr. Walker. Hence the action was taken and the request addressed to the Board of Trade that the Board should refuse the renewal of the license.

Of Far-reaching Importance

Mr. Walker, on being asked in reference to the matter said that the importance of the case was very much greater than appeared on the surface. Mrs. Kendall appeared before the public as a woman engaged in a quiet way as a passage broker, but she was in fact identified with a powerful and influential organization, most of the members of which were London Jews. Owing to the fact that she was in possession of a passage broker's license she was able to create an indefinite number of booking agents and to permit them to commence operations in all parts of Great Britain. A large proportion of these booking agents were of the most undesirable class and the most of the misleading statements were made by them to induce British people to emigrate. They were responsible to no one and carried on business under the power given to them by the organization which operated under the name of Mrs. Kendall. Constant complaints were made regarding them but the representative of Canada had no recourse although many were known to be disreputable, and dishonest and entirely reckless in their statements. During the early part of the year Mr. Walker called attention to this organization and to the class of advertisements being published in the English papers, which advertisements he characterized as a gross misrepresentation and a malicious lie. An entire alteration in this matter was demanded. The request was refused by that organization, and it was then stated that the grant of the Dominion Government would no longer be paid in case of refusal. The organization stated that their business could be done without reference to the grant paid for immigrants by the government of Canada. The grant was then withdrawn on Jan. 1st, and action was also taken through the Board of Trade to have the license refused. If this result could be secured this entire class of most undesirable booking agents would be put out of business; classes of British people who were unsuited for life in Canada would not be persuaded to break up their homes there, and come to the Dominion, and great suffering and loss would be prevented.

Sir Marcus Samuel stated that the case had assumed a much graver aspect than he had anticipated and that the publication of the Advertisements in question, after warning had been given, was no justified, and the license was refused. All the evidence in the case was given by the clerks in the office of Sir Walker, in London, and evidence would have been given by him personally had he not been on the ocean when the case was tried. Much satisfaction was expressed by him at the result.

ALL RUN DOWN

FERROZONE

Miss Dorothy E. Ledue of Chester gives the following convincing evidence of Ferrozone's power:—"My work compels me to rise early in the morning and work ten hours daily as a saleslady. Last Spring I was run down, lost my color, and fell off in weight. I seemed to lack ambition and the life was out of me. A friend recommended Ferrozone, and I took one tablet after meals with wonderful results. Ferrozone brought back my complexion, and has given me new strength and abundance of energy and spirits. I would advise all young ladies to use Ferrozone."

Mrs. H. G. Wilder of Dexter says—"My daughter was not very well last Winter, and lost her strength completely when the Spring came. I gave her Ferrozone, and am glad to say it did wonders. After six boxes were used my daughter was strong, and looked the picture of health."

COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

Mrs. Irwin Bennett, Parrsboro, N. S., writes: "I feel it my duty to write a few words in praise of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and made it almost impossible to breathe at times. I coughed constantly and could not sleep at nights. A friend told me how Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup had helped her, so I procured some, and before I had taken one bottle my cough was gone and I could lie down and sleep at night."

GILLETT'S PERFUMED LYE

CAUTION.

Put a strong glass on the label and examine it closely every time. Always look for the name "Gillett's."

Like all good articles, which are extensively advertised, Gillett's Lye is frequently and very closely imitated. In some instances the imitators have actually copied directions and other printed matter from our label word for word. Be wise, and refuse to purchase imitation articles for they are never satisfactory.

Insist On Getting Gillett's Lye

and decline to accept anything that looks to be an imitation or that is represented to be "just as good" or "better," or "the same thing." In our experience of over fifty years in business we have never known of an imitation article that has been a success, for imitators are not reliable people. At the best the "just as good" kinds are only trashy imitations, so decline them with thanks every time.

in 1811 he purchased from the Hudson's Bay company 116,000 square miles of land in the Red River valley to found a settlement. His first party arrived in August, 1812. This was the foundation of the Canadian Northwest. His agent, Miles Macdonald, was appointed by the Hudson's Bay Company governor of the colony of Assiniboia. The two rival white companies waged wars against Lord Selkirk. It culminated in 1816 in the battle of "Seven Oaks," when Governor Semple and 20 of his followers were killed by a band of the Northwest company men. Lord Selkirk hurried to the assistance of his settlement, arriving on Red river in 1817. Died at Pau, France.

23. Cuthbert Grant—Leader of the half-breeds of Red river and although opposed to Selkirk's settlement he saved it from massacre (1816) on the score of humanity.

29. Sir John Richardson — Born at Dumfries, Scotland, 1787; died in 1865. Accompanied Franklin as surgeon, 1819 and 1825; later led his own expedition, 1848, to explorand the Mackenzie river valley. Now known as one of the world's greatest naturalists.

30. Rev. John West — Church of England missionary on Red river, 1820-1823.

31. Sir James Douglas—The founder of British Columbia, and of Victoria city.

34. Adam Thom—The first recorderer of Rupert's Land, 1839-1850.

ERNEST THOMPSON SETON.

THE BURIAL OF THE LIVING RISK

Medical Experts Give Some Startling Testimony About It.

Boston, February 28. — (Special.) — Horror of premature burial has become so impressive to two justices of the Supreme Court of the United States that they have engaged Dr. John Dixwell, of Harvard University, to guarantee that they shall not be buried alive. Dr. Dixwell also told the Legislative Committee on Legal Affairs to-day that many years ago he was himself pronounced dead by distinguished physicians and barely escaped a horrible fate.

Witness told the committee that by estimate two people out of every one thousand are buried alive. Numerous terrifying instances were cited in an effort to have the committee report a bill making proof of death compulsory. There is no such bill in Massachusetts now.

The bill provides that the local boards of health shall be notified within six hours of the death of any person, and that as soon as possible the shall cause an examination to be made of the reported deceased; that certification of death shall only be issued after ten tests have been made, for heart action, respiration, muscles and use of subcutaneous injection of ammonia to ascertain dissolution, the purpose being to prevent burial alive. There shall be suitable rooms set apart for these tests, if not made at the domicile, by three and not less than two, physicians.

The bill provides a penalty of $1,000 fine, or a year's imprisonment, for violation of the act. Dr. Dixwell urged that the state should endeavour to relieve the deadly and widespread worry caused by fear of premature burial.

A notable case, showing the difficulty of knowing whether a patient is really dead, was told of a Natick man who was laid out for two days, presumably dead, but who was entirely conscious and afterwards complained of an undertaker who jiffed his head by the nose.

Frederick W. Briggs, member of the State Embalming Board, opposed the bill and resented aspersions on the doctors and undertakers.

"If there is a single case where a person has been declared dead and prepared for burial before the life left his body," he said with earnestness, that ought to be enough for the passage of proper legislation. And we have none on the books to-day. The physician too frequently takes the word of friends or of the undertaker.

"Undertakers will tell you that they embalm," he continued; "yes, they do embalm, but if they do, the embalming that will kill. If life is there, is it any more than murder?" The judge said that his own mother had had a bitter experience in her youth, and it followed her throughout life.

"I came very near being buried alive myself in the early '70's," said Dr. Dixwell. "Very eminent physicians determined that I was dead and gave me up, but after an hour or so I thought that I wouldn't die, and so I am alive to-day while they are all dead. Dr. Henry I. Bowditch was the chief of the consultation at my bedside, and I will never forget how surprised he was to find me alive the next morning. The horror exists as a fact and it can't be disputed. I have two justices of the Supreme Court of the United States, whom I have promised that I would see that she should not be buried alive. I recall a case at the general hospital of a woman sent there with bronchitis. After a time it was decided that she was dead, and she was sent to the morgue. There she suddenly woke up and is alive to-day."

"Worry kills," said the doctor, "as well as disease. It becomes a regular monomania with some natures, and they go wild over the fear of being buried alive. If the State should stop that I believe that it would be a wise thing to do."

HOW TO PREPARE LIME WASH

The Method of Spraying With Bordeaux Mixture.

As the season for spraying is rapidly approaching we find many of our growers dreading the work of applying the lime-sulphur wash. In the preparation of this mixture, if there is no boiling plant nearby, and the grower wishes to prepare his material cheaply and effectively, he can make a plank box, abqut three or four feet wide, from five to seven feet long, and 12 inches high. Secure a sheet of boiler plate, that will project a couple of inches outside of box. Fasten the box to the sheet iron securely by means of screws through drill holes.

A fire place can be built of bricks, so that the boiler plate will rest on brick-work. Leave open at end and put in two or three lengths of stove pipe. Limbs or brush can be used for firing. The above makes the cheapest place for boiling lime and sulphur. The back end of the box can be lowered a little, and a large faucet put in to run the liquid out of the pan. For fifty gallons of mixture, put 15 gallons of water in the pan. Bring to a boil, and add 22 pounds of good fresh lime. Have 18 pounds of finely ground sulphur mixed to a paste previously in hot water. Pour this in on the lime.

When the lime begins to slack, stir occasionally. Boil for one or two hours, or until the mixture turns a greenish colour. Keep boiling vigorously all the time. Add more water to make the 50 gallons. The last few gallons added may be of cold water, so that the mixture, if going directly into the pump to be used, will not be boiling, and thus [illegible] the hose. Great care should be exercised in straining into the tank, using for the last straining, a strainer fifty meshes to the inch. Fine nozzels can then be used, and no trouble will be experienced from clogging. Better work can be done with small nozzles, and less material used.

Spray the first time about two-thirds of the tree from the windy side, then, when there is a change of wind, to one of the opposite quarters, the other third can be sprayed. A good breeze is found to be a good aid in spraying, especially for large trees. Be sure and cover every spot on the trees.

When spraying with Bordeaux mixture and poison for coddling moth, see that every twig and leaf is covered and every apple covered, so that the poison will have filled the calyx end of the fruit. Thoroughness in every particular is one of the secrets of success in spraying.

MANGLES BEST FOOD FOR CATTLE

More Profitable Than Sugar Beets or Turnips.

Which kind of root is most profitable for feeding dairy cattle and pigs—turnips, mangles or sugar beets? About how many bushels of rots would be required to feed 25 head of cattle and 10 pigs, feeding one or two feeds a day? How many acres of roots would have to be sown to provide sufficient for this amount of stock, estimating on an ordinary crop? What is the best way of sowing, broadcast or drilled? Could the rows be arranged so as to cultivate with horse hoe, or to enable one to use the spring cultivator with a team? Do you get better results from frequent cultivation? How much frost will roots stand without injury?—F. L. L., Landsdowne, Ont.

Mangles are more preferable for dairy cattle than either of the foods named. Turnips are good, but have a tendency to taint the milk, hence it is dangerous to use them. For hogs these kinds of roots have about equal value. Sugar beets contain slightly more dry matter than mangles or turnips, also a slightly higher percentage of carbohydrates. Where mangles are being produced for dairy cattle, however, it is hardly advisable to grow turnips or sugar beets when only a few hogs are being fed.

Mangles are fed to cows at the rate of 25 to 40 pounds a day. Taking the outside figure—40 pounds—25 cows would require 1,000 pounds a day. Twenty pounds a day for hogs is a large amount, but taking this estimate it would require 200 pounds a day for the ten hogs, 1,200 pounds, therefore, or about 20 bushels, would be required for the stock each day, and if fed 200 days—4,000 bushels would be required.

An average crop of roots, rows being sown about 28 or 32 inches apart, and the plants thinned out to 10 to 12 inches apart in the rows, would produce approximately 20 tons of roots to the acre. To make allowance, therefore, for the seasons, three or four acres of roots would provide ample feed for your stock.

If it is desired to get a good crop of roots, and, at the same time cultivate the land, so as to kill weeds, and prepare it for future crops, it is essential to sow in drills. By sowing broadcast cultivation cannot be followed; a smaller crop is assured, the roots themselves are small, and it requires more labor to handle them.

Rows can be planted at any width to allow for cultivation. If it is intended to cultivate with a horse hoe, 18 to 24 inches apart is wide enough. If it is desired to use a spring tooth cultivator with team, which would facilitate considerable work, we would advise sowing from 28 to 36 inches apart.

The more cultivation that is given to this crop, the greater will be the production. Cultivation should be followed with a view to eradicate the weeds, as well as increasing crop production. It should be the aim to cultivate after every rain, in order to break the crust, create a mulch, and thus conserve the soil moisture.

Mangles, if they are to be stored for any length of time, will not stand a very hard frost. A hard frost affects them, causing them to rot in a very short time. Turnips, on the other hand, will stand considerable frost without injury.

WEAK, PALE AND WORN OUT WOMEN

Women are called the "weaker sex," and yet nature calls upon them to bear far more pain than men. With too many women it is one long martyrdom from the time they are budding into womanhood, until age begins to set its mark upon them. They are no sooner over one period of pain and distress than another comes up only a few days ahead of them. No wonder so many women become worn out and old looking before their time.

In these times of trial Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are worth their weight in gold to women. They actually make new, rich blood, and on the richness and regularity of the blood the health of every girl and and every woman depends.

Mrs. Urbane C. Webber, Welland, Ont., is one of the many women who owe present health and strength to Dr. Williams Pink Pills. Mrs. Webber says:—"About three years ago, while living in Hamilton, my health began to decline. The first symptoms were headaches and general weakness. After a time the trouble increased so rapidly that I was unable to attend to my household duties. I lost flesh, looked bloodless and had frequent fainting fits. I was constantly doctoring, but without any benefit, and I began to feel that my condition was hopeless. One day a friend asked my why I did not try Dr. Williams Pink Pills and mentioned several cases in which she knew of the great benefit that had followed their use. After some urging I decided to try the pills and had only used them a few weeks when I began to feel benefitted, and from that time on the improvement was steady, and by the time I had used about a dozen boxes of the pills I was again enjoying the blessing of good health. I cannot too strongly urge other discouraged sufferers to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will cure all troubles due to poor, watery blood, such as anaemia, general weakness, indigestion, neuralgia, skin troubles, rheumatism, the after effects of la grippe, and such nervous troubles as St. Vitus' dance and partial paralysis. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

VISITED THE O. A. C. AT GUELPH

The inviting of the members of the Ontario Legislature to visit the Ontario Agricultural College, at Guelph, was a happy thought on the part of Hon. Mr. Monteith, Minister of Agriculture. The history of the Ontario Legislature records many debates in which criticisms of expenditures for Agricultural purposes, were based upon insufficient knowledge. Only comparatively few of the members of the Legislature have an intelligent conception of the importance and needs of the agricultural interests of the province. A number of the members, who visited the College last week for the first time, confessed that they were surprised at the scope and value of the work carried on at that excellent institution. The members enjoyed Hon. Mr. Monteith's hospitality, were benefitted by what they heard from the professors at the College, about their work, and by what they saw for themselves. They are now in a better position to discuss intelligently the items of expenditure for the work of the College, that are laid before them each year. The province at large will reap the benefit.

—A local physician says that at the present time there are over two hundred people in Peterborough suffering from lagrippe. Young Woman Gets A Year In Mercer And Others Are Out On Suspended Sentence

In the police court this morning Mr. and Mrs. Albert Crouter, of Carlile street, East City, who were found guilty of keeping a house of ill-repute, and Queenie Grant, who was found guilty of being an inmate, appeared for sentence. A large crowd gathered outside the police court, but were not admitted into the room. The case of Queenie Grant was first dealt with. His Worship, before passing his sentence upon her, said if he let her out she would only go back to that dreadful life. "I sentence you to one year in the Mercer Reformatory." Mr. Gordon, the counsel for the girl, pleaded for a lighter sentence, owing to her tender years and the girl also asked for leniency. His Worship pointed out that he was doing this out of mercy. In the Mercer she would have good work to do and her mind would be attracted to a higher plane of life. The young girl is only twenty-three years of age. She took her sentence very hard and asked to be removed to the cells, where she broke down.

The case of Albert Crouter and his wife was next dealt with. His Worship was of the opinion that by sending them down for a term no good would be accomplished. He allowed them to go on suspended sentence and warned them that if he ever had cause he would have them brought into court and they would be dealt with on this charge. He also bound them over to keep the peace for a year.

Mr. Gordon, their counsel, informed his Worship that they had intended to leave town.

His Worship gave them fifteen days to leave the county and told them that during that time they would be under the surveillance of the police. At the end of that time the suspended sentence would have no affect.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES WILL GO TO GUELPH AS USUAL THIS SEASON

At a meeting of the executive committee of the East Peterborough, West Peterborough and East Durham Farmers' Institutes, held this morning at the Munro House, it was decided that the annual excursion under the auspices of the three institutes, should be run to Guelph this year as usual. There had been considerable discussion among the members as to the advisability of visiting Ottawa, but the executives this morning decided otherwise.

The East Peterborough representatives present were Messrs. F. Birdsall, president; Ed. Hawthorne, vice-president, and C. O'Reilly, secretary. Messrs. Arthur Vance, president, and A. J. Fallis, secretary, represented the East Durham Institute, while the interests of West Peterborough were looked after by President J. N. Telford and Secretary Wm. Collins.

Mr. Birdsall was elected chairman and Mr. Collins secretary of the meeting, and after discussing the annual trip it was decided to go to Guelph. June 11 was the date set and the excursion will be run per G. T. R., if satisfactory arrangements can be made.

Messrs. F. Birdsall and Wm. Collins were appointed president and secretary respectively of the committee.

DESTITUTE FAMILY IN EAST CITY; FATHER IN THE HOSPITAL

Word was received to-day of a destitute family in East City, which is on the verge of starvation. The family lives on Douro street in a small house, and the little stove in the kitchen has not been lit for some time. The father of the family is lying dangerously ill in a local hospital and the children are without food. The case was only reported to the relief officer this morning and he is going to look into the matter at once. It was thought that cases of this kind were unknown in Peterborough.

PRIZE FOR WINDOW DRESSING COMES TO PETERBOROUGH

Another of the prizes presented by the Dry Goods Review, of Toronto, for window dressing has been captured by Mr. H C Macdonald, window dresser for Richard Hall & Son. All will remember the window in this establishment at Christmas time with the deer, tree and birds and the novelties, fancy goods, etc., with which it was decorated. Mr. Macdonald captured third prize this year in a competition open to all of Canada. The photograph sent to the Dry Goods Review was somewhat indistinct and it is very probable he would have captured first or second prize as his window was one of a particularly handsome character.

OTONABEE YOUTH MAKES IT HOT FOR THE NEW-COMERS

The inhabitants of Otonabee, judging from the actions of one youth, are particularly stuck on their township and the country. A somewhat amusing story is told in defence of this about an occurrence of a day or two ago. An Otonabee young man asked another resident of the township, who has come out recently from the Old Country, how he liked this portion of the globe.

"I don't think much of the country, nor of the people in it," was the reply.

He backed up this statement by declaring he meant what he said, whereupon his questioner hustled off his coat to square up matters.

The new-comer's brother was called to assist, but the loyal Canadian, it is stated, "trimmed" the two, one of whom, at least, "didn't like the country nor the people."

THREE-FIFTHS VOTE NECESSARY TO REPEAL LOCAL OPTION

A number of inquiries have been made regarding the repeal of local option in districts where it exists. To-day the Examiner interviewed a solicitor on the question. He stated that it takes a three-fifths vote to repeal local option just the same as it does to have it carried. The law requires this.

REMINISCENCES OF THE RIEL RISING

Mr. Robert Johnston Relates His Experiences As a Voyageur Under Woolesley In The Expedition Against Louis Riel.

Thirty-eight years ago this spring the subject of issue in the minds of the public was the Riel uprising in western Canada. The departure of the snow brought news of the rebellion of half-breeds and Indians in the vicinity of Fort Garry, now Winnipeg, and from all points of Upper and Lower Canada men were drafted to assist the militia in putting down this insurrection, which for a time was considered serious. Among those who were selected from Peterborough was Mr. Robert Johnston, who now resides on Antrim street. His memory easily goes back over these almost two score years to graphically recall the labours connected with the work of conveying provisions and arms from Fort William to Fort Garry.

Experienced Men

Mr. Johnston was engaged as a voyageur and only men experienced in handling water craft were chosen. Their duty was chiefly to guide the boats along the water course from Lake Shebandowan and to keep them upright on their keels in making the portages.

Mr. Johnston left Peterborough some time in the month of June. From Toronto he went with the other men to Collingwood, where they took a steamer for Fort William. They were forced to use the American Sault Canal, as it was the only one at that time. The country being practically in a state of war and as the United States was neutral, the militia had to be dressed as ordinary civilians and the arms and ammunition had to be carried to a point above the Soo, from which the rest of the voyage through the lake was continued.

Port Arthur Desolate

At that time Port Arthur was a part of the forest primeval. At Fort William a large shed was built for the storing of the provisions until they were carried north in the smaller boats. From Fort William the first part of the journey westward was a portage of forty miles to Lake Shebandowan. This was known as the Dawson Road. It had to be built up in order that the teams could draw the provisions to Lake Shebandowan, where they were taken on board the boats again. Mr. Johnston was engaged on the road for som time and altogether about forty teams were used.

Portaging

The boats used west of the road were nothing more than huge skiffs. They were thirty feet long, three feet deep and about four feet wide. To each company of soldiers seven boats were apportioned and fourteen voyageurs, two to each boat. The soldiers had to drag the boats over the portages, while a voyageur would stand on either side of it to keep it on its keel. The the soldiers also felt the laborious task of rowing the boats. Mr. Johnston was connected with company B. On an average four soldiers, an officer and two voyageurs were appointed to every boat, which was also laden to the gunwales with goods. The arms and ammunition was placed in a huge chest in the bottom of the boat. Supplies of pork and flour were piled over the chest and clothes also added.

Indians Upset

On the first trip on the westward journey from Lake Shebandowan several Indians were employed to run rapids of lesser danger, but they came to grief several times and a number of boats were lost. The portages for the boats were built like skids, in order to lessen the labour.

The first trip lasted about five months. When the troops reached Fort Garry there was no enemy to be vanquished, for the rebels had decamped and the trouble was quelled without a shot. Nearly all the voyageurs returned home in the late autumn.

Col. Wolsley was in command of the expedition and was paddled along by two men in a birch bark canoe. He was so well pleased with the Canadian voyageurs that in his work on the Nile he sent for them and many answered his call. Some of them never returned from that African campaign.

Speaking of the food, Mr. Johnston said the men were glad to get back to something better than biscuit pork and canned potatoes.

Work On The Dawson Road —Portaging The Heavy Skiffs And Running The Rapids— When Port Arthur Was Unsettled.

The Work On The Rosedale Section Of The Trent Canal Is Now Being Carried Ahead

Work on the Balsam Lake-Cameron Lake section of the Trent Canal, the contract for which has been awarded the Randolph McDonald Construction Company of Toronto, has been commenced and will be carried ahead as rapidly as possible. Messrs. Spence and McCabe, of the Trent Canal engineering staff, have returned to the city after a visit to Coboconk in connection with this section of the canal. Just now the right-of-way is being cleared, and Contractor McDonald is ready to begin the work at once, his supplies being on the ground.

It is expected it will take in the neighbourhood of three years to complete this important section of the canal, which is about one mile and a half in length. Only one lock will be required in the section, but there are some long cuts to be made, and the contractor will have no easy task by any means. Good progress is expected, will be made in the right-of-way is being cleared, and work this season.

HARTLEY WAS ILL ON FIRST DAY OF THE KANSAS CITY RACE

The first news that has come from David Hartley since the big race at Kansas City began, was received this morning by Mr. R J Munro in a letter from the local walker. The climate has evidently got in its work on Hartley whose letter states that he was ill on the first day. The letter is as follows:—

"I did not have very good luck the first day of the race, as I took ill and had to leave the track after making 50 miles. If I had not had a good trainer I would have had to quit. He says I should have had five months of good hard trainang. Of course I have no place to work out in but Tuesday I was doing better and have worked my way up to fifth place. I gained and passed 10 men and 8 have dropped out. I am treated splendidly by the people here and get more sympathy than any one of the walkers."

PAPER THAT IS A HUNDRED AND SEVEN YEARS OF AGE

Mr. Walter Stocker, of Homewood avenue, is the possessor of a paper printed in the year 1801, making it seven years more than a century in age. It is an original copy of the "Leeds Mercury," and contains many words that have greatly changed in spelling from the present day.

The type, too, is of a peculiar variety compared to that used now. The paper, considering its advanced age, is well preserved. It is composed of four sheets, and tells of the times when George III. and William Pitt were prominent.

Mr. Maurice Crowley Had Hand Crushed In A Rubber Roller

HAND WAS AMPUTATED

About 5.30 o'clock yesterday afternoon one of the employees of the Canadian General Electric Company, Mr. Maurice Crowley, of East City, met with a very painful accident in the rubber room. He was operating a rubber roller when his hand was caught and drawn through the rollers as far as his wrist, and as far up as the elbow the arm was badly cut. The employees who were working around him saw the accident and hurried to his assistance. Drs. Neal and Young were called and they did everything in their power to ease the pain of the suffering man until the Dan Spence Ambulance arrived and took him to St. Joseph's Hospital. It was found necessary to amputate the hand at the wrist and the operation was performed by the two doctors.

Mr. Crowley is a married man and lives on Oxford street, East City, with his family. He had been an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company for a long time and was very popular among his fellow employees.

Davy Hartley Will End Fifth In The Long Grind At Kansas City To-night

The Determination Of Blake, a Negro, The Feature Of The Race—Without Food And Bed.

STANDING AT MIDNIGHT

Examiner Special.

Kansas City, Feb. 29.—With W. A. Hoagland, of Auburn, N. Y., the world's champion pedestrian, leading by a safe margin of five miles and Tom Slater, of Syracuse, N. Y., and H. O. Messier, of Milwaukee, fighting hard for second place, the contestants in the six-day walking match at noon to-day entered upon the twelve hours of their journey. Of the nineteen men who started last Monday only seven remain. David Hartley, of Peterborough, is one of them. Of these probably the most popular with the crowds is J. F. Blake, the southern negro, who has displayed remarkable powers of endurance and determination, both in his desire to enter the race and by his work of the past five days in the

No Let Up To The Obstruction

Ottawa, Feb. 29—Special—The House of Commons probably will sit until midnight to-night. The dead-lock shows no sign of breaking up. The item of $50,000 for patrolling in Arctic waters is the casus belli, and it is figured that the cost of this debate is about $50 a minute, while Hansard entails about $5.20 a column, so that the country will pay largely for the spectacle of a wearied House, forced by obstructive tactics to stay in session. Ten or twenty members stand by the guns all the while and relays go home for respite, while the more robust remain in the littered chambers.

The Local Milk Supply Of A Good Quality

Compared with other cities Peterborough stands high in the quality of its milk supply. The Examiner is in receipt of a article from a Glasgow, (Scotland) paper, showing the grand average from 28 different counties and towns. It indicates that the butter fat average 3.51 lbs. to every hundred pounds of milk.

It is interesting to compare this with Peterborough whose milk supply has reached an average of more than 4 per cent. butter fat. It will also be interesting to know that the standard of the milk coming into Peterborough has been raised about seven-tenths per cent. since it was decided to have the milk tested monthly.

In Calgary as shown by a recent issue of the Calgary Herald the average test was only 2.5 per cent. It will therefore be seen that the supply coming into Peterborough compares most favourably with others and apparently has increased in quality since it has been tested monthly.

Many young ladies who are supposed to be going into decline have been restored to health and vigour by the use of Miller's Compound Iron Pills.

POULTRY MEN MEET ON WEDNESDAY

To Adopt a Constitution and Attend to Other Matters

The next meeting of the Peterborough Poultry Association will be held on Wednesday night at the City Council Chambers at 8 o'clock. The meeting will be held for purposes incidental to organization. The committee which was selected to draft a constitution will report to the members what they have done and other business of importance will be looked after.

It is expected that on Wednesday night the membership will be greatly increased.

A LIVERY BUSINESS CHANGES OWNERSHIP

Messrs. Akey and Milburn Purchase the Business of Dr. McKercher

The livery business of Dr. McKercher, Hunter street, has been purchased by Messrs. Akey and Millburn who have now taken charge. The new proprietors assume charge with good prospects as they come well recommended.

Evidence In The Lumber Case Has Been Completed

The case of the McBurney Lumber Company, of Toronto, and the Thompson Lumber Company, of Havelock, which has been going on in Toronto, has created considerable interest in the city. The case has lasted for a long time and the last of the evidence was heard yesterday. The arbitrators have now the case in their hands and it is expected that they will give their award in a short time. In this case many Peterborough lumbermen have figured as witnesses.

THE WEATHER

The last day of February was ushered in with a temperature of ten degrees below zero. Old Sol is now beaming more brightly and stronger each day, and will soon make his influence felt. However, it is quite possible that we may have some heavy falls of snow yet as March occasionally has some of the worst blizzards of the whole winter.

BIG RAT ENTERED AN EAST CITY RESIDENCE BY THE FRONT DOOR

A rat story in the latest from East City. A visitor called at a residence on Mark street the other day and on leaving the house by the front door a big rat, sunning itself on the doorstep of the porch, ran inside.

The mistress of the house became somewhat frightened and it was not for some minutes before her husband succeeded in chasing the bold and unwelcome visitor out the same way as it had arrived. To do this all the other doors in the house had to be guarded.

During the mission there will be several meetings for women and children and street services and other adjuncts of a parochial mission. Circulars will be distributed at the services to-morrow concerning these meetings. After the seven o'clock service to-morrow another of the after services will be held, with informal devotions and mission hymns, lead by the orchestra. This will be one of the last services in preparation for the coming missions.

ENJOYABLE EUCHRE PARTY HELD LAST EVENING

A very enjoyable euchre party was given by Miss Maude Londry, Perry street, last night, at which some thirty-five guests were present. The progressive euchre games were productive of much interest. Mrs. J. LePlante was successful in winning the lady's prize, while the gentleman's award was won by Mr. P. Masterson. Afterwards a few hours were pleasantly spent in dancing and music.

Exhibits From All Over the World—Cases Arriving To-day—Worth While Seeing.

A RALLY IN THE EVENING

On Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock an exhibition of curios from all the countries of the world will be opened to the public in Knox Church school house. Some of the cases containing exhibits arrived in the city to-day from Toronto and Montreal and from all accounts the exhibition will excell anything ever shown before in this city and should be well attended. In the evening a rally of the different young people's societies of the city in the school house, and the Rev. Mr. A. E. Armstrong, of Toronto, will deliver an address on "The young people and the world's evangelisation." The subject will be a very interesting one and in all probability both the exhibition and the rally will be a great success.

TIME FOR ACTION.

It is pertinent to inquire what the Liberals of West Peterborough are doing in the way of nominating a candidate to contest the riding in the Liberal interests at the coming local election. There seems to be a failure to recognize the fact that the Provincial general elections are upon us. The Liberals do not seem to be acting as if they realized the situation. For the past fifteen or twenty years the interests of the party were looked after and kept in shape by one directing influence, but during the past three or four years there has been inactivity among Liberals in the way of maintaining the riding in that state of organization which, no matter how good, the cause is an essential condition of waging a successful political fight. There does not seem to have been any time in the history of the riding when the local administration of the interests of the riding has been more inefficient than during the past three or four years. Is it not time that something definite should be done in the way of placing a candidate in the field, and completing organization in the interests of a vigourous contest of the riding? Right in Peterborough, where a party organization should be in active existence, to meet with corresponding forces, there is apparently no organized effort, a circumstance which cannot be other than prejudicial to the interests of the party as a party, and to the wider interests which it represents. A word to the wise should be sufficient.

PULPWOOD EXPORTATION.

Both the American and Canadian bureaus of statistics are at last in a position to give the figures for the amount of pulpwood sent from Canada to the United States during the calendar year 1907. According to the Canadian office, the number of cords of wood exported was 810,541, and their value, $3,981,555; while the American statisticians estimate the wood at 827,089 cords, valued at $4,002,795. This discrepancy between the figures of the two bureaus is only natural and to be expected, in view of the great quantity of wood sent and the difficulty of keeping accurate count of it. Of the two estimates however, the American is more apt to be correct, because a closer attention is always given to imports than to exports.

These returns for the year 1907 must give every thoughtful Canadian much food for reflection, showing, as they do, the tremendous impetus which has of late been given to the exportation of Canadian pulpwood. Whatever may be a man's political opinion, he must surely stop and consider the significance of this state of affairs to Canada, and especially to the Province of Quebec, from which by far the greatest portion of this wood goes. He must surely ask himself what returns Canada and Canadians are getting for this great mass of wood, and how they are being compensated for the serious inroads on their forest resources. Perhaps a few figures will help to give a clear idea on this subject.

Pulpwood, though producing articles of a high value, is a raw material of low cost. The Government gets little for the standing wood, the men who cut and drive it are paid small wages, and the freight rates are the very lowest. On the most generous allowance, not more than $7.00 a cord is left in Canada for the wood that is taken out. But if this wood were ground into pulp it would be worth $20.00 a cord; if made into fibre, from $30 to $32, and if turned into paper, from $40 to $45. It is easy to see what Canada has lost, in the way of employment of labour and industrial activity, on these 827,000 cords, which, if made into paper, would have given $8,500,000 to labour alone.

Spent Eighteen Dollars

"Gentlemen,—I have pleasure in stating that I have used $18.00 worth of Psychine, and as a result was cured of very serious throat and lung trouble.

My case was a most difficult one, and the doctors had practically said that I could not get well. I tried Psychine, and it did me so much good that I continued its use until I had taken $18.00 worth, with the result that I am now a new man physically. I have gained thirty-five pounds.

"It is with the greatest confidence that I recommend Psychine to all who are afflicted with throat or lung trouble.

Yours truly, C. A. PINKHAM.

THE MARKET MATTER.

The City Council has taken a commendable step in taking charge of the market, if for no other reason than that this action will afford an indication of its value, not only in the matter of revenue, but in relations to the broader matter of the commercial interests of the city. The city should be able to administer the market with a better regard to the two interests involved — city and country—than can be expected from a private individual. The average lessee is justified, from a business point of view, in extracting the largest possible revenue from his privilege, without exhibit regard of the manner in which the interests involved are affected. It will, however, be the desire of the city, while seeking as much revenue as possible, to administer the market in such a manner as to conduce to the promotion of the interests of both the city and country, which, while more or less distinct in detail, are, in the main, mutual. In this latter regard, what benefits or injures the one, correspondingly affects the other. The action of the Council, if it is to be regarded as an experiment, seems to be well taken. Mr. Ball, as market clerk, will have the opportunity of showing what diplomacy he can exercise in the matter of deferring to the wants and convenience of those frequenting the market from the country, and the interests of the citizens at the same time. There is opportunity for the exercise of good judgment, amiability, and a general desire to please in the discharge of duty.

A GOOD ARRANGEMENT.

The measure of the prosperity of Canada is the growth of her trade, which has expanded in the past dozen years from two and a half millions to six and a quarter millions. Our trade with Great Britain has grown rapidly, thanks to the loyal preference to the Mother Country by the Laurier Government, and, thanks to the French treaty negotiated by the same Government, there is a prospect of a big increase of trade with the Mother Country's new ally—France. Although the Conservative Opposition, with the pitayune policy of carping criticism, profess to find fault with it, it is, in the main doubtless a good thing for the trade of this country. The treaty gives a preference, that is admission to a wide range of Canadian products, of what we produce heavily. These include cattle, horses, packing-house products, all grains, fruit, poultry, dairy products, agricultural implements. While Canada, thanks to the treaty, can send these to France at the lowest rate of duty, the United States, our great competitor in these lines, has to pay the highest duty, and in this regard Canada has an advantage over the United States, amounting to from $8 to $22 on a $100. While Canadian agricultural implments can now enter France at the minimum duty of 79 cents per hundred pounds, the same goods from the United States will have to pay a duty of $1.32 to get into the French market; that is supposing a Canadian binder weighing 14,600 were sent into France the duty would be $11.06, while a similar machine going in from the United States would pay a duty of $18.48. This gives a preference of a little over $7 each to the Canadian binder. Will not this be a benefit to Peterborough manufacturers of agricultural implements? Will it not induce enlargement of operation? The effect is already apparent; one implement establishment in Hamilton, on the strength of the French treaty is aiming to immensely increase its output and employ more labour. The treaty will also give an impetus to the pork packing industry, in which a Peterborough establishment, as well as the farmers in the surrounding country are directly interested. While United States bacon has to pay a toll of $4.36 per hundred to get into the French market, Canadian bacon is admitted at $2.63 per hundred pounds. United States apples are charged 44 cents per hundred pounds, while Canadian apples get into France by the payment of 17.7 cents per hundred. Trade experts estimate that the treaty will in a comparatively short time treble our exports to the French market. We can make a big change in the relative size of the United States and the Canadian figures of export of agricultural implements and produce to the French market. In the eleven months of last year the United States shipped agricultural implements to France to the value of three and a half millions. During seven months of last year Canada's exports to France of the same articles amounted to only $200,000. Under the preference to Canada, as given by the treaty, we may expect to see these figures largely reversed.

Some of the Conservative critics pretend that the treaty is of no advantage, but rather an injury to Canada. But shrewd Uncle Sam would, all the same, like to have as good a treaty. The Breeders' Gazette, of Chicago, a high authority, after detailing the advantages the treaty gives Canada, says:

"Just as we predicted; while we have been standing pat, Canada has captured the French market for such products of the farm and field as we have to sell. The French-Canadian treaty is a fact accomplished; Canada has beaten us to it. . . . And now the Canadians have another great market, in which they can by force of the treaty undersell us from 68 to $22 in the $100, and it is all fixed and ready to go ahead."

Such a tribute to the treaty negotiated by Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur coming from the greatest commercial city of our greatest and keenest trade rival, amounts to high praise. If the wisdom of the Laurier Government, which has succeeded in securing so important an enlargement of our trans-atlantic market for the products of Canadian farms. This treaty is only another of the advance steps characteristic of the legislation enacted at Ottawa under the Liberal Government during the past twelve years, and which has invariably been for the best interests of Canada at large and the great agricultural community in particular. There is no doubt that the French Treaty is a good arrangement in the interests of Canadian trade.

EDITORIAL NOTES

(We who are so far away can hardly realize the forward strides the Canadian west is making. Places, which a few years ago were the bivouac of the buffalo, or the camping grounds of Indians, are busy towns and cities, with all the appliances of modern civilization. During 1907 permits for new buildings aggregating in value $2,250,000 were issued in Edmonton, without including the million-dollar packing plant being erected there, or the big G. T. P. bridge across the North Saskatchewan. The construction of this bridge, it is interesting to note, includes the two largest concrete piers in the world. The second of these has just been completed. It cost 252,000, and contains 4,000 cubic feet of conrete. The immense supports rise ninety-two feet above the river bed, and their foundations are thirty-two feet below it. The fertile soil of her fields is the foundation bed of Canadian prosperity.

SAY THEY WILL NOT PAY HIGH LICENSE

Liquor Party Claim Illegal Methods Were Used in Election.

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Feb. 29.—Considerable interest has been taken in the result of the vote on the high license bylaw, carried on Monday by a majority of 98, whereby the license fee for local hotels will on the 1st of May be raised from $250 to $750. Although the bylaw takes effect on May 1, the hotel-keepers must apply for license before April 1.

The local hotel-keepers were interviewed since the bylaw was carried, and they state that they do not intend to take out licenses for the coming year, claiming they cannot afford to pay such a high license and it is likely that to all intents and purposes Havelock will be a local option town after May 1.

It is reported in town that the liquor party will attempt to quash the bylaw, on several points. They claim that the watches of the returning officers conducting the bylaw proceedings on Monday were some seven or eight minutes faster than standard time, and as a result at least one vote was shut out. They also claim that there were several other points illegal.

HAVELOCK MASONS MEET AROUND FESTIVE BOARD

A Pleasant Time Spent on Thursday Evening—Dancing Indulged in.

Examiner Special:

Havelock, Feb. 29.—The At Home given by the Havelock lodge A.F. and A.M., in the Opera House on Thursday night, Feb. 27th proved a great success, there being about 150 guests present, many of them from outside towns. The hall was most elaborately decorated with flags and bunting, artistically arranged and many welcome and patriotic signs, while the stage was beautifully decorated with large ferns and palms with the dazzling gold-trimmed Masonic ensign at the back. The four long rows of tables which extended the full length of the large hall were handsomely decorated with flowers and silverware neatly arranged. The most tempting of the season's eatables were set forth by the caterer for the occasion, Mr. Thos. Hooper, of Peterborough, who carried out the terms of his contract in a highly creditable manner. After ample justice had been done to the good things provided, Mr. Wilmot Herrington, Master of the lodge, extended a hearty welcome to all present and said that he was glad to see so many present especially so many visiting brethren.

A toast to "King and Craft" was responded to by the guests rising and singing the National Anthem. The next toast proposed, "Our Country," was ably responded to by J. W. Bryans and Wm. Mathison, members of the Havelock lodge. The toast to "The Ladies," was responded to by Messrs. Ed. Chapman and Wm. Ritchie. The next toast, The Visiting Members" was responded to by A. Wilde and R. A Ghent.

During the evening those present were delightfully entertained by Mr. J. C Wilson, of Toronto, who is a wonderful an able entertainer, and by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Culligan, of town.

The tables were then cleared away and the guests enjoyed themselves at dancing until the hour got late and then again grew early. The 45th Regiment Orchestra of Campbellford, supplied excellent music and Mr. C. Williams, of town, officiated as floor manager. All present were highly delighted with every feature of the evening and the whole-souled hospitality of their hosts.

MYSTERY PERFORMANCE AT ST. LUKE'S

Given by Mr. Roy—Enjoyable Evening Provided by A. Y. P. A.

The meeting of the A.Y.P.A. at St. Luke's last night was a very entertaining one, and a large number of members attended. Mr. Harry Potter was in the chair, and conducted the meeting, while Rev. Dr. Langfeldt read the prayers.

After routine business Mr. R M Roy mystified the audience by his wonderful performances. Mr. Roy is a fine entertainer, and his exhibition of wonderful tricks for the exposure of spiritualism was heartily appreciated. Several new members were admitted. After the meeting refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

MARCH WILL COME IN LIKE A LAMB AND GO OUT LIKE A LION, PREDICTS IRL HICKS

A Storm, However, Between March 4th and 9th—Also Some Rainy Weather Predictions.

WEATHER FOR THE MONTH

Professor Irl Hicks predicts that the month of March will come in like a lamb. But between the 4th and 9th of the month we will experience some stormy weather, as well as at other times during March. His forecast is—:

"A reactionary storm period is in sweep as March comes in, causing change to warmer, falling barometer, cloudiness and storms. The second of March is the central day of (a seismic period, extending two to three days before and after the noon hour on the 2nd. See if the telegraphic news of the world does not report seismic disturbances within this period. Some of our "official" critics, moved to "exasperation" by the fulfilment of our earthquake predictions, now take the bold, sweeping position that "there is an earthquake every day, and the Earth's surface is shaking somewhere all the time." If this broad assertion is true, why do these critics not make good by "delivering the goods?" Why is it that the telegraph only "gets busy" with earthquake reports periodically? Who will agree to disprove that these earthquake periods are not practically foreshadowed by our forecasts? We respectfully challenge not only our "every-day" earthquake critics but the whole commercial and scientific world to a fair and exhaustive test of this proposition.

A regular storm period extends from the 4th to the 9th, being central on the 6th. The storm diagram shows that the Mercury period and also the Earth's vernal equinox, are in force during this period. The chances are that unsettled, stormy weather will continue from the first to the second period, with electrical, tropical storms in many places southward on and touching the 4th. Threatening barometric readings will mark this period, and severe storms of rain and wind, turning into blizzards of sleet and snow in many sections, northward, will be most natural, progressively from about the 5th, to the 9th. Do not forget that Mercury is the "sleet-god," and that the tendency to heavy sleet storms are greatly increased when the Mercury and vernal periods are combined. Within the Mercury brace, extending from the 3rd to the 20th, there are three distinct storm periods. All of these periods are also covered by Earth's spring equinoctial period. Hence at one or more of the three storm periods named, it is a safe scientific proposition to say that wide-reaching and destructive sleet storms will result. All concerned should figure on some very rough weather during this and other March periods, with stubborn and unendurable cold after the passage of rain, sleet and snow storms.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 11th, 12 and 13th. This period is at the centre of the Mercury period. The annual magnetic and electric crisis also falls centrally on March the 11th, extending for several days on either side of that date. Hence peculiar and phenomenal perturbations in earth and air will mark this period, and most likely extend through the last storm period covered by the Mercury brace.

A regular storm period is central on the 17th, covering the 15th to 20th. The Mercury disturbances culminate at this time, with full moon on the 17th and moon on the celestial equator on the 19th. We do not retract or modify our forecasts for this period, written a year ago and printed on page 31 of our 1908 Almanac. We are yet of the opinion that dangerous equatorial disturbances will visit southern sections, tapering into furious storms, sleet and snow over central to northern extremes. Blizzards and serious interruption of transportation need surprise no reader of these forecasts in northerly directions. After the storms there will be danger of cold and frost far to the south. A very marked seismic period is central on the 17th, covering three days before and after that date. Let readers of daily metropolitan newspapers watch the telegraphic news and note the seismic and volcanic perturbations during this period. On and touching Tuesday, Wednesday, the 17th, 18th and 19th, no central to northern section should be surprised if one of the greatest snow blockades of the winter should strike it. The equinoctial full moon on the celestial equator is fruitful of such results, and this period, in all reason, will not be an exception. A decided cold wave for the season will follow these storms and dominate the weather over most parts of the country up to the next storm period.

A reactionary storm period is central on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th. This period is at the centre of Earth's vernal, or spring equinox, but this fact does not necessarily require that severe equinoctial storms shall appear on these dates. Heavy storms and tidal waves are just as apt to occur any time within two or three weeks of the 22nd. Many sharp, disquieting squalls and violent gales will, however, be natural for several days, centering on the 22nd, 23rd and 24th, calling for proper care of live stock, and many other interests, likely to be affected thereby.

A regular storm period covers the last five days of March, being central on the 29th. The moon is in perigree on the 29th and in conjunction with earth and sun on the 31st, thus giving three new moons for this month. Falling barometer, rising temperature, cloudiness and threatening conditions generally will be noted in all western sections early in this period; but storms will not reach their culminating crisis until near the end, say on the 30th and 31st. The temperature is apt to reach very high readings, and the barometer fall far below normal about 31st, in which event storms and tidal waves of dangerous proportions will be more than probable within 36 hours of midnight on the 31st. From March 29 to April 3 is another most probable seismic period. Heavy snow squalls for the season will be general to the northward as March goes out, with high northwesterly gales and much colder by April 1 and 2. It is needless for us to comment on the storms, blizzards and earthquakes that appeared with promptness and force in exact verification of our forecasts for the first week in February. More than twenty people were killed by tornados in the south, while the worst blizzards and the coldest weather for many winters visited wide sections in the north and east.

Faith In The Unseen As Result Of Deeper Knowledge

Science Does Not Lead To Scepticism—The Anthropocentric Theory Dealt With—Immortality of Man Can Be Proved.

INNATE PASSION FOR FAITH

To the Editor of the Examiner, —

Dear Sir. — "The immortality of man can be proved," is the assertion of no less a personage than Sir Oliver Lodge, F. R. S., principal of Birmingham University, erstwhile scientist, who has practically become a spiritualist, just as in a manner, Sir Edward Crooks, Lord Kelvin and Camille Flammarion, the astronomer, were and are subject to the same change of attitude to the super- or preternatural. There is nothing strange in this. Man cannot live on facts alone. His quest to know is ever defeated. He has a craving for faith—for rest upon something. This desire is strongest in the most earnest seekers after truth and the habit of withholding assent serves only to render it likely that assent will finally be yielded in things the examination of which, in the light of knowledge, is impossible, or at least, extremely difficult. The man who will not give credence to the recital of none too remarkable facts by his friends, is likely to accept as truth evidences he would carefully weigh, and reject, in a most ordinary analysis of experiences or observations. Man's innate passion for faith will not be starved to death. It will assert itself the more surely as the boundaries of knowledge are enlarged, only to disclose vaster realms, impenetrable by thought or sense.

There are few men of real knowledge, as the world goes, who are possessed of the spirit that denies. Atheism is part of the egotism of faith, and the smattering certitude of half-cooked intelligence. The infidel is rarely such in later years of life. The greatest unbelievers come generally to the conviction that stubborn unbelief is as absurd as the extremity of credulity. Indeed, disbelief tends to become the very opposite of itself. No man can be constantly confronted by the mysteries of matter and of mind, without feeling in some measure, the necessity, in the scheme of things, of something apart from both mind and matter, that men have called the spirit. The universality of death, and the certainty that nothing real ceases to exist, must impress the thoughtful man that it cannot be that the greatest thing in the universe, as we know it, man's essential difference from all other beings, the quality that enables him to project himself beyond himself, the intelligence that looks before and after, shall perish utterly.

That man has a soul that is not destructible, is an analogy drawn from all the data gathered by man's observation of the world in which he is placed. And if the soul is imperishable, if the identity of the spirit persist, it is an easy step to believe that the souls of the dead set free come back to the souls that stay in the prison house. As the scientist sees deeper into things, he sees more clearly that things are not explained by things. Man is something more than a developed animal. Reason nowhere makes connection with instinct in a way to show that the former is but a development of the latter.

There is an unbridgeable gulf between the lowest man and the highest animal. That gulf is filled with what for lack of a better word we call soul. And that soul yearns for satisfaction beyond the here and now, beyond the bank and shoal of time, and the yearning presupposes the existence of the object that will satisfy it. The chief yearning of life continuous, for higher experiences than faith can attain to — for immortality. That men will find something on which to pin their faith, on which to rest their hopes, is the more certain, the more absolute knowledge of causes, is found to be impossible.

So it is in this age of so-called materialism. We note the growth of beliefs and cults and isms, and men go so far as to repudiate the existence of matter. So we see men of sciences tending to accept as truths what the early theologians unhesitatingly denounced as superstitions. We see a man like Alfred Russell Wallace, whose life has been devoted to the most drastic inquiry, denying the postulates of the science of medicine that a century of experience has confirmed as true to most other man, and also harking back to an anthropocentric theory of the universe, while Professor Lovell accepts as deductions such assumptions as the habitability and inhabitation of Mars, as would be laughable in any one but a man of science. Never has there been an age, we can well imagine in which man were readier to believe than now. Never was there a more intense desire to know, and where that desire is we may be sure there is an inevitable tendency to accept belief as knowledge. That man who have dealt with the solution of the constituents of matter should find force beyond matter and transcending mind, is but the expression of the most experienced investigators. That this force, imponderable, immeasurable, should be denied, undying and conscious, is but a natural conclusion. That such force, or quality, or essence, or what you will, released by the death of the body, shall have affinity with such forces in bodies still living, and establish communication from beyond the grave is not such a large assumption to men who have been familiarized with the Roentgen Rays, and other electrical phenomena.

We do not believe in spiritism, because most explanations given have told us nothing worth while; but we do not wonder that men who have believed nothing are much inclined to fall into such a bewilderment of inexplicabilities, that they are prone as a matter of relief to believe anything, and in the absence of all recognition of extraneous authority are likely to believe with an abandon, for which there is the least inductive or deductive justification.

Wit and Wisdom

The older we grow the more tender should be our hearts.

Some people get on in the world; most just get on in years.

Of all acts, is not for a man's repentance the most divine?

The three best cards in the game of life are industry, honesty and sobriety.

Magnate — "Every dollar I have was made honestly." Dyer—"By whom?"

People seldom improve when they have no other model but themselves to copy.

Fortune may point out the way but it is in energy alone which achieves success.

There never lived a man who did not at some time, incur the dislike of some one.

"I've just been having a tussle with the dentist." "Ah! Who came off best?" "Oh, er—it was a draw!"

Pessimis: Jones — "How is it Smith, that you look so hale and happy and well?" Everytime I sit down to worry I fall asleep."

Miss Jenkins—"How do you like my new mourning costume?" Miss Willkins—"Oh, I think it suits you splendidly—especially the masks and goggles."

Old Smithers — "You're a disgrace to your family, sir. I am almost ashamed to call you my son." Young Smithers — "Say, nothing dad; I am as much ashamed of it as you are!"

Jack—"Hallo, George! What is everybody crowding out of the drawing room for? Have refreshments been announced?" George—"No; but Aunt Matilda is getting ready to sing."

Love as many persons and as many creatures as you possibly can. Love is the only power by which you can make yourself rich in a moral world.

I am convinced that scepticism, applied to the tender years of childhood and boyhood and girlhood, is a corrosive acid, eating deep at all the foundations of character that we wish to strengthen and support.

A religious life is not a thing which spends itself like a bright bubble on the river's surface. It is rather like the river itself which widens continually, and is never so broad and deep as where it rolls into the ocean of Eternity.

Magistrate — "You gave this young woman such a nut on the face that she can't see out of her eyes. What have you to say for yourself?" "Well she often told me she didn't want to see me any more," said the accused.

She—"And do you believe that a woman always turns to the last page first when she picks up a book?" He—"Well I have no reason to doubt it. I know it is the nature of the fair sex to want the last word."

An English tourist on the pier at Oban asked whether the steamer from Mull was generally up to time. "Och, yes," replied Donald, "sometimes she's ahent her time; sometimes she's afore her time, and sometimes even afore that!"

The tombstone man—"What kind of a monument do you wish put over?" Mrs. Weeds—"You may carve any figure, I suppose?" The Tombstone man—"Oh, yes, ma'am." Mrs. Weeds—"Then make it the size of my inclinations. I've often heard my husband mention that!"

NORMAN REID GOES TO TORONTO

He is Given a Financial Interest in the Esplanade Foundry Business of Which His Father Has Become Owner.

The announcement is made that Norman Reid of the firm of MacGregor & Reid, plumbers and heating contractors of this city, will in future reside in Toronto, where he goes to assume a responsible position in connection with the Esplanade Foundry Company, of that City. Mr. Reid's father, Mr. H Reid, of Rosedale, Toronto, has for many years been the controlling member of this company, and has recently acquired the whole business, in his own name. He has given each of his three sons a financial interest in this business, a fact which necessitates Mr. Norman Reid's removal to Toronto.

Mr. Reid will retain his interest in the firm of MacGregor & Reid, and his removal from the city will not in any way interfere with the business here. His brother-in-law, Mr. T. D. MacGregor will continue to carry on the business as formerly, giving his personal attention to all plumbing, heating and electrical contracts, so that no re-organization of the business will be necessary.

Increasing attention will be devoted to contracts for electrical wiring, electrical installations and electrical supplies. All such will receive the careful supervision of Mr. MacGregor, whose valuable experience has gained for him large and important electrical contracts in Toronto, Ottawa and this city.

The very gratifying success which this firm has met with in the past has given them a second standing in the community. They wish to thank the public for the confidence reposed in them in the past, and to assure all that their best efforts will be directed to meriting a continuance of their favours in the future.

Mr. Reid made many warm personal friends during his three years residence in Peterborough, who, while they will regret his departure from the city, will be pleased to learn of his good luck.

The Possibilities In The West For A Brilliant Future

Mr. Gibson Here For One Month Longer To Meet Would-Be-Purchasers.

A MILD WINTER THERE

"There is no investment on earth like earth itself," is an oft-repeated saying with a good deal of truth in it. The question that first comes to the mind of the person in search for real estate is, where to invest his money, and, during the past few years many eyes have turned on Western Canada with good profit. There is possibly no person in Peterborough who has a better knowledge of the west than Mr. A. J. Gibson, who is the proprietor of a real estate office at 328 George street under the market hall.

Mr. Gibson is a man who has spent the past four years in the west with business headquarters in Regina, and knows the texture of the country and its conditions. He has been thoroughly in touch with all phases of life there and is therefore well qualified to assist and instruct the would-be settler. The world at large is fast realizing the unlimited possibilities of that section of Canada and according to Mr. Gibson, as well as others who have recently visited in the west, it has a constitution figuratively speaking, "as strong as an ox."

A Mild Winter

Mr. Gibson reports that the past winter has been a particularly mild one. Horses and cattle have been grazing on the prairies all winter and it is expected that seeding will be general in Southern Saskatchewan during the latter part of March.

He also says that settlers are pouring in earlier this year than last on account of the open winter and predicts that in the spring real estate will be increased in value.

Young men have every opportunity of making good out west and many are taking advantage of it. The outstanding feature in connection with the people is their optimism. In fact that country is made up of practically an army of commercial aggressors, which cannot fail but produce a good effect.

Good Opportunities

Mr. Gibson will be in Peterborough only for one month longer and the opportunity for securing special buys should be accepted before the prices rise in the spring.

In Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan, the new parliament buildings estimated to cost $2,000,000 are under way and are expected to be completed in two years. The material is fast being placed on the grounds and Regina is assuming an extraordinary business appearance.

Second Open Air Carnival Last Night A Great Success

Many People Present in Costume—Band Was Out in Full Force—Toboggan Slide Well Attended.

CAR SERVICE WAS GOOD

There was a large crowd at the open air rink, Jackson Park, last night, when the Street Railway Company held their second carnival. The ice was in excellent condition and the crowd thoroughly enjoyed the skating. There were not as many people in costume as there was at the last carnival, owing to the cold weather which prevailed during the evening. The costumes were all very good and the judges experienced considerable difficulty in making their choice, but finally decided upon the following. First prize, ladies' fancy, Miss V. Logan; comic, Miss N. Logan. First prize for gentleman's fancy, Mr. Fitzgerald, and comic, Mr. Hupie. Among the costumes on the ice there were princes, kings, soldiers, cowboys, jockeys and clowns, and the girls were dressed in every costume from Cinderella to Old Mother Hubbard.

The grand march was very prettily done and nearly all of those in costume took part. As the couples swung around to the playing of the band, with the many coloured lights shining on the costumes, it was a very pretty sight.

The 57th Band was out in full force an supplied the music for the evening, and were very liberal with their selections, which were very much enjoyed.

The ice was reserved for the first hour for those in costume only and during this hour the judging was done. After 9 o'clock the skaters were allowed on the ice.

The management had reserved a room in the back of the building for those in costume to use as a dressing room, which was greatly appreciated by the contestants. The refreshment booth did a rushing business.

The toboggan slide was never better and a large number of tobogganists took part in this fascinating sport. The company's toboggans were all rented beforehand and were kept busy during the night.

The railway system gave excellent service to the patrons of the rink and this reflects great credit upon the inspector, Mr. John McCann, who kept the cars on the move. The traffic became so heavy during the evening that the snow plow was utilized to carry some of the male passengers to and from the park.

The prizes are very handsome and expensive and are on exhibition in Frost's jewelry store. Had the night not been so cold the crowd that would have thronged the rink would have been much larger than at the last carnival.

School Inspector Lees In Favour Of Carnegie Library

Assisted In The Building Of One In Western Ontario—Asks For A Fair Discussion.

RANKS WITH PUBLIC SCHOOL

Editor Examiner,

Sir,—This question has for some time now occupied a considerable space in the columns of the city papers, and I desire to add a few words to what has already been said.

In the discussion of the question so far, little or no attention has been paid to the educational side of it. In the report of Thursday night's meeting of the City Council, at which the estimates for this year were considered, the sum of $60,850 was voted for education. Less than one-twentieth of that sum is all that it is proposed to spend on a public library, and a large part of that already provided for. In many of the cities of the United States and several of the more progressive towns and cities of our own Province, now the library has ceased to be a mere place of entertainment and is recognized as one of the most important educational institutions. In such places as Brantford, St. Thomas, Galt and cities of our own Province now, acting with the teachers in directing the reading of the pupils with excellent results. The same may be done here. In spending $2,000 a year of the funds of the city on the maintenance of an efficient and well-equipped public library, we would be devoting that comparatively small sum to a purpose that, from an educational point of view, ranks on an equality with our schools, of which we are justly proud.

I dwell on this phase of the question because it seems perfectly clear that the real question is not "shall we accept a gift of a library from Mr. Carnegie, or build one at the expense of the city," but "shall we accept a library as a gift, or do without one." The financial side of the matter has been so clearly and fully presented by Mr. Dumble in a series of articles he has recently contributed to the press of the city, that it seems a reflection on the intelligence of the public to say anything more along that line. Yet it is probably worth while saying that if we are unwilling to undertake the support of a library when it is given to us, it is hardly likely that we will undertake both the original cost and the maintenance. That would be too ridiculous a proposition for a sane community to consider. The annual cost to the city would in the one case be at least double what it would with a desire to arrive at the truth, be in the other.

While it is perhaps desirable that this question should be fully discussed, the discussion should be fair and This can hardly be said of some of the recent contributions to this controversy. When the statement is distinctly made by those who have had experience of the facts, that Mr. Carnegie makes no conditions as to the source of the ten per cent. guaranteed for maintenance, writers on the other side might surely have the fairness and courtesy to at least offer sound evidence in support of the opposite before again producing it as an excuse for argument. The same may be said in regard to the matter of a name. If some of those who persist in using these statements were half as anxious to get at the truth as they profess to be, or had a knowledge of conditions in other towns at all proportional to what they claim, they would have little difficulty in finding out from the experience of others that their statements are not in accordance with the facts.

The stock argument of all those who oppose the acceptance of Mr. Carnegie's gifts for libraries is the appeal to sentiment. You may have observed that some of those who have recently taken part in this discussion started out very bravely on other grounds, but gradually, as they felt one prop after another going, they fall back on this. It is really the only argument that can be produced and if we lay down the broad principle that the city should not accept gifts for libraries or other public uses, there may be something in it, but it is of no use to try to discriminate between a gift from Mr. Carnegie and someone else. It may be observed here that most of those who take this ground would be quite willing to set aside their sentimental objections if the gift were such as would put $100 a year into their own pockets.

Finally, it is important to keep fully in mind the following facts:—

1—We must have a free public library if we are to keep abreast of the times and be in a position to compare favourably with our sister towns and cities, intellectually and morally.

3—It will cost no more to maintain a library built by Mr. Carnegie than one built by the city.

4—The Nichols endowment, Government grant, and income from all other sources will count as part of the ten per cent. of cost pledged for maintenance. In this respect, Peterborough is most favourably situated compared with other places.

5—The statement that we will not be free to call the library by any name we choose is a mere bugaboo to frighten people into refusing the gift.

6—If we do not accept Mr. Carnegie's offer we are not likely to have a free library for a long time.

Yours truly,
RICHARD LEES.

THE MARCH ISSUE OF BUSY MAN'S

Many Articles That Are Worth While Perusing.

The March issue of the Busy Man's Magazine will be found unusually instructive and interesting, particularly to those who can devote only a short time each day to reading. The articles are timely and profitable, while some of the best short stories of the month will be found within its pages. The illustrations are good and brighten up the number wonderfully. The story of the Progress of a Canadian from Cadet to Rear-Admiral in His Majesty's Navy is told in an attractive way. A clever sketch of "Tobogganing in Canada" will appeal to all lovers of the great winter pastime. Other acceptable contributions from leading writers are: "How Business Men Can Maintain Prosperity," "$25,000 Jobs That Go Begging," "The Science of Selling Goods," "Titled Women Who Are in Business," "Industrial Canada as England Sees It," "What Germany Can Teach Us," "The Life Story of a Buffalo," "How Money Carries Poison," "The Circulation of British Journals," "Cutting Down Electric Light Bills," etc. There are many other features, bright and suggestive, which will please busy man. The March number of the Busy Man's Magazine is well worth perusing.

THE T. A. S. YOUNG MEN DEBATE

Meetings Are Developing Speakers and Singers.

The regular meeting of the Young Men's Society of St. Peter's T. A. S. was held last night, manifesting increased interest and a growing membership. Rev. Father Kelly acted as chairman, in the absence of Rev. Dr. O'Brien, and emphasized many valuable points of debate. The following programme was presented:

Chorus—By the Glee Club.
Instrumental Duet—Messrs. H. Heffernan and A. Primeau.
Debate.
Recitation—Mr. Leo. Derocher.
Vocal Solo—Mr. Jos. Mercier.

The subject of the debate was, Resolved that travelling is a better educator than the university. The affirmative was taken by Messrs. Theobald and Hughes, the negative by Messrs. M. O'Brien and Kark Brady. Mr. Jas. Drain, who presented the decision of the judges, favoured the plea of the negative side and awarded them first honours. Their statement had been better proved and their plan of action more carefully carried out.

The Glee Club, with Mr. Harry Quinlan, as soloist for last night, is progressing with marked success under the direction of Mr. George Ball. Mr. H. Theobald presided at the piano.

"East Riding" Resents Comparison As Unjust

Says Conventions Were Not "Two of a Kind"—West Riding The Worse.

A LITTLE INSIDE HISTORY

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Under the caption, "Two of a King," in yesterday's Examiner, you place the East Riding of this county on a par with the West Riding for corrupt practices and contemptible trickery. Such a comparison is very unfair to the East Riding. No doubt your remarks are based on the statements of "A Vice-President," whose letter appears in the same issue of the Examiner, under the heading "The East Matches the West in Convention Crookedness." Even if such statements were true, which I believe are not, the crookedness of the East sinks into insignificance when compared to that of the West. In the East the names of the delegates were known to all the candidates alike, and they were duly elected in regular form, while in the West, in the rural districts, they were chosen irregularly because they were favourable, or could be made so, to the two who irregularly secured the nomination, or who were secured as mercenaries, and them names were withheld from the other candidates and their friends, who might have no opportunity whatever to canvass or make known their platform. This was done by the aid of a Government official. This is not all. It was generally known that Mr. Phelan had bright prospects of securing the nomination for the House of Commons in the East Riding, but was dissuaded from accepting it by Mr. Burnham calling at his house one Sunday and persuading him to try for the West Riding. Owing to Mr. Burnham's representations, Mr. Phelan allowed his name to go before the convention, and as might have been expected, he was surprised, if not chagrined, to see Mr. Burnham opposing him. Mr. Garvin, who had put up the strongest fight ever waged for the party in the Riding, was even more shamefully treated. He was written to, while at Ottawa on business, by Mr. Burnham, to allow his name to go to the convention, and after consenting, he received similar treatment as was handed out to Mr. Phelan. I repeat that you were not fair in putting the two Ridings on a par.

Yours,
EAST RIDING.

Shall We Have Two Sundays And Two Modes Of Counting?

Until The Year Of The World Will Change Into The Year Of The Lord.

THE BIBLE IS QUOTED

Editor of Examiner,—

Dear Sir, — Within the last few days I have heard two persons advocating two different Sabbaths. One person, who was not a Jew, said that the seventh day was the Sabbath, according to their belief of the Bible, which they upheld by Bible doctrine, viz., "But the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God, and in it thou shalt not do any work."—Ex. xx, 10.

Christ kept the seventh day — "He went into the synagogue on the Sabbath Day, and stood up to read."—Luke vi, 16. Christ said, "But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day." — Matt. xxiv, 20. The destruction of Jerusalem occurred A.D., 70, therefore Christ commanded as late as that period the seventh day be observed as the Sabbath. Then Paul preaching at Corinth—"And when the Jews were gone out of the synagogue the Gentiles besought that these words might be preached to them the next Sabbath." —Acts xiii, 43. This was as late as A. D. 45. If Sunday were to be the Sabbath, why did not Paul announce the next day if it was to be the Christian Sabbath? But Paul preached the next Sabbath, Acts xiii, 42. Again we find Paul preaching at Corinth, seventy-eighth Sabbaths. Acts xviii, 3, and xviii, 11. We will add to that the three h espent at Thessalonica, the one at Philippi and the two at Antioch. We have Bible record of eighty four Sabbath services on the seventh day of the week, while we admit that he held one on the evening of the first day of the week beginning in the evening following immediately the Jewish Sabbath, which began in the evening and ended in the evening.

Let us see what time of the day Paul preached on what we call our Sunday: "And there were many lights in the upper chamber where they were gathered together."—Acts xx, 8. Read Acts xx, 7, "And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them ready to depart on the morrow, and continued his speech until midnight."

Now, the whole trouble rests on this point, viz., the sole doubt what evening this will be. I come to the conclusion that it is our Saturday evening, and not on our Sunday evening. Now, the clerical divine who thinks that our Sabbath was established from the time of the resurrection, of Christ, I think is a little astray. The idea of the transference of the Jewish Sabbath from the seventh day to the first, was an invention of later times, viz., "Constantine the Great made a law for the whole empire—A.D., 321—that Sunday should be kept as a day of rest in all cities and towns, but he allowed the country people to follow their work."

Now, what does it matter to us as long as we keep one day in seven, whether it is the seventh day or the first day of the week. Supposing I was living in China and I kept the seventh day, or the first day, of the week, and then I came to Peterborough to live, I find that I am about twelve hours astray. So the great question is not to keep the law in a negative manner but by the Spirit of God working upon our spirit and body under the control of the Divine Mind, that we may delight in the various services which we take part in, and that the Holy Spirit will be the speaker in all that we do and say.

LIBERAL CHRISTIAN.

DOESN'T THINK SHOULD HAVE CHARITY

"Observer" Tells of Man Who Visits Relief Officer's Quarters.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—While I was walking up George street last night I met a man who proved to be a new-comer, and one that I and a good many more have noticed coming from the relief officer's quarters on Saturday nights with his little bundle of food, which I think is carried a little too far. This young man was the worse of liquor. This same man was working at the cereal works last autumn, in November, and I heard him say it was too hard for him to stay here. "I'm going to chuck it like a good many more that have been out of work this winter, but I think as long as we have people giving $100 and other things, they won't work. There are some that are a charity, but I think when a man can go home with lots of liquor in him it is time for charity to stop and have persons watch these men and see if they try to get work, or if they are loafing about the hotels, and if the latter they should turn them away empty-handed. I look at it this way—if a man can get liquor he can get food. I have seen a lot of these fellows, and if I had to deal with them I would put them up on the hill and get a few of those stones that need breaking, and make them break them, and I think there would be less charity next winter, for when they have a steady job, which I have had the most of this winter, they would know enough to keep it. Of course, I don't blame them; if they can get house, food and firewood without working they would be fools to work, but I think it is too bad to see such occurrences as I have seen, and nothing done to stop them. It seems to me that of the new-comers to the city there is a certain class that always looks for charity, and so long as they get it they don't want work. I hope if this young man, which he is, and his wife, whom I feel sorry for, and others who read this letter, begin like the birds in the spring to make things better for themselves, and when next autumn and the winter come we will be able to see those men going home with bright faces and able to say, "Well, last winter I was drunk, but I got lots to eat and to wear, while this winter I am earning it myself," and I hope we will see less of these same men hanging around the hotels the same as this last summer, and to try and be a credit to the country they come from, and, to make good citizens of Peterborough. I think, Mr. Editor, I have said enough, and I thank you for space in your paper.

Yours truly,
OBSERVER.

WOULD NOT ACCEPT THE GIFT

"Pro Bono Publico" Compares Peterborough to a Poor Woman.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The question of accepting or not of Carnegie's money for the building of a public library has been before the public for such a long time one wonders if the matter has already received more or less consideration than it deserves.

The City of Peterborough is like unto a woman whose internal economy has reduced here to skin and bone. A costly gem is offered that she may wear by paying one-tenth of its price per annum in perpetual for keeping it burnished. Let us observe how she decides between vanity, and corporate necessity.

May one ask for whose benefit it is mentioned that some other city accepts a gift from a distiller. Why not also mention that Christian parliaments give gifts—grafts sometimes—out of revenue derived from one John Barleycorn. Expending industries from the manufacturer up to dollar and cents, or ten days.

There is only one party more unmanly and disquieting than the one who gives alms, and that is the one who complacently accepts them. Figure if you can how many dollars worth of poison for the soul contained in each cents worth of misguided philanthropy.

Is the City of Peterborough so poor of pocket and chaindoned of spirit that she is content to sit forever among the flunkers?

Besides industrial progress is fast doing away with the utility of public libraries to the masses.

There are two classes of knowledge—what one possesses oneself, and what one does not possess but knows where to obtain.

How often is a public library utilized for this except in large centres, and then only for abstract research?

There's not a well equipped Sunday school these times that does not possess a free library, equal to the ambition or leisure of the class Mr. Carnegie and some others feel so badly about.

Yours truly,
PRO BONO PCBLICO.

PRICE OF HOGS DECLINED VERY RAPIDLY

The local stock dealers report a very decided decline in the price of hogs. This morning they were offering $4.85 for live weight and from $6.00 to $6.50 for dressed hogs. The reason for this falling off is assigned to the price of English bacon dropping three shillings. The price that is offered outside the city is said to be $4.60 for live weight and hogs can be brought from the United States to compete with the Canadian price.

This is the lowest price experienced in years for hogs and naturally there are not many of them coming to market.

TIME FOR A CHANGE AT CARNIVAL

Correspondent Complains That the Same People Get All the Prizes

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Just a few lines of protest against the manner in which prizes are awarded at local carnivals. I have been living here for some years now and I notice that the same people are awarded the prizes time after time, so that one of the reporters told me that he could write the list of winners without consulting the judges. There is slight encouragement for others to go to the trouble and expense of dressing for a carnival when year after year, and carnival after carnival, the same people carry off the prizes, and often with the same old costumes. Don't think that I am "kicking," because I did not win a prize, for I have never taken part in a carnival, but I have noticed every time the same list of winners.

BATTLE WAGES HOT IN THE COMMONS

Government's Response to the Tactics of Obstruction.

MEMBERS SLEEP IN HOUSE

Foster's Scandalous Attack on Mr. Brodeur—Opposition Refuse to Pass Marine Estimates — Minister Accused of Keeping Public Money Till Compelled to Refund — House Still Working Away.

Ottawa, Feb. 29.—The sternest Parliamentary battle since 1896 is still proceeding. Bent upon pursuing a policy which has already cost the country half a million dollars in respect of time wasted, the Opposition were suddenly confronted on Thursday night with a Government as determined to carry on the business of the country as the Conservatives were to obstruct it. The result was that the session, which began at 3 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, is at midnight still in progress, with every prospect of it lasting until to-night, unless the members of the Opposition who have shown themselves to be opposed to the tactics of obstruction succeed in persuading their friends to quit. The issue is not, as Mr. Foster would have the people believe, whether the Minister of Marine and Fisheries should produce certain returns which have been asked for in relation to some of the estimates for his Department, but whether the minority shall prevail and hold up public business for no other purpose than that of ventilating petty party grievances, which, magnified by the microscopic process now so familiar a part of the Conservative equipment, will yield, the Opposition vainly hope, political capital in the constituencies. It is, in short, a fight for construction as against obstruction.

At 1 o'clock this morning the House was in session, and will so continue all day.

The Marine estimates were taken up at midnight on Thursday, when Mr. Foster pitched into Mr. Brodeur for having taken $2,000 from the vote for ice-breakers to pay his expenses at the Imperial Conference. This, he said, was in conformity with the Minister's custom of asking for more money than he wanted for marine services, carrying it about for a long time and then making a refund of the excess.

Mr. Brodeur angrily retorted that this was tantamount to a charge of dishonesty.

Not one cent would the Opposition vote for the Marine Department. Hon. George E. Foster went to bed at 4 a.m. and Mr. Taylor assumed the leadership, R. L. Borden being in Montreal.

The Minister of Marine and Minister of Finance remained all night in their seats and a quorum was maintained. Sir Wilfrid was in his seat yesterday morning until 2.30.

On the subject of returns, Hon. Mr. Brodeur asserted that he had brought down this session more returns than any other Minister of the Crown had ever been called upon to produce since Confederation. Returns had already been made to the House in regard to his Departmental audit and in regard also to the expenditures of his mission to London and Paris.

If there were any missing letters in these returns they would be procured at once.

But still the Opposition would not budge "We say," said Dr. Sproule, "that there are no non-contentious items in the estimates for this Department."

During the night Mr. Boyce (Algoma) read at great length from the report of the committee of last session as to the cruise of the Government steamer Arctic to Hudson Bay. When he got through Mr. Leonard (Laval) read the same evidence over in French.

F. D. Monk, too, engaged the attention of the House at great length in both languages. Dr. Sproule and George Taylor (Conservative whip) complained that Hon. Mr. Brodeur's record was one of extravagance as an administrator.

The occasion recalls the record made by the opponents of the Franchise Act in 1885, when the House was in session from Thursday afternoon till Saturday midnight. This occasion was made famous by the speech of Edward Blake, who kept one eye on the clock the last ten minutes before midnight, while the Liberal members and crowded galleries kept up a sustained applause.

The First Breathing Spell.

Along about noon Mr. Bennett of Simcoe had the floor and devoted himself to eliciting information from Mr. Brodeur as to an item of $4,000 for the board of the expert accountants brought to Ottawa from New York to change the system of bookkeeping in the Marine Department. The accountants charged $3, $4 and $5 a day for board. But it so happened that Wm. L. Jackson of Elgin stayed at the same boarding-house with two of them and the rate there was not over $1 a day. Moreover, Mr. Brodeur said the vouchers were to be produced. There were no vouchers produced.

Dr. Barr declared that Ministers "suffering from swelled head or something" were responsible for this situation." Of all Departments he said the marine was the most suspicious, and all session there had been rumors of its being "rotten to the core." He kept up the talking till the Speaker left the chair for the 6 o'clock recess.

This was the first break since 6 o'clock Thursday night. It is automatic, and gives both sides a breathing spell.

Members Sang "O Canada."

The departure of the Speaker was marked by the singing of "O Canada" by Dr. Beland of Beauce and the French-Canadian contingent.

On resuming Mr. Blain (Peel) asked the Minister to state the address of the firm of accountants employed by the Government to change the system of bookkeeping in the Marine Department. The Minister of Marine had misled the House when he said the firm was located in Montreal, as the accounts showed traveling expenses to and from New York paid by the Government.

Mr. Brodeur, however, was silent, except that he backed up Duncan Ross of Yale-Cariboo in demanding that the Peel man stick closely to the item before the committee. Later on he said he refused to answer questions not pertinent to the item. But Mr. Blain went on and there was an uproar, several members attempting to speak to the point of order and both sides getting so far away from it that the Deputy Speaker did not make a ruling.

Finally, Mr. Foster discoursed on the wisdom of invoking the strict rules while in committee of supply.

After ten last night Mr. Foster noted the absence of the Minister. In the afternoon Mr. Brodeur had complained that he (Foster) had made a "vicious attack" upon him. Now Mr. Foster proposed to give the proof of the statement he made, but the Minister was not in his seat.

Mr. Fisher, who was leading the House, sent the chief whip for Mr. Brodeur, who came in amid Liberal applause.

Mr. Foster detailed the Falconer transaction and his comment upon the looseness of Mr. Brodeur in making a verbal contract involving a large amount was severe.

VIRTUES OF MONTREAL.

Senators Resent Attacks on Eastern City—Senate Adjourns.

Ottawa, Feb. 29.—Senator R. W. Scott's statement, that crime was rampant in Montreal, brought on a spirited discussion in the Upper Chamber yesterday, Senator Cloran declaring that the law was enforced in the Canadian metropolis just as much as in Ottawa. He demanded that the Government take further measures to prevent the criminal class coming to Canada.

Senator David said the Secretary of State had the right to defend the Government and show that they are not responsible for everything that happens in Canada, but it was not necessary for him to attack Montreal. Senator David said he was obliged to criticize the statement attributed to the Secretary, that Montread had a body of police who committed crime for $5, and that fact was an inducement to commit crime.

Hon. Mr. Scott said he had not intended to convey this.

The Senate adjourned until March 10.

SIX BABES AT A BIRTH.

Two Pair of Triplets Born to Couple In Ohio.

Steubenville, Ohio, Feb. 29—Six perfectly formed children were born here yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. George Campbell. Three of the infants died within an hour after birth. One boy and girl will live, it is said. Three were boys. Mrs. Campbell weighs less than a hundred pounds. The combined weight of the infants was 23 pounds. Physicians declare the case to be one of the most remarkable known. Campbell is a millworker and has four brothers. To the family of two of these, twins have been born, and each of the other brothers is father of triplets.

Campbell's first wife died after becoming the mother of triplets.

Campbell was for twelve years in the U. S. navy and fought under Schley off Santiago.

Riot at Fredericton.

Fredericton, N.B., Feb. 29.—A wild riot took place at the rink here on Thursday night, caused by the arrest of one of the Moncton hockey team players on account of his actions in a previous game. The result was that the game was not played at all, the referee deciding in favor of the Fredericton team. The people became greatly excited and demanded their money back, breaking windows and destroying other property. Another hockey received its death-blow. There has always been great bitterness between the two teams, and the climax came last night.

May Give Up Congo State.

Brussels, Feb. 29.—The recent debate in the British House of Commons and the speech of Sir Edward Grey relative to the Congo situation has caused a deep impression in political circles.

It is reported that King Leopold now demands a civil list of $860,000 from the Congo and the various parties are showing signs of impatience.

It is even considered probable that the Belgian Parliament will abandon the Congo Free State altogether unless a prompt decision is reached.

BUDGET EXPECTED NEXT WEEK

Estimates May Be Brought Down on Thursday.

CHILD LABOR DISCUSSED

Bill to Amend Shops and Factories Acts Before the House—Mr. Preston Criticizes Government Measures—Minimum Age Raised to Twelve Years — After Sweatshops—Careful Legislation Needed.

Toronto, Feb. 29.—Hon. A. J. Matheson, the Provincial Treasurer, will lay the public accounts before the Legislature on Monday. He made this announcement at yesterday's sitting.

"From the reports of the staff, who are now busily engaged upon them," the Minister continued, "I do not expect to be able to bring down the estimates before Thursday at the earliest. I propose to follow the Dominion House precedent in not delivering the budget speech now, but going on with supply. This gives more time to members on both sides of the House to look into the accounts and estimates for themselves."

Hon. Mr. MacKay, the Liberal leader, acquiesced.

In response to a question from Mr. Smith (Peel) Hon. Mr. Hanna stated that 214 justices of the peace had been appointed in Peel County since the present Government attained power, 161 of whom had qualified. In the town of Brampton 41 had been appointed and 33 had qualified.

On the second reading of Hon. Nelson Monteith's bill to amend the Shops' Act by raising the minimum age at which children could be employed from 10 years to 12, Mr. T. H. Preston (Brant) urged that the age be determined at 14. He reviewed the work of the special committee on child labor during last session, and complimented the work of the Minister of Agriculture thereon. It had been shown that child labor to a serious extent existed in the province, and the foreign population which was pouring in necessitated the most careful legislation. The fact had been shown that the public school attendance in the province was only 52 per cent. of the enrollment. Mr. Preston expressed the hope that, at the present session, the Minister of Education would bring down some important amendments to the Truancy Act. They were needed. He further urged enactment prohibiting the employment of young boys in the hotels.

Hon. Mr. Whitney—"If we should banish the bar there would perhaps be no need for that enactment."

Mr. Preston—Well, it would be a short cut. For myself, I think every boy ought to be called upon to attend school until he is 14."

Mr Preston urged that an educational qualification be required and that dangerous and immoral places, sweat shops and street sales be dealt with.

"This bill is not even a crumb to the labor interests," began Mr. Allan Studholme. "You might as well throw it in the waste paper basket for all the good it will do."

Hon. Mr. Monteith did not regard the age named as a finality. It was a start and the desire was not to make it too radical to obtain enforcement. He told Mr. Studholme he was considering the changing of the 11 o'clock at night hour to 10.

Hon. Mr. Whitney said that while he was prepared to go as far as anyone in preventing the dangers of child labor, he thought to obtain an effectual enforcement of the law it was best to make haste slowly. "As to the newsboys," added the Premier with a smile. "I fancy those I have come in contact with can be let alone. They will make their way in the world."

The bill was given its second reading.

SUFFRAGETTES ARE PLEASED.

British House Passed First Reading of Women's Franchise Bill.

London, Feb. 29.—The Women's Enfranchisement Bill passed its first reading in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon by a vote of 271 to 92, and as soon as the news reached Westminster Palace the waiting crowds of women suffragists who had assembled there broke out in round after round of cheers.

The measure is identical with the bill defeated March, 1907. Herbert Gladstone, the Home Secretary, declared that personally he favored the principles of the bill, but he thought that public opinion would have to be moved before any effort could be given to it.

The opponents to the bill made no objection to the vote of the House being taken, and as its promoters consented to its reference to a committee of the whole House, the bill is effectually shelved for the present session.

Great crowds of women awaited the result near the House of Commons and strong detachments of police had been brought up to guard against possible disturbance, but beyond cheering there was little demonstration.

CALLS THE BILL ROBBERY.

Great Brewery Interests Will Fight British Licanse Measure.

London, Feb. 29.—Chancellor Asquith's bold and drastic licensing bill, which was introduced in the House of Commons Thursday is raising a storm of denunciation in the Opposition press.

Mr. Balfour gave his party a lead in a brief speech stigmatizing the measure as "robbery."

The tremendous strength of the brewing interests throughout the country will be brought to bear in an endeavor to prevent the passage of the bill or to obtain an extensive amendment, especially as in the direction of securing a longer time limit than fourteen years, which is regarded as likely to inflict serious injury to the interests of the shareholders of brewing companies representing a capital of $1,200,000,000.

Some of the Unionists regard the bill as another move in the campaign against the House of Lords.

The best opinion in the lobby, however, favored the view that Mr. Asquith is asking much more than he hopes to obtain, and that the bill would pass in greatly amended form.

Monk a Murderer.

Verkhoturye, Perm, Russia, Feb. 29.—The Circuit Court of this town yesterday meted out partial justice to a monk of the Greek Church named Feodotoff, whose criminal and iniquitous life was revealed last fall, by sentencing him to penal servitude for 15 years.

Feodotoff came to Verkhoturye from another province about two years ago, and set up a shrine in a neighboring forest, where he lived as a hermit. He soon attained a great reputation for marvellous cures, and his little chapel in the solitude of the woods became the objective for pilgrimages from all parts of the province of Perm. The monk enjoyed a great reputation for sanctity but when the revelations came it was learned that his holy ways and words were nothing but a cloak for robbery, murder and debauchery of every kind. The repeated disappearance of female pilgrims who visited the monk's chapel finally attracted the attention of the authorities, and resulted in a careful investigation. This disclosed the bodies of no less than 20 victims whom Feodotoff had murdered and then buried in the cellar of his house.

Effort to Save Terrorists.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 29.—That the sentence of death imposed Thursday against Calvino, the Italian newspaper correspondent, and six other terrorists who were convicted of complicity in the recent plot upon the lives of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaivitch and Ghtcheglovitoff, the Minister of Justice, will not be carried into effect without an effort being made to save them was made manifest yesterday, when an appeal based on constitutional grounds and involving the competency of the Douma was lodged with Gen. Hazenkampf, chief of the general staff.

Run Over by a Train.

Woodstock, Feb. 29—Leonard Coutts of London, an engineer on the G.T.R., was killed some time Thursday night on the G.T.R., just west of the station. His body was torn and mangled into a thousand pieces, and conditions looked as though it had been run over by a dozen trains. The head was left intact, and by this he was identified. Sectionmen going to work yesterday morning discovered the gruesome spectacle, and with their shovels they loaded the parts of the body in a wheelbarrow and had it sent up town.

After King Alfonso.

Paris, Feb. 29.—A special despatch to The Matin from Madrid says there is much uneasiness at what appears to be a renewal of Anarchistic activity. On several occasions recently, the despatch says, suspicious persons have been arrested while trying to approach King Alfonso. The authorities, however, maintain strict secrecy about these arrests. Extraordinary precautions have been taken to safeguard the King.

DETAILS OF ATTEMPT TO KILL SHAH

THREE OUTRIDERS KILLED

Deadly Missiles Were Thrown From Roof of a House—Covered Car Completely Wrecked—Shah Was Riding In Another Carriage in the Cortege—Scores of Bystanders Wounded by the Explosion.

Teheran, Persia, Feb. 29.—An attempt was made in this city yesterday afternoon to assassinate the Shah of Persia by a bomb. His Majesty was not hurt. Three of the outriders who were accompanying him at the time were killed.

The Shah owes his escape to the precautions taken to protect him from just such an attempt as was made. He was on his way to a nearby town, where he intended to pass a few days. The procession had left the palace and was traversing a narrow street, when two bombs were hurled at it from the roof of a house. One exploded in the air, but the other struck the ground near the Shah's automobile. This missile killed the three outriders, wounding the chauffeur and a score of bystanders and shattered the vehicle.

The Shah, however, was not in his automobile, having taken the precaution to send the motor car on ahead and ride himself in a carriage further in the rear of the procession. The motor car was a closed one, and it was thought that the sovereign was inside.

As soon as the Shah heard the explosions he alighted hurriedly from his carriage and entered a neighboring house. Here he remained quietly while his attendants sent word for a detachment of troops. The soldiers were hurried to the scene and formed in front of the house where the Shah was. He then came out, and, surrounded by a bodyguard, returned to the palace.

The house from which the bombs were thrown and the buildings nearby were searched by the police, but no arrests were made.

ATTEMPT PRESIDENT'S LIFE.

Buenos Ayres, Feb. 29.—A dynamite bomb was thrown against a carriage in which President Alcorta was driving, but failed to explode.

Four persons were arrested charged with complicity in the plot.

Recently there has been political unrest in Argentina owing to the issuance, Jan. 26, of an executive decree closing the extraordinary sessions of congress, and putting into effect for the current financial year the budget of 1907. This extreme measure was made necessary by the obstructive tactics of a majority in the Senate which made impossible the passage of the budget or other legislation, leaving the Government powerless to meet ordinary expenses. President Alcorta announced at the time that the Government was prepared promptly to suppress any subversive or violent movement on the part of the Opposition, and on Jan. 27 large forces of police prevented the Senators and Deputies from attempting to take possession of the Parliamentary halls. It was stated at the time that the decree of President Alcorta was approved by a majority of the people.

Boy Murderer Is Penitent.

Detroit, Feb. 29.—"Mother, just wait until I get paroled, then I'm going to be God's own child and devote myself to saving lost souls."

This passage was contained in a letter that Percy Bowin, the self-confessed slayer of Mrs. Cornelia Welch, wrote to his mother in Woodstock, Ont., Thursday.

Apparently Bowin has little hope of acquittal of the charge of murder for which he is to be tried soon, as in the letter he made no reference to the approaching trial except to express the hope that she would be there. The whole letter was filled with expressions of penitence and determination to lead an exemplary life when he regains his freedom.

The letter was the result of several days of hard labor on the part of Bowin, who is anything but a scholar. The missive was scrawled, blotted and misspelled, but he finally finished it, and it was forwarded to the broken-hearted mother in Woodstock yesterday morning.

WAS A TOTAL WRECK FROM HEART FAILURE.

Heart disease is characterized by its stealthy approach and its variety of forms, yet in all its forms nature gives unmistakable signals which warn us of its presence.

One of the first danger signals announcing something wrong with the heart is the irregular beat or violent throb. Often there is only a fluttering sensation, or an "all gone" sinking feeling; or, again there may be the most violent beating, with flushings of the skin and visible pulsations of the arteries. You may experience a smothering sensation, gasp for breath and feel as though about to die. In such cases the action of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills in quieting the heart, restoring its normal beat and imparting tone to the nerve centres, is, beyond all question, marvellous. They give such prompt relief, such speedy restoration to health that no one need suffer.

Mr. Darius Carr, Geary, N.B., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure I write you a few lines to let you know the great blessing your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills have been to me. I was a total wreck from heart failure, my wife advised me to take your pills, and, after using two boxes I was restored to perfect health. I am now sixty-two years old and feel almost as well as I did at twenty."

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" SAVED HIS LIFE

Mr. Dingwall was Superintendent of St. Andrews Sunday School in Williamstown for nine years and License Commissioner for Glengarry — and Tax Collector for Charlottenburg—for fourteen years continuously. Read how strongly Mr. Dingwall comes out in favor of "Fruit-a-tives."

Williamstown, Ont., April 5th., 1907.

I have much pleasure in testifying to the almost marvellous benefit I have derived from taking "Fruit-a-tives." I was a life long sufferer from Chronic Constipation and the only medicine I ever secured to do me any real good was "Fruit-a-tives." This medicine cured me when everything else failed. Also, last spring, I had a severe attack of bladder trouble with kidney trouble, and "Fruit-a-tives" cured these complaints for me, when the physician attending me had practically given me up. I am now over eighty years of age and I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives" for Chronic Constipation and bladder and kidney trouble. This medicine is mild like fruit, is easy to take, but most effective in action.

SPECIAL SPORTING LETTER FROM WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Preparations For Olympic Games---The Opinions of Alfred Shrubb---Betting In France----Progress of Association Football.

Examiner Special.

London, Eng., Feb. 29th. — The manner in which the affairs in connection with the purely athletic portion of the Olympic games are being carried out, is very satisfactory, and the officials concerned are displaying a very thorough grasp of the requirements. One very notable matter is that any profit derives from the trial games will be allotted towards paying the expenses of the British competitors. This latter is a trifle misleading, as it really only refers to home athletes, and not to over-seas Britishers as well. The trial games on May 30th are likely to be a very big affair, as Scotch, Welch and Irish cracks will be joining in, and possibly there may be a decent sum to devote towards the training expenses of our champions. If the sum is not large enough then it is to be hoped that a public subscription will be engineered so as to ensure that no possible scorer of a point is overlooked or insufficiently trained, through the lack of funds.

The Stadium, where the Olympic games are to be held during the third and fourth weeks of July, will also be the scene of the English Athletic Championship meeting on July 4th. This may be a good thing for the Association but it will probably detract somewhat from the Olympic Games, commencing 12 days later. In the interests of the latter the entries for the championship might be restricted to Britishers this year, and it might have been better to hold the meeting outside the Metropolis and some weeks earlier.

SHRUBB'S OPINIONS.

Alfred Shrubb has been giving his opinions of American sportsmen and athletes. He evidently does not think much of the distance runners on the other side of the Atlantic, but he speaks well of the hospitable treatment he received. This so impressed him that he contemplates another trip early in the spring, and, if this comes to pass he will journey to the Pacific Coast. Before going away Shrubb would like to meet Albert Aldridge, also a Sussex man, who succeeded Shrubb as ten mile champion. Aldridge is an amateur and has one no running since 1906, but if he re-enters the arena he would be hard to beat at ten or fifteen miles. His best performance was when he won the ten miles championship in 1906 his time being 51 minutes 49 seconds. The merit of this is all the greater when one remembers that he was well in front at three miles and had to make the rest of his running by himself. Aldridge would be ill-advised to leave the amateur ranks for the sake of running Shrubb, though he would probably beat the latter at fifteen miles. They met at Manchester over the distance in Shrubb's amateur days, and, after the latter had thrown the way for about twelve miles he was outrun by both Appleby and Aldridge, while the former again beat Shrubb in a subsequent race and created a new world's record.

CYCLING.

Mention has before been made of the difference between French and English Cycling authorities as to the definition of an amateur. Matters were advanced another stage at Paris a few days ago, when Mr. Britten of England raised the question at a meeting of the International Cyclist Union. The French delegates openly stated that abuses were tolerated in England that would not be stood a day in France, and inferred that our amateurs did sub-rosa what French amateurs are permitted to do openly. The whole matter will now be considered by a sub-committee and it is hoped to bring about a broad definition of an amateur that will be satisfactory to all countries affiliated to the International Cyclist-Union.

BOXING.

Everyone is disgusted with the performance of Jack Palmer against Tommy Burns at Wonderland on Monday. Many people wonder at his finding backing to the extent of 600 pounds, and there are others who doubt that this amount was ever actually at stake. If Palmer was satisfied to enter the ring with Burns for the sake of the losers' end of the receipts that was his own affair, but sportsmen did not suppose that he would show such a lack of pluck. It is consoling to think that Burns is a Britisher by birth, though it is true he comes of French-German parents, as his real name is Noah Brusso. Why Noir and Palmer should both make such a poor show against the visitor, is a study for deep thinkers. That they were genuinely afraid to "face" Burns is the opinion of almost everyone who saw the contests. This must to a great extent be attributed to Burns' great confidence. His actions and conduct generally in entering the ring, or rather square, is that of a man sure of victory, and, to use an Americanism, he "gets his rival's nerve." Few of us recognise how great a part the mind plays in everything, and the man who enters into a contest, with the fixed idea he is going to win, is far more likely to succeed than one who has grave doubts about it, and no stomach for his fight. Monday's contest was a farce, and as one scribe puts it, Palmer's attitude might be likened to a bashful girl, who threw her apron over her face when before her lover. The Newcastle man buried his face in his hands and tried to shield his ribs with his arms, methods which enabled him to stay until the fourth round. Burns simply laughed at his rival, and remarked, "I never had such an easy fight in my life—I never met such a weak fighter; he did not face me at all." Noir now talks of again meeting Burns, but if anyone is willing to back him they must indeed be poor judges of form.

SKATING.

F. W. Dix of Northampton, showed such good form when winning the English amateur skating championship, that the National Skating Association felt justified in sending him to Davos Platz for the world's championship. He failed to distinguish himself however, and when one remembers the facilities continental cracks have for practice as compared with stay-at-home Englishmen it is no wonder we are beaten at speed skating. Dix may also have been below par, as after the fast time he accomplished at Lingay Fen he ought to have done better at Davos Platz. Four races were decided and the championship is awarded to the competitor scoring the most points, with the proviso that he must win at least two. Pride of place went to O. Mathieson of Norway, who won three events — the 1500 metres (1670 yards) in 2 minutes and 20 seconds, world's record, the 5000 metres in 8 minutes and 55 25 seconds, and the 10,000 metres in 18 minutes 1 45 seconds. Mathieson was third in the 1500 metres, which went to Ilykander of Finland in 44 4-5 seconds, also a world's record, equalling Gundersen's time at Davos in 1906. Oekolm, of Stockholm, last year's winner, did not do very well, second place in the 500 metres being his best effort.

THE TURF.

Three steeplechasers have been well discussed lately, they being Seisdon Prince, Roman Law and Holy War. The first named ran a great race at Sandon Park in the Prince of Wales' handicap, and beat a field which included Timothy Titus and York II. Seisdon Prince is in the Great National, with 11st, and such a splendid jumper must certainly be labelled dangerous. Roman Law, a stable companion of Seisdon Prince, is the nominal favourite for the big Aintree race at the time of writing, but he will have to improve a lot on his recent showing at Manchester to possess any chance. Odds of three to one were betted on the horse for the Broughton Handicap, but he jumped very badly and failed to gain a place. Another six weeks may make a lot of difference but at present it looks as though Seisdon Prince may be Coutherwaite's most likely chance to follow up Eremon's last year's win. The other animal named, "Holy War," may be a "National" winner of the future. Mr P. P. Gilpin's 6 year old was given the big impost of 12 stone 7 pounds in the Worshop steeplechase at Leicester, but even this did not prevent his gaining his fifth consecutive victory.

BETTING IN FRANCE.

The return of the Pari-Mutual system of betting in France for the past six years, make interesting reading. A leading French statesman says, "to speak of racing without betting is pure hypocrisy, and it would be well if our own Government saw things in this light. From 1891 to 1907 the Pari-Mutual receipts rose from 4,100,000 pounds to 17,960,000 pounds, and out of the government share no less than 3,600,000 was devoted to charity and the improvement of irrigation. In addition breeders and owners have received 1,500,000 in various premiums grants since the Pari-Mutual system was introduced into France 17 years ago. In addition the value of the Grand Prix has risen from 4,000 to 12,000 pounds as a consequence of the prosperity of the French racing authorities, due in a great measure to the percentage of the mutual machines.

ITEMS.

S. H. Darling, who recently migrated from Tatenbury in Wilts to Newmarket, was operated on for appendicitis last Sunday, and is progressing favourably. Moulter is going on nicely, in his Lincolnshire handicap preparation and if the event is again to go to France then M. Ephrussi's candidate is very likely to be the agency. Royal Rogue, for which an offer of 7,000 pounds was refused, when the colt was fancied for Derby honours, is now looked on as an arch-rogue, and he could not win a 66 sous steeplechase plate at Leicester this week.

FOOTBALL.

New fewer than eight new players were included in Ireland's team against England at Richmond on Saturday, and there was a great deal of curiosity as to how they would shape. For fifteen minutes the Irish pack had the best of the scrimmaging, but the weight of the Englishmen told in the long run. The usual dashing forward play of the Irishmen was missing and it is generally conceded that this is a lean year for Erin. Still, the success of the home side must not be wholly attributed to the weakness of the visitors though the display of the Englishmen was not brilliant. There were several glaring instances of faulty passing, for which no excuse could be offered, as the day was perfect, which meant a dry ball. A factor in England's win was the fine form of Williamson at half-back. This stalwart player from South Africa, was partnered by another Rhodes scholar in Portus of New Zealand. The latter may give way give way to Darcy of Cornwall, (and who is well known in South Africa) in the match against Scotland. That Williamson and Portus are well worthy of a place in England's side, so far as ability is concerned, is certain, but many people thing that international teams should only consist of natives of the countries they represent. Before concluding with the match it may be mentioned that upwards of 20,000 spectators were present at what will probably be the last International on the Richmond ground. Among the onlookers was the Jam of Newanagar, otherwise "Ranji" of cricket fame, who looked very well.

Other matters of importance in the Rugby world of late were the defeat of Cardiff by Neath, (5 points to 3,) and of Devon by Cornwall, 21 points to 3, the winners in each case being at home. This is only the second defeat of Cardiff this season, while the downfall of Devon puts that country out of the Championship. Another important matter is the formation of a Royal Navy Rugby Union, which will not only boom the game among sailors but also help it generally. Mention must also be made of the Northern Union v. New Zealand match at Stamford Bridge, London. In spite of the International at Richmond nearly 15,000 spectators were present, which is a good start for a professional match in the metropolis.

CRICKET.

The result of the test match at Melbourne has provided plenty of room for thought. Of course it was a big stroke of bad luck for the visitors that rain came on and spoilt the pitch after the Australians had finished their first innings. Most people say that this is all in the game and we must put up with good and bad luck, as if there were no means of ensuring, or nearly so, that both teams should bat under equal conditions. Of course it was very disheartening to the Englishmen to have to bat on a bowler's pitch after starting so well. Still, they looked to have a good chance half way through the Australians' second venture, when the board showed 77 for 6 or only 126 runs on with 8 wickets to fall. Armstrong's splendid not out innings of 143, with able support from Carter, and Ransford altered the look of things, however, so that the Englishmen's task of getting 495 was indeed a big one. The disappointing thing to cricketers at home, was the wretched fight the N.S.W. men made, and when five such cracks as Hobbs, Hutchings, Rhodes, Braund and Crawford can only make 15 between them, their ability to fight an up hill battle does not commence eto compare with some of the Australians' pluck, nor with that of Barnes and Fielder of their own side. Before finishing with the test match one must draw attention to the mishaps of the test players. Jones, Trumper, Cotter and Hill all suffered from illness and now we learn that Crawford has strained his heart, while Humphries has been operated on, and neither is likely to take part in any more cricket during the our.

Turning to home affairs, A. C. McLaren is no wsecretary to the Jam of Newanagar, and will not be able to play for Lancashire this season, and the captaincy of the county team will be entrusted to A. H. Hornly. The retirement of Lord Delmeney has also necessitated the election of a new captain for Surrey, and this has been offered and accepted by H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, a fine field and a capable batsman.

MADOC WANTED A GAME WITH LOCALS

Strathconas However Could Not Get a Team Together

The secretary of the Strathconas received a letter from Madoc this morning, asking him to send down a team at noon to-day to give the Madoc team a practice before they tackle Norwood in the Trent Valley League finals next week. The notice was too short, however, and it was found impossible to get a team together this morning, although the Strathconas, who, on Wednesday, defeated Norwood, the leaders of the western section of the league, would like to tackle the winners of No. 1 district.

KNOCKERS BEAT WEST ENDS

Goals Were Scored in Last Few Minutes of Play

The West Ends played their first game of the season last night and came very close to wresting a victory from the Knockers. The Hammersmiths won by 2 goals to 0, but they had their work cut out for them and it was not until a few minutes before time was called that they were able to score. At half-time neither team had found the nets and it was a toss-up all the way. S. W. Rann was a satisfactory referee.

The teams were as follows:

KNOCKERS		WEST ENDS

Allen		Halpin

Dorris		Barrett

contest. When Blake heard of the race to be held here he was in Florida but determined to compete, he walked from Tallahasse to Kansas City. The last day of his walk the negro was without food or funds, he had no trainer as did the other walkers and none noticed him. During the first twelve hours of the race he walked without food and when the first day was over Blake slept in the hill. He uttered no complaint, but the managers on hearing his story relieved him of his hunger.

Blake started to-day sixth in the race and probably will share in the money.

David Hartley, the long distance Canadian walker, is still fifth in the race and in good condition. He will likely finish fifth.

Score Last Night

The close of the fifth day in the six-day walking match at Convention Hall showed little change in the relative standing of the pedestrians. Hoagland, the champion, seems certain to carry off first honours. From a spectator's standpoint to-day's session was the most interesting in the week, many sprints being indulged in. The standing at midnight was:

Hoagland, 239 miles, 5 laps.
Slater, 234 miles.
Messier, 232 miles, 5 laps.
Player, 228 miles, 1 lap.
Hartley, 215 miles.
Blake, 201 miles.
Lloyd, 126 miles, 6 laps.

LACK OF PRACTICE WAS EVIDENT

Peterborough Curlers Defeated by Lindsay and Orillia in the Trophy Games

The Peterborough curlers returned from Lindsay beaten by the home curlers and four Orillia rinks, but, after considering everything it must be acknowledged that the locals did surprisingly well. In the first place, they have had but little practice, and secondly, they had to play away from home. On this account it is no wonder that the Shepherd-Neill trophy and the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup do not adorn the local club room. However, the curlers have had a little sport, and, with a new rink next year should win back their former prestige.

Regarding the games on this last trip the Globe gives the following account:

Lindsay, Feb. 28. — Special. — Tow was a red letter day for Orillia as they won both the Sheppard-Neill Cup and the Sheppard-Needler Cup. For the Sheppard-Neil Cup the games were played in Lindsay four rinks a side. Orillia was up 33 shots. On the first game they were up 21, so that they have the cup by a majority of 54 shots this year.

SPECIAL SPORTING LETTER FROM WORLD'S METROPOLIS

Preparations For Olympic Games---The Opinions of Alfred Shrubb---Betting In France----Progress of Association Football.

Examiner Special.

London, Eng., Feb. 29th. — The manner in which the affairs in connection with the purely athletic portion of the Olympic games are being carried out, is very satisfactory, and the officials concerned are displaying a very thorough grasp of the requirements. One very notable matter is that any profit derives from the trial games will be allotted towards paying the expenses of the British competitors. This latter is a trifle misleading, as it really only refers to home athletes, and not to over-seas Britishers as well. The trial games on May 30th are likely to be a very big affair, as Scotch, Welch and Irish cracks will be joining in, and possibly there may be a decent sum to devote towards the training expenses of our champions. If the sum is not large enough then it is to be hoped that a public suscription will be engineered so as to ensure that no possible scorer of a point is overlooked or insufficiently trained, through the lack of funds.

The Stadium, where the Olympic games are to be held during the third and fourth weeks of July, will also be the scene of the English Athletic Championship meeting on July 4th. This may be a good thing for the Association but it will probably detract somewhat from the Olympic Games, commencing 12 days later. In the interests of the latter the entries for the championship might be restricted to Britishers this year, and it might have been better to hold the meeting outside the Metropolis and some weeks earlier.

SHRUBB'S OPINIONS.

Alfred Shrubb has been giving his opinions of American sportsmen and athletes. He evidently does not think much of the distance runners on the other side of the Atlantic, but he speaks well of the hospitable treatment he received. This so impressed him that he contemplates another trip early in the spring, and, if this comes to pass he will journey to the Pacific Coast. Before going away Shrubb would like to meet Albert Aldridge, also a Sussex man, who succeeded Shrubb as ten mile champion. Aldridge is an amateur and has one no running since 1906, but if he re-enters the arena he would be hard to beat at ten or fifteen miles. His best performance was when he won the ten miles championship in 1906 his time being 51 minutes 49 seconds. The merit of this is all the greater when one remembers that he was well in front at three miles and had to make the rest of his running by himself. Aldridge would be ill-advised to leave the amateur ranks for the sake of running Shrubb, though he would probably beat the latter at fifteen miles. They met at Manchester over the distance in Shrubb's amateur days, and, after the latter had shown the way for about twelve miles he was outrun by both Appleby and Aldridge, while the former again beat Shrubb in a subsequent race and created a new world's record.

CYCLING.

Menilon has before been made of the difference between French and English Cycling authorities as to the definition of an amateur. Matters were advanced another stage at Paris a few days ago, when Mr. Britten of England raised the question at a meeting of the International Cyclist Union. The French delegates openly stated that abuses were tolerated in England that would not be stood a day in France, and inferred that our amateurs did sub-rosa what French amateurs are permitted to do openly. The whole matter will now be considered by a sub-committee and it is hoped to bring about a broad definition of an amateur that will be satisfactory to all countries affiliated to the international Cyclist Union.

BOXING.

Everyone is disgusted with the performance of Jack Palmer against Tommy Burns at Wonderland on Monday. Many people wonder at his finding backing to the extent of 500 pounds, and there are others who doubt that this amount was ever actually at stake. If Palmer was satisfied to enter the ring with Burns for the sake of the losers' end of the receipts that was his own affair, but sportsmen did not suppose that he would show such a lack of pluck. It is consoling to think that Burns is a Britisher by birth, though it is true he comes of French-German parents, as his real name is Noah Brusso. Why Noir and Palmer should both make such a poor show against the visitor, is a study for deep thinkers. That they were genuinely afraid to "face" Burns is the opinion of almost everyone who saw the contests. This must to a great extent be attributed to Burns' great confidence. His actions and conduct generally in entering the ring, or rather square, is that of a man sure of victory, and, to use an Americanism, he "gets his rival's nerve." Few of us recognise how great a part the mind plays in everything, and the man who enters into a contest, with the fixed idea he is going to win, is far more likely to succeed than one who has grave doubts about it, and no stomach for his fight. Monday's contest was a farce, and as one scribe puts it, Palmer's attitude might be likened to a bashful girl, who threw her apron over her face when before her lover. The Newcastle man buried his face in his hands and tried to shield his ribs with his arms, methods which enabled him to stay until the fourth round. Burns simply laughed at his rival, and remarked, "I never had such an easy fight in my life—I never met such a weak fighter; he did not face me at all." Noir now talks of again meeting Burns, but if anyone is willing to back him they must indeed be poor judges of form.

SKATING.

F. W. Dix of Northampton, showed such good form when winning the English amateur skating championship, that the National Skating Association felt justified in sending him to Davos Plain for the world's championship. He failed to distinguish himself however, and when one remembers the facilities continental cracks have for practice as compared with stay-at-home Englishmen it is no wonder we are beaten at speed skating. Dix may also have been below par, as after the fast time he accomplished at Lingay Fen he ought to have done better at Davos Plain. Four races were decided and the championship is awarded to the competitor scoring the most points, with the proviso that he must win at least two. Pride of place went to O. Mathieson of Norway, who won three events — the 1500 metres (1470 yards) in 2 minutes and 20 seconds, world's record, the 5000 metres in 8 minutes and 55 25 seconds, and the 10,000 metres in 18 minutes 1 45 seconds. Mathieson was third in the 1500 metres, which went to Hykander of Finland in 44 4-5 seconds, also a world's record, equalling Gundersen's time at Davos in 1906. Oekolm, of Stockholm, last year's winner, did not do very well, second place in the 500 metres being his best effort.

THE TURF.

Three steeplechasers have been well discussed lately, they being Seisdon Prince, Roman Law and Holy War. The first named ran a great race at Sandon Park in the Prince of Wales' handicap, and beat a field which included Timothy Titus and York II. Seisdon Prince is in the Great National, with 11st, and such a splendid jumper must certainly be labelled dangerous. Roman Law, a stable companion of Seisdon Prince, is the nominal favourite for the big Aintree race at the time of writing, but he will have to improve a lot on his recent showing at Manchester to possess any chance. Odds of three to one were betted on the horse for the Broughton Handicap, but he jumped very badly and failed to gain a place. Another six weeks may make a lot of difference but at present it looks as though Seisdon Prince may be Southerwaite's most likely chance to follow up Eremon's last year's win. The other animal named, "Holy War," may be a "National" winner of the future. Mr P. P. Gilpin's 5 year old was given the big impost of 12 stone 7 pounds in the Worshop steeplechase at Leicester, but even this did not prevent his gaining his fifth consecutive victory.

BETTING IN FRANCE.

The return of the Pari-Mutual system of betting in France for the past six years, make interesting reading. A leading French statesman says, "to speak of racing without betting is pure hypocrisy, and it would be well if our own Government saw things in this light. From 1891 to 1907 the Pari-Mutual receipts rose from 4,100,000 pounds to 17,960,000 pounds, and out of the government share no less than 3,600,000 was devoted to charity and the improvement of irrigation. In addition breeders and owners have received 1,600,000 in various premiums grants since the Pari-Mutual system was introduced into France 17 years ago. In addition the value of the Grand Prix has risen from 4,000 to 12,000 pounds as a consequence of the prosperity of the French racing authorities, due in a great measure to the percentage of the mutual machines.

ITEMS.

S. H. Darling, who recently migrated from Tatenbury in Wilts to Newmarket, was operated on for appendicitis last Sunday, and is progressing favourably. Moulter is going on nicely, in his Lincolnshire handicap preparation and if the event is again to go to France then M. Ephrussi's candidate is very likely to be the agency. Royal Rogue, for which an offer of 7,000 pounds was refused, when the colt was fancied for Derby honours, is now looked on as an arch-rogue, and he could not win a 66 sous steeplechase plate at Leicester this week.

FOOTBALL.

Now fewer than eight new players were included in Ireland's team against England at Richmond on Saturday, and there was a great deal of curiosity as to how they would shape. For fifteen minutes the Irish pack had the best of the scrimmaging, but the weight of the Englishmen told in the long run. The usual dashing forward play of the Irishmen was missing and it is generally conceded that this is a lean year for Erin. Still, the success of the home side must not be wholly attributed to the weakness of the visitors though the display of the Englishmen was not brilliant. There were several glaring instances of faulty passing, for which no excuse could be offered, as the day was perfect, which meant a dry ball. A factor in England's win was the fine form of Williamson at half-back. This stalwart player from South Africa, was partnered by another Rhodes scholar in Portus of New Zealand. The latter may give way give way to Darcy of Cornwall, (and who is well known in South Africa) in the match against Scotland. That Williamson and Portus are well worthy of a place in England's side, so far as ability is concerned, is certain, but many people thing that international teams should only consist of natives of the countries they represent. Before concluding with the match it may be mentioned that upwards of 20,000 spectators were present at what will probably be the last International on the Richmond ground. Among the onlookers was the Jam of Newanagar, otherwise "Ranji" of cricket fame, who looked very well.

Other matters of importance in the Rugby world of late were the defeat of Cardiff by Neath, (5 points to 3,) and of Devon by Cornwall, 21 points to 3, the winners in each case being at home. This is only the second defeat of Cardiff this season, while the downfall of Devon puts that country out of the Championship. Another important matter is the formation of a Royal Navy Rugby Union, which will not only boom the game among sailors but also help it generally. Mention must also be made of the Northern Union v. New Zealand match at Stamford Bridge, London. In spite of the International at Richmond nearly 15,000 spectators were present, which is a good start for a professional match in the metropolis.

CRICKET.

The result of the test match at Melbourne has provided plenty of room for thought. Of course it was a big stroke of bad luck for the visitors that rain came on and spoilt the pitch after the Australians had finished their first innings. Most people say that this is all in the game and we must put up with good and bad luck, as if there were no means of ensuring, or nearly so, that both teams should bat under equal conditions. Of course it was very disheartening to the Englishmen to have to bat on a bowler's pitch after starting so well. Still, they looked to have a good chance half way through the Australians' second venture, when the board showed 77 for 6 or only 168 runs on with 8 wickets to fall. Armstrong's splendid not out innings of 132, with able support from Carter, and Ransford altered the look of things, however, so that the Englishmen's task of getting 495 was indeed a big one. The disappointing thing to cricketers at home, was the wretched fight the N.C.C. men made, and when five such cracks as Hobbs, Hutchings, Rhodes, Braund and Crawford can only make 16 between them, their ability to fight an up hill battle does not commence to compare with some of the Australians' pluck, nor with that of Barnes and Fielder of their own side. Before finishing with the test match one must draw attention to the mishaps of the test players. Jones, Trumper, Cotter and Hill all suffered from illness and now we learn that Crawford has strained his hearty while Humphries has been operated on, and neither is likely to take part in any more cricket during the our.

Turning to home affairs, A. C. McLaren is no wsecretary to the Jam of Newanagar, and will not be able to play for Lancashire this season, and the captaincy of the county team will be entrusted to A. H. Hornby. The retirement of Lord Delmeney has also necessitated the election of a new captain for Surrey, and this has been offered and accepted by H. D. G. Leveson-Gower, a fine field and a capable batsman.

MADOC WANTED A GAME WITH LOCALS

Strathconas However Could Not Get a Team Together

The secretary of the Strathconas received a letter from Madoc this morning, asking him to send down a team at noon to-day to give the Madoc team a practice before they tackle Norwood in the Trent Valley League finals next week. The notice was too short, however, and it was found impossible to get a team together this morning, although the Strathconas, who, on Wednesday, defeated Norwood, the leaders of the western section of the league, would like to tackle the winners of No. 1 district.

KNOCKERS BEAT WEST ENDS

Goals Were Scored in Last Few Minutes of Play

The West Ends played their first game of the season last night and came very close to wresting a victory from the Knockers. The Hamiltonians won by 2 goals to 0, but they had their work cut out for them and it was not until a few minutes before time was called that they were able to score. At half-time neither team had found the nets and it was a toss-up all the way. S. W. Rand was a satisfactory referee.

The teams were as follows:

KNOCKERS	WEST ENDS
Goal
Allen	Halpin
Point
Dorris	Barrett
Cover Point
Campbell	Dobson

R. Hilling	King

contest. When Blake heard of the race to be held here he was in Florida but determined to compete, he walked from Tallahasse to Kansas City. The last day of his walk the negro was without food or funds, he had no manner as did the other walkers and none noticed him. During the first twelve hours of the race he walked without food and when the first day was over Blake slept in the hull. He uttered no complaint, but the managers on hearing his story relieved him of his hunger.

Blake started to-day sixth in the race and probably will share in the money.

David Hartley, the long distance Canadian walker, is still fifth in the race and in good condition. He will likely finish fifth.

Score Last Night

The close of the fifth day in the six-day walking match at Convention Hall showed little change in the relative standing of the pedestrians. Hoagland, the champion, seems certain to carry off first honours. From a spectator's standpoint to-day's session was the most interesting in the week, many sprints being indulged in. The standing at midnight was:

Hoagland, 239 miles, 5 laps.
Slater, 234 miles.
Messier, 232 miles, 5 laps.
Player, 228 miles, 1 lap.
Hartley, 215 miles.
Blake, 201 miles.
Lloyd, 126 miles, 6 laps.

LACK OF PRACTICE WAS EVIDENT

Peterborough Curlers Defeated by Lindsay and Orillia in the Trophy Games

The Peterborough curlers returned from Lindsay beaten by the home curlers and four Orillia rinks, but, after considering everything it must be acknowledged that the locals did surprisingly well. In the first place, they have had but little practice, and secondly, they had to play away from home. On this account it is no wonder that the Shepherd-Neill trophy and the Peterborough-Lindsay Cup do not adorn the local club room. However, the curlers have had a little sport, and with a new rink next year should win back their former prestige.

Regarding the games on this last trip the Globe gives the following account:

Lindsay, Feb. 28. — Special. — To-was a red letter day for Orillia as they won both the Sheppard-Neill Cup and the Sheppard-Needler Cup. For the Sheppard-Neil Cup the games were played in Lindsay four rinks a side. Orillia was up 33 shots. On the first game they were up 21, so that they have the cup by a majority of 54 shots this year.

The deceased was a cousin of Dr. Coughlin, formerly of Peterborough, and now of Belleville and was well known in the city.

RAILWAY ROMANCE WITH PETERBORO' SCENERY

Delay In Snowdrift Until the Hen Laid The Eggs.

That the traveling public have a grievance against the railways in this country for the unaccountable and apparently unnecessary delay, so far as passenger traffic is concerned, the following incident fairly well illustrates:

While a local passenger train was west bound the other day, a few hours from Peterborough, she suddenly pulled up in the middle of a snow-covered expanse of country, whre the habitations were few and far between, and stood there for fully twenty minutes, and nothing broke the stillness of the scene but the panting of the engine. Passengers craned their necks out of windows, while others, more reckless, stepped outside to view the estituation. Among them was a commercial traveller, who, on spotting the conductor, opened his throttle to speak to him in these words:

"Say, conductor, what's this long stop for? I don't even see a cold storage flag station."

"It's allright," said the conductor. "Do you see that little cottage on the hill?"

The drummer said "Yep."

"Well, Mrs. Henlay lives up there, and she wants to send a dozen eggs to Toronto, and only has eleven, but there is a hen on the nest, and we are waiting for her to lay another."

And they waited till speckles laid it.—Toronto World.

DISTRIBUTIONS SOON TO CEASE

Funds are Getting Low—Another Distribution This Evening

The weekly contributions of food from Mr. Finch Miller's store are gradually drawing to a close. The funds which have been so kindly and generously donated by charitable citizens of this city towards this good cause are getting smaller. The spring is coming on, and soon those who have looked to these weekly contributions for their daily subsistence will have to seek other sources.

There will be another distribution to-night from the relief officer's store and all those in need may call there any time after 6 o'clock. It is hoped work will soon be plentiful and that those who have been forced to accept charity will be able to look after the interests of their families and themselves.

NEARLY CAUSED LYNCHING.

Italian Attempts to Kill Girl Who Had Rejected Him.

Montreal, Feb. 29.—Following the carnival of Italian crime in this city, word has been received of an outbreak at Bate du Fevre, which nearly resulted in a lynching, as it was three French-Canadians were injured and the people of the neighborhood were greatly excited.

An Italian foreman on some construction work going on at that place met far from Sorel wanted to marry a girl named Lemire, but was rejected. In the course of his argument he shot at the girl three times, fracturing her arm, with one shot, also shot her father who rushed to the rescue, and wounded the girl's brother with a stiletto. He was finally disarmed and taken to jail at Sorel.

British Distrust of Japan.

Shanghai, Feb. 29.—There is a growing distrust in British commercial circles on the Chinese coast of the entire policy of the Japanese Government in the Far East and of recent months there has been a succession of complaints regarding the obstruction of foreign trade in Manchuria. This particularly affects the British steamship companies and officers of these lines say that obstacles are placed in the way of their steamers going to Port Dalny.

Broken Rail Ditches Train.

Ottawa, Feb. 29.—A broken rail at Eganville Junction caused a wreck to the overland express, No. 96, on the C.P.R. yesterday morning at 6.56. The engine and one car got over the break, but the others went off the track. The sleeper, dining-car and express car went down the embankment, while the mail car was placed crosswise on the track. The other cars were derailed, but did not go over.

It was marvelous that no one was seriously injured. The rolling stock was much damaged.

SOLEMN ORDINATION SERVICE PERFORMED AT ST. JOHN'S CHURCH BY RT. REV. BISHOP REEVE YESTERDAY

Messrs. C. E. Wilkinson of Apsley, and H. L. Battersby, of Young's Point, Were Ordained As Deacons By Assistant Bishop af Toronto.

AN IMPRESSIVE CEREMONY

First Ordination Here Since 1891, When Rev. Mr. Loucks Was Ordained As a Deacon—Large Congregation Present.

For the first time in many years the solemn and impressive service of ordination was performed in St. John's Church yesterday morning, when Mr. C. E. Wilkinson, of Apsley, and Mr. H. H. Battersby, of Young's Point, were ordained to the office of deacon by the Right Rev. Bishop Reeve, Assistant Bishop of Toronto.

A large congregation was present and heartily took part in the beautiful service by which the two candidates for ordination, were given authority by the bishop to act as deacons in the church and to preach the gospel, in recognition of which permission they were given the New Testament and also letters of office.

Rev. A. E. Lamgfeldt, of St. Luke's Church, conducted the ordinary service of morning prayer, after which Bishop Reeves preached a simple but impressive sermon, in which he pointed out the fact that no one could read the Scriptures without being aware that there were different orders of office in the church—the the bishops, priests and deacons. He touched upon the duties and responsibilities of the important office which the deacons held in connection with the church, and gave some very useful advice to the two candidates that were before him.

The text chosen for the occasion was I Timothy, 4; 13. "Give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine," and the speaker commended this most earnestly to the attention of the deacons. The epistles should be read frequently, not only by those in the ministry, but by others, for none could read them without profit. It was impossible to read the epistles without recognizing that the Bible points out three orders in the church's offices—bishops, priests and deacons. The original meaning of the word bishop was overseer and it was evident that Timothy was the head of the church and appointed by St. Paul, while Titus was another head of the church. The deacons were first set apart in the early days of the church and the importance of the office was evident. No man could take it without being called in two ways, by God and by those in authority in the church. The word deacon meant servant, so that those accepting the office were servants of God and of the church. They were messengers of the church to convey God's mind and will to the people; watchmen upon the walls, who should never cease their watching; and stewards of the mysteries of God. The deacons were also shepherds to look after the church's sheep, scattered throughout the world and ambassadors sent forth by God. The solemn importance of the office was shown by St. Paul's injunction, to be examples and patterns, just as Christ himself was to the world.

They needed the constant presence of God's Holy Spirit and the prayers of his people; constant watchfulness and care would have to be exercised for the fear the great adversary of souls should overcome them. It was not enough to be bold, courageous and energetic, but prudence and watchfulness were also needed. Bishop Reeve advised the two candidates to "exercise themselves unto Godliness." They would find it necessary to keep the spiritual muscles always up to the mark and keep in constant training, body, soul and spirit.

In conclusion Bishop Reeve touched upon the three points of the text. He advised the new deacons to give heed to reading, both for their own profit and to learn to read well the beautiful services of the church. It might not be possible for all to be good preachers, but in the liturgy there were at least four beautiful sermons daily. He advised his hearers not to be led astray by false doctrine on the ground that the old doctrine was out of date and not in keeping with advanced years.

The sermon was followed by the solemn ordination service. After the two candidates had made responses to the questions asked in connection with their fitness and willingness to enter into the active work of the church, they knelt before the bishop, who laid his hands upon their heads, giving them the authority of the church to act as deacons and to preach the gospel.

REV. DR. LANGFELDT.
Who was the Examining Chaplain in connection with yesterday's Ordination.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, of St. Luke's church was the Examining Chaplain. He examined the two candidates on Friday and Saturday and presented them to the Bishop as having succeeded in their examinations. Mr. C E Wilkinson read the Gospel lesson during the ordination, he having obtained the higher percentage in the examination.

The ordination yesterday was the first held in Peterborough since February of the year 1891, when the Rev. W M Loucks, curate of the Parish of St. John's, was ordained a Deacon.

Will Make An Effort To Raise Membership To 1000 By 1910

Arrangements Almost Ready For Strong Movement By St. Peter's T. A. S.—Cozy Room For The Young Men.

MR. DENNIS LEAVES TOWN

The regular meeting of St. Peter's T.A.S. was held yesterday afternoon when several important matters were considered. It was a largely attended meeting and several new members were initiated. The society in recognition of Rev. Father McColl's assistance in matters concerning its welfare made a suitable donation from the general fund to assist him in his trip to Europe.

Brother Wm. Dennis and family are leaving Peterborough in a day or so and yesterday his invaluable services were referred to. Mr. Dennis has been an enthusiastic worker in everything connected with T.A.S. undertakings. The annual picnic, at homes, concerts, in fact he was untiring in all the work of the T.A.S. On several occasions he has been successful in obtaining the largest number of literary subscribers. His services were fully appreciated and the society decided to remember him in a suitably, practical manner, but left the matter in the hands of the trustees.

It was stated some time ago that the members of the T.A.S. were going to soon reach a 1,000 membership movement. This matter was discussed yesterday and arrangements are almost complete for its institution.

During the last week one of the larger rooms in the building has been under the decorator's hands and is being prepared for the young men. The Society is determined to furnish an appropriate room for the young men who are members and the room when finished will be cosily and artistically arranged.

The Glee Club practices to-night.

General Interest Shown In His Departure For Europe

Rev. Father McColl To Be Presented With Ticket For Naples By St. Peter's T. A. S.—Recognition Of His Services.

TRIP TO RECOVER HEALTH

The Reverend Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's Cathedral, is shortly to leave on a trip abroad—to Europe and other places, and will be absent for a period of about three months. The reverend gentleman has not been in good health for some time, and his friends are hoping that the rest secured by a pleasant voyage will be helpful in restoring him to his former state of health.

Father McColl has been very popular with his host of friends and the various organizations in connection with St. Peter's Cathedral, and some of these organizations and many of those connected with Father McColl in church work are sympathizing with him at the present time, and it is understood that this sympathy has taken effect and that some of his friends and some of the organizations are making presentations to the reverend gentleman prior to his departure. These presentations will be noted as they occur.

This evening the T. A. S. will present the reverend gentleman with a ticket to Naples. At yesterday's meeting of the T. A. S. a voluntary collection was taken up for this purpose, and added to this was a donation from the society's funds. The T. A. S. recognizes that Father McColl has been very helpful in the promotion of the success of the T. A. S., and this large organization expresses its appreciation in this way.

The reverend gentleman's many friends in Peterborough belonging to other communions extend their best wishes for a pleasant voyage and safe return, and trust that his health will be fully restored.

PHOTOS OF PRINCIPALS IN THE ORDINATION

Were Taken This Morning at the Roy Studio.

An interesting photograph will be that taken at the Roy Studio this morning of those interested in the ordination service at St. John's church yesterday. The pictures will include the Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, of Toronto; Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, who was the examining chaplain, and who presented the candidates for ordination; Rev. Canon Davidson, rector of St. John's, and the candidates Messrs. C E Wilkinson and F H Batterby.

SNOW STORM GIVES WORK

Unemployed Besiege the Street Commissioner To-day.

Snowstorms may bring anxiety and extra work to the railway men, but to the unemployed they come as an undisguised blessing. To the man out of work a snowstorm means employment for a few hours, at least, with good pay while the work lasts. That some of the unemployed really want work was in evidence this morning when Street Commissioner Evans was besieged by a crowd of about thirty men who wished an opportunity to get busy with shovels at the "beautiful." The commissioner was able to give work to many of them.

FAITHFUL WORKER WAS REMEMBERED

Mr. Charles Goodacre Presented With a Large Sized Photo of St. John's Church.

At the fellowship tea of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's Church, which was held yesterday afternoon, Mr. Chas. Goodacre, one of the pillars of the organization in Peterborough, was presented with a large sized photo of the old church, handsomely framed. Addresses were delivered by Rev. Canon Davidson and Mr. S. Jay, the director of the society, and they spoke in glowing terms of the faithful work Mr. Goodacre had accomplished during the five years of his connection with the church. The rector, in his remarks, stated that he did not know of any person connected with St. John's who would be missed more than Mr. Goodacre. The presentation was made by the Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve of Toronto, who also delivered a short address.

Mr. Goodacre made a suitable reply.

WILL BE OPEN IN TWO WEEKS

Good Progress is Being Made With the New Bowling Alleys.

Good progress is being made in the new bowling alleys in the old opera house and it is expected that they will be ready for use in the course of two weeks. A large staff of men are at work and the six alleys have been laid, leaving the planing and smoothing to be done still. When completed these will be perfect, as far as expert knowledge of floor construction can make them, and no alleys in Canada will surpass them in point of playing capabilities.

EAST RIDING CONVENTION.

Dr. Robertson, secretary of the East Riding Liberal Association, informs us that arrangements have been completed for the holding of a convention in Norwood on Wednesday, March 25, at one o'clock p. m., for the nomination of candidates to contest the riding of East Peterborough in the Liberal interest at the coming elections of members of the House of Commons and the Ontario Legislature.

He also informs us that he has forwarded to the village and township vice-presidents blank certificates of appointment as delegates, and also notices in blank for the purpose of calling meetings in every polling sub-division for the selection of delegates. At these meetings every Liberal will be welcomed, and as many as possible should attend them, so that the choice made will be as representative as possible of the sub-divisions from which and for which the several delegates are selected.

A meeting should be called in each and every polling sub-division of the riding and should be attended by as many as possible of the Liberals in each sub-division. The selection of delegates should be made with the greatest care, to the end that those chosen should be men of un-rejudiced judgment and unbiased mind. Any attempt on the part of or on behalf of any man to serve special interests should be resolutely frowned down. Every delegate should go to the convention and vote conscientiously for the candidates, whose nomination he believes will be in the best interest of the country, the riding and the party. Above all, delegates should be selected with especial regard to their being representative of the district from which they are sent. They should be men with minds of their own and animated with a desire to take such action as will conduce to the best interests of the riding and country, as well as of the Liberal party and the principles it stands for. They should voice the sentiments of the particular section they represent, otherwise they cannot be regarded as representing it.

DECIDEDLY BENEFICAL.

The Canadian Grocer, a weekly publication devoted the the grocery, fruit, provision and foodstuff trades in Canada, has this to say of the new French treaty:

The new Franco-Canadian treaty, whose conditions were given in detail in these pages some weeks ago, has been discussed at considerable length in the House of Commons during the last couple of weeks. While some points seem to afford possibility of disadvantage to Canadian trade, a careful study of the discussion and the schedules of the treaty seems to show that, taken as a whole, the treaty will be decidedly beneficial to Canadian interests. All in all, Messrs. Fielding and Brodeur are to be complimented on the success of their negotiations.

The more this treaty is discussed in the light of facts, and not through the blue ruin spectacles of the Conservative Opposition, the greater the general assent to its beneficial effects on Canadian trade interests.

STANDING OF PARTIES.

The large majority of Conservatives in the Ontario Legislature does not represent a corresponding large majority of the electorate. The Brantford Expositor presents the following figures. In the elections of 1905 the popular vote was:

Conservatives	239,853
Reformers	203,461
Third candidates	1,779
	445,097
Conservative majority	36,000

Giving the two parties representation in the House in proportion to their relative standing at the polls, the position would be:

Conservatives	54
Liberals	44

Instead of 69 Conservatives and 29 Liberals, which was the relative standing of the parties at the close of the contest.

Again, in the general elections of 1902, the Liberals polled 213,750 votes and the Conservatives 220,370 votes. In 1905 the Reform vote fell off to 203,461, on only some 10,000 votes less than that of 1902, when they had a small majority.

It will, therefore, require the change of only a few votes to largely reduce the Whitney majority in the House, and only a few more to wipe it out. Large as it is, its numerical size does not indicate a corresponding preponderance of general electoral sentiment.

THE CANADIAN FORESTRY ASSOCIATION.

The Canadian Forestery Association is a national body having for its general object the promotion of forestry in Canada. It now numbers about 1200 members, all the provinces and districts of the Dominion, as well as Newfoundland, the United States, Great Britain and several European countries being represented.

The association holds meetings annually in March, when topics bearing on the application of forestry under Canadian conditions are discussed. The most ambitious effort of the Association so far has been the holding in January, 1906, of a large and representative Forestry Convention at Ottawa.

Annual meetings of the society have also been held in Toronto and Quebec and on the 12th and 13th of this month, March, 1908, the annual meeting will convene in Montreal.

Provincial forestry conventions held within the past couple of years in Vancouver, B.C., Fredericktom, N. B., and Yarmouth, N.S., have also owed much to the example and encouragement of the association.

The Association is but eight years old, having been organized in March, 1900, but has been remarkably successful, especially in securing the co-operation of Canadian lumbermen, several of whom have held the presidency of the Association. Mr. E. Stewart, late Superintendent of Forestry for the Dominion, is founder of the Association. The objects of the Association, as set forth in its constitution, include the advocating of judicious methods of dealing with Canada's forests and woodlands, the awakening of public interest in the consequences of reckless deforestration, the exploration of the public domain and its division into agricultural and non-agricultural land with the view of having the latter set aside for permanent forest reserves, the encouragement of tree-planting and the spread of information on forests and forestry.

To aid in the last-named object, the Association has established the Canadian Forestry Journal, which is issued quarterly and sent to all members of the Association.

The president of the Association for the current year is Mr. H. M. Price, Quebec P. Q. Among the ex-presidents are such well-known public and business men as Sir Henry Joly de Lotbiniere, late Lieut.-Governor of British Columbia; Messrs. Wm. Little, of Montreal, Hiram Robinson, of Ottawa, Aubrey White, Deputy Minister of Forests, Toronto; Sir Joly de Lotbiniere, of Quebec, and E. Stewart, late Superintendent of Forestry for the Dominion, now of Montreal. The secretary is Mr. R. H. Campbell, Superintendent of Forestry, Ottawa.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Mr. Nickle has been nominated by the Conservatives of Kingston to oppose Mr. Pense. A "Nickle," according to slang language, has a value of five cents, but as the Pense in the case represents a pretty large value, the people of Kingston will continue to prefer the Pense.

BLUE WOMEN

Women should understand that melancholia, commonly called "the blues," is in nine times out of ten a sure symptom of some serious female organic derangement and should have immediate attention.

Women whose spirits are depressed, and who are ailing and miserable, should rely upon as is evidenced by following letters.

Mrs. R. Gentleman, 1093 St. James Street, Montreal, Quebec, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I suffered from a severe female weakness, and extreme nervousness, and was blue and utterly discouraged.

"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was recommended, and after taking several bottles, I am not only cured, but am an entirely different woman, and on the whole a healthier woman than before taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

Mrs. Mary J. Williams, of Bridgeport, Ill., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I have been suffering from a female trouble, backache and headaches, and was so blue that I was simply in despair. I feel it my duty to tell you that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me. The change in my appearance is wonderful, and I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache. Why don't you try it?

THE THIN RED LINE.

The "Thin Red Line" is the latest Opposition catch-cry. The scandal-hunters are making a fuss over the appointment of one Leitch, of Manitoba, to superintend the distribution of seed grain in the west, alleging that he had been guilty of disfranchising thousands of Conservative voters in his own province by a manipulation of the lists at the last federal election. The scandal was long ago exploded, and its revival is characterized by the Winnipeg Free Press as an outrage on public decency.

On account of the Dominion electoral divisions differing from those of the province, it was found necessary, prior to the federal elections of 1904, to adjust the provincial voters' lists to the Dominion polling subdivisions. When the vast amount of labour involved and the brevity of time are taken into consideration, the accuracy of the work was remarkable. But because the returning officers found the actual work of transferring over 9,000 names from the larger provincial polling subdivisions to the smaller Dominion polls to be a very onerous task, and, following the example of the Conservative Provincial Government a year previously, employed clerical help, the charge of wholesale fraud against the Liberal party was raised. It made no difference to the slander-hunters that in 99 per cent. of the whole territory the work was faultless; that a few errors had inadvertently crept in was enough for their purpose. When it is remembered, however, that in many instances the provincial lists contained merely the name of the voter without his address, and that there was nothing therefore to show to which constituency he belonged, the wonder is that the task was so thoroughly performed.

That any elector was deprived of his right to vote there is not the slightest evidence. Our Winnipeg contemporary undertakes to say that at the outside not more than 40 or 50 persons lost their votes, and that, with the possible exception of Provencher, the results of the Dominion elections were in no wise affected by the mistake. So much for the "thin red line" slander.—London Advertiser.

IS GOING TO PUT DOWN PROFANITY

Young Boy Fined $2 and Costs in the Police Court This Morning—Did Not Appear.

Cases are becoming frequent of men using profane languagge in public places and His Worship Magistrate Dumble has made up his mind to do all in his power to put down this profane habit.

In the police court this morning two boys were charged with having used profane language while passing the corner of Hunter and George streets on the evening of Feb. 25th.

One of the boys appeared in court with his mother but the other did not answer to his name. P. C. Newhall said he would not swear that the boy in court had spoken profanely as he (the officer) had received his information from the boy not present. The lad in court swore that he was in company with several other boys on that night, but did not use any bad language.

P. C. Newhall then went into the box again and stated that at 1.25 on the night mentioned he saw six or seven boys coming down the street and the boy not present was swearing. He caught him and when asked for his name he gave a false one. He was going to bring him down to the station when he confessed his real identity, but gave a wrong Christian name. The officer also stated that when he served the summons his mother came to the door but the boy was in the house.

His Worship after hearing the evidence fined the boy who was not present $2.00 and costs, amounting to $54.80. The other lad was allowed to go.

THE KEEPING OF THE SABBATH

"Consistency" Refers to the Letter by The Liberal Christian.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I read with pleasure an excellent letter signed "Liberal Christian" in Saturday's Examiner, proving conclusively from the Bible that Saturday and not Sunday was the Sabbath day, but in winding up, what a pity it was to see him make light of God's immutable and eternal law, which, inscribed on imperishable stone was handed down amid the thunders of Mount Sinai, by saying that it was no matter whether we kept the first or seventh day. His reference to the difference of time is also to the monk. There is no part of the world but where each day in well known and defined, and when the Sabbath day comes around there is no reason why our antipodes should arise at midnight or any other hour to start their devotions concurrently with ours. The day of every point on the face of the globe is governed by the sun, and so long as we follow old Sol in our diurnal path we can never go astray.

Yours truly,
CONSISTENCY.

HAS BEEN APPOINTED CAPTAIN

Gave His Life's Story on Saturday Night —Spoke at Both Services Yesterday.

On Saturday night in the Salvation Barracks, Mr. Blake, who has been transferred to the American field of the Army work, told the story of his life before a large audience. He had been a sailor in His Majesty's service for a number of years, and told of many thrilling experiences before the mast. He has been connected with the local corps for nearly two years and has always been a faithful and energetic soldier, serving his Master as in former years he had served his king. He applied some time ago to headquarters for an appointment in the American field as an officer, and last week received the commission of captain, to take charge of the work at St. John's, Mich.

The newly-appointed Captain and Mrs. Blake had charge of the services at the barracks yesterday, which were largely attended. Mr. Ashton, leader of the songsters, who was commissioned some time ago, also said good-bye at the services yesterday. He is being transferred to another city by the insurance company of which he is an agent.

MARRIAGE MONOPOLY FOR PREACHERS

Rev. Mr. Pool Thinks It Is No Joke—The Law He Wants Assembly To Pass.

AN AVERAGE CEREMONY

Macon, Mo., March— (Special) — The Rev. Thomas G. Pool wants the General Assembly of Missouri to pass a law prohibiting anybody but a preacher from marrying people.

"Matrimony is no joke," said Mr. Pool. "It is a serious proposition. There is something incongruous in making a business out of marrying people.

"Nearly every day we hear about some enterprising justice who hunts trade by giving prizes with every ceremony, and there are instances where some have employed assistants to drum up business, dividing the proceeds with the capper. One man offers a spoon; another announces that he will give a honeymoon chair, and I remember reading about a newly elected officer aspired to control the business by offering to meet the party at the depot with a hack, take 'em around to a photograph studio to be photographed and then marry them to the strains of a wedding march played on a graphophone.

"It puts me in mind of the barkers at a carnival, "Walk right up, gentlemen and ladies, and get married while you wait! This is the only real eighteen carat, gilt edged matrimonial parlour on the pike!"

"Of course we all read these things with a smile, but with the atmosphere of the cap and bells about them young people are not likely to esteem highly the pledge they make."

"Sallie, do you take Bill here to be your husband? Yes? Join hands—no, your right. That's better. Bill, you take Nallie? Did you say "Yes?" All right. By the authority in me vested by the law I pronounce you man and wife. Two dollars. Thank you and wish you luck."

"That's the average ceremony, and under the law it is as good as any. But what about the sacredness of it? Where's the prayer that should by right be an important part of every real celebration of those most solemn vows?"

GASOLINE FUMES FOSTER GERMS

This New Disease Caused by Autos—New York Physician Discovers It.

New York, Feb.— (Special)—"The gasoline-driven automobile has added a new disease to the woes of civilization—a disease which may cut ten years off the life of the persons afflicted. I would call it automobile disease and have discovered that not only in New York, in streets frequented by such motor cars, but in Paris, London and Berlin, it also exists."

Dr. Henry Becker, a physician, made this statement after conducting tests for nearly a year on patients suffering from the new malady, which affects the tissues of the throat and lungs, causing congestion and decay and giving a working area for the bacilli of consumption, pneumonia, grip and other affections peculiar to the respiratory organs.

"About a year ago," said the doctor, "a man whom I later found to be a member of the traffic squad stationed on 5th Avenue at a point where the gasoline fumes from the cars often choked him, came to me complaining of chronic sore throat. His case baffled me. Examinations showed me it was no ordinary disease and I conducted an investigation. I found that one week after the bluecoat had been transferred to a district not haunted by motor cars he got well.

"Other small cases came to my attention and I communicated with physicians in European cities. The international investigation proved that my tentative theory was right.

"Some device should be used to absorb the fumes from these machines, as they endanger probably thousands of lives daily, especially those of the traffic squad policemen.

Classic Invocation to a Modern Diety

Great Ruler of the Realms Below-the-stars,
Where we of common clay may not descend,
Oh if, like Orpheus, braving death and worse,
We front the perils of the nether world
And bid farewell to light and smiling life,
Impelled by something stronger than the dread
Of grim annihilation—or led on
Like him who great Odysseus called son,
By filial love to follow in the wake
Of honoured sire who hath preceded us
But not returned from that audacious quest,
And for whose pendent fate we tremble sore—
Or mayhap guided by the sapient hand
Of some wise Vergil who before us sought
Marcellus in these realms, and therefore knows
Where Cerberus, with sleepless fang, lies hid,
Where blows the blighting winds that bears the forms
Of Paolo and his non-repentant love,
Where Charon waits upon his ghostly fare—
And "he who enters here leaves hope behind"—
To Thee we make our plea, great Janitor,
For Janus aptly named, of all the gods
The first and manifest, sole survivor, woo,
Oh that once potent band—oh, hear our prayer:
"For the Lord's sake send the steam up!"

Skeletons a Murder Clue.

New York, March 2.—Workmen excavating for a new building on Oak street, near the waterfront, found the remains of two or three human skeletons in the bottom of an old and long disused cesspool.

DEATH OF JUDGE KILLAM.

Head of Railway Commission Passes Away at Ottawa.

Ottawa, March 2.—Hon. A. C. Killam, chairman of the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada, died at nine o'clock Sunday morning at the Russell House. Ten days ago Judge Killam contracted a cold, which confined him to his house for several days, but he recovered sufficiently to be able to be around on Monday.

Thursday a relapse came, and pneumonia developed. He was under the care of Dr. Powell, and serious complications were not looked for until half an hour before his death, when he suddenly collapsed.

Mrs. Killam, who came to Ottawa about two weeks ago, was with him when he passed away. The chief commissioner leaves one son, George Knight of Winnipeg.

Judge Killam was appointed chief commissioner in February, 1905. He was appointed a judge of the High Court of Manitoba by Sir John Macdonald in 1885, and in 1903 was appointed to the Supreme Court.

He was born in 1849 at Yarmouth, N.S., and graduated from Toronto University, being admitted to the Ontario Bar.

HON. A. C. KILLAM.

Hon. Albert Clements was the son of the late George Killam of Yarmouth, N.S., and grandson of the late Thomas Killam, formerly M. P. for Yarmouth. He was born Sept. 18, 1849, and graduated from the University of Toronto, capturing with his B.A. degree in 1872 the silver medal in mathematics and moderns and the Prince of Wales' prize.

In 1877 he was called to the Ontario Bar, and practiced in Windsor, Ont., until 1889, when he removed to Manitoba. In 1884 he was appointed Q.C. by the Marquis of Lansdowne. He represented South Winnipeg in the Manitoba Legislature from the general election in 1883 to his elevation to the bench in 1895.

In 1877 Mr. Killam married Minnie, youngest daughter of the late R. A. Whyte of Windsor.

The more recent honors which have fallen to Justice Killam are well-known to the public.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific he has become by the nature of his duties on the Railway Commission a widely known figure.

Russia's Bad Plight.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—A committee of representatives of the trade and industry of Russia has issued a statistical report on the industrial activity of the empire for the last ten years, which throws a gloomy light upon the present economic conditions.

Up to the year 1900 the coal production and the output of cast iron progressed. Both have fallen off since then. The export of cereals fell during 1902 to 1900, when the coal and iron industries were prosperous, but rose as soon as the industrial crisis appeared. There was a great decrease in the volume of all freight by rail and river at this time.

Between 1901 and 1905 industrial companies with a capital of over $85,000,000 went into liquidation, and others with a capital of nearly $25,000,000 made arrangements with their creditors. The average rate of dividend paid by most undertakings in recent years has been lower than the state bank rate of discount. Direct and indirect taxation has risen 20 per cent., to 19s. 2d., or $4.79 per head. The amount raised by this taxation in 1907 was $501,283,655, and in 1907 $713,577,125.

Arrested at Jail Door.

Brockville, March 2.—The term of two months imposed upon John Larocque, the Montreal man, by the county judge for an attempt upon the life of his brother-in-law, Max Philion, expired Saturday. When he left the jail he was met by a constable, armed with a warrant issued by Philion, whoc harged Larocque with being dangerous to the public safety. At the Police Court the prisoner stated that he had no further grievance against Philion, and it was his intention to return home at once. The magistrate took his own recognizance of $1,000 to keep the peace for one year, and allowed him to go. Since the trouble Philion and his wife have separated, the latter returning to her former home in Montreal.

A Suicide At Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, March 2.—In a fit of despondency brought on by financial troubles and ill-health, Alexander Ross, a well-known tailor, committed suicide Sunday afternoon in his store on James street, by shooting himself through the mouth. He had been in the city seventeen years and took part in the Northwest rebellion with the 90th Regiment.

Italian Fomenters Dispersed.

Rochester, March 2.—Because they were suspected of having anarchistic tendencies and fomenting disorder, about 50 Italians, who had arranged for a meeting in commemoration of the death of Giordano Bruno, burned to death in Rome in 1600, were dispersed by the chief of police and a squad of detectives here yesterday afternoon.

A circular issued by the Italians, calling themselves the "Italian Socialist Federation," drew the attention of the police to the meeting. Among other things this circular said that Bruno was "burned alive by the rascally and infamous ministers of God."

Mauretania's Short Turn.

New York, March 2.—Clever seamanship on the part of Capt. Pritchard of the Cunard steamship Mauretania, arrived Saturday, permitted him to get his passengers who live here to their own tables for dinner.

He manoeuvred his ship, which had been swung around by the wind and tide at Quarantine, so as to get her bow pointed toward the dock, by working the propellers in different directions and circling the boat in a narrow part of the bay. This has been done before with smaller ships, but is considered remarkable work for a vessel of the size of the Mauretania.

18,000 British Troops in S. Africa.

London, March 2.—There are still 50,000 British troops in South Africa. Gen. Botha, the old Boer leader, now Prime Minister of the Transvaal, asked the Government last year to remove a large part of the troops there because there was no longer any danger of trouble. The home authorities informed the Premier that it was desirable to keep them there for the present.

London, March 2—Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Prime Minister, has suffered a relapse as a result of seeing people and transacting business on Saturday.

The attending physicians consider the weakness of the heart is the most serious factor in the Premier's illness. He will go to the continent as soon as he is strong enough.

Fatal Iceboat Collision.

Watertown, N.Y., March 2.—In a collision of iceboats sailing at the rate of 50 miles an hour, on the St. Lawrence River, opposite Clayton yesterday, Roy O'Brien, aged 11 years, son of Fred O'Brien, a steamboat engineer at the Thousand Islands, was almost instantly killed, his companion, Boswell Sherman, 13 years of age, was badly injured.

DISTRIBUTION HELD ON SATURDAY

Some of Those Who Came Last Week Have Found Work.

The week-end distribution of food to the needy poor of Peterborough, is drawing to a close. The usual event took place on Saturday evening and many families were supplied with food. A good many of those who were present last week have found employment. The relief fund is well-nigh exhausted, and it is only a matter of another week or so when the last dollar will be extracted and the account will be closed. The relief officer told those present Saturday night how matters stood and that they would soon have to depend on their labour for their daily subsistence. The people of Peterborough have been very kind and charitable towards those who have been forced to spend this winter out of employment. The citizens have done a noble work and have done more towards relieving the sufferings of the poor in their midst than many of the other cities of the size of Peterborough throughout the Dominion. It is now hoped that employment will become plentiful so that the men who have been forced to accept charity to keep themselves and dear ones from starvation will be able to provide for them and show that they want to become good citizens.

FELLOWSHIP TEA WAS A SUCCESS

One of the Largest Ever Held—Many Prominent Men Speak.

One of the most successful and largely attended fellowship teas that has ever been held under the auspices of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew of St. John's Church was that held yesterday afternoon in the schoolhouse. The tea was very kindly and generously donated by two prominent young men of the church, Messrs. Frank Linton and Fred L. Roy. The catering was done by the Messrs. Coleman Brothers, who laid out a very dainty supper, which was heartily enjoyed by all present.

After the supper the men brought their chairs up towards the front part of the schoolhouse. Rev. Canon Davidson occupied the chair, and in an eloquent speech warmly welcomed the men to the hospitality of the church. During the period given up to informal discussion, the Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve of Toronto, Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, the hosts, Mr. Conway, Mr. Jay, Rev. Mr. Battersby of Young's Point, and many others, took part. His Lordship Bishop Reeve, in his remarks, stated that this was the first fellowship tea he had ever attended, and it exceeded anything he had ever thought of for bringing the men into the closest bonds of brotherly affection. He also urged the men to assist their rector in the coming mission and to do all in their power to make it a success. Mr. Conway made a call for men to distribute circulars, and Mr. Lumley asked for help in the street mission work, and twenty-seven men volunteered for this kind of work.

At the conclusion of the discussion the men sang the Brotherhood hymn and then formed in line and marched into church, occupying the front seats

Farewell Banquet By The Members Of Test Department

Young Men From C. G. E. Honour Mr. J. Walter VanNorman, Who Leaves For Duncan, B. C., in a Few Days---Address and Presentation---Toast List and Fine spread

At a farewell banquet on Saturday night the members of the Test Department of the C. G. E. works gathered around the festive board to bid God speed to one of their numbers, Mr. J. Walter Van Norman, who leaves in the course of a few days for British Columbia. The affair in every particular was a decided success.

On former occasions the boys have gathered for a similar purpose, as a young man's term in the test department averages about four years. Their gatherings have always been of a jolly nature, in which good-fellowship was the keynote. At this last banquet given in honour of Mr. Van Norman the same happy relations were evident, and it was easily the one of the most enjoyable the Test has ever conducted.

The banquet was held in the T. A. S. assembly hall and when it is said that all the preparations and arrangements were under the supervision of Mr. John Trombley no further remarks are necessary. The table was set for twenty and tastily decorated befitting the occasion. The repast itself was faultlessly prepared and served, meriting the compliments of those who enjoyed it.

The Toast List

When the spread had received all due justice, Mr. Stanley W. (S.K.C.) Canniff, who acted as toast master, explained the purpose of the gathering and called upon Mr. W. Gordon (professor) Hall to propose the toast of the King. This was honoured in the accustomed manner and responded to by Mr. R. S. (Construction) Cotton.

Our Canada

The next toast was that of Canada, proposed by Mr. H. V. (Galvonometer) Maynard. The "Maple Leaf Forever" was sung in chorus. Mr. L. B. (Power House) Ramsden replied in an appropriate speech, referring to Canada's great youth and to her financial stability as compared with her neighbour and other nations.

Mr. E. M. (Tank House) Hooker rendered in a dashing manner the favourite "Heroes and Gentlemen," and was warmly encored.

The Department

The toast of the Test Department was proposed by Mr. Jos. (A. T. B.) Lowes, and was responded to by Mr. G. R. (Calculating) Wright. Mr. Wright made a neat speech, referring to the splendid training that young men taking up the engineering vocation may receive in the local department. Many young men have received their electrical experince there, have left the city and invariably have been successful.

Mr. J. W. (High Potential) Mackie was heard in a vocal solo "The Skippers of St. Ives." His pleasing rendition merited an encore and in response sang "They All Love Jack." Harry Theobald presided at the piano during the evening.

The Ladies

To Mr. E. S. (All In) Lappe fell the duty of proposing the toast of the ladies. Messrs. Burton (Type H.), Millar and Mr. H. (Alternating) Wilkie replied to this important toast in an entertaining manner, and with all respect to the leap year success.

Sister Department

The toast of the Sister Departments was proposed by Mr. Chas. (G. E. 67) Ray. Mr. G. S. (Induction Motor) Stewart made a comprehensive response.

Our Guest

In proposing the toast of "Our Guest," Mr. H. A. (L. D. W.) Hamilton read the following address to Mr. Van Norman:

Peterbrough, Feb. 29th, 1908.

Mr. J. W. Van Norman—

Dear Wallie,—As one of your oldest associates at the C. G. E., and as a charter member, so to speak, of the apprenticeship course in the Electrical Testing instituted for the public good and the private degradation, I have been requested to convey to you our sincere regret at your departure from our midst. I feel that I voice the feelings of every man in our department, when I say that none added more to the prevailing atmosphere of good fellowship than you, sir. In Van Norman we recognized one whom with his bright and cheerful manner was always approachable and ready to give a helping hand if it were in his power.

The Test Department takes this opportunity, through me, of congratulating you on the completion of your course, entailing a lot of hard work and considerable self-denial, and beg of you to accept this umbrella as a slight token of our esteem.

(Signed)
C. Ray, A. R. Millar, R. S. Cotton, H. V. Maynard, E. M. Hooker, G. R. Wright, G. S. Stewart, H. J. Fairweather, E. S. Lappe, S. W. Canniff, W. Hatton, L. B. Ramsden, J. Lowes, W. G. Hall, H. Wilkio, J. W. Mackie, H. A. Hamilton.

Mr. W. Hatton made the presentation of a handsome silk umbrella.

His Reply

On rising to reply Mr. Van Norman was given a warm reception and several good-fellowship songs were sung. In a few words he expressed his regret at severing his connections with Test, but would never forget the friends of his apprenticeship days. He thanked the boys for the good-will they had expressed, acknowledged thoughtful remembrance and said he would look forward to meeting them some time in the future.

Our Host

The last toast was that of Our Host proposed by Mr. H. J. (Constant Current) Fairweather. Mr. Trombley made a short but suitable reply.

The banquet was concluded by all singing the National Anthem. Afterwards Mr. Van Norman bade farewell individually to his friends. He will begin his duties in the west with best wishes of many friends in Peterborough, who wish him every success.

Anniversary Of The Park Street Baptist Sunday School

A Splendid Concert On Friday Night—Reports Of School Show Encouraging Progress.

THOSE WHO CONTRIBUTED

The Park Street Baptist Sunday School tea and entertainment on Friday night was a great success, standing room being at a premium. The children were at their best and gave evidence of careful training. The audience was most appreciative and greeted the different numbers with hearty applause.

Tea was served by the ladies and officers at 6 o'clock, and soon after the tables were cleared the church filled rapidly for the entertainment. The chairman, the Rev. A. H. Brace, called the meeting to order at eight o'clock. A hymn was sung and Miss Mann, superintendent, read Scripture, after which the the opening prayer was offered. The following programme was presented:

Recitation—Eldi Webber.
Drill—"A Bouquet of Daisies."
Solo—Harold Hatcher.
Recitation—Carl Eatkins.
Recitation—May Corsey.
Recitation—Ada Barrie.
Solo—Wilton Trantor.
Recitation—Ethel Sheppard.
The Courting of Mother Goose.
Secretary and Treasurer's reports.
Recitation—Gertie Killingbeck.
Recitation—Viola Palmer.
Dialogue—"Dr. Cure-all."
Chorus—By a class of young ladies.

From the reports of note:

At the annual meeting of the school, held Friday, Jan. 3rd, 1908, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:

Hon. Superintendent—Rev. A. H. Brace.
Superintendent—Miss M. Mann.
Assistant Superintendent—F. G. Gillespie.
Secretary—Stanley Gillespie.
Librarian—H. Lincoln Brace.
Organist—Miss Gertie Buntin

The secretary reported as follows: In recording the work for the year we feel we have abundant reason to thank God for His great goodness to us. It has indeed been a year of encouragement and progress. The work has gone on steadily and a deeper interest is being manifested than ever before, and we have a staff 23 teachers and a roll of 247 scholars, with an average of 17 teachers 109 scholars and 83.09 per Sunday. Our library contains 475 books. We rejoice in what has been accomplished and hopefully invoke the need of prayer, praying it may be one of more zealous work in every branch undertaken in His name.

From the treasurer's report it will be seen that the efforts of the school are being extended and thus education is progressing. The receipts were $170.54 and over $64.00 was devoted to missions; including home and foreign, Western Canada, Grande Ligne China, famine, and $27.40 spent on the library, after meeting school supplies and minor expenses. The year was closed with a balance of $1.55. The pastor, teachers and officers feel very gratified for this most favourable showing and take this opportunity of thanking all who contributed to make the Sunday School such a pronounced success.—Co.

Sunday School Anniversary Service Was Held Yesterday

Large Attendance of the Scholars In the Morning—Dr. Lowry of Toronto Delivered an Eloquent Address.

ONCE A SUPERINTENDENT

The Sunday School anniversary services of George street Methodist church were held yesterday and there was a large attendance both morning and evening. At the morning service the scholars occupied the main floor of the church and the congregation was seated in the gallery. The platform had been greatly extended for the occasion and beside the pastor and the speaker, Dr. Lowry, of Toronto, the seats on the platform were assigned to, Mr. S. A Armstrong, Mr. D W Dumble, Mr. J J Hartley and Mr. Thompson. During the morning the scholars of both schools sang several special hymns which they had been practicing for the occasion.

The speaker, Dr. Lowery, in his opening remarks stated that it was thirty-two years since he had resigned the superintendency of the Sunday school of that church, and as he looked around he found that most of the old familiar faces had disappeared and that he was surrounded by strange ones. He chose for his text Matthew 33; 6: "Seek ye first the Kingdom of God and His righteousness and all the rest shall be added unto you. In his opinion the text was one which aroused the young mind to a higher plane of thought and inspired the person to do great deeds. His address was a very interesting one full of humour and he made a decided impression upon the young people who had gathered to hear him. He entered upon the story of the early days relating to the year 1096, when Peter the Hermit travelled over the breadth of Europe preaching to all classes of men and women against the awful atrocities committed on the pilgrims who visited Palestine. His audiences were fired to action by his addresses and they responded to his call and there was soon landed on the shores of that Eastern country, an army, one of the largest ever congregated together, to revenge the wrong. The speaker pointed out how ready these people were to respond to that great call and he urged the scholars present that when they were called by God to do a certain work for Him that they should readily respond. He made it very clear that it was necessary for them to accept the Lord as their saviour when they were young. It is often the case that when we approach the young boy of sixteen years he is anxious to put you off with the excuse that he has not time and that he will attend to such matters when he has completed his education or finished his trade. At the age of twenty-five we see him again and he wishes he had attended to the matter sooner but still finds that he has not the time. At sixty-five he is getting old and he is almost beyond reproach on the subject. The speaker then brought before the congregation the forty boys we were in his class, as an example. They had sought the Lord first and when they became men they were prosperous in business and were living happy and useful lives. Six of them became ministers of the Gospel; six other entered the medical profession; eight became prominent manufacturers; three or four went into the building trade and two of them were eminent lawyers. He read the names of the forty. Some are at present in the city, some have passed away, and the remainder are at different points throughout this vast Dominion. One striking feature about this class, he pointed out, was, that none of them had accumulated a great deal of wealth but were all prosperous and happy.

In concluding his remarks he urged the scholars to always keep that text in mind and he was sure that when they became men and women they would reflect credit upon the Sunday School they had attended.

Cap, Mittens And Rubbers Appeared Above The Snow

The Silent Story of an Apparent Death In Douro—Snow Had Drifted Over.

RESULT OF INVESTIGATION

During one of the recent storms an inventive genius with a humourous strain, secured a cap, a pair of mitts and a pair of rubbers. These he arranged in such a manner by the roadside that passersby might imagine the form of a man stretched along and just beneath the surface of the snow. During the storm the snowflakes had drifted over them and telling the silent story of a wayfarer overcome by the tempest and falling by the wayside to die in the snow.

An Indian River resident on passing along to church discovered the regalia in the snow. Believing a corpse lay there he hurried off to a neighbouring house to secure assistance and comping to remove the remains. The remainder of the story can easily be imagined.

Wolf And Marten In Battle Royal With An Even Finish

Mr. "Charley" Bloomfield of Lakefield Tells Interesting Wild Animal Story.

NORTH OF EDMONTON

Mr. Chas. Blomfield, who is now in Western Canada, told the Edmonton Bulletin an interesting tale of a surveying trip to the north of that city. The Bulletin says:

Mr. Chas. Blomfield, who came in from the north a few days ago with W. H. Waddell, D.L.S., Hamilton, in speaking of his trip north, said:—"We were working in the Peace River district on timber limit work. We had a good trip, and, as here, a very mild winter. I was rather disappointed, as I had hoped to get a shot at some big game. But there was none. The wolves are very plentiful and ravenous, and to a great extent have lessened the fur catch. They have become cute enough to steer from the traps. In once instance one of them on the rampage alone, discovered a marten in a trap, and a battle royal ensued. The wolf had the advantage of being free, and pestered the marten till, once coming too close, it was caught by the throat and the trapper found a dead marten and a dead wolf."

Mr. Blomfield had the unique experience of "thumping his way" all across the United States, for the fun of it. He left Saturday for the east on the C.N.R.

A CORRECTION WORSE THAN THE ERROR

How the Powhaton Bee Made the Necessary Changes.

In our correction last week of the shotgun episode article, we made a mistake which necessitates another correction. William Schmidt is one of our best citizens and does not use a shotgun to chase people either into or out of a house. We rather looked for him to bring a Gatling gun down to the Bee office after reading our article last week. In the hurry of getting copy ready we wrote the name William Schmidt, when it should have been Henry. Henry,—not Bill—the shotgun man that chased a woman "into" not "out of" her house. Another time we stand corrected. We hope this article is all straight—that all names are right and spelled right—that we haven't used in for out or out for in or up for down. If we were running a daily it wouldn't be so bad, for we could correct a mistake sooner, but to wait a week and have that suspense hanging over one, like a sword hanging by a thread,—that's what's putting the gray hairs in the Old Man's head. — Powhatan Bee.

WERE GEOGRAPHICALLY WRONG

Pleasure Drivers Didn't Pay Enough Attention to Directions.

Yesterday a young couple from Peterborough who went out on a joint towards Lakefield became surely confused up in their geography. Instead of turning the corner after crossing the Nassau Bridge they travelled straight eastwards. On arriving at the Douro church they inquired for a particular house and at the same time discovered their mistake. That was at 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

A PROMISING LIFE EARLY ENDED

Death of Miss Kitty Hurley on Saturday Afternoon.

Saturday afternoon saw depart one of the gentlest of persons from our midst. Miss Katie Hurley, so long esteemed for her musical accomplishments and so well beloved for her quiet, demure, refined character, passed away quietly and calmly as she had lived. Miss Hurley was for some years organist at St. Peter's Cathedral. She was devoted to her music pupils, and close application to these duties broke her constitution. She spent two winters between Houston, Galveston and San Antonio, Texas, in the effort to regain her health. On her return last June it was hoped she might rally, but her many warm friends had soon reason to regret that signs of the end were noticeable. Miss Hurley was always affable and light-hearted in her illness.

She leaves behind her a lasting impression of her loveliness of heart and soul. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. Hurley; a brother, Rev. A. E. Hurley, St. Michael's College, Toronto and three sisters, Mrs. E. J. McCarthy and Miss Lily, city, and Mrs. (Dr.) Coughlan, of Hastings.

The funeral leaves the home at 9 a.m. Tuesday. The mass will be celebrated in St. Peter's Cathedral by her brother, and interment will take place in the Roman Catholic cemetery.

WINNERS OF CARNIVAL PRIZES

"Art" Thinks That They Should Be Bestowed on Those Who Deserve Them.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—In Saturday's Examiner a correspondent writing under the nom de plume of "Time for a Change" complains that the same people get all the prizes, but no reason whatever is alleged for the complaint beyond a mere kick. There is no means of telling whether your correspondent is he, she or it. I presume that he thinks he is "it," but it appears to me that it stands for some hobble-de-boy whose best girl had tried for a prize and failed, and hince his lamentations. However, it is better to have tried and failed than never to have tried at all. By his complaint he implies, unwittingly, no doubt, that the Misses Logan stand alone in a class by themselves and, are superior to all competitors, and in that respect I presume he is correct. This is borne out by the remarks of a reporter which he cites, who in common with others could see what must be the inevitable conclusion of the judges from a meritorious point of view. Does he mean that by reason of their superiority they should be barred from competition? He cannot have the nerve to say that the judges were biased or incompetent, because, as we all know, disinterested, ladies and gentlemen of the very highest respectability and good judgment were selected for the purpose, and a change is made in the personnel at every competition. As a matter of fact I believe the young ladies in question were not personally acquainted with the judges at any of competitions. As to his complaint of their carrying "off the prizes, and often with the same old costume" prudence would have dictated the necessity of his telling the truth, when the facts are so well known by many, and can be so easily ascertained by all. I am informed that the fact is, that in the last five years one of them wore her costume only once a second time and carried off prizes on both occasions, but on all other occasions their costumes were changed, and were the product of their own ingenuity and artistic tastes, and that, too, made out of inexpensive material, yet it necessarily entailed a considerable loss of time to bring them to perfection. Such beautiful costumes were enhanced by the graceful skating and nymphean terms of the ladies who wore them. Such exhibitions cannot fail to inspire an appreciation of art in those who witnessed it, and let us hope have a mollifying influence which will usher in the "time for a change" in the kicking broneo.

Yours truly,
"ART."

YESTERDAY'S MEETING OF MEN

A Helpful Address by the Rev. E. A. Pearson—The Speaker Next Sunday

Rev. E A Pearson gave a strong and helpful address at the Y.M.C.A. Sunday afternoon. There was a good attendance and especially of young men. Mr. D. Campbell sang "Your Mother's Prayer" very sympathetically. Mr. Pearson showed our dependence on each other and how in some ways we are all alike. His first point was that we all have sinned. Everyone is guilty and the needs of every man is to realize his guilt. Sin means separation from God and foregiveness can be had only through Christ.

Sanctification was spoken of as the process of making better men, the development of what is best to us with God's help.

Four ways of help were mentioned to make better men. The first was to look much at Christ. His life should be kept before us and we should try to live as near like Him as possible. Secondly, we should keep good company. So much depends on our surroundings. Many a young man has been dragged down to disgrace by keeping bad company, and others have been led to do great deeds by companionship with men of high ideals and noble thoughts. Thirdly we should have some work to do for God. Every man has a work and every man should work. To grow he must work, so every one should feel the responsibility of some special work for God and lastly we should pray. We may do our best, but without God's help our efforts are vain, and we are told to ask and that we shall receive. We need to keep close to God through prayer.

The address was listened to with close attention and made a decided impression.

Mr. H A Pearson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A., St Catharines, and formerly of Peterborough, will speak at the Y.M.C.A. here next Sunday at 4 p.m., on "The Worth of a Man." Mr. Pearson will be heard with much pleasure by a large number o fhis gentlemen friends here. All men and elder boys are invited.

THIRTY-TWO MEN WERE HIRED

Were Taken to Burketon to Shovel Snow On C. P. R.

Although the C.P.R. trains passed through the city on time this morning the road was reported heavy with snow west of Peterborough. Thirty-two men were hired at the local station by Mr. Luke Frances for the C.P.R. and were taken to Burketon to shovel in the cuts. The storm did not cause as much trouble as was threatened yesterday. The snow-plough went over the line last night and experienced but little trouble.

READS LIKE A ROMANCE

Experience of Syracuse Man.

Mr. Wm. I. Brown, of Syracuse, N. Y., says "Four years ago I contracted a severe lung trouble.

Doctors in Fexton hospital, Utica, gave me up—said no hope. I continued to fail until I only weighed 68 pounds. They sent me home from the hospital saying the could do nothing for me.

Later I saw Vinol advertised, and immediately began taking it. I improved after the first bottle, so continued its use for three months. Today I weight 157 pounds and am well and healthy. I really belive Vinol saved my life."

The reason Vinol accomplishes such surprising results is because Vinol is a combination of the curative elements of two world-famed tonics, cod liver oil and peptonate-of-iron, but shorn of all useless oil or grease.

Vinol is made by a scientific, extractive and concentrating process from fresh cods' livers, combining with peptonate-of-iron all the medicinal-healing, body-building elements of cod liver oil, but no oil to upset the stomach and retard its work.

As a body builder and strength creator for old people, delicate children, weak, run-down persons, after sickness, and for chronic coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles, Vinol is unexcelled.

We ask Peterborough people to try it on our offer to return their money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

EAT ORANGES

IF YOU WANT TO KEEP WELL

Careful tests have proved beyond question that orange juice has clearly defined medicinal virtues. Those who suffer with Indigestion—are compelled "to diet"—find that after eating oranges regularly for breakfast there is no distress, no palpitation.

Where there was a tendency towards constipation, the eating of oranges regulated the bowels.

In skin troubles, those who began the morning meal with an orange were noticeably improved.

There is, however, a quicker way to get better results. This is to take one or two "Fruit-a-tives" tablets at bedtime in addition to the juice of an orange before breakfast the next morning. "Fruit-a-tives" are the juices of oranges, apples, figs and prunes, in which the medicinal action is many times intensified by the special way of combining them. Valuable tonics are then added.

Take the juice of an orange before breakfast—take "Fruit-a-tives" at night—and you will quickly be rid of Indigestion, Stomach Troubles, Constipation and Biliousness. "Fruit-a-tives" are sold by all dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50. Sent on receipt of price by "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

Three-Day Session Ends In Discomfiture For North Toronto Member—House Adjourns Over the Sabbath—Business of the Country Stopped For Fifty-Seven Hours—Return Is Rendered.

Ottawa, March 2.—At 5 minutes before 12 o'clock Saturday night, the longest sitting of the House of Commons since 1896 was brought to a close.

At that moment Hon. W. S. Fielding rose, while Jacques Bureau, Solicitor-General, was speaking, and said as it was the desire of the House to observe the Sabbath he would move that the committee rise and report progress. This done, he moved the adjournment of the House.

The House had been continuously in session 57 hours, or from 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon, except for the automatic dinner recess from 6 to 8 p.m. each day.

On Monday the full return for which the Opposition fought for three days will be laid on the table. Mr. Brodeur had it on Friday, but could not produce it in due form while the House was in committee. The return relates to the appointment of a firm of New York accountants for the purpose of changing the system of bookkeeping in the Department of Marine and Fisheries. It was because these papers were not available that the Opposition threatened to refuse supply for this Department. A partial return was tabled, and on Friday Mr. Brodeur met the demand of the Opposition by promising to get the missing papers if given an hour away from the House. He did leave the House and return with a bulky volume, but the Government was obstinate in the attempt to force through a number of items before the rising of the committee.

Monday is private members' day, and till the order paper is cleared the Government cannot get back into supply. Tuesday is a Government day, and then the order of business will probably be the French treaty and the Marine estimates.

If the Minister of Marine and Fisheries shows a disposition to supply the House with full information regarding the expenditures of his Department, he may not encounter further obstacles, though he will not be immune from attack for what the Opposition claim has been gross extravagance and mismanagement.

No Exciting Climax.

The last hours of the long sitting were not marked by any exciting incidents. Late in the afternoon Mr. Bergeron (Beauharnois) suggested that the committee leave the item on which it had spent three days to pass a few uncontested items and rise. This, said Mr. Fielding, was what the Government had been contending for. Mr. Bergeron was not aware of this, however, and the Opposition continued to contest the voting of any supply for the Marine Department.

In the evening the galleries were filled with spectators, most of whom remained till midnight. Gerald White (Renfrew) began by filling in a couple of hours by reading from Hansard, and was followed by Mr. Henderson (Halton), who took up the accounts for outfitting the Arctic. He discovered that eighty dozen pairs of shirts and drawers were bought for the thirty-seven members of the crew, and other necessaries in like proportion. The cargo of liquors and cigars for the crew was enumerated, and provided much innocent diversion, during which the Minister of Agriculture promised to send him a box of Canadian leaf cigars, a burst of generosity that afforded much amusement. Presently a huge box, containing a 15-cent cigar, was carried across the floor to the member for Halton.

Mr. Foster re-entered the Chamber after 11 o'clock. He had been at the press gallery dinner, and his return brought Jacques Bureau to his feet. Foster was railed for doing what he had condemned in Mr. Brodeur, namely, taking an amount from an appropriation for improving trade relations and applying it towards the expenses of a trip to the West Indies. This, in the opinion of Mr. Bureau, was as serious an offence as that charged against Mr. Brodeur.

Mr. Bureau talked till 11.55, when Mr. Fielding moved the House out of committee.

To Suffer From Headaches Makes Life Miserable. . .

It takes a person that has had and is subject to headaches to describe the suffering which attends them.

The majority of cases are caused by constipation and dyspepsia. The dull throbbings, the intense pain, sometimes in one part, sometimes in another, and then over the whole head, varying in its severity by the cause which brings it on, purely indicates that there is something the matter with the stomach or bowels. To the fact that Burdock Blood Bitters reaches every part of the system is due its success in relieving and permanently curing headache. It has proven a specific for the malady in all its forms.

Mr. Wm. B. Gilchrist, New Mills, N.B., writes: "I was troubled for years with constipation and headaches, but after using four bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters I am completely cured."

Mr. John T. Kidner, Red Deer, Alta., writes: "I was troubled for several years with headache. I tried a number of remedies but they did me no good. I tried a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters and it cured me completely."

HAD BOMB FOR PREMIER.

Calvino With Forged Passports Waited In Douma For Stolypin.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—Gen. Hazenkampf, chief of the general staff, over-ruling the plea of counsel for the defence, has confirmed the death sentence passed by a court-martial on the seven terrorists, including the mysterious Italian Calvino, who were convicted of complicity in the plot against the lives of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaivitch and M. Chtcheglovitoff, Minister of Justice.

A new trial for the condemned men had been asked on the ground that the verdict of the military court is invalid, since the state of extraordinary security ceased to exist in St. Petersburg in January, and that the general statute establishing various classes of military law, promulgated in 1881, had expired in August, 1907.

In addition, delay in the execution of the sentence as it affected the Italian Calvino, was originally sought by the Italian ambassador, Signor Melegari, but yesterday the ambassador dropped all his efforts in behalf of the man, having received confirmation of the previous reports that the Italian is not the person he represented himself to be.

When he was arrested the police found on the man a passport apparently issued to Signor Calvino, the St. Petersburg correspondent of two Italian newspapers. The real Calvino is living in Italy, and the documents the terrorist had in his possession have been found to be forgeries.

Gen. Hazenkampf has commuted the sentence passed upon Mlle. Yanchewskaya, a 17-year-old school girl, from fifteen years' imprisonment, to ten years.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—It was learned yesterday that Premier Stolypin had a narrow escape when he delivered the Ministerial statements to the Douma on Nov. 24. The Italian, who was posing as Calvino, was present at this session with a bomb in his pocket. He lay in wait for the Premier, in the restaurant, but fortunately for himself the Premier left the building early and did not run across the man.

Russian Terrorists Hanged.

St. Petersburg, March 2.—The seven terrorists who were condemned to death by a court-martial for complicity in a plot against the lives of Grand Duke Nicholas Nicholaievitch and M. Chtcheglovitoff, Minister of Justice, and whose sentence was confirmed Saturday by Gen Hazenkampf, chief of the general staff, were hanged at day break yesterday at Lissy Noss Peninsula, opposite Kronstadt.

Among those who suffered death were Calvino, the supposed Italian, who had in his possession, when arrested, a passport issued to the real Calvino, the St. Petersburg correspondent of two Italian papers, and three women, two of whom were 18 and 19 years of age respectively.

SCENE AT WINNIPEG BANK.

Thieves Make Daring Attempt to Get Cash—Shoot at Teller.

Winnipeg, March 2.—Saturday night about 8 o'clock, while the Logan avenue branch of the Union Bank was open for business, three armed men entered the bank and commanded Teller W. F. Sussez and Manager A. E. Rae to throw up their hands.

Taken by surprise the latter could not reach their own revolvers, but they immediately dropped behind the counter.

The desperadoes promptly fired and Teller Sussex received a ball through the fleshy part of his arm.

The desperadoes, disconcerted by the dropping out of sight and range, and realizing that in a few moments the bankers would like be armed, and fearful that the shot already attracted attention, swiftly walked out unmolested and unnoticed got away. Chances of arrest are said to be slim.

The Union Bank in common with other banks, having savings departments, are accustomed to open Saturday evenings to enable wage-earners promptly to bank a portion of their wages.

Jealous Italian Shoots Wife.

New York, March 2.—In a fit of jealous rage, Giuseppe Aniello crept up behind his wife, who was fondling their nine-months-old baby, in their home in Elizabeth street early Saturday, and fired a charge of shot from a heavy fowling piece into her body. She died instantly. Following the shooting, Aniello himself was so seriously beaten by the brother of the dead woman that it is believed he will die.

Aniello is 46 years old, his wife was 26. They had three children. Aniello was out of work for the last three months. Aniello accused his wife of receiving too many attentions from men who worked with her in the sweat-shop.

Blaze at Hamilton.

Hamilton, March 2. The service at the Church of St. Thomas was disturbed yesterday by an alarm of fire, but everybody got out safely. The fire was in the Sunday school room, adjoining the church and was caused by the furnace. The flames worked their way up to the attic under the plaster, and the firemen had to tear quite a bit of the plaster off. The damage is about $2,000.

MARSEILLES, March 2.—There was a large fire Saturday morning on the docks in a warehouse belonging to the Chamber of Commerce. The damage amounted to several million francs. The warehouse, which covered an area of 10,000 square yards, were filled with inflammable material.

SIX WERE BADLY BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Terrible Explosion at Sulphur Mill in Brooklyn.

BUILDING WAS DESTROYED

Roof Thrown One Hundred and Twenty Feet—Driver Had Skull Fractured While Passing—Victims' Bodies Badly Mangled — Clothing Completely Torn Off — Loss Amounts to About $100,000.

New York, March 2.—Six employes of the National Sulphur Co. mill in Brooklyn were terribly burned and lacerated by the explosion of sulphur in the company's plant Saturday. A driver of a passing truck was struck and his skull fractured by a section of the roof which was blown off the building.

The factory was destroyed by fire, with a loss of about $100,000.

The burned building was a four-storey brick structure on Kent avenue, Brooklyn, the rear of the building extending to Wall, about creek. The six employes were at work in the milling section grinding sulphur, when it is supposed a spark from one of the grinding machines ignited the powdered sulphur, causing a series of heavy explosions.

The rear wall of the mill was burnt, one of the side walls was bulged outward until it threatened to crush a small building adjoining, and a section of the roof was torn off and thrown 190 feet over the front portion of the mill into the middle of Kent avenue.

The six victims, Thomas Hogarty, William McCullough, Robert Kerr, William Dischend, Jeremiah Egan and Thomas Williger, were found unconscious by the other employes, who rushed into the milling room after the explosion. Much of their clothing had been torn off by the explosion and their bodies were terribly torn and burned.

So far as it is known, all of the men in that department were taken from the mill and hurried to hospitals, but several are thought to be fatally injured.

The big section of the roof which was blown into Kent avenue fell upon a coal truck driven by William Clark, which was passing, fracturing Clark's skull and injuring him internally. He may not recover.

SEIZED JAPANESE SHIP.

China Captured Vessel Carrying Arms —Apology Now Demanded.

Tokio, March 2.—Japan has demanded that China apologize and pay an indemnity for the seizure of the Japanese steamship Tatsu, at Macao, by Chinese customs officers, but the Foreign Office say that no ultimatum has been sent to China. It also says that the despatch of the cruiser Idzumo to Hong Kong is not intended as a threat. It is certain, however, that Japan will resort to force unless her demands shall be conceded within a reasonable time.

The Portuguese Minister at Pekin supports the Japanese contention, Macao being a Portuguese port, and the rifles and ammunition on board the Tatsu having been regularly consigned to a Portuguese merchant at Macao. China wishes to submit the matter to a mixed court.

The Tatsu was seized by the Chinese authorities on Feb. 7, while anchored in Chinese waters off Macao. She was taken to Canton by a cruiser and three Chinese gunboats. She carried several cases of rifles and thousands of rounds of ammunition. This cargo, it is reported, was detained for Chinese revolutionists, but it was consigned to a Portuguese merchant.

Macao is a seaport town of the Portuguese in China, on the Island of Macao, at the entrance of the Canton River.

Because the arms and ammunition were supposedly intended for revolutionists the Chinese Government felt justified in the seizure.

A YOUNG WIDOW SHOT BY MINER

Mining Engineer Says She Threw Acid In His Face.

QUARRELLED OVER RACES

Man Claims He Fired In Self-Defence—Sleuths Believe the Injuries Were Inflicted by Himself — Pair Had Recently Been Betting Heavily —Had Lost Several Thousands In the Last Few Weeks.

Los Angeles, March 2.—A quarrel over financial matters is accepted by the police as the most likely origin of a murder committed early Saturday, when Mrs. Charlotte L. Noyes, a young widow, who came from Boston about five months ago, was shot and instantly killed in her apartments in the fashionable West Lake district by W. P. McComas, a mining engineer, who has been paying her attention.

The slayer reported to the police that Mrs. Noyes had attempted to fling a cupful of sulphuric acid in his face; that he shot at the ceiling to frighten her, and that he then fired to protect himself, exhibiting in proof of his statement acid burns on his face, which required treatment at the receiving hospital.

The detectives express a belief that he deliberately applied the acid to his face. Mrs. Noyes was apparently quite wealthy.

When asked for a statement, McComas stated to the police: "I have known the woman for five years, and she has been bothering me. I could not stand it longer, and put an end to it."

The revolver which McComas used is said by the police to contradict his claim of self-defence. It shows that between the first and second discharge of the weapon the hammer fell upon two other cartridges, which failed to explode. In addition to this, although McComas claims to have fired once at the ceiling, both bullets were found in the body of his victim.

Detectives who searched the elaborately-furnished apartments of Mrs. Noyes discovered a sheet of paper, presumed to contain an account of the operations of McComas and Mrs. Noyes at the race-track. It showed heavy winning up to two weeks ago, but the total losses, all seemingly during the last few days, amounted to between $3,000 and $5,000. The list was kept in the handwriting of Mrs. Noyes. A bundle of special delivery letters showed that Mrs. Noyes had directed to her daily a statement of "tips" on the races.

A REVOLVER BATTLE.

Three Men Killed and Fourth Will Die In Kentucky.

Evelyn, Ky., March 2.—Three men were killed and a fourth was mortally wounded in a battle with revolvers in a quarrel in the logging camp of Congalton & Williams Bros., on Rose Creek, near here.

John Hamilton, James Bowles, Richard Spicer and George Frazier had been working, together with about 70 other men, hauling lumber and staves. The children of Bowles and Frazier had disputes with those of Spicer and Hamilton. The men quarreled over the matter at they worked.

Finally Bowles whipped out a revolver and began firing. He killed Hamilton instantly and shot Spicer in the leg. By this time Spicer had drawn his revolver and was firing at Bowles, when Frazier joined in the shooting. When the smoke cleared away it was found that Spicer was dead, with two bullets in his chest, and Bowles had been killed with a ball through the heart.

Frazier was shot through the abdomen and will die.

Throngs See Murdered Priest.

Paterson, N.J., March 2.—Ten thousand persons yesterday looked upon the face of Rev. Father Leo Heinrichs, C.F.M., at St. Bonaventure's Monastery, of which the murdered priest was for 22 years the pastor.

The body lay in state from noon until 11 o'clock last night, and during the nine hours an unbroken procession of mourners passed the bier.

So great was the throng that a detail of 50 police was required to maintain the formations of two lines that extended for blocks on West 15th street and West 27th street, at the intersection of which the church stands. Through a succession of snow, sleet and rainstorms outside the parishioners stood for hours, patiently awaiting their turns. There was no untoward demonstration.

Strange Suicide.

Montreal, March 2.—J. S. White of Ottawa, who came here Saturday and put up at the St. James Hotel, killed himself during the night. Yesterday he was found dead with a bullet-hole in his abdomen and a revolver lying on the table.

Mr. White is proprietor of a business college in Ottawa. It is supposed he came down to see the hockey match, but it is certain that he never left the hotel during the evening.

Eighty-One Horses Burned.

Poughkeepsie, March 2.—Eighty-one horses were burned to death in a fire in the livery stable of Sweet & Carman, on Main street this city, yesterday. The fire was discovered in several place at the same time, and is believed to be of incendiary origin. The loss is estimated at $35,000; partly covered by insurance.

Tragedy at Sea.

Norfolk, Va., March 2.—The British steamship Cardiff, Capt. Godwin, which sailed from Baltimore Saturday for Rotterdam, signaled as she turned the tail of the Horseshoe, in Lower Chesapeake Bay, that the captain of the ship had been shot and needed a surgeon. Further details are lacking.

HARTLEY'S SHOWING WAS INDEED A REMARKABLE ONE

All honour to David Hartley for his splendid showing at Kansas City in last week's big walking match. True, the game little Peterborough pedestrian did not win the race, but he was fifth in a field that included the pick of the walking champions of the continent, and in spite of a pace that was so strenuous that twelve of the competitors were forced to drop out early in the race, he stuck gamely to his task and was still plodding along when the stroke of midnight on Saturday brought relaxation at last to the weary walkers. Illness on the first day of the race, when he had to leave the track after going 50 miles, gave Hartley's competitors a commanding lead at the end of the first twelve house that made it almost impossible for him to get back on an even footing with the leaders again, but the Canadian never thought of letting up, and kept up the continuous grind around the track, more than holding his own with the leaders after the first disastrous day, and even gaining on them in the last stages. On Saturday Hartley gained two miles on Hoagland, the leader, and got close to the fourth man by the same distance. It was a plucky, game exhibition that the local man gave, and his work will prove an advertisement for Peterborough, the importance of which can not be overestimated. Handicapped by lack of proper training, by a climate totally different from that to which he had been accustomed, and in competition with much younger men, Hartley's showing is a magnificent one, and it is to be hoped Peterborough citizens will appreciate this fact.

Hartley's expenses in connection with the trip have been heavy, and it is hoped the fifth prize may be at least enough to recompense him for his long journey and the week's hard grind on the track.

LINDSAY POST TEAM TO PLAY HERE ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Local fans will have another opportunity of seeing the unbeaten Examiner hockey team in action this season on Wednesday night, when the Lindsay Post seven will play an exhibition contest here, the game beginning at 8 o'clock sharp. The two teams met twice last season, and neither was able to defeat the other, two draw games resulting. This year a determined effort will be made to break the tie, and a great game will be seen on Wednesday night. Rolly Glover will be on the Examiner line-up, while on the visiting newspaperman's team will be "Flats" Reilley of the Lindsay intermediates. The Post team are determined to win the contest. The game will be called at 8 o'clock sharp and there will be an hour's skating afterwards. The admission, as in the Review-Examiner game, will be 10 cents for everybody.

Long Grind Is At An End; Hartley Fifth In The Race

The Peterborough Walker Finished Stronger Than Any Man In The Septette—Was Gaining Ground.

THE DESPATCHES VARY

Examiner Special:

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 29.—At 7.30 o'clock to-night at the end of the eighth hour, W. A. Hoagland of Auburn, N. Y., had such a safe lead on his nearest competitors that nothing but an accident could prevent him winning the six-day walking match at Convention Hall, which ended at 11 o'clock to-night. The score at 7.30 o'clock was, Hoagland, 262 miles; Slater, 257; Messier, 255; Player, 251; Hartley, 240; Blake, 205; Lloyd, 157 miles.

Of the twenty who entered the race Monday at noon, only seven finished. The men who dropped out could not stand the strain of the contest, and most of them succumbed to their weariness the first half of the week. Tom Slater of Syracuse, N.Y., and H. O. Messier of Milwaukee both made bids for second money, and the outcome was in doubt until the race was finished. H. I. Player of Kansas City made a great showing against the professionals in the race. It was his first effort in fast company. Dave Hartley of Peterborough, Canada, plodded away and finished fifth. One of the features of the race was the work of C. G. Blake, a Florida negro.

The prize money is divided among the first five men.

On ly Five Finished

According to the following despatch to the Mail and Empire only five men finished with Hartley, only seven miles behind:

The close of the six days' walking match to-night found Hoagland, the champion heel and toe walker of the world, an easy winner with 278 miles to his credit. Slater, of Syracuse, who was sick, and hardly able to navigate during the first days of the grind, was in second place, but four miles behind the leader. The game fight put up by Slater under circumstances which should have kept him out of the race entirely, was easily the feature of the week.

Messier came in for third money, having covered an even 270 miles; while Player, a Kansas City amateur, brought up the tail-end of the quartet with a score of 26 miles. Hartley, of Peterborough, Canada, was the only other remaining man on the track at the close of the race. He had covered 260 miles and 1 lap.

The small distance covered is due to the fact that the men have been walking but ten hours a day since the second day of the contest.

Another Difference

The Globe has still a different account. Five men it said finished with Hartley fifth and ten miles behind Player, the Kansas City man. The Globe despatch reads:

W. A. Hoagland, of Auburn, N. Y., to-night won the six-day walking match, having walked 280 miles in 62 hours. He thus retains the world's championship. J. F. Blake, of Florida, and Z. F. Lloyd, of Columbus, Ohio, dropped out of the race to-night, leaving five men to divide the purse. The score at the finish:

Hoagland, 280 miles; Tom Slater, 276 miles; H. O. Messier, 272 miles; H. I. Player, 262 miles; Dave Hartley, Peterborough, Ont., 256 miles.

Of the twenty men who started last Monday only five remained. Of these probably the most popular with the crowds in J. E. Blake, a Southern negro.

SHIELD GAMES MAY YET BE IN CALGARY

The Quakers May Only Have To Go That Distance.

The Toronto News of Saturday night says:—The Toronto and Peterborough footballers, who are looking forward to a trip to Vancouver to play for the People's Shield, emblematic of the Canadian championship, may not have so far to travel, as there is a possibility that the contests will be played in Calgary during the big exhibition which is to be held in the Alberta city. Considerable of a controversy has been taking place between the two towns as to which is entitled to the games, and from the following letter to the Calgary people it is evident that the latter are on the inside track:—

George A. Ings, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I received your letter of the 15th inst., and may say at once that there is much force in your arguments that the next competition be held in Calgary. Indeed, under ordinary circumstances, the challenger should of course go to the challenged, but I would have you remember that our object in giving the shield was to foster football throughout the Dominion, and that is best attained by changing the venue as often as possible. Moreover, the relative importance of the various districts must be considered, and I take it that Vancouver would be a much more populous centre than Calgary. Still, in view of the strong case you have put before me. If the exhibition you refer to is to take place in Calgary, could not the competition take place in Calgary during the exhibition? If that could be arranged possibly Vancouver would wait until the year following.

W. T. MADGE.

LOCAL WRESTLERS ARE BUSY

In Training at the Windsor Athletic Club for Championships.

The Windsor Athletic Club will have a number of representatives in the Canadian amateur wrestling championships in Toronto this month, and the men are already at work in the comfortable quarters which the club has secured on Brock street. The newly formed organization has a splendid room for boxing and wrestling, and all the good local mat artists are taking advantage of the opportunity to work out there, among them Eugene Hurtubise, Corney Burns, Harry Burridge, Geo. Gauthier, Harvey Staunton, R. Long and others. The club will be well represented in Toronto and should carry off some of the honours, although there will be some classy entries.

THE LADIES' TEAM WILL GO TO LINDSAY

Will Meet the Scugog Girls In a Game To-morrow Night.

The Peterborough Young Ladies' Hockey Club will travel to Lindsay to-morrow night to play the Lindsay ladies' club and the return game will be played here on Friday night of this week. The local ladies have been practicing faithfully and are determined to show the Lindsay people that the Peterborough ladies can play hockey and that while the men may be defeated, it is not such an easy task to beat their feminine rivals. Great interest is being taken in the two games, both here and in Lindsay. The girls will leave on the 5.38 G. T. R.

THE CURLING RINK WILL BE CLOSED

The curling season in Peterborough is practically over. It was announced to-day that the ice would not be kept in condition, and as the lease for the waiting room has expired, the men began to take their stones home. There will not therefore be any further games nor any trips out of town. A Cannington trip was called off this morning.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

Referring to an old Peterborough boy, a son of Mrs. (Hon.) Robt. Hamilton, Auburn, but now manager of the Bank of Montreal in Fenelon Falls, the Lindsay Post says:

"Mr. R. M. Hamilton, manager of the Bank of Montreal, Fenelon Falls, has, like most Fenelon Falls people, become thoroughly interested in all good sport, and particularly in hockey. To furnish some excitement along these lines he has very kindly donated a handsome cup, to be played for in home and home games between Lindsay and Fenelon Falls."

It is evident that the Olympic Committee is discussing the advisability of sending an All-Canadian football team to England, and the present indications are that the team will be composed mainly of Western players.

May be all Western

A dispatch from Winnipeg states that the choice of a team will be left entirely to Western supporters of the game, with the Caledonians of Calgary, the present Canadian champions, forming the nucleus of the line-up.

Some Correspondence

Mr. George Thompson, secretary of the Manitoba Football Club, is in receipt of several communications from the Honorary Secretary of the Committee. Mr. F. L. C. Kreerg, one of which says in part:—

"As the committee are not versed as to the relative strength of Canadian, British and American association teams, they will consider it a great favour if you would be so kind as to give us any information along these lines that you can. Any proposal you may have to make in regard to the sending of a team to the Old Country will also be of great assistance to us in the going into the whole question."—Toronto News.

FEBRUARY IN THE STOCK MARKET

Month Has Been Somewhat of a Disappointment.

New York, Feb. 29.—(Special.)—The month of February was in many respects quite a disappointing one in the stock market. In the first place the volume of transactions on the New York Stock Exchange fell considerably under that for the previous month, and was far below the total for the corresponding period last year. In addition, the movement of prices for the most part continued on the down grade, and not until near the close were there any signs of recovery. Taking the average prices for twelve representative industrial stocks and of twenty railway stocks, and comparing the low points reached by them about the middle of February, with the prices current at the close of January, losses were shown in the former of $3.86 a share and in the latter of $6.15 a share. The recovery which took place in the closing days reduced these losses to some extent; nevertheless, the industrial stocks referred to reflected a net loss on the month of approximately $4.50 a share, and the railways about $5.40 a share.

This condition of affairs was to a large extent brought about by the indifference which practically all of the larger Wall Street interests manifested regarding the present and future course of values. There was no liquidation to speak of, but the professional bear operators took advantage of the apathy displayed on the part of the recognized leaders in financial circles to engineer raids against numerous stocks. In this work they received material assistance from the marked depression of the Gould stocks, explanation of which did not come until very near the close of the month, when it was announced that a receiver had been appointed for the International and Great Northern, one of the roads under Gould control. Other influence operating in the same direction included the action of President Roosevelt in ordering an investigation by the Interstate Commerce Commission into the existing relations between the railways and their employees to ascertain if there is any ground for the threatened reduction in wages of the latter, and reports of steadily diminishing railway earnings, with much talk of possible curtailments of dividends to stockholders in the not distant future.

OBITUARY

REV. EDWARD ROBERTS

The Cobourg World says: Rev. Edward Roberts passed away suddenly at his residence here on Wednesday last. Mr. Roberts had been in failing health for the past two years, and for two or three months had been confined to his residence most of the time. On Wednesday he was suddenly stricken with paralysis, and passed away shortly afterwards. Mr. Roberts was one of the most highly esteemed ministers of the Methodist Church. He was well beloved by his brethren in the Bay of Quinte Conference, for his genial temperament, for his words of help and encouragement so freely given, and for his kindly helpful interest in the welfare of others. He entered the ministry in 1858, and since that time had occupied many important charges throughout the Conference. Mr. Roberts took an active and influential part in the union of the Methodist bodies in 1883-4. Before the union of the two Methodist Churches here, he was for some years the well beloved minister of the King street Methodist church, and his many beautiful qualities of mind and heart, his wise counsel, his tender sympathy, his solicitude and zeal not only in the interests of the work of his own church, but in all that was true and pure and of good report in civic and social life, endeared him to very many of our citizens. In 1892 Mr. Roberts was honoured with the highest office in the gift of his brethren in the Conference in being elected as President of the Bay of Quinte Conference. His last charge was Omemee. In 1900 he retired from the regular work of the ministry and removed to Lindsay. But although he had entered upon a superannuated relation, for several years Mr. Roberts continued to perform much active service. Upon two or three occasions during his years of faithful ministry Mr. Roberts was elected a delegate from the Quinte Conference to the General Conference. About a year and a half ago Mr. Roberts and his family removed to Cobourg to spend the remaining years of his life in his old home town.

He is survived by his widow, two sons, one at Toronto and one at Welcome, and four daughters, Mrs. McCracken, Meaford; Mrs. Cannon, Welcome; Mrs. McCrae, Omemee, and Miss Ada Roberts at home. The deepest sympathy of our citizens goes out to all in their great sorrow.

The funeral took place Friday afternoon. There was a private service at the residence at 2 o'clock and a public service at the Methodist church at 2.30 p.m.

Mr. Roberts was 75 years of age.

A Man Severely Assaulted In The Royal Hotel Last Night

Is Now Lying in the Nichols Hospital—He Was Severely Cut About the Face—Man Named LeBarge Said to Have Caused The Row.

HE IS STILL AT LARGE

About 6.30 o'clock last evening a disturbance occurred in the Royal Hotel, which resulted seriously for Mr. Richard Castle, of 136 Maria street. He was returning from work and called at the hotel. He entered the bar from the sitting-room and, it is alleged, was accosted by a man, Fred LeBarge, of Parnell street. Some words followed, and LeBarge struck Castle and knocked him to the floor. When down he is said to have been kicked severely about the face by Lebarge, cutting him under the eye and tearing a gap under his lip.

Mr. Stephen Holland, proprietor of the hotel, telephoned the police, and P. C. Newhall arrived shortly afterwards. LeBarge, who is said to have caused the trouble, was nowhere to be seen, and the officers had Castle taken to the police station in Noble's express wagon. Dr Bingham, who was called in, attended to the wounds temporarily. Dr Morgan was called, and had Castle removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where he was given the best possible attendance.

This morning it was given out at the hospital that he was resting very comfortably.

The police searched every possible place where LeBarge was likely to be found, but no trace of him has been heard since he disappeared from the Royal. At 11 30 last night P. C.'s Newhall, Mehrry and McGinty awakened the proprietor of the American House, but were soon satisfied that the man they were looking for was not on the premises.

Mr. Holland, proprietor of the Royal was seen this morning by the Examiner, and he said he was going to lay an information against those who took part in the disturbance. He said the fight did not last long and took place between the bar and the sitting-room.

ST. JOHN'S CHOIR WERE ENTERTAINED

At the Crown Hotel by Mr. and Mrs. Clarke—Delightful Evening Spent.

About thirty members of St. John's Church choir were hospitably entertained at the Crown Hotel last night by Mr. and Mrs Clarke. The evening was spent in cards and dancing, during which Mr. C. W. Vinson, of Richard Hall and Son's music department, supplied the music, which was greatly appreciated. A dainty supper was served in the dining-room, after which a short impromptu programme was rendered, and the gathering broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

THE BEGINNING OF LENT

Ash Wednesday Opens the Season of Prayer.

To-morrow is Ash Wednesday and the beginning of the Lenten season. By some it will be celebrated in a manner befitting Christians, by others the days will possibly roll by just the same as any other period.

At St. Luke's Church Lent will two masses will be celebrated at 8 and 9 o'clock respectively. In the evening at 7.30 o'clock service will also be held.

At St. Luke's Church the Lent will be opened by the evening service of evensong and sermon.

At St. John's Church morning prayer and communion service will be held at 11 o'clock. At 3 p. m. an evening service, with an address by Rev. W. T. Hallam, of Toronto, will be held. Mr. Hallam was formerly of Lindsay and later did good work in Cannington. At the close of this service Rev. J. C. Davidson will meet all volunteers for street work during the mission for the purpose of training.

Saskatchewan Business Man With A Peterborough Heart

Mr. H. F. Kidd, of Stoughton, Refers to Peterborough Canoes And The Peterborough Examiner

A CHANGE HE NOTICES

The Examiner has received the following letter from Mr. H. F. Kidd, an old Peterborough boy, now in Stoughton, Sask., carrying on a successful business in lands, loans and insurance. His letter reads:

Editor of the Examiner, Peterborough, Ont.:

Dear Sir,—An interesting feature of the Examiner, in recent issues, was the lists of absent Peterborough boys. If it is taken as a general roll call and all the absentees respond you will have to get out a special edition, as the Peterborough boy is practically ubiquitous and doubtless when Hernier reaches the pole he will find a Peterborough canoe hitched to it and a Peterborough boy somewhere near reading a copy of the Examiner. I met last summer Mr. Jos. Armstrong, formerly of Peterborough, now of Oxbow who told me the population of Oxbow and Alameda consisted practically of former Peterboronians, even the Chinaman at the former place claiming Peterborough as his birth place.

By the way, I notice a difference in the character of the news in the Examiner and other eastern papers to that of a year ago. I read now of people lost in blizzards in the vicinity of Peterborough, of delayed trains, engines buried in snow banks, extremes of cold hitherto unknown, and of people perishing in the cold in Ontario. Last winter the news in eastern papers consisted chiefly of despatches from the west, and it seemed as if every item of bad news from Port Arthur to the coast was chased down and the elaboration of details depended entirely on the conscience and ejaticity of the writ'r's imagination. Turn about is fair play. This winter so far in Saskatchewan has been the mildest I ever experienced. We have only had enough snow to make good sleighing and a recent two weeks thaw has deprived us of even that.

Wishing you every success,
Yours sincerely,
HOWARD F. KIDD.

P.S.—The most serious objection to the Examiner is that there is not enough of it.—H. F. K.

THE BIRTH RATE FOR FEBRUARY SHOWS DECIDED INCREASE

That race suicide is not one of the problems that Peterborough has to face is shown by the record of vital statistics registered at the city clerk's office for the month of February. During the past month no less than 35 births have been registered or 22 more than for the same month last year. There has also been an increase of marriages during February of this year, the figures being 11 to 9. An increase in the death rate is not so satisfactory, the records showing seven more deaths in February 1908 than in the same month of 1907. Following are the figures:

	Feb. '08	Feb. '07
Marriages	11	9
Deaths	22	15
Births	37	15

ACCIDENT IN C. P. R. YARDS DELAYED THE MORNING TRAINS

The three morning passenger trains on the C.P.R. were delayed about three hours this morning owing to the engine of a freight train jumping the switch on the main line at the western end of the yards. The freight was going east and had just crossed the Boundary Road when it reached the switch. A brakeman had swung it around and turned down the handle and then gave the signal to proceed. When the engine passed over it the wheels left the rails and thus blocked the main line. Fortunately the freight had not required much speed and was stopped within a short distance.

This mishap occurred about five o'clock and the morning trains which were a little late were held at the station. In the meantime the wrecking train at Havlock was sent for and the engine hooked on to the rails in its own marks.

It was found that the cause of the accident was that snow had filled in between the frog and the main rail and while apparently to the brakeman the switch had closed in reality it was open, being held by the snow.

The two early trains which leave before the local did not get away until eight o'clock and the local left just at nine.

HE WOULD ACCEPT THE MONEY

Mr. Robert Fair Believes in Obtaining Mr. Carnegie's Assistance.

To-night at the Board of Trade meeting there will be a discussion on the Public Library question. There are, of course, many in favour of accepting Mr. Carnegie's offer and many are opposed to it.

In view of the meeting to-night and the discussion, the Examiner interviewed Mr. Robt. Fair, chairman of the Board of Education, who advises strongly the acceptance of the gift.

"Undoubtedly take it," he said.

He had learned that the people of sixty different places had accepted Carnegie's money for library purposes, and it would seem that the consciences of many Peterborough persons were more sensitive than of other great intellectual centres of the civilized world.

Mr. Fair states that already $40,605,622 has been given out by the steel king for library purposes. It therefore appeared to him that those opposing it had little to do considering the steps so many other prominent places had taken.

"If we build the library ourselves we have to issue debentures for the cost of it and still maintain it in future," remarked Mr. Fair.

During last year cities and towns had accepted a total of $1,631,630 and in Mr. Fair's opinion the citizens of Peterborough should not let the opportunity slip by.

SUMMARY OF FOREIGN CROPS

Broomhalls' Weekly Foreign Crop Report —Cold Weather in Germany.

Special to J. B. Mehtz & Co.

Liverpool, March 3. — Broomhall's weekly foreign crop summary says:

United Kingdom and Spain — The weather is somewhat colder, and the outlook for the crops continues generally favourable.

Italy and North Africa—The outlook is favourable with the exception of some complaints from a few droughty districts.

Bulgaria—Latest advices state the crops have wintered well.

Roumania—The weather continues favourable and the outlook for the winter crop is favourable; sowing has commenced.

France—There is some re-sowing of wheat in the north as a result of the early unfavourable climatic conditions; otherwise the outlook is favourable. Holders are firmer in their views.

Germany — The weather is colder and the condition of the crop is not considered satisfactory. This country has purchased large quantities of wheat from Argentine, but still the markets respond quickly to foreign strength.

Russia—In the southwest the outlook is unchanged from our last report, given on February 25, as being more hopeful. Elsewhere the outlook is more satisfactory. Arrivals of wheat at the ports of shipment are very small, and in some cases nothing.

THE BAKING POWDER AND SOAP UPSET

Runaway on Simcoe Street Yesterday Afternoon.

A runaway on Simcoe street yesterday evening about 4 o'clock caused considerable excitement for some minutes. The horse attached to a delivery sleigh and driven by Mr. Herbert Cuthbertson, became frightened in the yard to the rear of Mr. Chas Risbor's wholesale store. It turned around itself and made a dash for the street where the sleigh upset and spilled bundles of paper and broke boxes of baking powder tins and soap. These were scattered along the street.

TUBERCULOSIS.

The tuberculosis conference, to be held in Toronto to-morrow, transcends in importance of the vital interest concerned all other conventions of which the provincial capital is the seat. The Holy Scriptures tells us that "all that a man hath will be given for his life"; and when we reflect upon the lamentable extent to which tuberculosis extinguishes human life in this province Dominion, as well as elsewhere in the world, we can scarcely exaggerate the importance to be attached to preventive, curative and educative measures in relation to the "white scourge." Consumption, the popular synonym and most prevalent and disastrous manifestation of tuberculosis causes nearly one-half of the deaths in the Dominion, between the ages of twenty-five and thirty, and tuberculosis in all its forms is said to be responsible for one death (at all ages) in every eight throughout the country. It gives rise to a vast amount of suffering, as shown by the calculation that at this present moment there are between 50,000 and 60,000 persons, many of whom we know, suffering the slow torture which this disease entails. This becomes all the sadder when it is stated upon the best authority that the disease is preventable. Consumption is contracted by taking into the system, briefly by inhalation, the germ or microbe of the disease. The invasion of the system by the tubercle bacillus or germ may be induced by a variety of conditions, such as living in over-crowded, ill-ventilated, dark, dirty rooms; insufficient or bad food; alcoholism and other forms of dissipation; infectious fevers or other illness, or any other cause which enfeebles the system and weakens its powers of resistance.

Thus it will be seen that with proper precautions the disease may be lessened in frequency of attack, and thus automatically stamped out, for the chief source of infection, of course, comes from persons affected. Decrease their number and the danger of infection, to that extent, disappears.

The convention in Toronto has for its chief object the concerting of measures for the prevention of consumption and the diffusion of knowledge upon this supremely important subject. His Excellency, Earl Gray, the Governor-General, is honourary president of the National Sanitarium Association, and taken a deep interest in the work it conducts. The public have a deep interest in the deliberations of the convention, which goes into session to-morrow, and its proceedings should be watched with an interest corresponding to the vital importance of the subject.

THE PRICE OF OBSTRUCTION.

At the present rate of progress, it is said that the Dominion Parliament will remain in session until August. This is due to the obstructive tactics being pursued by Mr. Borden and his followers. It is pure bostruction, without excuse or justification, so far as the public interest is concerned. Even a Conservative stalwart like Hon. Haggart explicitly condemned the obstructive tactics of a clique of Conservative members, and demanded a cessation of the puerile game in order that the business of the country could be attended to. He intimated plainly that the obstruction was only mischievous, not directed to the promotion of the public interests. It is employed as a means of making party capital for the Conservative party. Thus it practically becomes a means of making the public cheat contribute to the Conservative campaign fund. The talk in Parliament costs about $50 per minute, and the late all night and all day session cost the country from $15,000 to $20,000 in time wasted by frivolous speeches, to keep the House in session; and during the session which has been marked throughout by Conservative obstruction tactics for the pure purpose of making party capital, the expense of legitimate legislation has been increased by, no doubt, $50,000, and if the practices so far pursued, are continued, many more thousands will be added to the forced levy upon the public cheat, in the interests of the party campaign of the Conservative obstructionists.

The Reason Why
Zutoo
Is Used by Thousands.

It would probably surprise you to know how many thousands of people are using Zutoo Tablets who had never before used a headache cure.

This is due to three facts.
They tried the tablets.
The tablets cured their headache.
The tablets did not hurt them.

Like sensible people, they do not suffer from headache any more. They either let Zutoo ward off the headache—nip it in the bud—or assist nature in stopping it.

Which do you do? Do you suffer from headache or do you take Zutoo?

DISOWNED BY FORMER FRIENDS

Significant in connection with the provincial election campaign now in progress in New Brunswick, is the fact that the Conservative Opposition in that Province disclaims any connection with the federal Conservatives. The opponents of the Robinson Government fear their cause will suffer unless the public mind is disabused of the idea that they are in any way allied with the collection of incapables behind Mr. Borden. They no doubt see in their namesakes at Ottawa a band of men with whom the country's interests are as nothing compared with their own self-seeking. They must have in mind the dubious operations of Messrs. Foster, Lefurgey, Pope, Fowler, and other leaders of the Dominion Conservative party. They have before them even now the discreditable tactics of the obstructionists, during the present session; how they have held up public business for months, and wasted hundreds of thousands of dollars of the public money in fruitless endeavours to secure campaign material, only to lay bare their own misdeeds when in office; how even their leader, a man who once enjoyed a reputation as a broad-minded and well-meaning public man, hampered only by the littleness of those with whom he had the misfortune to be surrounded, has fallen to their level. Remembering all this, is it any wonder that the Conservative party of New Brunswick, in its intense desire to regain office, tell the electors of that Province that they are not of the same kin as the Bordens, the Fosters, the Fowlers, and the rest of them? No one can blame the New Brunswick Conservatives for thus disowning the men who have brought discredit on the party name. The Federal Opposition, by its present course, is putting a strain on the party loyalty of good Conservatives in every province.—London Advertiser.

Owing to the enormous advance in the price of tea at the gardens during the past eighteen months The "Salada" Tea Company has had to raise the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c. and "Green Label" from 30c to 35c. per pound. No other changes in prices have been made. The chief reason for the advance in the price of Ceylon Tea is due to two causes: First, the enormously increased demand coming from Russia, which country is abandoning China Tea in favour of the finer teas of Ceylon. The other cause is due to the planting out of Rubber, which is more profitable to the grower than tea. 1

CANADA THE LAND OF THE FUTURE

Her Progress During the Past Twenty-five Years Gives But a Hint of What Development Will Be.

COMING QUARTER CENTURY

Sir Wilfrid Laurier made an epigram which will live, when he said "the 19th century belonged to the United States, the 20th belongs to Canada."

It is not national egotism, nor even pride, which prompts this view. The Dominion is a country of enormous possibilities, and our cousins across the line have been quick to appreciate this fact. They realize that it pays, and pays well, to have their own factories right on the ground. The great "American invasion" of England some years ago, taught the manufacturers in the States one wholesome lesson—that loyalty and patriotism are factors which must be reckoned with in the struggle for trade supremacy.

Canada has thrown off her provincialism. The American business men recognize this, and to-day they put Canada on a commercial plane with England, Germany, France and other continental countries, by forming Canadian companies to finance their projects and by equipping Canadian factories to produce their wares for the Canadian trade.

In all our large cities, and in many of the smaller ones, some of the most imposing planks are those making various articles already well known all over the United States. This shows what shrewd men to the south of us think of Canada as a land of prosperity, present and future. This commercial invasion enables us to buy the best American products at the same prices they sell for in the States. It also brings millions of dollars to Canada to be invested in buildings and machinery, and paid out in wages. It enables our men and boys to learn profitable trades and gives them the chance to go into these modern mills and factories as unskilled operatives, and, by training and study, to become managers, superintendents and even partners.

Among the most popular American articles which have been introduced into Canada, and are being made here, none have met with more success than the Gillette Safety Razor. The Gillette Safety Razor Co. have found it a wise and profitable investment to install and operate a purely Canadian factory. The new Canadian home of the "Gillette" is in Montreal, and the razors that issue from this plant are "Made in Canada," and are as purely Canadian as the oldest whiskers on the oldest inhabitant, whom the "Gillette" will shave as easily as it will the eighteen-year-old boy.

The delicate work of producing by hand sharpening, a uniformly keen shaving edge, has been proved an impossibility. No man can write his name twice exactly the same. Then, how can be put precisely the same microscopic edge on thousands of razors. This problem is solved in the Gillette factory by machinery.

One will readily understand the fineness of quality in the steel used in the Gillette blades when he realizes that it costs nine times as much as the old style razor blades.

In making the blades, the first blanking process is done on presses. The crude blade is fed into a hardening or tempering machine. A moment after it comes out cold, black and so near in hardness to the diamond that it will cut window glass. This unusual hardness is due partially to the paper thinness of the blade (0-1000 of an inch thick), as the thinner the blade the harder it may be tempered. This paper thin blade is a feature of the Gillette, patented by this firm, and is found in no other razor.

In sharpening, the grinding, honing and stropping machines are accurately set to always bevel and sharpen precisely the same width of edge. One of the wonderful features of these machines, is that when they have ground the blade exactly right, they stop of their own accord. After these machines have done their work the blades are carefully tested with human hair for seven defects and each blade must split a hair hanging before it can pass muster. The blades then visit the sterilizing oven in the same envelopes in which they reach the consumer. It would require too much space to describe the equally human machines by which the various parts of the razor handles are cut from the metal, the process of silver-plating and burnishing, etc.

The Gillette people were quick to see the many advantages they had achieved over all other razors, and that the surest and quickest way to bring them before the whole people was by the liberal use of printers' ink, and the razor is in daily use by millions of people from Kings, Emperors and presidents, down.

It has been said that man invents machines to do what man himself cannot do. But there must always be the man behind the machines and the organization. The man in charge of the Canadian factory of the Gillette Safety Razor is Mr. A. A. Bittues, who installed the Gillette plants and systems of manufacture in Europe. (In passing, it is worthy of remark that the Gillette repeated, in England, France and Germany, the enormous success it achieved in the United States.) He is the kind of American that Canada appreciates—the man who does things. Mr. Bittues has made the Canadian factory one of the most efficient in any country, and gives a personal supervision to the output, which guarantees uniform excellence.

The Work Of Young People In Evangelizing The World

Important Address By Rev. A. E. Armstrong At Enthusiastic Meeting At Knox Church Last Night.

CHURCHES REPRESENTED

Last night saw an exceptionally large attendance at the missionary rally at Knox Church. All the churches were represented and the church was crowded with an assembly which had gathered for the purpose of hearing Rev. A. E. Armstrong, assistant foreign secretary of Presbyterian Missions, speak on the subject "The Young People and the Evangelization of the World." The trend of the missionary movement is to thoroughly educate young people on the importance of missions and to give them an accurate idea of those people, among whom the Gospel has not been introduced, or where the work of evangelizing is struggling onward; For this end the study of missions is receiving more attention and the educational movement for that purpose has become very widespread. In this manner an enthusiasm and zeal for missionary work will be fostered, particularly among the young people and encouraging results are already beginning to be experienced.

Were Welcomed

On behalf of the Young People's Society of Knox Church Mr. Duncan Campbell extended a hearty welcome to all the visiting members of the other churches. A letter of regret was read from the Rt. Rev. Bishop Reeve, who was unable to be present.

The chairman of the evening was Rev. J. R. Webb. After the usual devotional exercises were concluded he made a short speech, referring to the large attendance, auguring as it did extensive interest and work in local missionary affairs.

Miss Ruth Dawson rendered a pleasing vocal solo, after which Rev. Dr. Langfeldt was called upon to introduce the speaker of the evening, Rev. Mr. Armstrong. He stated that he had heard from Canon Greene, of Orillia, where Rev. Mr. Armstrong had recently conducted a missionary institute with marked success and Dr. Langfeldt assured the people that Rev. Mr. Armstrong's zeal in the missionary cause was infective and he would impart it to his hearers.

The Address

The young people's missionary movement was instituted at the Silver Bay Conference, Mr. Armstrong said, held some time ago. The chief purpose was not so much for the evangelization of the heathen as to teach educate the young people in the missionary work and thus to imbue them with an earnest zeal for the cause. A federation of mission boards of all denominations was held, forty boards being represented. The board of managers consisted of thirty-nine members, and the first meeting took place in New York. There is no regular membership but the boards work unitedly and by this co-operation certain plans are pursued and similar studies followed in all the mission study classes. To further the movement missionary institutes are held during the winter and six minor conferences are held.

After referring to the recent institute in Orillia Rev. Mr. Armstrong went on and explained fully how the study of missions is carried out. This practical talk was of very much assistance as it came home to everybody, and explained the best methods of promoting the study.

An International Convention is being held in Pittsburg next week at which it is expected that 2,500 delegates will be present. This is the first great general conference and another will not be held for four years.

At the conclusion of the address a vote of thanks to the Knox Church Young People's Society was moved by Mr. W. Garbutt, of Murray Street Baptist Church, and seconded by Mr. Chas. Barrie, of Park Street Church.

Miss Robinson next favoured the gathering with a vocal solo.

Rev. Mr. Potter moved, seconded by Mr. H. Lincoln Brace, that arrangements be entered into for holding a missionary institute in Peterborough at an early date.

Sunday School Anniversary Entertainment Last Night

Was a Great Success—Scholars Have Been Trained by Miss Amy L. Doty of London—Each Number Splendidly Rendered.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

One of the most successful and enjoyable entertainments that has ever been held in this city, was that given last night at George street Methodist Sunday School. Too much praise cannot be attributed to the excellent teacher, Miss Amy L. Doty, of London, who had charge of the entertainment and who had the scholars trained to the highest point of profiency.

The concert took place in the church and both the main floor and the gallery were taxed to their utmost seating capacity and a great many of those who attended the concertoert had to stand throughout the entire evening.

The programme opened with a rousing chorus, "Living for Jesus," in which 200 of the scholars took part and was followed by a prayer by the pastor. Sixteen of the elder boys of the church took part in the next number which was an address of welcome, each boy had a few lines to say, but delivered them in a masterly manner. The chorus entitled "Katy Did" was the next number on the programme. Miss Josie Callender took the solo and was supported in the chorus by 110 of the scholars. The number proved a very amusing one and was excellently rendered by the young soloist and the chorus. Master Palmer gave a pleasing recitation "The Methodist way," which he delivered in a splendid manner and was enthusiastically applauded. The next number, a chorus "Disobedient Chickens" was well rendered by a chorus of 110 scholars, dressed in different costumes. The night was a very pretty one and the singing was good. Thirteen boys in tender years gave a very amusing recitation, "Things Inside" which brought forth lengthy applause.

Seventy girls, dressed in very pretty costumes took part in the next number, a chorus and drill, "Snowflakes." The little ones went through their drill splendidly.

Sixteen boys in a recitation entitled "The Boy's Complaint" tried to explain their trouble to the older folk. The first part of the programme closed with a double quartette "Aunt Jerusha's Cat" which was excellently rendered.

A song "Chips off the Old Block" by 16 boys opened the second part of the programme and was followed by a recitation in concert "The Kiss in School" by 24 girls, which proved very amusing. Several young men, clad in the uniforms of the 57th Regiment then marched onto the platform and gave a splendid military chorus entitled "My Volunteer," which was followed by a military drill. The number was one of the best on the programme. The leader of the entertainment, Miss Amy L. Doty, gave a beautiful recitation "The Mourning Veil." The piece was splendidly rendered and Miss Doty proved herself to be an excellent elocutionist. "I'm Tying the Leaves" a solo, was splendidly rendered by Howard Armstrong and this number was followed by an illustrated hymn in which 12 ladies took part, Miss Chasty taking the solo. The next two numbers showed particularly the excellency of Miss Doty as a trainer of children and the numbers were only the result of patient work. The seasons, a march and drill and a handkerchief drill was the next number. The first was rendered by 16 young ladies and in the handkerchief drill 18 girls took part. The drill was very pretty and the number received immediate applause. The next exercise entitled the flags was well rendered by 20 scholars. The girls were all dressed in different costumes and the boys were clad in the British red uniform. At the close of this number Miss Doty gave a recitation. The entertainment closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

A Grand Recital will be given by Mrs. Scott-Raff, Toronto's Favorite Elocutionist, on Thursday Evening, March 5th, in the Charlotte Street Sunday School Room, commencing at 8 o'clock, under the auspices of the Young Ladies' Mission Circle, who have arranged the programme including some specially good musical numbers. Admission 25 cents.

PETERBOROUGH CLUB HOLD PLEASANT AT HOME

Wives and Daughters of the Members Entertained—A Musical Programme

An "at home" under the auspices of the Peterborough Club was held in their club rooms in the Bank of Commerce Building last night. A good musical programme was rendered during the evening. Among those who contributed were Miss Helen Davies, Mrs. Lillian Rush and Messrs. John Crane, W. H. Denham, W. McIlroy, Alex. Elliott and H. Morphet.

The card rooms were well patronized during the evening, and the wives and daughters of the club members had an opportunity of seeing the apartments in which the members spend so many pleasant hours. A feature of the evening was the splendid dining-room afforded by the spacious rooms of the Peterborough Business College, which adjoin the apartments of the club and which were kindly loaned by the principal of the college. The guests were cordially greeted by the president of the club, Dr. R. P. Boucher, and the vice-president, Mr. R. E. Wood.

"LEARNER" QUOTES HISTORY

On the Subject, "Shall We Have Two Sundays?"—Paganism Dealt With.

THE FIRST OR SEVENTH DAY?

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—The striking headlines of a letter from "Liberal Christian" in Saturday's issue of your valuable paper, seem to elicit thought and comment.

The querry is raised, "Shall we have two Sundays and two modes of counting?" Subsequently historical facts are cited as to the origin of Sunday as a day of rest. It is true that both lexicography and history attest Sunday to have been a pagan festival from remote antiquity. Though all the other days of the week have heathen names, Sunday alone was a conspicuous pagan festival in the days of the early church. The North British Review styles it "The wild solar holiday of all pagan times." (See vol 18, R 409). Jennings makes this adoration of the sun more ancient than the deliverance from Egypt. (See Jewish Antiquities, book 3, chap 1.) And he adds the following, "Sunday was the day which the heathens in general consecrated to the worship and honour of their chief god, the sun, which according to our computation, was the first day of the week." In Gavazzi's "Lectures," R 390, we read, "When Christianity was imposed by Constantine on his pagan subjects, paganism introduced itself into the Church of Christ, commands magistracies were obtainable only through the portals of this new faith; a pagan flood coming into the church carried with it its customs, practises and idols. The church was then too weak to withstand this inundation of paganism."

In "Schaff's History of the Christian Church," volume 3, are the following words, "In A.D. 321, Constantine issued an edict commanding judges, townspeople and mechanics to rest on Sunday; yet in this also, his paganism was still manifest, for the edict required rest on 'Dies Solis' (venerable day of the sun) and not under the name of 'Sabbatum' or 'Dies Domini' (sabbath), so that the law was as applicable to the worshippers of Hercules, Apollo, and Mithras as to the Christian." Milman says, "It is the day of the sun that is to be observed by the general veneration," (See "History of Christianity," book 3, chap 1, par 14).

In view of facts we unhesitatingly answer no, we do not want two Sundays; but we do need a Sabbath according to the Creator's design and sanctification, forming a memento, immeasureably higher than that of ancient sun-worship, as also by edict more authoritative than that of a pagan ruler, whose hands were dyed with gore. Stanley records of this notable historical character, "He was of general consent a worse prince at the close of his reign than at its beginning, when he was little better than a pagan." (See "History of the Eastern Church," lecture 3, par 26.)

To the day of his death Constantine retained the title and office of 'Pontifix Maximus,' (high priest of the heathen hierarchy.)

An eminent officer of state did not scruple to compare the splendid but bloody times of that monarch's reign with those of Nero. During life, neither pagans nor Christians, could tell to which religion he belonged, although since death both have claimed him. An eloquent writer, referring to the era of Constantine's rule remarks, "The Church of Christ began coquetting with paganism; at first countenancing and then adopting its ceremonialism and hierarchal orders, barely changing the names; and ere long, having fully arrayed herself in the nuptial robes of a spectacular Christianity, she consented to become virtually wedded to paganism. The transformation culminated in the long wanderings of the church in the waste, howling wilderness of the dark ages." (Geo. B. Peck, in "Throne Life.")

The long-standing challenge of Father Enright seems pertinent to the point that "Sunday" is the day we are bound to keep. He says that only the church has power to make the observance of Sunday binding and challenges anybody to show any proof from the Bible that Sunday is the day we are bound to keep. This, in face of the command of God as recorded in the Bible—Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy — the Sabbath day, not the first day of the week.

"Liberal Christian" finally intimates that the Creator made a law which cannot be observed, because the world is round.

Let inspiration answer. Gen 2:1 16 tells us that the sun rules the day; and the fourth commandment says that it was the seventh day that was sanctified (Ex. 20, 8-11) not a certain fragment of time, but a certain day, which the revolving earth would bring to its people in regular and successive order, forever. (See Isa. 66 22, 23).

As the moral law is the basis of Jehova's moral government, and its perfect and immutable nature made the death on Calvary necessary in order to provide an avenue of escape from its penalty, the words, "He that turneth away his ear from hearing the law, even his prayer shall be abomination."

(Prov. 28: 9) precludes the possibility of any person being under Divine control, while ignoring or rejecting the righteous claims of that same law. The example of our primeval parents in a lesser matter, and the fate of Nadab and Abihu in failing to put a difference between the holy and profane (See Lev. 10: 1, 2, 10) is recorded for our instruction. "I am the Lord, I change not," is the declaration of Mal. 3: 6.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, I am, sir, but a

LEARNER.

Many people wash their scalps on Saturday night or Sunday to try to keep the dandruff down for the week, but on Monday night the scalp has begun to itch, and Tuesday morning will find a good supply of dandruff when the hair is brushed. There is but one real scientific way of curing dandruff, and that is to kill the germ that causes it and falling hair, and finally baldness. There is only one preparation that will destroy the germ, and that is Newbro's Herpicide. It is an entirely new discovery and the only hair preparation that is based on the new scientific principle. In addition Herpicide is a refreshing hair dressing for regular toilet use. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. MYSTERIOUS MISSION TO DARKEST RUSSIA IS SAFELY COMPLETED

Mr. B. Lastar Is Back to Peterborough After a Hurried Trip To The Land Of The Czar On Which He Carried a Message Too Important To Be Entrusted To The Mails---Had a Terrific Experience On The Atlantic---Was Detained By The Russian Police For Two Days ---Experiences Sound Like a Romance.

After an experience that reads as if taken from the pages of Arthur Marchmont or Max Pemberton, Mr. Bernard Lastar, the Simcoe street merchant, returned to the city Sunday evening after successfully accomplishing a secret mission that led him to make a journey into Darkest Russia,—a mission concerning the nature of which he is very reticent, but which was of the greatest importance. A stormy voyage, during which the passengers were imprisoned below hatches, and during which no less than twenty-seven were injured; a railway accident, in which five coaches were smashed; two days' detention by the Russian police; a hurried trip across Russia, in which he managed to visit a number of his relatives, an interview with Lord Strathcona; these were some of the features of the long journey as related to an Examiner reporter by Mr. Lastar last night. His story is one of most intense interest, involving, as it does, the secret of a mysterious visit, the way for which was smoothed by people high in authority, so that there were no difficulties in his way.

A Mysterious Mission

Mr. Lastar would give no information as to the mission itself. All he would say was that he had to deliver a message from persons in New York City to a person in Russia. The man required for the journey was one with a knowledge of Russia, one in whom those interested could place their confidence, and who would himself bear the expenses of the journey. Mr. Lastar was selected as the most suitable person to undertake the missions and when asked shortly before Christmas, declined to do so, fearing that he would not be safe to do so. Finally, however, on being requested again to go on January 12, he determined to risk the journey, and left two days afterward, sailing on that 18th from New York on the American liner "St. Paul" for Southampton.

Terrible Voyage

The trip across the Atlantic resulted in an experience which Mr. Lastar will never forget and which he ardently hopes he will not have to undergo again. Bad weather was encountered soon after leaving port, and steadily grew worse, until on the third day the passengers were shut up below decks for thirty-two hours, eight hours of which they were locked in their own compartments and had to go without food and water, although this latter privation was not severe as it might have been under other circumstances, as the passengers were too terrified to think of eating. They expected every moment would be their last, so badly was the ship rolling. The movements of the steamer were so violent that in the first and second class cabins no less than twenty-seven were injured, five of them seriously. Some had ribs and limbs broken, and there was terrible suffering until the storm abated. Strange to say, in the third-class cabin, where Mr. Lastar was quartered, and where the passengers were packed in like herrings, no one was hurt.

A Death From Exposure

One third-class passenger, a 19-year-old Hungarian boy, Popovatch Janush, who was on his way home from the United States, died during the voyage, Mr. Lastar claims, from exposure, and neglect on the part of the officers. The steerage passengers, headed by Mr. Lastar, protested to the captain against the boy being buried at sea, demanding an investigation into the causes of his death. The reporter was shown a copy of a formal protest, drawn up by Mr. Lastar and signed by 126 passengers, which was given to the captain of the "St. Paul." Despite the protest, however, the boy's body was consigned to the deep six hours out from Southampton. However, when port was reached the evidence of some of the passengers was taken in connection with the death of Janush, and Mr. Lastar consulted the London Board of Trade about it, to find that it was not under that body's jurisdiction, and he was referred to the American consul, who is looking into the matter and will have an investigation made. The boy's home was in Negrave, in the Province of Beregmege, in Hungary.

Met Lord Strathcona

After landing in Southampton on the morning of January 26, Mr. Lastar went to London in the afternoon. Next day he was presented to Lord Strathcona, the High Commissioner for Canada, who, in the course of a conversation, asked several questions about Peterborough, and about the lift lock, the fame of which had come to his ears, and which he is anxious to see. Lord Strathcona presented Mr. Lastar with the necessary passports to travel in Russia, and after having his papers vised by the Russian consul, he set sail on the 28th for the Hook of Holland, where the night before the steamer Amsterdam had been wrecked, and a boat containing twenty of her passengers had drifted out to sea, to be rescued two days afterwards by a Dutch schooner. Fortunately, however, Mr. Lastar had no such experience, and reached Holland in safety.

His Long Trip

Arriving in Berlin on January 29, at 7 o'clock, he spent the evening in visiting relatives, and left at 11 the same night for Corshan, Prussia, arriving there in the evening of the next day. From there was a journey of fifteen miles by stage to Rassel, Prussia, where Mr. Lastar spent a couple of days in visiting his mother-in-law and brother-in-law. On the 2nd of February he left for Baraunen, near the Russian frontier, and spent the night there, going on to Tilsit the next evening, February 3, to visit a relative. After a three-hour's visit Mr. Lastar's journey was again commenced, and at 1.30 in the morning he was at Stalopen, where he called upon an aunt for a few hours.

Four o'clock the next morning saw him en route for the Russian frontier, and after reaching Edekuhnen on the border that night, he crossed over into Vershblovo, the first town in Courland, the next day, the morning of the fifth, reaching Minsk, the home of his parents, the same night. The urgent need for the speedy completion of his mission permitted of only a short sojourn with them, and at noon on the 6th he was once more under way.

A Railway Accident

Near Gomel, the train on which he was travelling was wrecked, crashing into a freight train, with the result that five cars were badly damaged, although, fortunately, no one on board seriously hurt, Mr. Lastar escaping uninjured. He has brought home with him an interesting souvenir in the shape of a splinter from one of the wrecked cars. The accident resulted in a delay, and Kiev was not reached until the 7th. In Kiev Mr. Lastar had the pleasure of visiting an aunt, whom he had not seen for many years.

The Mission Accomplished

Next day he set out on the last stages of his long journey. Moscow was his destination, but he was met on the train by the party whom he had travelled so far to see, and delivered his message to them. Stopping at Smolensk on the 9th, he spent two days there, and left on the 11th for Dorogobush. On the train some light-fingered individual pilfered his boots and he had to drive twenty-two miles without them to visit his sister. On the 12th he again set out for Moscow, but when he reached Vesima, sixty-five miles away, he was informed by the persons he was to see that it was needless to go on, and, accordingly, he returned to Minsk, and left on his homeward trip on the 13th.

Held by the Police

On arrival at the frontier a new difficulty awaited Mr Lastar. There is a strict rule in Russia that travellers from outside must report to the police on their arrival in the country, and also on leaving. Mr Lastar had reported to the officials in Kiev when he reached that point, but had neglected to observe the formality on taking his departure and accordingly he was detained by the Russian police at the border for two days. During this time the officials exhausted every effort to discover the purpose of Mr Lastar's visit to Russia but could get nothing from him. The local merchant managed to hide from them the fact that he could speak Russian fluently. By telegraphing to Berlin and having his friends there communicate with London, Mr Lastar succeeded in getting his liberty again and as soon as he stepped upon German soil, in flight Russian police told him the captors just what he thought of them and departed, leaving them thoroughly discomfited.

The return trip to London was accomplished without any unusual incidents. Mr. Lastar stopped at Berlin for a few hours for business purposes. He reached London on the 19th, after a rough voyage across the channel. Two days were spent in the metropolis where Mr Lastar had some business to transact and finally on the 21st embarked for Canada on the Empress of Ireland which reached St. John's, N.B., on Saturday last. Splendid weather was the rule all through the voyage and Mr Lastar thoroughly appreciated the trip after the stormy crossing on his previous trans-Atlantic journey.

Conditions are Terrible

Speaking of conditions in Russia, Mr Lastar stated that it was impossible for one who had not seen the country to comprehend just how bad they are. Hard times are talked of in Canada, but they appear millenium-like when compared to what is going on in Russia just now. The poverty existing there is terrible. The principal food of the peasants is black bread which when they are lucky, they dip in the oil in which herrings are packed, or in cucumber sauce. Meat is an unknown commodity among the peasants.

To add to the misery the country is infested with desperate criminals, men who call themselves Socialists or Social Democrats, but who are in reality not connected with a political party. They hesitate at nothing; and every opportunity of robbery is taken advantage of with the result that the banks are guarded by soldiers. Life is not safe on the streets after dark and in Odessa and Kiev the people are ordered to keep in their houses after eight o'clock. While in Russia Mr. Lastar read in the papers of a case where a Russian who had accumulated $1,000 in the United States had returned to his native land to settle down in what would be a comparatively wealthy condition. Unfortunately he fell among thieves, the night of his arrival and was robbed of all his hard earned riches.

Banks are Guarded

Mr Lastar entered a bank in Minsk and found four soldiers with rifles over their shoulder on guard. Every one who came in was watched closely, the frequent robberies making it necessary to adopt such precautions. On several occasions banks have been robbed by a body of men and nobody's property is safe.

The peasants are very ignorant. "No better than animals," Mr Lastar termed them and when their poverty is considered it is no great wonder that they can be lead to commit crimes by those who tempt them with the promise of greater freedom. Of the lower class, the only people who are not in this state of ignorance are the skilled workmen in the towns whose eyes have been opened and who are eager for liberty. When the peasants reach this state it will be time for the powers that be to tremble, but at present they have little to fear from the great mass of the people.

Mr Lastar says that the conditions in Russia now are much worse than on his last visit eleven years ago and he is thoroughly glad to get back to Canada, which he regards as his home. "I would rather die in Canada than live in Russia," he remarked emphatically as the reporter was making his adieu and after the graphic description which he had given of the terrible state of the land of the Czar, the scribe was convinced that he meant the statement.

BLUE-BLOOD HORSEFLESH BY THE TON; WORTH DOLLAR A POUND

A CLYDESDALE ARISTOCRAT

A horse that weighs nearly a ton and is worth about a dollar a pound is not seen every day; yet such is the distinction possessed by a thoroughbred Clydesdale stallion, which changed hands on Monday. Mr. R. D. Dundas, of the "Lowlands Stock Farm," Springville, sold his three-year-old Clydesdale, "Gallant Baron," to Mr. Adam Scharfe, breeder of Cumming's Bridge, Ottawa.

"Gallant Baron" is a magnificent mound of animate horse flesh. He is only three years old, but weighs 1,910 pounds, practically a ton, and as a horse is said to grow till he is five or six years old, it is probable that "Gallant Baron" will tip the scales at much more than the long ton before he reaches maturity. His height is 17 hands, plump, and his girth is nearly eight feet. He is beautifully proportioned, and is a typical Clydesdale in every respect, having size, weight and quality in a degree very seldom combined in one animal. As a proof of his high qualities, Mr. Scharfe, in seeking the best Clydesdale sire obtainable, took a great deal of trouble. It is two months since he saw "Gallant Baron" and talked buy with Mr. Dundas. In the interval he has visited all the principal studs of Ontario, and finished with the Toronto spring stallion show. But he could not find his ideal till he came back to "Gallant Baron," as the best horse he had seen, and closed the bargain for his purchase at a figure, whose exact amount is not stated, but is large enough to buy a good fifty-acre farm.

"Gallant Baron" is regarded by Mr. Dundas as the best Clydesdale he ever imported or ever brought into Canada. He is of the combined strains of "Baron's Pride" and "Prince of Wales," of the very aristocracy of Clydesdale blue blood, and was bred by Armstrong, of Perth, Ayrshire, Scotland, and imported by Mr. Dundas.

PUBLIC SPEAKING AND THE PRESS

The Debate at the Philomathean Society Meeting Last Night—Splendid Programme Presented.

PROGRESS BEING MADE

The regular meeting of the Philomathean Society of the Collegiate Institute was held on Monday, March 2, at 4.15 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. hall. The president, Mr. M. O'Brien, was unable to be present, and the chair was ably filled by Mr. C. Lees. The attendance, though not as large as usual, showed that great interest was being taken in the work of the society.

The first item on the programme was the reading of the minutes of the last meeting by Miss L. Elliott. A difficult piano solo was then excellently rendered by Miss S. Mines. Next on the programme was a reading from 'The Tale of Two Cities" by Miss Hallihan.

The main feature of the programme was the debate,—"Resolved, That public speaking has done more for the world than the press." Mr. Dobbin and Mr. Walton for the affirmative seemed to be right at home on the subject and gave their addresses in a most acceptable manner. Mr. J. Garvin, in a speech more eloquent than many which have been listened to, put up a brilliant defence, and was ably assisted by Mr. Eyres. The judges appointed were Miss E. Pollock, Miss G. Yenney and Mr. H. Bullfour.

After the judges had retired, Mr. Browett gave a very humourous reading. This was followed by a piano solo by Miss Spair. It was a very difficult composition by Beethoven, and was well rendered.

Mr. G. Ingham carefully criticized the programme, to the entire satisfaction of all present. Miss G. Yenney then brought in the judges' decision, which was in favour of the affirmative.

With the singing of "God Save the King" the meeting was dismissed.

The order throughout the meeting was excellent, and the applause vigourous.

MISSIONARY INSTITUTE IN MAY

Was Decided on at Subsequent Meeting At Knox Church Last Night.

After Rev. Mr. Armstrong's lecture at Knox Church last night, a meeting was held to discuss the holding of a missionary institute in the city. The committee chosen to consider the matter was composed of Rev. Mr. Kelly, chairman; Mr. D. Campbell, representing the Presbyterian churches; Mr. E. Best, the Baptist churches, and Mr. Mas. Goodwin, the Methodist churches. Rev. Mr. Armstrong was present, and the opinions of the representatives were unanimous for holding an institute. It was finally decided to make arrangements for holding a missionary institute in about two months, and the first week in May will probably be chosen.

DELEGATES WHO GO TO PITTSBURG

Chosen by Three Churches to go Next Week.

Rev. Mr. Armstrong's visit to the city has been most fruitful in missionary circles. Judging from the work he has done, his time has been well taken up, and his whole-souled zeal for missionary work has left its results already. Yesterday afternoon a committee of business men met to consider the question of holding a laymen's banquet in connection with the laymen's missionary movement. No date has yet been set, but at another meeting it is believed the proposal will be adopted.

After the address at Knox Church last night a conference of representatives from each of the churches met with Rev. Mr. Armstrong to determine whether the local churches would send delegates to the International Missionary Convention, which is to be held in Pittsburg next week. The result of the meeting was most encouraging. Three churches decided to be represented at this great convention, and three others, it is understood, will also be represented. Those chosen were as follows:

Knox Church—Rev. H. J. Keith.
Charlotte Street Church — Misses Pearl Bell and Pearl Sheridan.
St. Luke's—Mr. H C M Potter.
The other churches mentioned are Murray Street Baptist, St. Andrew's, and St. Paul's.

TOOKE BROTHERS, LIMITED MONTREAL

PRESENT THE PRIZES TO THE DESERVING

The Examiner has received a communication from "Consoler to Sorebeads" in connection with prizes awarded at recent carnivals. The communication will not be published because it is written in an undignified manner and is hardly couched in suitable language. The Examiner does not hold itself accountable for the opinions of correspondents. The question simply is—Were the prizes at the carnival awarded to those with costumes the most worthy? Were the costumes that were awarded prizes deserving of them? If they were, then it is immaterial who got them. Some people have a taste and a knack of getting up costumes for carnivals that others have not, and if they are properly awarded it prizes on account of the merit of their costumes, there should be no complaint. It does not matter if the same persons were continuously awarded the prizes if they were deserving.

THE L. P. S. OLD BOYS' AT DINNER

Former Pupils of Lakefield School Hold Re-union on Saturday Night.

The Lakefield Preparatory School held their first annual banquet at McConkey's Saturday evening, a large number of the old boys being on hand and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

The banquet room was handsomely decorated with the school flags and colours. Prof. M. McKenzie of Trinity College was chairman. Rev. A. W. McKenzie, head master of the school, gave a short address, speaking principally of the development of the school, and also outlined a plan for enlarging the school in the near future.

The Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. Geoffrym Dunn gave an address on the success of the re-union, speaking of the first meeting in September last of the Old Boys' Association at Lakefield. He also stated it was the intention to hold an annual banquet.

A sum of money was subscribed by the members to carry on the association for this year. The toasts were proposed by Prof. McKenzie, and Mr. Musgrave furnished the music.—Toronto Star.

The New York Stock Market

(Furnished by J. R. Heintz & Co.)

New York, March 3.—The Market was not particularly active nor did initial prices show any important changes. Over-night developments included the annual report of the Penna. R.R. and subsidiary companies which was construed very favourably in view of the heavy falling off in business during the last two months of the year.

Traders are inclined to operate at first on the bear side, but on the announcement from Washington that the Attorney-General was not intending to bring any suit to enjoin the payment of dividends on the So. Pac. stock held in Un. Pac. interest, a sharp upward movement took place all around, led by Un. Pac. U. National Lead was the leader early among the industrials, but the Steel stocks were strong throughout. Their strength, however, seemed to be due to short covering. At the same time there are some quarters in the Street very bullish on the Steel issues, and are predicting very good earnings for the current quarter.

In the last half hour profit-taking was in evidence, and the market became soft. The report from London of the big failure in the iron trade at Paris also caused weakness.

HAD A STAB-LIKE PAIN THROUGH THE HEART.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS CURED HER AND SAVED HER LIFE.

There is no one, we imagine, who cares about deliberately to do injury to the heart, yet in the excitement and excesses of present-day living, the nervous system is done violence to, and the heart and nerves being so intimately bound up with one another, disorganization of the one means disease and disorder of the other.

When you find your heart the least bit out of rhyme, your nerves unhinged, don't wait until you are prostrated on a bed of sickness. Take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. They'll put you in such condition you'll never know you have a heart, make your brain clear and active, your nerves strong, your blood rich and pure, and your whole being thrill with a new life.

Mrs. John C. Yerxen, Little Rocher, N.B., writes: "I was troubled with a stab-like pain through my heart. I tried many remedies but they seemed to do me more harm than good. I was advised by a friend to try Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and after using two boxes I was completely cured. I cannot praise them enough for the world of good they did me for I believe they saved my life."

Price 50 cents per box or 3 boxes for $1.25, at all dealers or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Replying to a question by Mr. Auld (South Essex), Hon. Dr. Pyne gave figures showing what school text books, High, Public and Separate, had been reduced in price, and the reductions in each case. In High School books the following figures were given: British literature texts, formerly sold at 50 cents retail, arrangement now made for their sale at 20 cents, a reduction of 60 per cent. Editions without annotations have been arranged for 15 and 10 cents each.

French literature texts—Formerly these were sold at 40 cents retail, now arrangements have been made for their sale at 15 cents each, a reduction of 62 1-2 per cent.

German literature texts—These were formerly sold at 50 cents each retail; now arrangements have been made for their sale at 15 cents each, a reduction of 70 per cent. On certain of these there is a discount of 25 per cent. off the retail prices; on the others 20 per cent. off.

Public School Ontario Readers—The former and present retail prices are: Part I., formerly 10 cents, now 5, a reduction of 50 per cent.; Part II., formerly 15 cents, now 7, a reduction of 53 per cent.; Second Reader, formerly 20 cents, now 9, a reduction of 55 per cent.; Third Reader, formerly 30 cent, now 13, a reduction of 56 per cent.; Fourth Reader, formerly 40 cents, now 15, a reduction of 62 1-2 per cent. On single copies of these Readers purchased from the publishers there is a discount of 25 per cent. off the reduced retail price. On quantities of the value of $250 or upwards there is an additional discount of ten per cent.

For Continuation Classes in the Public Schools the reductions in the prices of text books for English, French and German literature have been made the same as for High Schools.

As to Separate School books, which are issued under different agreements, no changes or reductions have yet been made.

"It is expected that the prices of all text books will be reduced, and as soon as possible," concluded the Minister.

Hon. Mr. Hanna laid on the table a return asked for by Mr. Smith (Soo) regarding the work done and payments collected by McCrae, Chandler and McNeil, contractors on the T. & N. O. Railway. Up to Jan. 31, 1908, the total value of work done was $140,373.60, of which the commission retained 10 per cent., or $14,037.36, leaving a balance of $126,336.24. The amount paid to the firm was $100,553.08, while the amount still due is $2,768.25. The commission is taking over the work and cancelling the contract. The commission has security for the due performance of the contract, $10,000 in cash and also the drawback of $14,037.36, and the estimated amount due for the work done in January, being $23,014.91.

Col. Hugh Clark (Centre Bruce) introduced a bill giving county councils the option of proportionate voting on money grants, a system by which the value of a county councillor's vote will be determined according to the assessment of his municipality.

In reply to Mr. Preston (Brant), Hon. Nelson Monteith stated that the Ontario Government was specially represented at the Dublin Exhibition last year by Thomas Elliott, Brantford, who received a salary of $125 per month for the four months and total expenses of $664.99.

Escaped A Horrible Death.

St. Catharines, March 3.—While attempting to operate the slash boards of the gates at the head of the spillway on the hydraulic race, David Leith, an employe of the Kinleith Paper Mills, slipped on an icy board and fell into the water, where his clothing caught on projecting hooks.

This saved his life, as otherwise Leith would have made the descent of the spillway and his life would have been dashed out against the heavy timbers at the bottom.

Gas Affects Congregation.

Detroit, March 3.—Coal gas escaping from a stove in the basement overcame nearly all of the fifty members of a small Baptist Church in the west end of the city Sunday morning. The effect was felt by the entire congregation almost simultaneously. The minister stopped in his sermon, and many of the women and children had to be assisted from the building, and later were confined to their beds.

Three Burned to Death.

Port Washington, L. I., March 3.—Three men were burned to death and fifteen others seriously injured in a fire which destroyed three workmen's shacks on the north side of Manhasset Bay. All the men were Italian laborers, employed in Goodwin Brothers sand bank. They lived in the three buildings, which were burned.

Italians Leave Montreal.

Montreal, March 3.—There is an Italian exodus now going on from this city. Owing to the campaign against them following the murders of last week every Italian who shows himself in the street is being searched for weapons, and this has made them afraid.

Policeman Sent to Prison.

New York, March 3.—George Dawkins, a Brooklyn policeman, yesterday was sentenced to serve eight years in prison. He had been convicted of burglary and grand larceny when a member of the police force.

MYRTLE WRECK CASE.

Whitby, March 3.—The third criminal trial here within a year since the accident at Myrtle, when two C.P.R. trainmen were killed, resulted last night in the jury returning a verdict of not guilty in favor of Geo. H. Wilkinson, train despatcher at Toronto, who sent the fatal order.

The case occupied the whole day at the Spring Assizes before Chief Justice Sir William Mulock.

The crown business was in charge of Mr. Gamble, K.C. The prisoner was defended by T. C. Robinette, K.C.

Wilkinson was charged with the offence of neglect, resulting in grievious bodily harm. Evidence of three despatchers agreed that it was not compulsory under the rules of the road to notify the operator at the meeting-place of a train crossing, which, in this instance, resulted in a head-on collision and double tragedy.

Owing to Sunday night's storm, the northern division of the Grand Trunk is not yet open, and in consequence the jury panel present was only just enough to complete a jury to try this case.

Cincinnati, Ohio, March 3.—Announcement was made here yesterday by Rev. Frederick J. Stanley of New York, that preparations are on to launch a campaign for a national Sunday law to be introduced into Congress, framed along the lines of the Canadian law, which does not even allow freight trains to move a wheel on Sunday.

The first step will be taken at an executive committee conference to be held in Toronto, Canada, in May, to be attended by delegates from the Canadian Lord's Day Alliance, the American Sabbath Union, the Sabbath department of the W.C.T.U., and representatives of seven state Sabbath closing alliances not yet federated with the American national organization.

Controversy On Playing Of Peoples' Shield Games

Calgary Fights For Her Claims Against The Coast--- Committee In Duty Bound To Have Games Played There.

The Calgary News contains the following on the proposal to have the People"s Shield Games in Calgary instead of the Coast—:

The pill that the Vancouver football followers had to swallow in the announcement that the Peoples Shield will be played for in Calgary next season, is just beginning to work on their organs. It has, judging from the feeble protests they are trying to console themselves with, left a very unpleasant taste in their mouths. The Vancouver World, under a scare head line which reads "Will push Vancouver's claim to series for People's Shield," reproduces the letter forwarded by Mr. Mr. Madge of the People to Dr. Inge the introduction to which reads:

"The following letter, which has been received from Dr. Inge of Calgary from W T Madge of the People's Shield, in reply to their agitation that the People's Shield should be played in Calgary will make the local soccer executive get busy in forming a reply that will alter what appears to be a veering around towards the inland city's views."

Following the letter the World remarks, after indulging in a heavy fish diet to brighten its intellect, that:

"The argument which Mr. Madge uses regarding their desire to foster football throughout the Dominin and that they thought that would be best attained by changing the venue as often as possible, is capable of expansion and elaboration and the reply of British Columbia should make it clear that the competition will now where do more good this year than in this province."

The Vancouver Province is also nursing a sore head and displayed in a dispiritive headline says, "Calgary has little chance of handing the People's Shield games,' because the "Precedent is established" as the "Toronto holders had to defend the shield away from home."

What the Province Says

The article itself continues:

"The officers of the Vancouver District Association Football League are not losing any sleep over the report from Calgary to the effect that the People's Shield competition this year will be played during the Dominion Exhibition at the Alberta city. Although the Calgary soccer men would have the rest of the Dominion think that the tournament will be transferred from here, a perusal of the letter from the proprietors of the People's Paper to the Calgary promoters, shows that only faint encouragement is given the Calgary men."

Dear, oh dear! That feels better.

The Province still breathing hard says:

"Mr. Madge of the People has put the application of Calgary before the trustees of the trophy. These are Mr. Chipman of the Hudson's Bay Company; Mr. Thompson of the New York Life office, and Mr. Parker the Canadian representative of the paper. The trustees have already decided on the venue for this year's competition. Will Ellis, secretary of the Vancouver League, having a letter in his possession with a date mark three months old, nominating Vancouver as the place for the games, and appointing a committee. Acting on this letter the committee has engaged Recreation Park for four days, April 18, 21, 23 and 25, and has made all preliminary arrangements for the tournament. Under the circumstances there is scarcely a chance that the trustees of the trophy will order the games for Calgary. They have already made a decision in the case, and it is hardly probable that they would go back on it."

Under the above circumstances it would be a shame to take the money. But really this is none of our funeral. "People's Shield, or no People's Shield, however, there will be a long football tournament here on the dates mentioned, according to Com Jones, president of the league, but he has not the slightest doubt but that the Shield will be the trophy the teams will strive for.

Regarding Calgary's strongest argument for the tournament, that it holds the trophy and should defend it, it is pointed out that when the trophy was first hung up it was to be competed on successive years in Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Halifax, and other points that the trustees should decide, the idea being to encourage soccer all over the Dominion. The Toronto Thistles won it the first year when the Calgary Caledonians captured it. Now, the Calgary men will be called upon to defend the trophy on the coast just as the Toronto men had to go away from home. The precedent has been established, and under the circumstances the Calgary Caledonians have no kick coming."

This last is convincing but it is pretty well carried with the fact that the Dominion fair is being held here next year, which seems to have escaped the notice of the Province man entirely.

Y.M.C.A. To Go Into Outdoor Sports On A Large Scale

Will Have Baseball, Football, Lacrosse and Track Teams This Year—Harriers Will Organize In a Couple of Weeks—Meeting of Members for Friday Night.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM TAKEN

The Y. M. C. A. during the coming summer intends to pay particular attention to the athletic department, a movement that should be thoroughly appreciated by the members. It is the intention to organize an association football team, a baseball team, and a lacrosse team in connection with the "Y," as well as the Harriers Club, so successfully inaugurated last year.

A meeting of all the members is called for Friday night next, when plans for the season will be discussed, and it is important that there should be a large attendance of members, as it is desired to get the different teams organized as soon as possible. Those in charge of the movement believe that a successful city lacrosse league and a city basketball league could be formed, and intend to put teams in both organizations if they are established.

A number of years ago the Y.M.C.A. had a team in the city league and a great impetus was given to the game, about fifty men playing lacrosse under their auspices during the season. The "Y." had no less than three teams that year. In association football, too, they were very successful, winning the championship of the Midland League the year of its inception.

It is felt that good teams can be put on the field in these different branches of sport, and great enthusiasm is being shown among the members.

The Harriers Club will hold its annual meeting in a couple of weeks, and will make preparations for an active season.

HERE'S TO RICHARDSON AND CO., NEW SENIOR O. H. A. CHAMPIONS

Despite the prediction of the Toronto sporting writers the 15th Regiment team of Kingston has captured the Senior O. H. A. championship, defeating Stratford on the latter's ice last night by 9 goals to 7, thus winning the round by 13—9. Here's to the new champions. They have earned the title which they have so decisively won, and their victory is a popular one down this way. It would not do the game any good in the east to have Stratford for the second time capture both junior and senior championships, and Kingston's win will have a decidedly beneficial effect. The soldiers were runners up last year and it is pleasing that their determined efforts this year should be greeted with success. It was time that a championship came east again. Stratford has had honours enough for a year at least, and most Peterborough people will be glad to know that the Robertson Cup will summer in the Limestone City.

ROUGH RIDERS GAVE LAKEFIELD BAD SCARE ON THEIR OWN ICE

The Rough Riders gave the Lakefield City League team the hardest battle they had on their own ice at Lakefield last night. The Cementville seven won by a score of 9—6, but it was only after the hardest kind of a battle, in which the Riders with any luck should have won. At half time each team had scored one goal and the Rough Riders had more than their share of the play. The early stages of the second half saw the Peterborough team ahead by one goal, but Lakefield came back strong, scoring five goals in five minutes. With the score 7—6 in favour of Lakefield there was a dispute over the time and it was decided to play five minutes longer, with the result that Lakefield found the net twice more.

The Rough Riders' defence was disorganized owing to the fact that Cahill was ill and had to play goal, while Len Giroux, the regular goal keeper was moved out to point. Despite the fast that they were playing out of their regular places the two put up an excellent game, as did the rest of the team. The forwards played excellent combination and shot well.

Quinn and Crawford were Lakefield's stars. The winners adopted individual efforts and at this style of play Quinn was particularly prominent.

"Mac" Quigley, of Lakefield, refereed the game satisfactorily and the teams were as follows:

ANOTHER GREAT PRESS GAME BILLED FOR TO-MORROW NIGHT

A great deal of interest is being taken in to-morrow night's game at Brock street rink between the Lindsay Post hockey team and the seven representing the Examiner and indications point to a big crowd being on hand for the classy event. Many people who did not see the Examiner team perform against the Review have been lamenting the fact ever since. They will now have an opportunity of seeing the Examiner specials perform against the Lindsay newspaper stars, who include Stats Reilly, "Rats" Barry and other well known Lindsay men. The game will be called sharp at 8 o'clock and any one who wants to see a hard fought and amusing game, cannot afford to miss the exhibition. The team displayed by the grand Examiner team against the Review augurs well for a victory over the Sergeites, but the team are taking no chances. Manager MacRae of the Review team has kindly written an article containing a few of his hockey experiences, for our benefit and we assure Mr MacRae that his contribution is appreciated by the Examiner, although his advice is doubtful. Hard time prices will prevail and the admission fee which includes an hour's skating at the conclusion of the game, will be but 10 cents. It will be the game of the season and a big crowd will be on hand for the event.

CONFLICTING RUMOURS ABOUT KANSAS CITY WALK

It has been amusing as well as surprising to hear during the last week the various rumours floating around concerning David Hartley and his walk in Kansas City. In fact it is scarcely conceivable that more unfounded stories could be told about any one person in such a short space of time.

The newspaper offices were perhaps bombarded the most with inquiries it such and such a story were not true. The newspapers of course are glad to give any information requested if it lies in their power to do so, but it is safe to say that during the past week they never answered more questions in the negative.

If all the reports were true "Davey" Hartley would scarcely recognize himself to-day. He was certainly the most talked of man during the week but there were more about whom more stories could have been circulated.

There was not a day passed but some parties had Hartley first, second or third in the walk. Questions such as, "Is that true that Hartley is 7 miles ahead?" or "Is it right that two men in front of Hartley dropped out and put him third?" were frequently asked over the telephone.

Danger in Speed

One youth called at the Examiner office on Saturday and inquired that if Hartley passed Lloyd, would he be shot?

These and scores of others were going the rounds on Friday and Saturday, but possibly the most amusing mistake was made with reference to the home-coming of the pedestrian. One man, a resident of the city, heard some bystanders talking about Hartley being in fifth place when he immediately offered to bet a quarter that Hartley was in Peterborough, and just then outside the door. Well, he has his quarter—ask Fred Lund if he didn't. He knew Hartley well, having worked with him but he was mistaken that time and lost the money.

"Don't Neglect a Cough or Cold."

It can have but one result. It leaves the throat or lungs, or both, affected. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the medicine you need. It is without an equal as a remedy for Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Sore Throat, Pain in the Chest, Asthma, Whooping Cough, Quinsy and all affections of the Throat and Lungs.

A single dose of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will stop the cough, soothe the throat, and if the cough or cold has become settled on the lungs, the healing properties of the Norway Pine Tree will proclaim its great virtue by promptly eradicating the bad effects, and a persistent use of the remedy cannot fail to bring about a complete cure.

Do not be humbugged into buying so-called Norway Pine Syrups, but be sure and insist on having Dr. Wood's. It is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark, and price 25 cents.

CHRONIC BRONCHITIS

Mr. Wm. O'Hara, Souris, Man., writes: "Having suffered for a long time with a severe attack of Chronic Bronchitis, which I could not get cured, I eventually tried your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup and I am glad to state it has given me a complete cure."

LADIES' HOCKEY TEAM FOR LINDSAY

Strong Line-up Will Travel to the Scugog Town To-night.

The Peterborough young ladies hockey team will play a team of Lindsay ladies to-night in Lindsay, leaving on the 5.38 G.T.R. train. The girls are playing good hockey just now and are confident of bringing home the large end of the score. The team will line up as follows:

Goal—Miss Olive Kyle.
Point—Miss Linda Hall.
Cover point—Miss Ola Cavanah.
Rover—Miss Lulu Scott.
Centre—Miss Nellie Graham.
Right wing—Miss Muriel Burritt.

Mr and Mrs. F. L. Roy will chaperone the party.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD WON GAME

Defeated Young Men of Murray Street Church Last Night by 9-1.

St Andrew's Young Men's Guild Guild hockey team was too much for the young men of the Murray street Baptist church last night in a hockey game played at Brock street rink. The Presbyterians won in an easy manner by 9 goals to 1, leading at half time by 4—1. St. Andrew's scored first and then the Baptists tied the score. From then until the end of the game, however, they were outplayed at all stages. F. D. Craig refereed and the winners lined up as follows:—

Goal—Campbell.
Point—MacDonald.
Cover—Clarke.
Rover—Reid.
Centre—Curry.

CHIEFTAINS CAN'T BE BEATEN

Independents Went Down Before Manager Thrasbeck's Cracks Last Night

Manager Jack Thrasbeck's crack little team the Chieftains, added another their lengthy list of victories last night when they took into camp the Independents by a score of 7 goals to 2. The game was a good exhibition and although the combination and the shooting of the Chieftains were too much for their opponents, the latter put up a hard fight for the honours. The score at half time was 2—0 in favour of the winners who were clever all the way. Leo Dercoher was a very satisfactory referee and the teams lined up as follows—:

Some few days ago Mr. Gladstone L. Main, of the Bank of Montreal, here, received notice of his removal to the bank's head branch in Toronto. He will take up his work there in a few days, after he has completed a few short visits he wishes to make before he goes to that city. Mr. Main's removal is much regretted by his many friends. He was well known about town, as this is his second stay here; in fact, this was one of the first branches he entered when he joined the bank. He was also situated for a number of years at Fenelon Falls, where he was a general favourite. There is no doubt of Mr. Main's success in the main office work.—Lindsay Post.

INTERESTING DISPLAY OF CURIOS

Were Viewed by Large Number of People At Knox Church Last Night.

In connection with the missionary rally held at Knox Church last night one of the features was a very interesting exhibition of curios gathered from missionary fields in Japan, China, India, Africa, and the Canadian Northwest. It is impossible to adequately describe the interesting articles which were displayed in cases or hung on the walls of the church. Of interest to ladies was beautiful Japanese silk work, needle work from from Kashmir, India. Chinese fancy fans, hand-made lace from Ceylon, and Indian rugs, including a large one that was presented to Mrs. Keith while in India. Miniature Japanese and Chinese and Indian idols, handhammered brass and silverware from India, and a great many other articles of interest which cannot be mentioned here were among the collection.

VAGRANT GETS THREE MONTHS

Has Just Completed a Term—Was the Cook at the Jail.

"Harry Waters, you are charged with being found drunk in a public place, are you guilty or not guilty?"

"I am guilty, your Honour."

"Well, $2.00," was His Worship's fine.

Waters leaned over the box smiling and blurted out that he didn't have any money.

"He has just completed a term of six months in jail" said the Chief.

"I want two months now, your Worship," said Waters.

"A good horse whipping once a week would do you good," said His Worship.

Waters looked very uncomfortable but brightened up when the Chief informed His Worship that he was cook at the jail.

"Well, I will change the charge to vagrancy and give you three months."

Waters had a big scar over his eye when he appeared in court this morning. It was probably caused by a fall.

BODY OF MISS HURLEY LAID TO REST

Funeral Services Held This Morning— An Impressive Ceremony.

The funeral of Miss Kitty Hurley took place this morning. The mass was celebrated at St. Peter's Cathedral by the deceased young lady's brother, Rev. A. E Hurley, of St. Michael's College, Toronto. Rev. N. Roche, president of St. Michael's College, acted as deacon, and Rev. P. Galvin as sub-deacon, with the Rev. Dr. O'Brien as the master of ceremonies. The Rev. Father McColl, rector of St. Peter's, and Rev. P. J. Kelly assisted in the sanctuary. In token of regard for their late organist, there was a full choir to render the requiem, which they did most feelingly. Mr. Jas. Weir sang "Face to Face" as the funeral procession entered the cathedral, and Mrs. Geo. Ball, "Angels, Ever Bright and Fair," at the departure. During the offertory the "De Profundis" was rendered by Miss Lavina Hallihan and Miss Annie Simons. The pall-bearers were Dr. McNulty, Dr. Gallivin, Messrs. Geo. Ball, Myles Henry, Jas McNeil and M. J. O'Leary (Toronto). The large number of floral offerings, spiritual bouquets, letters and telegrams of regret, as also the number of friends that thronged house and cathedral, testified to the high esteem in which the gentle Miss Kitty was held during life and in her death.

WEDDING BELLS.

LATIMER-WELLING

A romance, begun in Old London, was happily consummated yesterday afternoon at All Saint's rectory, when Miss Blanche Welling, daughter of Henry Welling, London, Eng., became the wife of Mr. Albert Latimer, son of William Latimer, also of London. The ceremony was performed at three o'clock in the presence of a few friends by the Rev. Wm. Major.

The groom has been in Peterborough for the past two or more years, but his bride only arrived in the city a few days ago from England. Mr. and Mrs. Latimer will reside on Stewart street.

PETERBORO MAN WHO HAS MADE GOOD

Mr. George Walton, Born Here Now Member of Parliament for Constituency of Emmerson.

SKETCH OF HIS LIFE GIVEN

The Winnipeg Free Press, in a recent issue on "Sidelights on Men Who Serving First Terms as Manitoba Law-Makers," has the following reference to Mr. George Walton, formerly of this city:

George Walton, the Liberal representative of Emmerson, in the Legislature, was born in Peterborough, Ont., in 1853, and in 1879 he came west to what was then the flourishing town of Emerson, where he was engaged in mercantile business for twenty years until the boom broke, when he moved to Winnipeg. During his residence in Winnipeg he was much interested in the work of the agricultural societies and in all the sports of the day, and in the early days was one of the councillors of the town. Nine years ago Mr. Walton contested the federal seat of Provencher against A. A. C. LaRivière, but was defeated. During the last nine years in Winnipeg Mr. Walton has been engaged in the real estate and auctioneering business, and has also travelled for several years as representative of the Fairchild Company. In 1903 the Liberals of Emerson had sufficient confidence to ask him to carry the Liberal banner against Dr. McFadden, and again last March, when he was successful.

In the House, one of the notable things in connection with the member for Emerson is the fact that he always listens to all speeches, which is more than can be said for most of the members. He is a member of the Committee on Agriculture and Immigration and Printing, and has taken a great interest in all committee work, especially in the public accounts, where he probed so deeply that the Government objected to his close scrutiny of its affairs. As a speaker Mr. Walton is one of the ablest in the House, having a clear voice and a convincing manner. In the debate on the Dauphin lists, his familiarity with the statutes furnished arguments which members of the Government were not expecting. He has also spoken on the beef question, on the budget, the address, and on the public accounts report. Mr. Walton also took a strong hand in favour of amending the charter of the grain exchange in the interests of the farmers of the Province. He, however, wanted the Government to go still further and take control of the internal elevators of the Province in order that the farmers might get full benefit of the remedial legislation. The member for Emerson is a strong factor in building up an able opposition.

Special from J. R. Heintz & Co.

Niagara Falls, March 4. — Within sight of several men powerless to help him, if he would have accepted assistance, Grover C. Hoehn, until recently a freight conductor on the New York Central, who lived at 106 Carolina street, Buffalo, was swept to his death over Luna Falls late yesterday. Hoehn was seen to leap over the railing of the Luna Island bridge after removing his hat and coat and laying his watch with them. He was caught in the swirling waters and carried away. As he neared the crest of the cataract he shouted "Good-bye." Letters to his mother and a railway friend, found in his coat pocket, indicated that the man was suffering a severe mental strain.

AN ELECTRIC DISPLAY ON CAR

Woman Became Frightened at the Work Of Circuit-Breaker.

There was a narrow escape from serious injury in an upset at the corner of Park and Charlotte streets about 5 o'clock yesterday evening. One car was stopped at the switch, when a driver with a broncho turned the corner. The cutter was upset and the occupants thrown out. A lady getting on the car narrowly escaped being run over. The horse was brought to a standstill by the quick work of the conductor, who jumped from the step and grabbed one of the reins.

Wife Stabs Her Husband In The Head With Butcher Knife; Suffers From Loss Of Blood

Almost a Fatal Accident in Otonabee — Exact Particulars Not Known.

THE WOUND BLED FREELY

A stabbing accident the exact nature of which is somewhat obscure, occurred in Otonabee on Monday morning and as a result of which Mrs James Cooney, of Drummond Station, is said to have narrowly escaped death. The affair happened on Monday about 7 o'clock in the morning at Mr. Cooney's residence and was caused by being struck with a butcher-knife in the side of the head.

The blood flowed freely from the wound and before Dr. Harrison, of Keene arrived, he is said to have almost passed away from loss of the life giving fluid.

Mr. Cooney was attended by a neighbour until the physician arrived and stopped the further flow.

The exact cause of the accident is unknown but it is thought that the knife accidently slipped during a friendly conjugal scuffle.

Watch Your Change; It May Have Come From Lindsay

Local Citizen Taken In By Bogus Paper Yesterday—He Took In a Counterfeit Five.

MAY BE YOUR TURN NEXT

Lindsay money is beginning to show up again in Peterborough. A local citizen discovered a five dollar counterfeit Bank of Montreal note yesterday among his change and he is on the rampage to find the perpetrator of the deed. He showed the piece of worthless paper to the Examiner last night and it looks as if it had been through the Hundred Years' War as well as several investigations.

The bill was marked in a dozen places with red ink and even at one time the word "counterfeit" had been stamped across the face. This had been blotted out by the use of chemicals so that it is now scarcely discernable. The paper used is of a poor quality and the absence of the fine tractings is noticeable.

Where the bogus paper came from is not known by the present owner, but there is no doubt that originally it hailed from Lindsay, the home of the counterfeit stuff.

To the Board of Education—

Gentlemen—Ald. George A. Gillespie has given, through St. Andrew's Church, a gift to Queen's University, Kingston, which gives him the right to nominate a student for a four years' course in Arts at that university.

Alderman Gillespie has transferred the right to me, and with his consent it is offered as a scholarship to the Peterborough Collegiate Institute as an award for general proficiency.

The scholarship entitles the winner to the course leading to the Arts degrees without fees.

J. G. POTTER.

Mr. Dumble moved, seconded by Mr. Hill, that the scholarship be received and the thanks of the Board be expressed to Mr. Gillespie and Rev. Mr. Potter.

OLD RESIDENT OF PETERBORO' COUNTY HAS PASSED AWAY

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Ont., March 4.—Mr. Jno Garnesu, one of the oldest residents of Peterborough County, died at his home at Trent Bridge, three miles south of here on Saturday last. The deceased who was 93 years old, was up to a year ago, hale and hearty as others are at 60. He was a highly respected gentleman and was widely known in this as well as other townships of the county, having lived in this part of the country nearly all his life. When he reached these parts, there was neither roads nor railways, and when the deer and wolf roamed the forest. During the last ten years he has resided at Trent Bridge, where his daughter, Mrs Cook resides, and has spent nearly all his time at fishing, hunting, trapping and like pursuits. The sympathy of the community is extended to his family.

HAVELOCK PEOPLE AWAIT ACTION OF LICENSE HOLDERS

Examiner Special.

Havelock, Ont., March 4.—The citizens of town, and especially the upholders of the high license bylaw, are anxiously awaiting to see what the liquor party will do.

It was reported that they would attempt to quash the bylaw on the ground that the returning officers did not use standard time but this seems to have gone through.

It was said that they would all close up on May 1st, but this is very unlikely as many think it would pay them to pay the high license $750. Everyone is anxiously waiting to see if they take out licenses. Application for license must be made before April 1st, so they have just one more month in which to apply for them.

They will likely do one of two things, if they don't quash the bylaw. They will either close their houses altogether on May 1st, or they will raise the price of sealed whiskey to 15c per glass.

SEVENTY-FIVE CHILDREN WERE BURNED

Special from J. R. Heintz & Co.

Cleveland, O., March 4.—A disastrous fire is raging here in the Lakeview school at Collingwood, a suburb of Cleveland. Early reports indicate that a number of school children have been injured, and a panic resulted. One hundred children were trapped by the fire, and reports from one some say there are scores of dead and injured. The janitor's three children and another named Bravo are known to be dead.

Later it is learned that it is estimated that 75 of the children lost their lives. Thirty bodies have thus far been recovered. Only the walls of the building are left standing.

A VERY SMALL MARKET TO-DAY

Farmers Were Scarce and Buyers Were Fewer.

There was a disappointingly small market this morning. Inside there was practically no butter nor eggs, and on the outside a few farmers brought in hay, which sold at $18 a ton. There was a small showing of beef and pork, but otherwise the market was extremely dull.

SPLENDID PICTURES AT THE CRYSTAL

The management of the "Crystal" deserve great credit for the splendid assortment of films that they have been showing since they opened at the beginning of last fall. The pictures are both of an educational and amusing nature, and have drawn large audiences to each performance. The picture this week deserves great ecommendation and was brought here at a big expense by the management. The picture portrays a thrilling story of western life and shows an exciting race between a railway train an dan automobile. Besides this picture there are several others of interest.

PROMISES AND PROMISES.

Mr. Whitney, speaking at the banquet given in his honour in Toronto, made the claim that he and his Cabinet had kept all the promises made or implied when they were in Opposition, and his followers endorse his rather bombastic vaunt. Among the promises that have failed to be implemented may be mentioned the promise of lessened expenditure. Has this promise been fulfilled? By no means. The Whitney Government from the first plunged into reckless expenditure and only the sources of revenue inaugurated by a Liberal Government and opposed by the Conservative Opposition, and the increased Dominion subsidy have saved the province from financial disaster.

Reduction of the number of Cabinet Ministers was a reform the Conservatives were to introduce when they came into power. But no attention has been paid to it.

The taxes on financial corporations were to be abolished. Has this been done? No! But the Whitney Government claims credit for a surplus of $600,000 contributed to by the very source of taxation whose enactment they opposed and which they promised to abolish.

The Succession Duties, good for an average of almost a million a year, were to be reduced one-half in the interests of the rich, whose estates only are effected, but they stand as a Liberal Government fixed them.

Two cents a mile passenger rate was to be applied to the railways of New Ontario. This is another broken promise.

The Pettypiece plan of railway taxation was to be adopted. It has not been adopted.

All prison made goods were to be labelled as the product of convict labour. Nobody has even seen such a label.

This is an incomplete list of the promises made by Mr. Whitney and forgotten and it may be added that the Whitney Government has stolen the policy of the Liberal Government in the matter of abolition of prison labour contracts, in the giving of everything in the land to the settler and in the matter of law reform, which latter is, however, still in the nebular state. Giving the Whitney Government credit for all it has done, implies the fairness of reminding them of what they promised to do and have not done, especially in view of the very large claims made by Mr. Whitney and in his behalf, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said in Toronto, in 1896 that if the Liberals were returned to power, the people would not need long rows of statistics to prove their prosperity—they would have the evidence in their pockets. If the Whitney Government had kept its promises there would be no need of trumpetting—the evidence could be found upon the statute books of the province.

THE FEDERAL LIFE.

It must be gratifying to the directors and policyholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company, of Hamilton, to know that another year of marked progress in every direction has been reported. The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the company, which was held at the head office a short time ago, appears in to-day's Examiner. The report is a remarkably good one, especially in view of the unsettled state of affairs in the financial and commercial world during 1907. It demonstrates that the conservative methods which have characterized the management of the company from the start have served it well in time of stress, when the insuring public has been disposed to make close inspection of all propositions and the bonafides of the companies presenting them.

The new insurance of the year totaled $3,302,746.57, there being 132 applications rejected out of 2,454 offering. The assets were increased in the year by $289,770, making the grand total of $3,009,472, which is exclusive of a guarantee capital of $870,000. The security for policyholders at the end of the year was $3,870,472, while liability for reserves and outstanding claims totaled $2,786,356, which leaves a surplus of $1,083,916. The total assurance now carried by the company is $18,956,117, for the protection of which there is a considerable surplus as well as the full reserve required by law.

It is safe to say that no company exercises more jealous care over the interests of its policyholders than does the Federal Life, and David Dexter, the president and managing director, along with the board of directors, are entitled to very much credit for the really fine showing they have been able to make for the year.

The business of the Federal Life in this district is looked after by Mr. Geo. G. Pope, whose offices are situate at No. 406 George street. During the year the new business written by Mr. Pope has been most gratifying.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The deadlock in the House of Commons cost the country $171,000. And again is demonstrated, remarks the Toronto Star, the fact that Lieutenant George E. Foster's idea of good captainship is a great deal of sound and fury signifying nothing but running into a lot of money.

The Mail announces, says the Globe, that the Opposition scored a tremendous victory. Wellington prayed that either night or Blucher would come to his relief at Waterloo. Similarly the Opposition prayed for the arrival of Sunday—and it came. This was the victory. The Mail intimates that the Opposition will be satisfied now, although there will be no essential difference in the situation when the estimates of the Department of Marine come up, from what it was when they were dropped at midnight on Saturday. There never was any refusal of documents or information of any kind. A policy that has to depend on mendacity for its lease of life is in a poor way.

Our Conservative friends in Parliament made a great fuss over the violation of the principle of non-interference of Government officials in political contests. Their complaint was founded upon the alleged fact of two Intercolonial Railway employees taking part in the New Brunswick election. If the Conservatives are so anxious in regard to other matters, they should be consistent and avoid the evil practices, for which they condemn their opponents. It is well known that an Ontario Government official had an active part in the preliminary arrangement for the West Peterborough nominations. Now it happens that an Ontario Government official went a step farther and was a delegate to the late convention at Norwood. This gentleman is an East Riding license official, and came to, and sat in, the convention, and voted as a delegate from Belmont. It's a nice thing to be consistent.

ONTARIO'S FINANCES.

Whether eager for the latest information regarding the finances of the Province or diverted by the mental gymnastics of unravelling mathematical puzzles, the members of the Legislature wrestled with the latest issue of the public accounts. The principle of dividing to conquer has long been recognized, but the peculiar dividing of many items does not seem to have helped the Treasurer to conquer the expenditure. It has the effect of enabling the favoured recipients to keep out of the limelight. Various items scattered through the portly volume do not loom as large as when a man's receipts for various services are grouped together, as in the report of the Auditor-General at Ottawa. It is certainly desirable that the reports of the Provincial finances be made more explicit. Publicity is the best corrective when there is a tendency toward the growth of abuses. The fact that looms largest in the year's record is the increase of the aggregate expenditure by almost a million dollars over the high record of the previous year. The total for the year, independent of the Temiskaming Railway, was $7,714,245, as compared with $6,720,179 for 1906, and $5,396,016 for 1905. This is a rate of increase that is certainly serious, if not reckless, and it shows the need of more careful supervision. When a Government fail or cease to appreciate that they are trustees for the people, owing a continuous duty of care and economy, the way is open for financial disaster. On account of the division of some items and the changes made in methods of accounting it is difficult to locate the chief lines of increase, but there seems to be a general tendency toward unhealthy enlargement.

The total revenue for the year was $8,820,419. Of this the Dominion Government collected for us and from us as subsidies $1,731,029, with an interest balance of $188,721. The revenue from lands, forests, and mines, which is an encroachment on capital, was $3,068,494. This leaves a revenue collected from various forms of taxation and earned by various services aggregating $3,320,419. This is augumented by $235,090 earnings by the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, and the same amount augments the expenditure as interest and sinking fund on $5,840,004 Ontario Government inscribed stock. It is interesting to note that the chief items of revenue are $672,241 from the companies tax and $921,692 from the succession duty, an aggregate of $1,493,933 from two sources condemned by the Government while in Opposition. There was a balance of $3,497,230 from the previous year. The total expenditure of $7,714,245 was increased by an advance of $2,929,929 to the Temiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, making a total of $10,143,574, and reducing the cash balance on deposit to $1,674,084.

A feature which is comparatively new is the bond and debenture debt of the Province. There is an issue of $5,840,004 inscribed stock and $3,000,000 bonds sold for the construction of the T. & N. O. Railway. Against this aggregate of $8,840,004 the province owns the railway and its equipment, claimed to represent and expenditure of $2,837,779 in excess of the two loans. The railway certificates and annuities outstanding represent a present debt of $3,869,285. The University certificates represent a debt of $530,000. These, with some small amounts, including the common school fund, make a total indebtedness of $14,996,566. The Province also has as indirect liabilities the "200" guarantee of $1,000,000, Niagara Falls Park bonds of $600,000, and a guarantee of Canadian Northern Ontario Railway debenture stock to the extent of $5,360,000. To meet the debt and climbing expenditure of the Province there is a great fund of natural wealth and an unexcelled productive activity. These should relieve all uneasiness as to our financial condition, but should not be made an excuse for a course of extravagance that would bring the richest Province to a severe accounting.—Globe.

MANY CASES HERE OF RHEUMATISM

A SIMPLE HOME REMEDY

Thousands of men and women who have felt the sting and torture of this dread disease, which is no respecter of age, persons, sex, colour or rank, will be interested to know that while for many years rheumatism was considered an incurable disease, now it is one of the easiest afflictions of the human body to conquer. Medical science has proven it not a distinct disease in itself, but a symptom caused by inactive kidneys. Rheumatism is uric acid in the blood and other waste products of the system, which should be filtered and strained out in the form of urine. The function of the kidneys is to sift these poisons and acids out and keep the blood clean and pure. The kidneys, however, are of sponge-like substance, the holes or pores of which will sometimes, either from overwork, cold or exposure, become clogged and inactive, and failing in their function of eliminating these poisons from the blood, they remain in the veins, decompose, and settling about the joints and muscles, cause the untold suffering and pain of rheumatism and backache, often producing complications of bladder and urinary disease, weakness, etc.

The following simple prescription is said to relieve the worst cases of rheumatism because of its direct action upon the blood and kidneys, relieving, too, the most severe forms of bladder and urinaryt roubles:—Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Mix by shaking well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and before bedtime. The ingredients can be had from any good prescription pharmacy, and are absolutely harmless and safe to use at any time.—15.

THE FEDERAL LIFE Assurance Co. OF CANADA.

Twenty-Sixth Annual Statement

DIRECTORS' REPORT.

The twenty-sixth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Federal Life Assurance Company of Canada was held at the Company's Home Office in Hamilton, Tuesday, February 18th, 1908, at 2 p.m., Mr. David Dexter in the chair; Mr. W. H. Davis acting Secretary.

The Annual Report, as follows, was read and adopted, on motion of Mr Dexter, seconded by Lieut.-Col. Kerris:—

Your Directors have the honour to present the Report and Financial Statement of the Company for the year which closed on the 31st December, 1907, duly vouched for by the Auditors.

The new business of the year consisted of two thousand four hundred and fifty-four applications for insurance, aggregating $3,534,100.57, of which two thousand, three hundred and twenty-two applications for $3,302,746.57 were accepted.

As in previous years, the income of the Company shows a gratifying increase, and the assets of the Company have been increased by $299,770.12, and have now reached $3,000,472.74, exclusive of guarantee capital.

The security for Policyholders, including guarantee capital, amounted at the close of the year to $3,870,472.74, and the liabilities for reserves and all outstanding claims, $2,786,356.74, showing a surplus of $1,083,916.00. Exclusive of uncalled guarantee capital, the surplus to Policyholders was $213,916.00.

Policies on ninety-five lives became claims through death, to the amount of $166,149.32.

Careful attention has been given to the investment of the Company's funds, in first-class bonds, mortgage securities, and loans on the Company's policies amply secured by reserves. Our investments have yielded a very satisfactory rate of interest.

Including Cash Dividends and Dividends applied to the reduction of premiums, with annuities, the total payment to Policyholders amounted to $287,368.17.

Expenses have been confined to a reasonable limit, consistent with due efforts for new business. The results of the year indicate a most gratifying progress. Compared with the preceding year, the figures submitted by the Directors for your approval show an advance of nearly ten and two-thirds per cent. in assets.

The insurances carried by the Company now amount to $18,965,117.93, upon which the Company holds reserves to the full amount required by law, and, in addition thereto, a considerable surplus.

Owing to the severe financial depression which has prevailed throughout this continent since about the middle of last year, the market prices of bonds, debentures, and other negotiable securities of a like nature, issued prior thereto, were considerably lower at the end of the year than they were at the end of the preceding year, and so appear in the return made to the Government. These securities were purchased by our Company to yield the best rates of interest obtainable at the time, and are intrinsically of the same value as when acquired, and we are practically in the same position as if the money had been invested in mortgages at a lower rate than the prevailing current rates.

The Directors firmly believe that the present depression in the values of these securities is temporary only, but in the meantime they have thought it advisable and prudent to set apart an amount sufficient to cover the same.

The field officers and agents of the Company are intelligent and loyal, and are entitled to much credit for their able representation of the Company's interests. The members of the office staff have also proved faithful to the Company's service.

Your Directors are pleased to be able to state that the business of the Company for the past two months of the current year has been of a most satisfactory character, and that the outlook for the future is most encouraging.

DAVID DEXTER, President and Managing Director.

AUDITORS' REPORT.

To the President and Directors of the Federal Life Assurance Company:

Gentlemen: We have carefully audited the books and records of your Company for the year ending 31st December last, and have certified to their accuracy.

The Cash and Journal Vouchers have been closely examined and agree with the entries recorded.

The Debentures, Bonds, etc., in the possession of the Company have been inspected, whilst those deposited with the Government or banks have been verified by certificate, the total agreeing with the amount as shown in the Statement of Assets.

The accompanying Statements, viz., Revenue and Expenditure, Assets and Liabilities, show the result of the year's operations, and also the financial position of the Company.

Respectfully submitted,
H. S. STEPHENS.
CHARLES STIFF.

Mr. Pringle's Picture

The picture of the late Mr. Wm Pringle, which the Board ordered from Mr. R. M. Roy, was received last night, finished and framed. All the members were pleased with the artistic manner in which the work had been done, and the question of its disposal in the King Edward School was considered. That was not determined on, but it will likely be hung on the wall in the main hall.

The inscription which has been added is the work of Mr. T. Q. Quartermaine, and is a splendid example of the art of penmanship. The work was done by Mr. Quartermaine out of love and esteem for the late Mr. Pringle, and the gratitude of the Board was expressed to him for the excellence of his work, and the spirit in which it was done.

He Robbed Churches.

Limoges, France, March 4.—Antoine Thomas yesterday was sentenced to six years' imprisonment at hard labor. Thomas is the cooper of Clermont-Fer, who committed the series of sensational church robberies in France, the revelation of which created a sensation last fall.

The trial began here Feb. 27. His son Francis and his mother, together with three antiquaries, Michel, Faure and Dufay, were charged with complicity in the thefts. The mother and Michel were acquitted. The son and the other two antiquaries were found guilty and sentenced each to two years at hard labor. Orders were given that the stolen relics be turned over to the state.

Sold Out Whole Town.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—The news of an interesting transfer of real estate is reported here from the Government of Volhynia. The entire town of Dubno, which count some 13,000 inhabitants, has been sold by the owner, Countess Shuvalovo, to Offendorf, an Austrian, for $9,000,000. The transfer includes the site of the Russian fortress at Dubno.

This town is one of several in Russian Poland that has been held under the ownership of a single individual since the old feudal days.

Murdered For $8.

New York, March 4.—A man who had been employed as a watchman in a stable on South street for more than a year was brutally murdered Monday night by robbers, who secured only $8 as a reward. One side of the face was beaten beyond recognition with a hammer.

More Troops For Morocco.

Paris, March 4.—The Cabinet yesterday voted formally to send 4,000 additional soldiers to Morocco to continue the aggressive policy of the Government in that country and relieve the troops worn out in the recent fighting with the Moors.

Jumped From Brooklyn Bridge.

New York, March 4.—An unknown man, said to be about 30 years old, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge into the East River yesterday and was killed. His body did not reappear on the surface and the police began a search for it.

Japanese Justice.

Salt Lake City, March 4.—Because Utah did not have the money to bring back two embezzlers from Japan, the Mikado's Government not only tried and convicted the offenders for a crime committed in the state, but has paid Utah for collecting and forwarding affidavits in the case.

The culprits fled from Brigham City more than a year ago with more than $18,000 entrusted to them for safe keeping by 75 Japanese laborers employed in the beet fields.

Edmonton Expanding.

Edmonton, March 4.—Building permits for January and February are almost double the corresponding months of last year. They total $500,925.

Customs returns for February were $15,644, an increase of $3,602 over February last year. Vital statistics: Births 34, deaths 12, marriages 7.

MRS. ADDIE HARDING. MRS. MARY MEYER. MRS. FRANCES WILSON.

MRS. ADDIE HARDING, 810 Court street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes:

"I have been a user of Peruna for the last twelve years and can truthfully say that there is no better medicine on earth.

"With me it is a sure preventive for colds and many other ills. In my home can always be found a bottle of Peruna. Two or three times a year I am troubled with my throat.

"I always had to have the services of my physician two or three times in each case.

"Although a user of Peruna, I never thought of taking it for my throat until about two years ago.

"I tried Peruna to check it, and to my great delight I was not troubled with the smothered and choked feeling and never have since.

"I can check it every time with Peruna.

"I certainly would not be without Peruna one minute."

"A SURE PREVENTIVE."

The fight against consumption is becoming a national problem.

Everywhere we hear of sanitariums established at the expense of the state for the treatment of the vast army of consumptives.

The open air treatment, fresh air and sunlight, are recognized by the medical profession generally as being the greatest necessities in the treatment of consumption in all of its stages.

Dr. Hartman has for many years advocated the fresh air treatment for consumption. At the same time he has recognized Peruna as a useful palliative for the many distressing symptoms which accompany the white plague.

Mrs. Mary Meyer, Thomson avenue, near Shell Road, Winfield, L. Y., N. Y., writes:

"I have been annoyed with a cough for years.

"Often it was so bad that I could not sleep half the night. Many people thought I had consumption.

CONSUMPTION WAS FEARED.

"A woman recommended Peruna to me two years ago. I began to take Peruna and now I am perfectly free from a cough.

"I am glad to say that Peruna cured me entirely. I take Peruna occasionally when I do not feel well and I also give it to my children.

"Peruna is the best medicine for coughs and colds. I have told many people how much Peruna has helped me."

Peruna tends to lessen the cough, decreases the expectoration, strengthens the patient, increases the appetite and in many cases procures sound, refreshing sleep.

But the value of Peruna in the treatment of a case of consumption is not so great as it is in the prevention of consumption.

Since it is well known that consumption begins with a common cold or catarrh, any medicine that can be relied upon to relieve these must be regarded as a preventive of consumption.

Thousands of cases of incipient consumption, or chronic coughs, or settled colds, have reported Peruna as being a safe and reliable remedy for these ailments.

CONSUMPTION PREVENTED.

Mrs. Frances Wilson, 23 Nelson street, Clinton, Mass., writes:

"Had you seen me at the time of my illness and now, you would not wonder that I take delight in sounding the praises of Peruna.

"My ailment was a severe cold which attacked the bronchial tubes and lungs.

"I followed your special directions and after using six bottles of Peruna I was on my feet again.

"I think Peruna a wonderful medicine."

The promptness with which Peruna relieves a fresh cold, and even removes chronic colds, that have become thoroughly established, is well-known throughout the entire country. This ranks Peruna as a reliable prophylactic against consumption.

Mr. Wm. Swain, 4245 Stiles street, W. Philadelphia, Pa., writes:

"Before I commenced taking Peruna I had used almost everything I could think of for catarrh.

"I felt so tired when getting up in the morning and my lungs felt dry and sore. No one who has not experienced it can imagine how I suffered.

"I tried nearly everything recommended, but nothing did me any permanent good.

"The first bottle of Peruna did me so much good that I continued taking it until completely cured.

"I cannot praise Peruna high enough. I wish every one could know of it."

Those suffering from colds can do nothing better than to procure a bottle of Peruna and give it a fair trial.

DR. MORRISON IS PRESIDENT OF THE BOARD OF TRADE AGAIN; OTHER OFFICERS RE-ELECTED

Annual Meeting of the Organization Was Held Last Night—Satisfactory Reports Were Received From Different Officers and Meeting Was Enthusiastic

PROSPECTS ARE BRIGHT

The annual meeting of the Board of Trade, held last night in the Council Chamber, was a largely attended and enthusiastic one, auguring well for the success of the Board during the coming year. The election of officers resulted in the unanimous re-appointment of all last year's officers. The standing committees for the year will also be the same, a motion that they be re-elected being carried unanimously.

Dr. M. A. Morrison presided, and among those present were the following: W. S. Dodd, Ald. Turner, Ald. Bradburn, Ald. Gillespie, Messrs. D. Hughes-Charles, John Riddell, R. E. Wood, R. J. Todd, Rev. J. G. Potter, John Nugent, Dr. Caldwell, Rich. Lees, Jas. Drain, W. H. Moore, Jas. English, Thos. Barrie, Dawson Kennedy, R. Wilson, Wm. Rudkins, R. M. Waddell, R. McWhinnie, G. Walter Green, W. R. Morris, J. C. Stabler, D. W. Dumble, A. Mowat, R. Fair, W. H. Hill, E. F. Mason, R. Laing, W. S. Robinson, J. H. Ferguson.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine and adopted.

Against Bonuses

A communication was received from the Welland Board of Trade, asking the local board to co-operate in petitioning the Provincial Government to make it illegal for municipalities to grant bonuses to capitalists looking for sites for industries. The resolution pointed out that the bonus system was injurious, inasmuch as towns and cities were pitted against each other to their loss and the benefit of the bonus hunters.

The communication was referred to the Manufacturers' Committee.

President's Report

In presenting the annual report of the Board of Trade, I wish first to express my thanks to the officers and members for their loyal assistance during the year, and especially to those members who so ably contributed to the success of our meetings by presenting papers and addresses.

During the year we have held five board meetings, seven committee meetings and a very successful banquet. Our idea of a live Board of Trade is not in the number of meetings held, but in its readiness to grapple with any and all public questions, and to serve the interest of the community at large. This has been evidenced in the past year by the interest taken in all our meetings.

Our Manufacturers' Committee has spared no effort in endeavouring to get some concern to take over the Alm. Hamilton Mfg. Co. Works and operate them. After many efforts we succeeded in getting the city council in touch with the A. R. Williams Company, of Toronto, and we believe have succeeded in arriving at an agreement whereby the works will soon be one of our active industries.

To the members of the Council of the Board of Trade, together with the able assistance of the Manufacturers' Committee of the City Council, and our vice-president in particular is due the credit of bringing the Dairyman Publishing Company to Peterborough. This company publish three journals and will provide employment to about thirty-five hands, besides giving Peterborough a very wide advertisement.

No Mercantile Failure

It is with pleasure that I note that though we have passed through a period of financial stringency not before experienced by this generation, not a single failure has occurred amongst the mercantile and manufacturing interests of Peterborough. This indicates that the business operations of our manufacturers and business men are on a sound financial basis. I also note that where manufacturer's orders were not up to their full capacity, that the employer instead of dismissing a number of hands, and leaving some men without employment, adopted the other plan of shortening the hours of all employees, and retaining the largest number possible. This would indicate a practical sympathy between the employer and his men.

Building operations have been active during the year. The total number of permits issued was 296, making a total expenditure of $761,321. Last year we drew the attention of those contemplating building houses for rental, to the scarcity of moderate priced houses. I find that during the year there were 75 houses built that cost less than $4,500.00, many of which should rent for $10.00 or $12.00 per month.

The Canal to be Completed

The fact that the Government is placing the balance of the Trent Canal under contract leads us to the belief that the long-looked for water communication with the great lakes is about to be realized, and with it the advantages of water transportation. From a local standpoint this should mean the saving of thousands of dollars annually to our citizens.

As many towns and cities in Western Ontario can now compete with us in electric power, and whereas there is now before the Legislature a bill to prevent all bonuses to manufacturers, therefore I would suggest that our manufacturer's committee meet with the manufacturer's committee of the City Council and discuss ways and means of approaching manufacturers who contemplate locating in Ontario.

The outlook for the coming year is not at all gloomy, but on the other hand many indications point to a resumption of business on as voluminous a scale as that of the last three or four years. We have a great country with great natural resources, and in such a stage of development that it is impossible for it to stand still, and with progress on all sides of us, Peterborough is bound to go ahead.

Thanking you for the honour of occupying the president's chair for the past year, I wish you all prosperity and success.

Secretary's Report

Secretary T. Q. Quartermaine also presented the following report:

I have the honour of presenting to you as secretary the nineteenth annual report of this Board.

This year we have held five meetings of the Board, viz., 26 March, 9 April, 14 May, 8 October, 1907, and 28 January, 1908. We have also held several committee meetings, viz., one meeting of the Council of the Board and three meetings of the Manufacturer's Committee, one of which on 30 December, 1907, was held in conjunction with the Manufacturer's Committee of the City Council.

The following subjects were duly discussed, "Railway Charges for Inter-switching," "The Present Mode of Assessment," when the City Council chamber was so densely packed that about twenty-five visitors congregated about the doors. This, I believe to be the largest meeting ever held by the Board of Trade, "Municipal Government by Commission," at which Mr. W. H. Moore, K.C., read a paper; 200 copies of which were mailed, 100 to heads of municipalities and 100 to secretaries of Boards of Trade in the Dominion.

The average attendance of members was 20, an increase of 5 on that of the previous year.

The thanks of the Board of Trade are due to ex-Mayor McWilliams, his Worship Mayor Rush, the past and present members of the Board of Aldermen and City Clerk Armstrong for the use of the City Council Chamber during the past year.

The thanks of the Board are also due to the reporters of our local newspapers, for the able manner in which the business of the Board has been reported the last year.

The report of treasurer, Ald. W. H. Bradburn, was read and adopted. It showed the finances of the club to be in a most satisfactory condition, with a substantial balance on the right side of the ledger.

Election of Officers

The election of officers was next proceeded with. Before calling for nominations President Morrison remarked that he would like to see the presidency given to some one else this year. The result of the election resulted in the unanimous selection of the following:

President—Dr. Morrison.
Vice-President—Ald. Geo. Gillespie.
Treasurer—Ald. W. H. Bradburn.
Secretary—T. Q. Quartermaine.
Auditors—Peter Campbell, John Crane.

A vote of thanks was passed to ex-Mayor McWilliams, Mayor Rush, City Council and City Clerk Armstrong for the use of the council chamber for the year.

On motion of Mr. Wood, seconded by Mr. Gillespie, the standing committees for last year were re-elected.

MISSION CIRCLE ELECTS ITS OFFICERS

Financial Statement of the Auxiliary in Connection With Murray Street Baptist Church.

The annual meeting of the Women's Mission Circle of the Murray Street Baptist Church was held on Tuesday afternoon, March 3rd, and was well attended. The president, Mrs. (Dr.) Hunter, occupied the chair.

After the opening exercises and prayers by Mrs. Webb, the annual reports were read and adopted. The secretary's report showed an increase in the membership.

Mrs. Craig, who has spent twenty-three years in India among the Telegu, gave an excellent address on the work being done in that field. The busy life of the missionary was shown by the unique and varied character of the work accomplished. The wayside beggar receives his share of attention and the servant is not overlooked. Schools are established to suit all classes, presided over by competent teachers. The leper draws on the strength and sympathy of the missionary. To the home provided for him, he shows his gratitude by being cheerful and apparently happy.

AN "OLD FOGEY" ON PUBLIC LIBRARY

He Asks Some Questions About the Future—Not in Favour of Carnegie Money.

NO HURRY, HE INTIMATES

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Did it never occur to Mr. Dumble, Mr. Fair, et. al., that the day may not be far distant when some public-spirited citizen of Peterborough may desire to bequeath sufficient of his wealth for the enjoyment of a public library for our city?

Would it not be far more creditable to have a public library building built by one of our own successful business men, instead of accepting a gift such as Mr. Carnegie's bequest involves?

Should not the honour of bestowing such a public benefaction like this be reserved for some one of our own people who have been actively identified with Peterborough's material growth and interests and who have been largely instrumental in building up the city, instead of perpetuating the memory of an American, who was in print pilloried the best Queen who ever sat upon a throne?

What would be the matter with a Stratton Library, a Cox Library, a Dickson or Hazlitt Library; a Lundy Library; a Hall Library; a Waddell Library; a Matthews Library, etc — unfettered by any such conditions as the Carnegie proposition?

Mr. Fair talks about the "sensitiveness" of people opposed to accepting the Carnegie gift. Why shouldn't they be sensitive? What is meant by being sensitive? The dictionary says that it is: "having sense or feeling;" "possessing the capacity of receiving impressions;" "having quick and acute sensibility"; "sensible." It is unfortunate that some of the writers who have been advocating the acceptance of the Carnegie gift are not as sensitive from a dictionary standpoint as the people of Peterborough would like them to be. But you know, Sir, that we grow into the likeness of the things we habitually contemplate.

One thing I am positive of, that some of our advocates of the Carnegie gift are not very safe guides in matters of civic expenditures. After the experience we have had in some of our public school follies, particularly the King Edward School, Please give us a little more sense, or sensitiveness.

Yours truly,
OLD FOGEY.

Peterborough, March 4, 1908.

FOUR HOSPITALS FAILED

James Heard, of Morton Park, Ont., says: "While employed at the Specialty Works of Newmarket, 6 or 7 years ago, I bruised my ankle, but through neglect this bruise turned to an ulcer, or burned sore which caused me a great deal of suffering. I tried a great number of doctors, and was in the hospital four times. I tried almost everything, but nothing did me any good. I could not sleep at night with the scalding and burning pain, but from the first application of Zam-Buk I never lost any sleep, and felt nothing more of it then at all. It started healing and gave me no further trouble. Shortly after this as I was getting on a street car, my foot slipped and I came with all my might down the edge of the step and gave my foot a horrible mangling up. This made it far worse than ever, but I started again with Zam-Buk, and it did the same work over again as it did at first and my ankle is sound and well as ever it was. I cannot speak too highly of Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk cures cuts, burns, chapped hands, chafings, cold sores, itch, chilblains, eczema, ringworm sores, sore throat, bad chest, ringworm, piles (blind or bleeding), bad legs, inflamed patches, rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, abscesses and all diseased, injured and irritated conditions of the skin. Obtainable of all druggists and stores, 50c., or post-paid upon receipt of price from Zam-Buk Company, Toronto.

SHREDDED WHEAT BANQUET

Enjoyable Event in Connection With St. Luke's Church Last Evening—Supper Provided Free.

AN EXCELLENT PROGRAMME

Shrove Tuesday was celebrated in excellent fashion last night in the old Ashburnham town hall by a Shredded Wheat Banquet and concert provided under the auspices of St. Luke's church. The function was a delightful one both from the standpoint of the dainty repast and of the programme which followed it and those in charge have every reason to feel gratified at the culmination of so successful an event.

The supper was entirely provided by the Shredded Wheat Company and the delicious dishes bore ample testimony to the wide range of uses to which the products of the company may be put with advantage. It was under the able management of Mr. Harry Bishop of Toronto, who needs no introduction to Peterborough, having been here in the same capacity on previous occasions.

The sale of candies and fancy goods as well as the goods from the fish pond began at 5.30 and the three booths containing these were very liberally patronized during the evening. The attendance was large and all appreciated both the banquet and programme.

The chairman for the occasion was Mr. R. H. Leary who presided in a very efficient manner. Addresses were given by Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, the rector, and Rev. Canon Davidson, and the following programme was presented:

Chairman's Address.
Selection—Mandolin Club.
Address—Rev. Canon Davidson.
Instrumental—Miss Katie Leary.
Violin solo—Miss Palmer.

Part II.

Vocal solo—Mr. H Morphet.
Recitation—Mr. J John.
Violin solo—Miss Palmer.

The programme was of a delightful character every number being vigorously applauded. Miss Palmer, violinist, and Miss Greta LeBar, elocutionist, two youthful artists, were among those most appreciated.

The Mandolin Club consisted of Messrs. A Cranfield, B Holland, J Brightman and B Tovey.

The accompanists was Miss Florence Butcher. The other accompanists were Misses English and Sanderson.

POULTRYMEN TO MEET TO-NIGHT

To Adopt a Constitution and Appoint Board of Directors.

At the Council Chamber to-night the Peterborough Poultry Association will hold an important meeting to which all members as well as prospective members are invited. It is being held for the purpose of adopting a constitution for the Society and all those interested should be present. The secretary of the Association wrote a number of the other societies of the province for constitution copies and the one drafted to be submitted to-night combines the important parts of these.

It is also possible that a board of about nine directors will be appointed.

LAYMEN'S ASSOCIATION HELD REGULAR MEETING

Met at Home of Mr. Batten on Monday Night.

The regular business meeting of the Peterborough Laymen's Evangelical Association took place on Monday evening, March 2nd, at the residence of Ex-Alderman Batten, 351 McDonel street, the president, Mr. J. Batten, being in the chair. The reports of the work given by the members during the last quarter were very satisfactory. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by the ladies and a very pleasant time was spent by all present.

ENTERED THE MARKET CLERK'S OFFICE

Weighed His Own Goods But Left No Money.

An unusual house-breaking affair was reported at the market this morning. About dusk last night a man entered the clerk"s office and weighed a load of oats or something of that nature and when he was through, drove away leaving the gates leading to the scales opened. The man was seen entering through the south window after he had driven his horses onto the scales. A slip of the weigh book was found missing this morning but there was no straw twenty-cent piece left in any of the places of vantage at least it has not yet been found. The market clerk had gone home about 6 o'clock and thus the man had perforce to take the most desirable of two courses as he did not want to wait till to-day to weigh his goods.

PASTOR'S RESIGNATION ACCEPTED

Park Street Baptist Church Minister Leaves in May—Meeting With The Deacons.

The deacons of the Park street Baptist church interviewed the pastor, Rev. A. H. Brace, at the close of the morning service on Sunday last relative to the reconsidering and the cause of the resignation. Mr. Brace replied that the step was final, and he desired the deacons to accept the resignation. The responsibility of the resignation was entirely his own and he took the step, he said, with a view to the welfare and advancement of the church. His work was done, he said, and everything was in good shape for the successor, who will attend to the building of the new church.

The pastor also pressed the deacons to urge the membership to vote together and be unanimous in accepting.

The question was brought before the church at the close of the evening service, and the resignation was accepted, to take effect the first Sunday in May.

MISHAP TO A CUTTER ON THE 'BRIDGE

About 1.30 this afternoon an accident occurred on the Hunter street bridge which seriously disfigured the appearance of a cutter. The driver attempted to steer his horse between two heavy sleighs at the end of the bridge. He was going at a pretty fast clip, and the dashboard of the cutter struck the extended shafts on one of the sleighs, and a large portion of it, including the steel trimmings, was knocked off. The cutter was jolted sideways, but no one was hurt.

The Board Of Trade Favours Accepting Carnegie's Grant

Lengthy Discussion on the Subject Took Place at the Annual Meeting----Messrs. Moore, Pousettee and Hughes-Charles Opposed the Scheme---A Resolution Was Carried.

"That the Peterborough Board of Trade approves of the proposal to erect a free library, and thoroughly approves of accepting from Mr. Carnegie sufficient money to erect a suitable library building."

The foregoing resolution, moved by Mr. D. W. Dumble, and seconded by Mr. R. E. Wood, was passed at last night's meeting of the Board of Trade and accurately represents the opinion of a large majority of the members. There was an animated debate on the subject, and the greater part of those present were in favour of accepting the Carnegie grant. The Carnegieites were largely in the majority, and when a vote was taken on the resolution only a few expressed their opinions against the proposal. The Anti-Carnegieites were Messrs. W H Moore, D Hughes Charles, and A P Pousette, while the proposed gift was supported by Messrs. D W Dumble, R Fair, W H Hill, Rev. J G Potter, and Richard Lees, County School Inspector.

An interesting feature of the meeting was the presence of Senator Ferguson, of Prince Edward Island, who is in the city visiting relatives, and who gave a profitable and eloquent address on the subject of public libraries.

Mr. Dumble's Views

Mr. D. W. Dumble opened the debate. The things to be considered, he thought, were whether the city should have a public library; secondly, should it be a free library, and, thirdly, what ways and means were to be adopted to secure a library? There was a class of people who thought a library was not needed, and that the Sunday school libraries were sufficient for the calibre of the people. The speaker spoke at some length on the relation of industrial expansion to the question of education. A public library gave the people the opportunity to develop their minds and intellect.

Between $40,000 and $50,000 was spent in Peterborough to educate the children, but the children were only a fraction of the people, and education should not cease when the child left school. "If we tax ourselves so much for our children, why not tax ourselves a little for ourselves?" he remarked. "We are students as long as we live." Any library for the people should be paid for by the people.

In regard to how this was to be obtained, Mr. Dumble discussed the Carnegie offer and its terms, showing that Mr. Carnegie would supply any amount of money for a library, providing the city would agree to grant ten per. cent. of the amount yearly to maintain the library. Scores of towns had accepted the offer made by Mr. Carnegie, and Mr. Dumble could not see why Peterborough should not take advantage of the opportunity offered.

He characterized the attitude of some people in objecting to taking Mr. Carnegie's money because he had made slighting remarks against the British people and rulers, as "balderdash," and referred to him as a benefactor.

Mr. Moore Differed

Mr. W. H. Moore had different views on the matter, and in a comparatively brief speech explained his position to the members. He criticized the selection of books for the present library, and remarked that if the same system were to be applied he would not be in favour of a free library. Three-fourths of the books he said were of no use to anyone on earth. The speaker favoured the free library proposal on condition that the books should be of a reference character, bearing on science, religion, biography, etc., and with novels of a standard character.

Mr. Moore was not in favour of seeking alms from anyone. Peterborough had always been able to pay its own way, and he could see no reason why a change should be made. He supported the securing of the Bank of Montreal building as a suitable library, remarking that the whole cost would not be more than $15,000. "We have never taken charity, and we don't want it now," he said, as he took his seat.

Carnegie An Alien

Mr. D. Hughes Charles was also strongly opposed to taking Carnegie's money, and remarked that he was one who believed in the "balderdash" referred to by Mr. Dumble. He was against the proposition, first of all, because Carnegie was an alien, and secondly, because he had shown himself an enemy against Canada. He advised having nothing to do with Carnegie's money. No man, no matter what business he followed could amass a fortune of six or eight hundred millions of dollars, and do it honestly—that is, by giving value for value received. He accused Mr. Carnegie of hob-nobbing with the people he had blackguarded, and protested, for patriotic reasons, against going begging for money with which to erect a library. It did not matter how many municipalities had accepted similar offers,—two wrongs did not make a right.

Mr. Pousette's Views

Mr. A. P. Pousette thought that no self-respecting Canadian town should accept anything from Mr. Carnegie, and in this case there were very cogent reasons why the offer could be disposed with. The speaker pointed out that the gift from the Nicholls estate was given for the express purpose of securing a site and erecting a building, and he had no doubt that $25,000 could be raised from that account. He was entirely opposed to securing a building and trying to fit it up for a library. The city buildings were a disgrace, and he would like to see a library worthy of the city, built.

Mr. Fair Favoured Scheme

Mr. R. Fair, chairman of the Board of Education, agreed with Mr. Dumble in regard to the Carnegie offer. Peterborough should be guided, he thought, by what other cities had done, and he did not think the conscience of the people of this city were any more sensitive than those of the citizens of other places. In view of the Normal School being erected here, Peterborough needed a free reference library very badly, and unless Mr. Carnegie's offer was accepted it would be many years before such a building would be secured.

Mr. Hill Thought Likewise

Mr. W. H. Hill also strongly supported the proposal along similar lines. He thought the city should be very glad to accept the offer of Mr. Carnegie, who was only doing what the speaker hoped all millionaires would do—holding his money as a trust. Mr. Hill spoke at some length upon the necessity of a reference library in this city, pointing out that there were two thousand school children in the city to whom it would be of the greatest benefit. The free library should be the people's university. Mr. Hill could see no sentimental objections to accepting a grant from Mr. Carnegie. There were twenty-two libraries in Scotland endowed by Mr. Carnegie, as well as scores on this side of the Atlantic.

Senator Fergusion

Senator Ferguson, who had previously been introduced to the members, and who had been given a hearty reception, was next called upon, and after making a humourous denial of the statement that the Senate was a sleepy, serene organization, passed on to point out the great advantages to be derived from a free public library. He illustrated his remarks by relating the story of a mutual improvement society organized in his home town in Prince Edward Island, one of the members of which class was the late Principal Grant, of Queen's University.

Senator Ferguson remarked that a public library was of the greatest importance, and a benefit to the mass of the people who could not get a Public School education, let alone a course in the High School. As to the nature of the books, the speaker thought they should have a large proportion of a reference character, but he would not bar good novels, although the yellow-backed kind that were becoming so popular should be tabooed.

In regard to accepting Mr. Carnegie's money, that was a matter that should be settled by the members of the Board, although he himself could not see any objection to taking the offer.

Rev. J. G. Potter

Rev. Mr. Potter was also strongly in favour of the proposal, and did not think any valid objections could be made against accepting Mr. Carnegie's grant. He instanced the granting of money by George Munroe for exhibitions in the eastern provinces, which grants were gladly accepted, with no cries of "alien." He made a strong defence of Mr. Carnegie.

Mr. Lee's Views

Mr. Richard Lees, County School Inspector was another advocate of the proposal to use Mr. Carnegie's money in erecting a library building. He pointed out that in St. Thomas and other Western Ontario towns the free libraries were found to be of the greatest importance. They were used in connection with the Public Schools, and both teachers and scholars felt the benefit. In regard to the library itself, Mr. Lees did not think it advisable to try to convert a building into quarters for a library, but was in favour of putting up a new structure.

Mr. Dumble then moved the motion at the head of this report, and it was seconded by Mr. R. E. Wood, who supported it in a few words.

The motion carried also unanimously, and the Board adjourned at 10.50

EXCITING RUNAWAY THIS MORNING

Milk Vender's Sleigh Upset—No Other Damage Done.

A runaway took place this morning which caused considerable excitement for a time. A driver of a grocery sleigh left his horse standing in the roadway on Charlotte street while he was delivering an order. The horse became frightened from some unknown cause and started eastward along Charlotte street. It dashed across the market and up Water street. Between Simcoe and Hunter street it ran into a milk vendor's sleigh and upset it. The horse was finally brought to a stop by Mr. Green. The grocery sleigh was not damaged in the least but some parts of the harness were broken.

The new Bell Telephone office, in course of erection on Hunter street, will soon be completed and ready for occupation. The building is a magnificent one and the interior has a very bright appearance.

The offices are now almost ready for occupation, and some of the desks have already been installed. The switchboard is only partly finished, and it is owing to this fact that the delay is caused. COMMITTEE CHOSEN FOR INSTITUTE

The Missionary Institute Will be Held In May.

After Rev. Mr. Armstrong's lecture at Knox Church on Monday night a meeting was held to discuss the holding of a missionary institute in the city. The committee chosen to consider the matter was composed of Rev. Mr. Keith, chairman; Mr. D. Campbell, representing the Presbyterian churches; Mr. H. C. M. Potter, of St. Luke's, the Anglican churches; Mr. E. Best, the Baptist churches, and Mr. Jas. Goodwin, the Methodist churches. Rev. Mr. Armstrong was present, and the opinions of the representatives were unanimous for holding an institute. It was finally decided to make arrangements for holding a missionary institute in about two months, and the first week in May will probably be chosen.

AS TOLD IN THE HILLS

The Royal Alexandra Stock Company last night at the Grand presented another new play to the Peterborough public, entitled "As Told in the Hills," which is a true story of southern life and the whole cast portrayed their parts true to nature. Arnold C. Baldwin as Ed. Fenton, an illicit distiller, who becomes an honest man for the love of a girl portrayed his part in the pleasing manner that he always does and Joe Machan, as the outlaw, was exceptionally good, as well as Edward Hubbard as the father, who gets all there is out of the part. Ralph Worthy plays an exceptionally good nigger and keeps the house in an uproar. George Ormesbee was also good. Millie Bell in the part of Tatters, has the knack of always pleasing her audiences, and Ivy Lyons again showed herself to be a very clever person in the part of Daisy.

Again Roselyn and Glory Machan won favour with the audience in their specialties and the whole show is one that is not often seen here.

This afternoon a matinee will be given at 4 p. m. and to-night another new play "For Her Children's Sake," will be presented.

Legislature Got Through With Great Deal of Work.

TO FIGHT TUBERCULOSIS

Dr. Godfrey Moves For Appointment of a Commission—Would Build a Sanateria For Consumptive Patients—Many Lives Might Be Saved—Child Labor Legislation — The Shops' Act.

Toronto, March 4.—Yesterday was a Legislative sitting of hard work with nothing spectacular to show for it. Many measures were carefully threshed through their committee stages and the order paper was well cleared. Discussing Hon. Mr. Foy's election bill, the Attorney-General said he had under consideration the advisability of having the crown pay for polling booths instead of the municipalities as heretofore.

Mr. Gamey (Manitoulin) presented a petition from the Gore Bay Council asking that the Government build and operate a railway through the island and to the C.P.R. on the north shore.

Mr. Thompson (North Wentworth) has given notice that he will again introduce his amendment to the Liquor License Act, which aims to prevent holders of shop licenses in one municipality from having agents canvassing in adjoining municipalities.

Mr. C. C. Hodgins (West Middlesex) introduced a bill providing for changing the Western University College, London, from a denominational to a non-denominational institution, making provision whereby the City Council of London may grant support to the arts department from municipal funds, and prescribing powers and duties of the senate, board of governors and amendments to the charter.

Dr. Godfrey (West York) presented his resolution asking the appointment of a commission of three, two to be physicians, to investigate the advisability and practicability of establishing a provincial sanitorium. He pointed out that there had been 3,000 deaths in Ontario from tuberculosis last year. It had been shown by tests in New York sanitoria that 75 per cent. of incipient cases were curable. He urged action.

On the Prime Minister's suggestion the debate was adjourned till Friday when the member for Wellington (Mr. Downey) will move the second reading of his bill along similar lines.

Hon. Nelson Monteith moved the second reading of the bill to amend the Shops' Acts, raising the minimum age at which children could be employed from 10 to 12 years.

Mr. Preston (Brant) appealed for the age to be set at 14 in order to make the act uniform with the Truancy Act.

Mr. Studholme (Hamilton) persisted that the committee reported in favor of 14 years. "If you can't get along without working your little ones, close your shops," declared the Labor man.

Hon. Mr. Monteith's bill to amend the Factories' Act was taken up in committee. Mr. Jamieson (South Grey) and Dr. Jessop (Lincoln) thought children under 14 years might be allowed to work in canning factories during the summer vacation.

Mr. Studholme challenged the suggestion. "Children need fresh air and sunshine," he declared.

The House then busied itself in putting a number of approved private bills through their committee stages.

Mr. P. H. Bowyer (East Kent) secured a second reading of his bill to amend the Municipal Act by prohibiting all exclusive telephone franchises.

Mr. J. Kohler (Haldimand) moved the second reading of his bill to extend the time for building municipal Houses of Refuge, and the motion carried.

The bill of Mr. A. B. McCoig (West Kent) to amend the Municipal Act by granting non-resident municipal voters the privilege of casting their ballots at the polling place nearest their residence, was also sent on to committee.

The news of the New Brunswick elections, which came in during the night session, caused much Government enthusiasm.

Head Cut Off In Smelter.

Grand Forks, B.C., March 4.—Mike Dolan, a switchman, was instantly killed Monday night at Granby smelter. His head was cut off by a car wheel.

Eczema, Salt Rheum.

Eczema or Salt Rheum, as it is often called, is one of the most agonizing of skin diseases. It manifests itself in little round blisters, which contain an extremely irritating fluid. These break and subsequently a crust or scale is formed.

The intense burning, itching and smarting, especially at night or when the part is exposed to any strong heat, are almost unbearable.

The pre-eminent success which Burdock Blood Bitters has met with in permanently curing a disease of such severity is due to its wonderful blood cleansing and purifying properties.

No other remedy has done, or can do, so much for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture, as our thousands of signed testimonials can testify to.

Mrs. Jas. B. Keady, Linton, N.B., writes: "I was so troubled with Salt Rheum for eight years, that I could not work my hands were so sore. By using Burdock Blood Bitters my hands were eventually cured."

Mrs. Ira C. Bookner, Eden, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with Eczema for a long time. It came out on my face and between my shoulders. A friend told me about Burdock Blood Bitters. I took two bottles and it helped me so much I cannot recommend it too highly."

NOW I AM WELL

THANKS TO "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

Elk, Manitoba.

I wish to state, for the sake of others who may be sufferers like I was, that I suffered from severe indigestion and constipation for years and that there was also womb trouble with unpleasant pains in my back which made me miserable, constantly. I tried physicians and took many remedies but I got no relief. I was induced to try "Fruit-a-tives" and I can truly say this was the first medicine that ever did me any good. "Fruit-a-tives" quickly relieved the constipation and indigestion and completely cured me of all symptoms of womb trouble. I cannot express too strongly my great gratitude to this medicine as I am as well now in every way as ever I was, thanks to "Fruit-a-tives". I can strongly recommend "Fruit-a-tives", it is easy to take and the effect is always mild like fruit.

(Sgd) MRS. M. BEHLAND.

Many women suffer with what the doctors call "Womb Trouble"—"Diseased Ovaries"—"Female Complaints" etc.—when Constipation is causing all the pain. Cure the liver and make the bowels move regularly with "Fruit-a-tives" and the "Womb Trouble" will be cured at the same time.

"Fruit-a-tives"—or "Fruit Liver Tablets" are sold by dealers at 50c a box—6 for $2.50—or will be sent on receipt of price. Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

MADE BOGUS COIN.

Clever Gang of Counterfeiters Run to Earth In Brooklyn.

New York, March 4.—A complete counterfeiting plant for making spurious half-dollars was seized in Brooklyn yesterday and four men and one woman were arrested, charged with making and circulating the imitation coins. Secret service agents have been searching for two months for a band of counterfeiters who have flooded the city with half-dollars so nearly like real money that detection was next to impossible.

They say that newly moulded coins found in the Brooklyn house were made in the same moulds and from the same material as those which have caused so much trouble.

The bogus coins, while almost an exact reproduction of those turned out by the United States mints, were found upon expert examination to contain a considerable quantity of tin and also to be slightly overweight.

The prisoners arrested are: John Hart, Raymond Scruton, Jos. Gifford, Thos. McPartland and Mabel Hamilton.

When arraigned before United States Commissioner Benedict the men were held in $2,500 bonds each and the woman $500.

SUICIDES WERE NUMEROUS.

Many Reasons Given For Self-Murder In Prussia.

Berlin, March 4.—Statistics relative to suicide in Prussia during 1906 show that in the 12 months no fewer than 7,298 persons, 5,385 men and 1,714 women, ended their own lives.

Of each 100 persons who had tired of life 6.6 men killed themselves from disappointment with their conditions, and 5.6 per cent. of women from the same cause; owing to physical sufferings 10.3 men, 8.8 women; nervous disorders 8.3 men, 6.5 women; insanity 21.1 men, 33.9 women; weakness of intellect 1.0 men, 2.2 women; alcoholism 11.6 men, 18.3 women; attacks of passion 2.8 men, 6.3 women; consequences of morality 0.5 men, 0.2 women; sorrow and despair 9.4 men, 7.4 women; shame at own actions or guilty conscience 7.3 men, 6.9 women; anger and quarrels 1.6 men, 1.6 women; while 24.5 per cent. of the men and 21.1 per cent. of the women took their lives for unknown reasons.

TWO CARS BLOWN UP.

Whole Train Wrecked While Traveling at Full Speed.

Litchfield, Ill., March 4.—A cargo of powder carried by a freight train on the Big Four Railroad exploded yesterday while the train was running at full speed two miles from here. Two men were injured. The train was badly wrecked and several cars burned. The concussion shook houses and shattered windows for many miles.

The accident happened at a sharp curve, ten minutes after the freight left here, and two cars filled with powder, in the middle of the train, were blown high into the air. The debris was scattered over twenty acres of ground. What remained of the train after the explosion was practically destroyed by fire.

The track was torn up for a hundred feet.

No Right to Search Italians.

Montreal, March 4.—The city attorneys have handed down the opinion that the police were ultra vires of their rights in searching the Italians on the streets for weapons. The only people they can search are those who have committed a felony or are about to do so.

As a result a large number of actions will be taken against the city.

Fire at Reston, Man.

Reston, Man., March 4.—Fire destroyed the Massey-Harris warehouse and contents yesterday. Nothing was saved. Snow was falling and a volunteer bucket brigade saved Ireland's livery and probably half the village. The loss is about $6,000, mostly insured.

WILL VISIT THE CITY OF QUEBEC

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Announces Prince of Wales is Coming.

MONEY FOR CELEBRATIONS

$300,000 to Be Placed In the Hands of the Commission — Other Historic Grounds May Be Dealt With Later —French Treaty Bill Passed—Will Help the Export Trade —Mr. Monk's Criticisms.

Ottawa, March 4.—His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales will come to Canada to attend the tercentenary celebration of the founding of Quebec. He has however stipulated that the event take place during the last week of July.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier made the announcement in the House last night, in moving the second reading of the bill to appropriate $300,000 for the Quebec battlefields scheme.

Speaking to his resolution, the Prime Minister said the idea of preserving the battlefields of Quebec had impressed itself upon the minds of the people and has been received with universal approval.

In connection with the tercentenary of Quebec, he paid a tribute to the memory of Champlain, and said the occasion seemed appropriate to recall the last stages of the long struggle which was maintained between France and England on this continent, and to dedicate and consecrate the ground which has been hallowed by the blood of so many noble men, who gave their lives for the respective causes in which they were engaged.

Last night the debate on the third reading of the French treaty suddenly collapsed. In order o force a vote a number of Liberals rose in their places and the Speaker called for the ayes and nays.

Only five opposed the third reading. They were Lancaster, Chisholm (Huron), Marshall, Jackson (Elgin), and Owens, while 103 votes were recorded for the bill.

During the debate Mr. Monk (Jacques Cartier) commended the convention, but maintained it was the duty of the Opposition to criticize details. He also took occasion to read a sharp lecture to his Quebec compatriots who have endeavored to make political capital out of the fact that the Opposition had seen fit to object to some of its features.

In opening, Mr. Monk declared that the treaty had been very well received by the Opposition. Some had very properly found fault with details while approving of the principle of securing commercial advantages with the country. For criticizing the terms, the Opposition had been condemned by newspapers supporting the Government in Quebec and attacks on the Department of Marine last week were considered as having been launched with the object of detracting from the achievement of Mr. Brodeur in negotiating the treaty. "Le Canada," declared the object of the obstruction of last week was to "spoil the merit coming to Mr. Brodeur." "Le Soleil," taking similar ground, said the members of the Quebec district "formed a hollow square around Mr. Brodeur." Again Le Canada had attacked Mr. Monk, declaring him to be "lacking without Latin quality," which would make him unacceptable to people of Quebec.

Mr. Monk had looked up the attitude of Sir Wilfrid Laurier as to the French treaty of 1893. What was his Latin mental condition? Mr. Monk was surprised to find that he opposed it hammer and tongs. There was not one word to commend the Conservative Government for negotiating the treaty.

Mr. Monk, in proceeding to criticize the new instrument, said it would have been well if we had secured fewer concessions, but had made an effort to receive more substantial ones.

Mr. Zimmerman (Hamilton) spoke of the increase that is expected to come to the International Harvester Co. as a result of the treaty, while Mr. Brodeur spoke at some length, repeating his former explanation of advantages and dealing with the claim the all-important departure had been made in Canada's treaty-making powers.

Kingston Religious Census.

Kingston, March 4.—The religious census recently taken here puts the population at 20,072, compared with the Dominion census of 19,263 in 1891, and 17,961 in 1901. This was very carefully done. The religious preferences of the inhabitants were: Anglicans 4,835, Roman Catholics 4,873, Methodists 4,058, Presbyterians 3,108, Congregationalists 964, Baptists 469, Salvation Army 305, Hebrews 244, Free Methodists 143, Holiness Movement 120. Some 147 declare no preference.

At the previous census the Roman Catholics were the most numerous denomination.

COALITION IN N. B. YIELDS TO PARTY

Change of Government Result in New Brunswick.

MINISTERS TURNED DOWN

Had Been Twenty-Five Years In Power—Great Wave of Public Sentiment — Mr. J. D. Hazen Will Likely Be Premier — Causes Which Led to Government's Defeat—Majority Nineteen.

St. John, N.B., March 4.—The Robinson Government was snowed under yesterday, the Liberals majority of 26 seats in the Legislature being turned into a majority for the Conservatives of 19, with three independents who will undoubtedly support the new administration.

Hundred of old-time Liberals voted with the Opposition, claiming that they are still Liberals so far as Federal issues are concerned, but that they are disgusted with the local Government's policy in regard to the maintainance of highways and school books. The rapid increase in the provincial debt also told against the Government.

Notwithstanding Premier Robinson's declaration that he would repeal the Highway Act, so unpopular amongst farmers of the country, and would have school books supplied free to the lower grades, the feeling of discontent was so strong that all efforts to overcome it and its influence the "silent" vote proved fruitless. The secret ballot had much to do with Mr. Hazen's victory, and from the first gave the Government leaders considerable worry.

Although Mr. Hasen stated Monday night that he would carry the province by a majority of twenty-one, it is doubtful if his most sanguine supporters expected any such landslide as actually occurred.

Four Ministers Defeated.

Premier Robinson and his ticket were elected in Westmoreland County, and Attorney-General McKeown succeeded in being returned in St. John County, but four members of the Cabinet went down to defeat.

These are L. P. Farris, Commissioner of Agriculture (Queen's); E. H. Allan, Provincial Secretary (York); W. P. Jones, Solicitor-General (Carleton), and D. J. Purdy, member without portfolio (St. John). Speaker Osman and his colleague were hopelessly beaten in Albert County, which was probably the greatest surprise of the campaign.

Another surprise was the defeat of Mayor Sears in St. John City. He was considered by the Government to be probably the strongest candidate in the field. The ship laborers' vote told against him, however.

Hon. L. P. Farris has been the Government representative in Queen's County for thirty years, and his defeat came as a great surprise. Last year he was elected mayor by 1,500 majority.

Premier-Elect's Statement.

St. John, N.B., March 4.—Mr. Hazen was given a great reception when he arrived in the city late last night from Sunbury County. Hundreds of enthusiastic supporters accompanied by a band escorted him to the Keith Theatre, where, in an eloquent speech, he promised to give the province good and progressive government.

In a statement to the press Mr. Hazen said: "The result is due to the overwhelming public sentiment in the province against the administration. After being in opposition for many years the result is naturally very pleasing to us all."

CAR JUMPED TRACK.

One Man Killed and Others Injured at Bridgeport, N.S.

Glace Bay, N.S., March 4.—About 11.15 Monday night a car jumped the tracks of the Sydney & Glace Bay Electric Railway near Bridgeport, ran about twenty feet from the track and turned on its side.

About twenty passengers were on the car. Bart Myles had his skull fractured and the side of his face nearly torn off. He will die. Neil McMullin had an artery in his arm severed, but will recover.

Councillor Daniel Graham had two ribs broken; Miss May McEachren, hand hurt, but helped remove Graham from the wreck.

Motorman Duncan Macdonald is blamed. He has only been a month on the road. He took a curve too sharply.

An All-Star Canadian Soccer Team For England

To Play in the Olympic Games—System Proposed to Select the Teams.

QUAKERS HAVE A CHANCE

In a recent issue of the Examiner mention was made of the proposal to send an All-Canadian soccer team to compete in the Olympic games. From the letter published below which has been received by the secretary of the Peterborough Quakers it is possible that the Quakers may be represented. In order to qualify they will have to send a team to play in the People's Shield games at the Coast when the all-star team will be chosen.

The letter was received from Wm. Ellis, secretary of the Vancouver District Association Football League and is as follows:—

"Negotiations are under way in British Columbia for the purpose of sending a British Columbia team to compete in the Olympic Games, to be held in England next fall, for the Amateur Association Football Championship of the World and it is practically settled that a team shall go; the question of funds has been studied out and the promoters can see their way clear to raise the amount that will be required.

Some of the most prominent members have suggested, and the others have agreed to it, that instead of the team being selected from British Columbia alone, it be selected at the time of the People's Shield Tournament from the teams from all over the Dominion and thus make it a Canadian team.

The present idea is, for a committee to watch the tournament games and select men to play a trial game and include among the selected some of British Columbia's star players who may not be competing in the tournament, and from this trial game select eleven men. Start these eleven men for England, play them against a picked eleven of Alberta at Calgary, say, and if any men in the Alberta team are worthy of a place in the selected team, take them along too; of course Alberta would in all probability be already represented on the team by some of the Calgary Caledonians already chosen in Vancouver, at any rate this would give outsiders a chance to qualify for the representative team, who because they were not members of the Club that won the Provincial Championship were not eligible to compete for the People's Shield, this of course might apply to the other Provinces as well as Alberta.

Journey on to Regina, say, and play a picked eleven of Saskatchewan with the same object; make another stop at Winnipeg and play the pride of Manitoba and take any of them along that look good; stop again at Toronto and there play the cream of Ontario and finally play the Champions of Quebec at Montreal and there again include any star that may show up.

By that time Canada would have a thoroughly representative team of some seventeen or eighteen players who could go to England and be a credit to the Dominion, it would also be fair in every way to each of the Provinces as they would have every chance of representation. Again, this would be a team that could be recognized by the Dominion as a thoroughly representative one and would be the only one that could have any claim on the Olympic Games Committee.

The gate moneys taken in the various test matches would go towards paying the expenses of the team.

Kindly let us have the views of your Association on the matter at your earliest convenience.

Hartley Surprises Kansas City In Last Day's Walk

Game Efforts To Get Inside The Money—Forty-five Miles in Nine and a Half Hours.

WAS ILL FROM THE HEAT

The Peterborough pedestrian, David Hartley, arrived in Toronto yesterday afternoon and figured in an interview with a Toronto Star reporter. Last night's Star says:

David Hartley, the Peterborough walker, who competed in the six-day walking race at Kansas City last week, arrived in the city this afternoon on his way home.

The race was won by Hoagland of Auburn, N.Y., with 278 miles to his credit. Hartley says Hoagland is a good walker, but he believes he can defeat him under ordinary conditions and is endeavouring to have the champion come to Toronto and engage in a competition.

Hartley claims that during the race he was ill from the heat and the water, particularly the latter. May weather prevailed, and in the building in which the contest was held hot air registers adjoined the track and choked the walkers. The track was of sawdust, and hard to negotiate.

The Kansas City Journal thus describes the final night of the contest:

"In a blaze of speech-making which followed a sensational attempt on the part of David Hartley to get into the money, to do which he was compelled to cover 260 miles, the big six-day walking match at Convention Hall ended last night with Willard A. Hoagland, champion of the world, the winner, having covered exactly 278 miles. Tom Slater, the Syracuse crack, was second, with 274 miles; Messier of Milwaukee was third; Player, the great Kansas City amateur, fourth, and David Hartley, of Canada, fifth. None of the others finished in the money.

"The last night was marked by the desperate efforts of Hartley to walk 260 miles. The game little Canadian was 45 miles behind his mark when the race started at 2 p.m., but with set teeth he went right at his task and just did succeed. Hartley travelled 45 miles in 9 1-2 hours, a wonderful performance. At the last two laps he carried the American flag around the track, being encouraged by Slater, who also deserves great credit for his work."

TWO BIG GAMES TO TAKE PLACE AT BROCK STREET RINK TO-NIGHT

A great programme, one of the most interesting of the season, has been arranged for to-night at the Brock street rink, when two hockey games with an hour's skating thrown in will be given for 10 cents. The Chieftains will play the Bridgenorth City League team between 7 and 8 o'clock, and the Lindsay Post will meet the Examiner seven between 9 and 10 o'clock. In the interval there will be an hour's skating. It had been arranged to have the big press game played at 8 o'clock but the Lindsay team will not be able to reach Peterborough until the later hour, coming by G. T. R.

The game between the Lindsay "Typos" and the Examiner is creating great excitement, both here and in Lindsay. Manager Reilly, of the Post seven, in a telephone consultation this morning stated that his team will bring down a number of rooters with them and look for a victory. The Examiner seven is in great shape, however, and the one game will be worth many times the price of admission. Geo. Lynch will referee the bout, which will be called at 9 o'clock sharp, with the following all star cast:

Lindsay Post	Examiner
Goal.
"Bunty" Connell	"Josiah" Craig
Point
"Bill" Williams	"Father" Glover
Cover
"Brushy" Henley	"John Dough" Clarke
Rover
"Rats" Barry	"Henry K." Thawobold
Centre
"Hickey" Higginbotham	"Bovril" Huston
R Wing
"Chappy" Chapman	"Baseball" Burridge
L Wing
"Slats" Reilly	"Buller" Henry
Mascot
"Monk" Pearson	"Benny" Taylor

With Reilly and Glover on the ice each team will have an O. H. A. man in the game.

The battle between Jack Thirnbeck's great little team, the Chieftains, and Bridgenorth, which is called for 7 o'clock sharp, will be another case of David and Goliath over again. The Chieftains, who have trimmed up everything in their class average 15 years of age, while the Bridgenorth team was about the heaviest in the City League. However, those who have seen the Chiefs this season perform expect to see them put it over their older and heavier opponents. The teams will line-up as follows:

Bridgenorth	Chieftains
Goal.
Kelly	Giroux
Point
E. Bellegbem	Munro
Cover
Conway	Fortye
Rover
Jopling	Crane
Centre
Mann	Hall
R Wing
H. Bellegbem	Burritt
L Wing
Cullon	Wallis

The bill is the biggest grab of the season and no doubt there will be a big crowd present. The ice is in great shape for skating and skaters should take advantage of the splendid sheet, which cannot be expected to last much longer.

If the child is restless at night, has coated tongue, sallow complexion, a dose of Miller's Worm Powders is what is required; pleasant, harmless.

The final game of basketball in the February league will be played this evening at 8 p. m. sharp. There will be no admission charged and a large attendance is looked for. Come and cheer the boys on to victory. The teams will line-up as follows:

No. 4—Martin, Darling, Campbell, Maguire, McKone, Stabler.

WHAT THE POST THINKS OF PRESS GAME

They Will be Here To-night to Try for Press Championship of the World.

The Lindsay Post, in referring to the big press game here to-night, says:—

The great event of the season is at last in sight. A teams has at last been found who are brave enough or foolhardy enough to risk their reputations, their bodies and dignity, and anything else they value, to play the world-renowned "Typos." Evidently, the religious exercises of yesterday nerved these adventurers to face the foe and meet their doom for at 10 o'clock this morning word was received that the Bell Telephone system between here and Peterborough had been chartered especially, that the management of the Typos might have a short talk in private with a few of the shining lights on the Peterborough Examiner team.

The Examiner team, by the way, are pretty big guns in their own burg, having beaten a team of the Review's best by a nice majority, but why they should get swelled heads over such a little feat as that is more than we can understand. It is rather mystifying to try to find a reason why they should not play teams of their own calibre till they, in after years, become strong enough to make a showing with the famous Typos.

Of course, they may argue that even in defeat they may say to posterity in proud tones, "Yes, we played the famous Typos away back in 1908." However, despite the unseemliness of such easy slaughters, and more perhaps, because they need a little light practice, the Typos have graciously made arrangements to play the Examiner next Wednesday evening in Peterborough. Despite the urgent request of the G. T. R. officials to be allowed to furnish the Typos with the best private car and engine on the road, they have decided that owing to the number of passes to see the match that would likely be asked for on this account, they can, under no circumstances, accept the offer.

The Examiner will play here Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

"Rats" Barry has been telegraphed at Kenora to arrive here Tuesday night to play with the Typos in Peterborough, which he has accepted.

"Chappy" Chapman of the Sunny South will do a few stunts seldom seen in the northern climate at Peterborough Wednesday night.

Peterborough citizens will see two of the fastest players in Canada when "Rats" Barry of Kenora and Hickey Higginbotham of the Lyceums, Pittsburg, face the Examiner seven.

The Toronto World says:— Walter Stocker of Peterborough, a loyal supporter of all manly sports and especially of cricket, writes: "Being a constant reader of your daily paper for nearly twenty years, especially the sporting page, I was much interested in your comment on the test cricket matches lately finished in Australia. In this item you mention the fact that Australia had won four out of five matches, thus demonstrating their superiority. This comment to people not familiar with the game or the facts will be misleading. The team sent out to Australia was anything but a first-class team. Early in the tour they lost Mr. A O Jones, the captain, the very best man on the English side, also two other members all being laid out with sunstroke. Just fancy playing cricket at Adelaide with the temperature at 125 in the shade. The team has done very well taking all things into consideration, but I would like to remind you and your readers that there are today in England about five teams that could beat the best that Australia can produce, namely, Yorkshire, Middlesex, Gentlemen of England, Players of England, Oxford and Cambridge And I venture to say that the following team could defeat the pick of Australia, South Africa and the present M.C.C. in Australia:—C. B Fry, G Hirst, Hayward, Jackson, Haigh, Foster, Lilly, Warner, MacLean, Tydsley, Hearne.

Madoc, March 3.—In the first game of the Trent Valley League finals played here to-night, Madoc, winners of No. 1 section, defeated Norwood, champions of No. 2 section by a score of 7—4. The score at the breathing period was 2—2, and neither team had more advantage on the other in the first period than the score would indicate. It was a hard tought game throughout, marked with such close and persistent checking that combination was at a premium, Norwood having a little the best of it as far as team work was concerned. It was not a first-class exhibition of hookey, but it was fast and always interesting and the big crowd present, which included fans from Norwood, Campbellford, Marmora, Stirling, Havelock, Tweed and other towns in the district, thoroughly enjoyed play.

An injury to Fred Doherty, Norwood's star rover, had considerable to do with the defeat of their team. Doherty had been playing great hockey and when in the second half he received a crack over the arm necessitating his removal from the game, his absence was severely felt by his team-mates. The score at the time stood 4—3 in favour of Madoc, and the latter had the better of the play for the remainder of the game, scoring three goals to Norwood's one.

For Norwood F Doherty and Morrow were the stars. The latter's individual rush through the Madoc team for a goal was one of the features while Doherty was always prominent, playing his usual dashing and attractive game. For the locals, Fines, Orr and Moon were the best, although the entire seven played good hockey.

Ernie Ford, of Peterborough refereed the contest and gave every satisfaction to both teams. The line-up was as follows:—

Norwood	Madoc.
Goal.
Joe Doherty	Dale
Point.
Hagyoke	Murphy
Cover point.
Cummings	Moon
Rover.
F. Doherty	Fines
Centre.
Henfren	Wellington
Right Wing.
Morrow	O'Flynn
Left Wing.
Scott	Orr

The return game will be played in Norwood on Friday night and Norwood is confident of over-coming the lead.

Went Over the Falls.

Niagara Falls, N. Y., March 4.—A man, believed to be Grover C. Hoehn of No. 103 Carolina street, Buffalo, jumped from Luna Island bridge into the river yesterday and his body was carried over the falls.

The man placed his clothing, jewelry, hat, watch, and letters on the bridge and jumped into the current. His body went over the centre of the falls. It is doubtful if his body will be recovered.

Hoehn was a member of the brotherhood of railroad trainmen.

Despondency is said to have prompted his suicide.

Need Fear No Explosions Now.

Kingston, March 4.—The Ontario Powder Co. of Kingston is to build its permanent works at Stony Point, a quarter of a mile farther away from Tweed, and will so buttress or barricade the plant to ensure every means of safety in the works. The company is meeting all claims for damages caused by the late explosion.

Textile Workers on Strike.

Montreal, March 4.—Twelve hundred operators of the east end mills of the Dominion Textile Co. are out on strike, and both plants have closed down. A sympathetic strike at the other mills of the company is threatened, and this would result in over 3,000 operators being out of employment.

An Oil Monopoly.

Berlin, March 4.—The question of a Government petroleum monopoly is still under consideration by the imperial Ministry of Finance, but the commission which has been investigating the matter has not yet decided to recommend it.

Engineer Kyle Not Guilty.

Whitby, March 4.—Hugh Kyle, engine driver on the C. P. R. freight which ran past Myrtle on March 25 of last year and collided with an eastbound freight two miles east of that station, was found not guilty by the jury last night.

WANTS SOME COUNTER ATTRACTIONS

Suggests Billiards and Cards as Opposition to Intemperance.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—May I be permitted to add a few words to this apparently great question of temperance and local option. With all the talk and time spent over the subject, no one seems to come forward with the idea of a counter attraction. I myself, of course, I am only one, think that a very powerful check could be placed upon the drink habit in this town, by the formation of a properly constructed and conducted workingman's club.

It might be taken in hand by some of the churches or chapels in the town, (or a small company might be formed by some gentlemen interested in temperance reform). The club to have a billiard table, also cards, draughts, chess, etc., etc., with a reading room attached, and, if possible, a bath room with proper fixtures. The subscriptions to be weekly, monthly or otherwise, as the duly appointed committee of management might decide, the billiard table (at a reduced rate), and the baths to be extra; also should a non-member wish to come into the club for an evening, he to be charged 5 or 10 cents with certain restrictions. I have known many such institutions run at a fair profit and in smaller towns than Peterborough. Religious subjets would be left out, as would also all intoxicants, and any sign of gambling. I am convinced that such an institution would take scores of young fellows from the hotels and streets and would encourage a healthy good fellowship among young men of all sects in the town. Thanking you in anticipation

PORT HOPE PLEASED WITH LECTURE

Port Hope, March 5.—Both as regards attendance and the excellence of the programme, the concert and illustrated lecture delivered by Rev. Dr. O'Brien of Peterborough under the auspices of the local branch of the C. M. B. A. in the opera house on Monday evening was most successful.

Over one hundred and fifty views were thrown on the canvas, portraying objects of universal interest, either in point of art or antiquity, in Pisa, Milan, Venice, Pagan and Christian Rome. The reverend lecturer held the rapt attention of his audience as he pointed out the prominent feature and distinctive merits of each masterpiece of architecture, painting and sculpture, or graphically described historical incidents connected with the views presented. Dr. O'Brien certainly won golden opinions by the admirable manner in which he united delightful entertainment with a wealth of valuable information.

Miss Hallihan of Peterborough fully realized the expectations of the audience. Her sweet, well-trained voice won repeated encores which were most graciously acceded to.

The committee in charge is to be congratulated for the success of this, the first entertainment given under the auspices of Branch 450.

IS ROSS RIFLE MADE IN UNITED STATES?

Some Revelations Made by Canadian Secret Service Men in Boston.

Examiner Special

Boston, Mass., March 5.—Investigations by secret service agents of the Canadian Government in this territory have revealed the sensational fact that the Ross Rifle Company of Quebec, of which Sir Chas. Ross is the head, have been relying on New England and Pennsylvania manufacturers for important parts for the Ross Rifle, although they are under contract to furnish an exclusively Canadian made product. There are some seventy odd pieces in the Ross Rifle, the major portion of these are made here. About all that Sir Charles concern does, it is said, is to assemble the parts. The Frank Mossberg Company, of Attleboro, Mass., make the stamped steel parts. The Spencer Billings Company, Hartford, make the forgings from which trigger guards, receivers and boltsleeves are manufactured. The steel for the barrels comes from the Crucible Steel of Pennsylvania. Canadian agents still pursuing their investigations in New England and one of them is quoted as having said that the event of a national emergency, and inability to buy in the United States the Ross factory would be totally unable to furnish an immediate supply of arms as it is unable itself to manufacture other than a few unimportant parts.

THE BANANA CROP IS SET BACK

There is Little or no Fruit to Sell in Jamaica.

New York, March 5.—(Special)—The Herald has received the following cable despatch from Kingston, Jamaica: Great concern is felt here owing to the setback in the banana crop, owing to a severe drouth following the recent earthquake. There is little or no fruit to sell, and the trade is almost at a standstill, the traders feeling the want of ready cash. It is not likely that the banana trade will be in full swing until May or June.

The Government is arranging for the purchase of seventy thousand acres of lands, given to an improvement company along the line of the Jamaica Railway. The Government's idea is to prevent deforestration, and thus insure the water supply and stop questionable parties from floating companies abroad to develop the resources of Jamaica.

GRIEF STRICKEN MOTHERS ATTEMPT SUICIDE; AWFUL DISASTER IN CLEVELAND

Cleveland, O., March 5.—(Special.)—At 8.30 this morning 159 bodies were in the Lakeside morgue from the Collingwood schoolhouse disaster. Of this number, 97 have been identified. In addition to these, the school authorities of Collingwood believe that 21 bodies burned to ashes are in the ruins of the school, making a possible total of 180 dead. Several women, mothers of children lost in the fire, have lost their reason. Mrs. Bouher Robertson of Forrest avenue attempted to kill herself early to-day. She will recover. Her two little girls —her only children — were burned to death.

Auburn Youth Steals Forty Dollars From His Father

Broke Open a Strong Wooden Box —Tried to Deceive Police— Father Breaks Down in Court— Boy Pleads Guilty.

WANTED TO GET MARRIED

A sad case was aired in the police court this morning, when Isadore Vinette, of Auburn, was charged with stealing $40 from his father. The robbery took place a week ago Sunday, while Mr. Vinette was out, and when he returned he found the box in which he kept his money broken open and the money gone. He informed the police and P. C. Adams visited the house. The prisoner showed the officer around the house and pointed out some footmarks which he stated repeatedly had been made by shoe-packs, and at the time the officer noticed that Vinette was wearing shoes. P. C. Newhall was informed and his suspicions were aroused by the way Vinette had acted and he started to watch him. He saw him in company with a young lady and he was spending a considerable amount of money. He was out of work and the suspicions that the officer had formed were strengthened. Vinette gave his lady love a ten dollar bill to change in a certain store and the officer decided to arrest him on suspicion. Last night he found Vinette on George street about seven o'clock, and brought him to the station. He denied all knowledge of the robbery at first, but finally acknowledged his guilt. The officer called at the girl's residence and she told the whole story and handed back what money she had.

This morning Vinette was charged with stealing two tens and a twenty dollar bill from his father. He elected to be tried by his Worship and pleaded guilty.

Mr. Edward Vinette, the boy's father, stated that he had never suspected his son of the robbery. He said his son had handed him thirty dollars back and the police had recovered seven, and there was still three dollars missing. His son had told him this morning that he had become infatuated with a woman and wanted to marry her, and that was the reason for stealing. The boy's father broke down in court during his evidence and cried. The wooden box was produced in court and showed that it had taken considerable force to break it open.

His Worship, in speaking to the prisoner pointed out the meanness of the robbery, to steal from his poor, hard-working father, who had brought him up and educated him. He advised the prisoner to go out and do good hard, honest work and make himself more comfortable. His Worship allowed him to go on suspended sentence, to report to the chief of police on the first day of every month in the next twelve.

A HUSBAND'S NEGLECT PROVED FATAL FOR SUFFERING WIFE

Examiner Special:

Tweed, March, 5.—The coroner's inquest in the case of Mrs. Richard Lindsay, who with two new born babes was alleged to have died at her home near Jackson's Corner, as the result of neglect on the part of her husband was held last night. The jury decided that Lindsay was guilty of criminal neglect and the man as a result was sent up for trial at Belleville. Lindsay had been sent for a doctor to attend his wife; he took a cow along with him to sell, and succeeding in this he forgot all about the doctor and proceeded to spend the money for liquor. Alone with her young son Mrs. Lindsay gave birth to twins. The boy ran to a neighbours house half a mile away, but before these could reach her the neglected mother had died, together with her two babes.

Boy Arrested At Midnight On A Serious Charge Of Theft

Had Stolen a Large Sum of Money From His Brothers—Bought Three Tickets to Port Hope—Allowed to Go On Suspended Sentence.

WAS HIS FIRST OFFENCE

With three tickets purchased for Port Hope and all arrangements made for a quiet departure a young city youth was arrested last night about midnight by P. C. Newhall and Meharry, on a charge of robbery. He was brought to the police station and of his own free will told several very interesting stories about the robbery, but each one differed very widely from the first one. The boy was arrested on a charge of stealing $11 and an envelope from his brother Joseph, by breaking into his trunk. He also made way into the trunk of his brother Arthur, and extracted $8 from it. He bought three tickets for Port Hope and was going to take with him two of his pals. The three boys went to the station, but the prisoner seeing his brother there, did not attempt to board the train. He hid the money under the sidewalk of Parnell street and P. C. Meharry recovered it last night.

The boy appeared in the police court this morning and elected to be tried by his Worship and pleaded guilty.

Mr. G. Gordon, who appeared for the prisoner, stated that the boy's brothers were using the criminal court to get back their money.

The chief said the brothers came to the police station and told him that this was not the first time he had stolen and they wanted something done. They did not appear in court this morning to urge the charge.

His Worship allowed the boy to go on suspended sentence to appear once a month for the next six months at the police station and report to the chief. He also decided that one of the brothers should pay the cost of the court, which amounted to three dollars, in three days, or spend ten days in jail. He said the prisoner's brother had treated the court with disrespect and tried to use it as a collecting agency.

Before allowing the prisoner to go his Worship told him that his offence was a serious one and liable to a long term of imprisonment and he was old enough to know better. "This is your first offence and I am dealing lightly with you and I hope you will grow up a good, honest boy."

LENTEN SERVICES AT ST. LUKES'

Rector Requested the Observance by Members of the Season of Lent.

Last night the first Lenten service was held at St. Luke's church, a large congregation being in attendance. The shortened form of evensong was read, followed by the second part of the Communion service. The rector, the Rev. Dr. Langfeldt, was the preacher, and took for his text, Hebrew 3, 15—"To-day, if you will hear His voice, harden not your hearts." He pointed out the lessons to be learned from the Lord's forty days' fasting and retirement in the wilderness, and exhorted his people to spend a real and profitable Lent, to give their time to meditation and prayer, self-denial and watchfulness, and not to have their hearts hardened by the influences of the world, the flesh or the devil. He also urged them to abstain from worldly amusements, and to refuse all inducements which would frustrate the great object of the holy season of Lent.

COL. YOUNG HERE TO-MORROW

Battery Will be Inspected on Saturday —Trip to Quebec Will Be Considered.

THE BATTERY MAY GO

Colonel Young of Kingston, is expected to arrive in the city to-morrow and will inspect the equipment of the 24th Field Battery on Saturday. The proposed trip to Quebec on the first of July will also be considered when the Colonel is in the city.

Col. Young of the 24th Field Battery in talking to the Examiner this morning stated that in all probability his Battery would attend the tercentenary at Quebec. The boys stood fifth at the Petawawa Camp and he was sure of having a good battery to take down if they were invited. He was of the opinion that the majority of the 25,000 troops to be invited would come from regiments in Ontario and Quebec and a few would also come from the Northwest.

General Sir John French it is reported will be the British officer at the great camps.

The funds used for the various camps would be pooled for the big mobilization. All arrangements have not yet been made, but it things are to go ahead a board of officers will shortly be assembled in Quebec to provide for the accommodation of the troops.

LA'GRIPPE HAS HOLD OF MANY IN THE CITY

Number of People Under the Weather as Result of Epidemic.

The chronic grumbler has a great chance to talk these days. If it is not a bad cold in the head it is lagrippe influenza or some of the other maladies which seem to be so virulent at this season of the year. The tyrant of them all is la grippe and few families in the city have escaped the epidemic. In some cases the entire household becomes affected, and it is stated that the druggists and doctors have a large increase in patronage and patients.

OBSTRUCTION.

The obstructionist tactics of the Ottawa Conservatives is costing the country a good deal. They apparently seek to serve no other purpose than the killing of time and making party capital. Already well over 4,000 columns of Hansard have been filled, mostly with this idle talk. As the production of Hansard alone costs about $5.43 per column and the expenses of the House $50 a minute, it will be seen that talk for the mere sake of obstruction is an expensive article. In this case it is without the slightest justification. The plea of the Opposition of obstructing the passing of the estimates of the Marine Department, that certain returns held to affect the items under consideration, were witheld, will not hold, for if the information were witheld it was their own fault. It was ready to be laid upon the table of the House, but this could not be done while the House was in Committee of Supply, to which the Opposition obstruction was holding it. That there is nothing in the charge that the Minister of the Department was desirous of withholding information asked for, is proven by the statement of the Deputy Minister, that Hon. Mr. Brodeau, the Minister, gave his deputy explicit instructions to hasten the returns demanded, even authorizing him to employ extra clerical help, to effect this result. That this obstruction was gratuitous is further shown by the fact that the more public-spirited Conservative members of the House condemn the course of a section of the Conservative members, and regarded it as a waste of time and money. Parliament meets to do public business, not to promote the creation of party capital at the expense of the public, and neither the self-respecting Conservatives, nor the public at large will sympathize with the discreditable tactics recently pursued.

"THIN RED LINE" SCORED OUT

In the House Hon. Mr. Foster condemned in the most violent language the selection of a Mr. Leitch to distribute the seed grain, to be advanced by the Dominion Government to the farmers of the Northwest, deprived of their own seed by the frosts of last year. It was charged that Leitch was one of the "thin red line" artists who criminally deprived thousands of electors of the west of their franchise in adjusting the voters' lists to Dominion election requirements. There is nothing to show that the selection of names was not fairly and honestly done. Of course the Conservatives made frantic charges to the effect that outrageous dishonesty was practised, but like most of their charges no attempt was made to prove them. It is true that charges were formulated against three of the men concerned in the adjustment of the voters' lists, but these was so little meat in the charges that when they came up for hearing the prosecuting attorney of the Conservative Government of Manitoba declined to prosecute them, thus practically confessing there was "nothing to them."

EDITORIAL NOTES

That the Canadian Pacific should be late but once in a year in delivering the English mail at Hongkong is a remarkable achievement. When the contract was made the time was cut so fine that the maximum speed of steamers and trains would have to be maintained throughout the journey across two oceans and a continent to fulfill its terms. That this time limit has been overstepped but once, seems, says the Montreal Herald, to accentuate the reliability of the service and the wonderful efficiency of the C. P. R. as a transportation company.

COMMERCIAL SUPREMACY OF THE CONTINENT INVOLVED.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

"The Ottawa waterway is Canada's greatest and most urgent need," was the declaration of Senator Belcourt in a splendid speech in the Senate on Thursday night on the Georgian Bay canal project. No one who has given any study at all to the question but will testify to the accuracy of that declaration.

Too long has this great project been regarded as one in which the people of the Ottawa Valley alone were interested. There is no suggested public work that means so much to the people of Canada as a whole. The effect of its construction on the business interests, and the domestic interests, too, for that matter, of the Maritime Provinces, was very clearly indicated in the Commons a week or two ago by Mr. Hance Logan. There is nothing sectional in the project: the people of the West are as vitally concerned as the people of the East. The campaign of education has been a long and slow one, but we are appreciably nearer the goal. Men who formerly fought the proposal are seeing their error, but still there is much apathy to be overcome. Such speeches as that of Mr. Belcourt are needed from our public men, not spasmodically, but systematically. Mr. Belcourt has dealt with this subject many times, but he never fails to add some new points to the argument for its immediate construction.

The Ottawa senator truly said that transportation is the most important and most momentous question, and constitutes the heaviest task to which Canadian energy and ambition can and should be mainly directed.

There is nowhere in the world a natural commercial route such as that formed by the French and Ottawa rivers. The St. Lawrence, the Ottawa and other Canadian rivers constitute, with our share of the Great Lakes, the best part of the Canadian national heritage, and they form the most valuable part of our national assets.

The Georgian Bay canal is feasible, physically, financially and commercially. It is Canada's greatest national need and is an absolute necessity.

Its physical feasibility, Mr. Belcourt points out, is now beyond doubt or controversy, the Department of Public Works having completed a most exhaustive and complete survey of the whole route. It is now making a report which will remove any doubt which may have existed as to the engineering building.

As to the financial feasibility Mr. Belcourt said:

The report of the Public Works Department now estimates the cost of the waterway at $90,000,000, including cost of buoying, lighting and of providing wharves, docks, electric operation, damages for flooding of lands and for expropriation of all water powers. The operation and maintenance is estimated at $1,000,000 yearly. Therefore, taking $90,000,000 at 4 per cent., $3,600,000, and operation and maintenance at $1,000,000, you have a total of $4,600,000, which would be the cost annually to the Treasury to provide for this magnificent free waterway. This would be met at once by indirect returns coming from the cost of water powers developed on the route, and which has been estimated at from 800,000? to 2,000,000 horse power. Taking the lowest estimate, 800,000, and putting thereon the lowest price now charged by the Government on the St. Lawrence canals, namely, $6.00, there would be provided an annual revenue of $4,800,000. Senator Belcourt also gave some very interesting information as to the traffic available for the canal when completed. He said:

There passed through the Canadian and American Soo canals in 1906, 52,000,000 tons; there passed Detroit 70,000,000 tons, carried in 25,000 vessels, so that in a season of 230 days there passed Detroit a ship every thirteen minutes and millions of freight every month. The Soo traffic had in 1907 increased to nearly 59,000,000 tons. The area from which this traffic comes comprises the whole of the Canadian and American territory bordering on the lakes and extends as far down as a straight line running across the continent on the latitude of St. Louis, Mo. Canada has succeeded in securing only an infinitesimal fraction of this enormous trade, as the statistics show. In 1906 the St. Lawrence canals carried altogether 1,700,000 tons. In the same year there were carried to Montreal less than 800,000 tons, whilst there were carried to New York over the Erie Canal and New York Central 6,300,000 tons. The Erie Canal and New York railways did six times more business to New York than all the canals and Canadian railways to Montreal. In 1906 there were exported from Fort William and Port Arthur 70,000,000 bushels of wheat, of which less than 25,000,000 reached Montreal for local consumption and for transportation to Europe. Two-thirds of the Canadian wheat intended for the East and for Europe were carried in American bottoms through the Erie Canal and by the New York Central, and yet in 1906 our railways and canals carried 10,000,000 bushels more than any year previously. The combined efforts of the railways and canals in 1906 succeeded in carrying only one-third of the Northwest wheat intended for consumption in the East and for exportation, and part of the crop of 1906 is still waiting at Winnipeg to be moved East. The wheat crop of the Northwest in 1906 amounted to 100,000,000 bushels, of which about 70 per cent. was destined for the East and for export. The acreage under cultivation in the Northwest more than doubled between the years 1900 and 1905. Assuming the same rates of increase in 1910 or 1911, we shall have a crop of 200,000,000 bushels of wheat and 250,000,000 bushels of coarse grain, or a total of 450,000,000 bushels, of which 70 per cent., namely, over 300,000,000 bushels, will have to be transported East and to the seaboard.

Since the St. Lawrence canals and railways combined in 1906 could only carry less than 25,000,000 bushels, how will they be able three or four years hence to carry 300,000,000? And this applies only to the grain trade. The iron trade alone constitutes two-thirds of the whole traffic passing the American Soo canal. Near the mouth of the French river, and wholly in Canadian territory, there is now being exploited one of the richest and greatest iron mines in the world, the Moose Mountain mine, where there are 42,000,000 tons of ore in sight. The transportation of this iron ore to the smelter would afford the Ottawa waterway probably 2,000,000 tons of freight yearly, and this alone would be sufficient to defray about one-fifth of the total annual cost of the waterway. Unless the Ottawa waterway is completed we shall have to depend upon our American neighbours to carry at the very least two-thirds of our own trade. If the waterway is built we shall be able to handle all of our own trade, and secure a very large proportion of the trade of the Great Lakes.

"AS SOON AS THE OTTAWA WATERWAY IS BUILT THE COMMERCIAL SUPREMACY OF THE CONTINENT WILL BEGIN TO PASS FROM NEW YORK TO MONTREAL," was another startling statement by Mr. Belcourt. This waterway is of at least as great importance and as necessary as the Transcontinental. With the enormous development now going on in Canada it will tax the railways to their utmost capacity to carry the products of the field, the forest and the mine to the different terminals, and they will be wholly unable to transport these commodities to the East and to the seaboard. This transportation will necessarily have to be done by water, and if the St. Lawrence canals are deepened to twenty feet navigation and the Ottawa waterway is built there will be plenty of traffic for all.

THINKS A DETECTIVE IS NEEDED

Writer States His Reasons in the Following Letter.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I noticed in your valued columns some time ago a letter signed by Mr. Williamson, which brought before my notice a suggestion your paper had made regarding the advisability of having a detective added to our local force. The idea strikes me very forcibly as being a splendid one and the officer mentioned is without doubt the man for the position. I have followed up the police court cases, through your paper and in the majority of cases P. C. Newhall made the arrest. He has on innumerable cases showed his detective ability and has on several occasions brought great credit upon himself and the force of which he is a member by some sensational arrests. He has been at the head of most of the successful raids on different houses of ill-repute. The rounding up of that pick-pocket gang, of international reputation, earned Mr. Newhall a name that will ever live green in the memories of the citizens of Peterborough. In every case where a big arrest has been made the officer has had to don civilian clothing to catch his man.

The police force, if it wishes to accomplish more work, it should have a man on duty in plain clothes for special work and let the officers in uniform do street duty.

Yours, etc.,

Dear Sir,—I was speaking with a gentleman who knows the quality of meat when it is offered, dressed, for sale. He stated that he had seen meat sold on the market which was not fit to eat, and in another place it would be confiscated and burned. If his statements are correct, who is to blame? GOOD SEASON FOR THE BIG CAR FERRY

There Were 61 Trips Made—Eleven Hours To Go and Come.

Ontario No. 1, the big car ferry, has made sixty-one trips between Charlotte and Cobourg since going into commission, carrying a cargo of 1,500 tons at every trip. The duty paid at the Custom House here up to the middle of January amounted to something over $40,000, which has greatly assisted in making the port of Cobourg one of the best in the Province of Ontario. Considering the unusually rough and stormy weather of the past two months, Capt. Forrest has done remarkably well, and when the spring arrives no doubt the big boat will make more trips and better time. At present it takes about eleven hours to make the round trip.

NEW SAILOR WILL BE POPULAR

"Merry Widow" Sailor With Broad Brim is the New Favourite.

A FEW OF THE NEW MODES

A New York paper recently contained an article that is of particular interest to the ladies. It was a short review of what the fine weather will bring in new styles of hats. The weather man assures us that although the snow is piled deep on the ground, spring nevertheless is close at hand and the millinery houses will soon display their prettiest designs and shapes.

An extract from the article is of interest:

The hats do not differ vastly from those of last year save in that they are very large or very small, the medium being for a time apparently tabooed. A shape which is bound to be popular is the Merry Widow Sailor. This is a large brim straw, very simply trimmed. In New York the same style is worn thirty inches in width.

The Gainsborough is still a favourite and is found in the prevailing colours and straws. A new and dainty, and hence very welcome shape, is the "Postollion." It is a small hat with a large bowl-shaped crown and very narrow brim, rolled slightly at the side.

The staple shape is very simple this spring. It will be introduced to its feminine admirers as "Susie," and as it is becoming to almost every face, "Susie" will no doubt be a reigning favourite. The new feature is a slight roll of the brim off the face, instead of down on the face, as heretofore.

The petite woman will be charmed with the Napoleon shape. It is a three-cornered straw worn broadside forward, and is very jaunty.

DUMMER MAN BRINGS IN A LYNX

Shot It In That Township—Was Much Admired Here.

Much interest was taken to-day in a dead lynx brought in from Dummer by Mr. Arthur Heendren. Mr. Hendren shot the animal while out in the woods the other day and it certainly was a good specimen of the wild cat kind. He disposed of it to one of the local furriers.

OBITUARY.

MARGARET McCARTHY

At her mother's residence, 1034 College street, Toronto, on Feb. 29th, the death occurred of Miss Margaret McCarthy. The deceased, who had been ailing for some time, had been in Denver, for some months, and had returned home only two weeks before the end. Miss McCarthy, who was a graduate of the Toronto schools, was a well-known and highly esteemed teacher in different parts of Ontario, and in Peterborough and Madoc where she had taught for a number of years, the news of her death will be learned with sincere regret. Clever, refined, unselfish, and pious, Miss McCarthy had all the qualities that lend themselves to charming companionship, and the place made vacant by her death, amongst her circle of intimate friends will not easily be filled. Besides her mother, six sisters and one brother survive. The funeral took place on Monday morning to St. Helen's Church, where Mass of Requiem was said by Rev. Father Walsh, after which the cortege proceeded to Mount Hope for interment.—Catholic Register.

MISS ANNIE GOODFELLOW

Many in Peterborough will regret to learn of the death of Miss Annie Goodfellow, who passed peacefully away on Wednesday morning at 20 minutes to 4 o'clock. She was a faithful member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church for over 23 years, and a regular attendant of the Bible Class. She was greatly beloved by all who knew her, and her loss will be keenly felt. She leaves to mourn her loss her aged mother, two brothers, William of North Monaghan and John of Park street, and two sisters, Mrs. B. McCann of Park street and Mrs. Josiah Robertson of Aylmer street.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2.30 o'clock and will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Pogue, from the residence of her mother, 114 London street.

WILLIAM OLIVER

News was received in the city today of the death of Mr. Wm. Oliver of Nogie's creek. No particulars were given. Mr. Oliver was well known in Peterborough, especially among those connected with the lumber business.

NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTIONS.

Mazin Regards It as Defeat For Pugsley—Complete Rout.

St. John, N.B., March 5.—Full returns of the election show the Government carried only ten seats in Tuesday's election. The Opposition 31 and Independents five. Four members of the Government were defeated: Hon. W. P. Jones, Solicitor-General; Hon. L. P. Farris, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. E. Allen, Provincial Secretary; and Hon. D. J. Purdy, without portfolio.

The Independents carried Gloucester and Madawaska, the Government Restigouche, Westmoreland, Victoria and St. John Counties, while the Opposition carries the rest of the province, including St. John City.

The turnover is most complete, and as Mr. Hazen has elected all his leading supporters, he should have no difficulty in forming a strong Cabinet. In fact, his difficulty will be who to choose, and who stand aside. Many causes contribute to the Government's defeat. They had been in 25 years, and the cry, "time for a change," was popular. A road act passed two years ago proved most unpopular and lost them hundreds of votes in the outlying districts.

Mr. Hazen in his address said: "In this fight I have had the support of a large number of Liberals at the polls. I do not claim a victory for the Conservative party, but a triumphant fight in the cause of honest citizenship. The result yesterday is not a defeat for the Federal Government, but, you will pardon me, I do regard it as a great personal defeat for Hon. William Pugsley."

RUBBER HUNTERS ARE CRUEL.

Terrorizing Wide Districts In West Africa—Vigorous Protest.

Berlin, March 5.—Herr Erzberger, a member of the Centre party and a clerical, spoke before the appropriations committee of the Reichstag on the colonial estimates yesterday. He cited numerous Government reports regarding the violent proceedings of the rubber hunters in German Kamerun, describing how armed parties herded the natives into their services levied requisition on the villages for food and in the name of Germany terrorized wide districts in Central Africa in their efforts to get rubber out of the country.

Colonial Secretary Derburg, speaking in reply, said the industrial demand for rubber had advanced the prices, and that consequently there had been great efforts to exploit the rich rubber producing regions in Kamerun. In many districts the Government had stopped the traffic altogether, and further regulations were being made to protect the villagers along the caravan routes from violence, especially the forcible requisition of food and the destruction of their huts.

He declared that an insurrection on the part of the natives was possible in the future, and that the Government must undertake full measures to secure their protection.

KING GIVES UP CONGO.

Leopold Yields to Pressure—Afraid to Face British Intervention.

Brussels, March 5.—The sweeping concessions made by King Leopold in the new treaty, which provides for the annexation of the Congo Free State to Belgium, are attributed to his dread of British intervention.

The King, it is declared, would rather not risk facing an international accounting of his stewardship.

An official forecast of the new treaty indicates that King Leopold not only surrenders the crown domain in the Congo, the revenues from which he has enjoyed personally, but yields also control of both the administration and the budget of the Congo to the Belgian Parliament. The Cape Ferrat properties in the south of France, which the King also throws in, were bought out of his Congo profits.

King Leopold showed his resentment toward Great Britain and the United States at a recent court ball, by displaying excessive coldness toward H. L. Wilson, the American Minister, and Sir Edmund Phipps, British diplomatic representative.

When I had taken that bottle I was so much better I got three more, and I am now completely cured."

State Deputy Arrested.

New York, March 5.—Nathan Vidaver, a special deputy of the State Attorney-General, was arrested yesterday afternoon by detectives from District Attorney Jerome's office, charged with accepting $500 in marked bills from William R. Montgomery, former president of the Hamilton Bank.

Vidaver had a prominent part in the recent banking investigation in this city, and the Hamilton Bank was one of the institutions which was given attention at that time. He is 41 years old and recently was a candidate for election to the Court of General Sessions' Bench. Vidaver was arraigned in the Tombs' Police Court and held in $5,000 bail for examination to-day.

In substance, the charge is that he accepted $500 from Montgomery to use his influence with the newspapers to keep from the public the news that indictments pending against Montgomery are to be dismissed and that Montgomery is about to open another bank.

Vidaver denounced his arrest as an outrage. He said he accepted $500 from Montgomery as a retainer.

THE ARCHDEACON OF P.E.I.

Praises Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure—Remarkable Testimony.

We, the undersigned, have been seriously troubled with valvular heart disease; have both had fainting spells upon the slightest extra exertion. Last April, when we both were unable to do any work of moment, we began using Dr. Agnew's Heart Cure, having no faith in it but hoping it might relieve. After taking six bottles we feel almost cured. We feel compelled to send this unsolicited testimonial, with the hope that others may be benefited as we have been. Gratefully yours, T. B. Reagh, Archdeacon P.E.I., and I. D. Reagh. (2)

ARCHDEACON CASEY RECOVERING

Rheumatic Trouble Disappearing at the Virginia Hot Springs.

MAY SOON BE HOME AGAIN

The many friends in Peterborough of the Venerable Archdeacon Casey of Lindsay will be glad to learn that he is recovering his health at the Virginia Hot Springs. The Lindsay Post makes the following reference in this regard;

A letter received by Rev. Father Collins of St. Mary's from Ven. Archdeacon Casey, who is at Virginia Hot Springs, conveys the pleasing news that the reverend gentleman's rheumatic affection is disappearing, and that he hopes to be able to return home about the end of the week. As a result of a meeting held yesterday after high mass, Mr. John Kennedy, on behalf of the congregation, was deputed to wire the Archdeacon that they would like him to remain a few weeks longer, in view of the present severe weather here.

The result is not yet known, but it is felt that Archdeacon Casey's heart is with his congregation, and that he will not be willing to prolong his absence. In that event, the archdeacon will arrive home about the end of the week.

THE OLD SCRATCH

How the Evil one Came to be Popularly Known as the Old Scratch

One of the many familiar names of his satanic majesty is "The Old Scratch." It is undoubtedly due to the fact that scratching is so disagreeable that people thought it no worse than the evil one. A scalp full of dandruff keeps one scratching all the time; not only disagreeable, but considered very inelegant in polite society—as it should be—because one ought to keep the scalp so clean that it would not itch. To cure the scalp of dandruff effectively, use Newbro's Herpicide. It kills the germ that creates the dandruff, which is preliminary to falling hair, and finally, baldness. No other hair preparation kills the dandruff germ. Herpicide also is a very delightful and effective hair dressing. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes—50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Store, Special Agents.

THE TEMPERANCE UNION HELD MEETING

The Subject Was Work Among the Lumber Camps of the North.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held their regular meeting last Friday in the Y. M. C. A. "Work Among the Lumber Camps of Northern Ontario," was the subject before the union. Few realize how vast the lumbering interest of Ontario alone is, employing upwards of 25,000 men and yielding as a revenue to the Provincial Treasury in 1906 of nearly two millions. If there is a spot on God's earth where Gospel temperance meetings are needed it is among these men of the camps. They are away from all the refining influences of civilization, from Christian homes and church advantages.

The two missionaries sent out by the Christian women of the "White Ribbon" are doing what they can to help, but what are two among so many camps. Mr. Munt and Miss Sproule go about distributing literature, Bibles and the comfort bags, prepared by the W. C. T. U. women—holding services and doing personal work. The union hopes to have a visit from Mr. Offant in the near future and hear of his work. Miss Sproule reports that of all the camps she visited only one, Echo Bay Company Camp, had been visited by any regular missionary of any of the churches. Supplied by the W.C.T.U.

The Poultry Association Has Now A Constitution

Largely Attended Meeting Held Last Night—Many New Members Were Added.

THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS

The interest in the Peterborough Poultry Association is steadily growing. Last night again the City Council Chamber was well filled by poultry fanciers, many of them being boys and a good meeting was held.

It was called for the purpose of adopting a constitution and this was the chief business transacted. Mr. Jas. Baptie, the president, occupied the chair.

At a meeting of the officers held more than a week ago a constitution was drafted which last night was read by the secretary and adopted after discussion by the members. In this the rules and regulations of the Association and the bylaws governing the duties of the various officers, etc., are set forth.

Following this the selection of directors was made which resulted in the following being unanimously elected—Messrs. J. T. C. Laing, Jas. O'Shea, C. J. Hicks, E. H. White, R. Gardiner, R. Robson, E. C. Brigley, F. Holmes and S. Bickle.

Since the organization the members have not been idle and last night about a dozen names were added to the membership roll. The poultry fanciers of the city are anxious to learn and they expect an exhibition here next January equal to, if not superior to any in the province.

The main object of the Association is the promotion of the breeding of poultry and pet stock among the various members. In order to promote the best interests of the Association the promoters desire that all members assist in every possible manner the advancement and scope of the society and that all work harmoniously together.

Equality Of Opportunity Under Present Conditions

Subject of Interesting Debate At The Y. M. C. A. Last Night—Debaters Break Even.

JUST ANOTHER MEETING

The regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Literary and Debating Club was held last night. The attendance was not as large as was expected, when so interesting and vital a subject was under discussion. Current events were dealt with in a very able manner by Mr. Hamon, who reviewed very carefully the great events of the world during the past two weeks, paying special attention to the great anarchist outrages in Portugal and in other countries and giving a very interesting and minute review of the anarchist beliefs.

The subject of the evening, a debate, "Resolved that equality of opportunity is impossible under the present existing circumstances," was later proceeded with.

The affirmative was led by Mr. George Armstrong, assisted by Messrs. Holmes and Martin.

The negative was led by Mr. Wm. McLaren, assisted by Messrs. Cox and Carter, and Messrs. Reid, Hamon and Ray acted as judges.

Many interesting and forcible points were scored by both sides. The chief points argued by the affirmative were:

1—That a man to be a success to-day must necessarily have money and influence.

2—That the poor man to-day, under present conditions is kept down and not given the proper opportunity to advance himself.

3—Good positions are reserved for the sons of the influential and wealthy.

4—Under existing circumstances rich men have control of all industries and endeavour to suppress and keep down poor men.

The leader of the affirmative also made a very strong point of the fact that to-day no matter what a genius a man may be unless he has money to follow up his invention it will be worthless and thus the poor and rich are not on an equal footing.

The negative speaker and his colleagues endeavoured to point out that every one have an excellent opportunity to make the very best of himself under the present circumstances if he would but make the effort. He brought forward many illustrations to back up the statements, and endeavoured to tear to pieces the entire platform of the affirmative.

While the judges retired to an adjoining room to decide the debate a general discussion of the subject took place among the members present. Most of the members made short speeches, expressing their views on this important subject.

The judges were unable to decide for either side, explaining that so many points had been brought by both sides they considered they were evenly balanced that they decided to award "even honours."

Mr. Hodgson, critic of the society, then addressed the meeting and gave a very clear an decorise criticism of the debate, ennumerating the different points which had been brought out by both sides and pointed out the defects, and giving many useful suggestions.

The meeting then adjourned.

The next and last literary meeting for the season will be held on Wednesday, March 18th, when a most interesting and unique programme will be presented. It is hoped there will be a large attendance at this last meeting of the club.

Candidates Selected In Spite Of Public Opinion

A Party Candidate For The Conservative Nomination Charges Delegates Were Manipulated.

PUBLIC OPINION A WINNER

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—I notice in the Review an item on party candidates. In that item the editor insinuates that some candidates sought the office, while others did not. Now, sir, as one of the candidates it is a known fact throughout the riding that I have been asked repeatedly to be a candidate for the Local House, and in convention have been given the unanimous choice and given an hour to consider the matter. At the last convention a certain man came up in full force seeking the convention and so manipulated the delegates and with the aid of a certain clique, which controlled the meeting, managed to be chosen with delegates enough, sitting by ready to vote him out.

Then, sir, who are the wreckers? These are men who come up and thwart unbiased public opinion and though Mr. Smithson appeared to accept his defeat with good grace, he is responsible for this statement, that with the two candidates in the east so close together, both are defeated.

Now, sir, as to the wreckers. Public opinion seems to be that Mr. Burnham obtained his nomination by an unfair manipulation of the delegates, and Mr. Garvin states that he was turned down dirty and public opinion thwarted. Now, sir, public opinion is a winner at the polls when the ballots are counted, and I am much mistaken if Mr. Burnham and Mr. Thompson on that day will not only be blown over, but will be blown over and snowed over and under, where real wreckers ought to be.

Yours,

"A PARTY CANDIDATE."

Norwood, March 3, 1908.

WILL WORK DURING EASTER

In Order to Get Away With the Sheffield Choir When it Comes to Canada in October.

IS MUCH ENTHUSIASM

Mail advices from Sheffield, Eng., are to the effect that there is so much enthusiasm over the nearing trip to Canada of the celebrated Sheffield Choir that some of the business houses have to re-arrange their holiday schedules altogether. Easter is the great holiday season for the workers of the north of England, many of them taking advantage of the spring holiday to get their first outing after the tedium of the winter. But this year those who are members of the Sheffield Choir are asking that they shall be allowed to work during the Easter holidays so that they may have more time coming to them when the choir comes to Canada in October. Every week finds the party growing bigger, and it now looks as if the bulk of the accommodation upon the special steamer will be occupied by the members of the choir and their friends, while the special train which will carry them to their various points in Canada will be a heavy one.

HAY PLENTIFUL TO-DAY AT MARKET

Price Has Not Changed—Large Sales This Morning.

About fifteen loads of hay were sold on the market before noon to-day. The price did not depart from the ordinary $17 and $18 a load. The farmers were present in larger numbers than usual, and the demand for hay was even greater than the supply.

WERE ENTERTAINED AT A BANQUET

Lindsay Post and Examiner Hockey Teams Renew Old Friendship.

SPEECHES WERE MADE

After the Post-Examiner game last night the visiting Lindsay players were the guests of the local team at an informal banquet in Long's Parlours. About twenty were present and enjoyed the spread and the social intercourse that was afforded. By their annual hockey contest these two establishments have become intimate and most cordial relations exist between the members of the hockey sevens and their supporters.

The usual toast list was dispensed with but Mr. McNulty, editor of the Post spoke on behalf of the visitors. He thanked the Examiner boys for the treatment accorded them and said that the annual games had come to be looked forward to with great pleasure. He explained the reasons for the score being as it was but promised that there would be a reversal in Lindsay. He also promised a return of the friendly after relations.

Mr. R. M. Glover on behalf of the Examiner acknowledged the kind remarks that had been made. The hockey contest created a friendly relationship between the two staffs which was greatly to be desired and commended. Last year's trip to Lindsay had been very much enjoyed and was looked forward to with great pleasure. He assured the Post players and supporters that the Examiner seven would go to Lindsay determined to maintain the lead.

The consumption of tea in England increased from 1 1-2 million pounds in 1740 to 117 million pounds in 1870, and to 241 million pounds in 1907. In Canada, since the introduction of "Salada" Tea, the consumption of tea is increasing in a like ratio.

Dear Sir,—

Re the discussion on the Carnegie grant.

My humble opinion is "take the money," no matter from what source it comes. We will have the satisfaction of putting it to a much better use. Would Gen. Booth refuse to accept a grant from Mr. Carnegie? I don't think so and no person can doubt the sincerity of Gen. Booth. The world has never seen his equal since Wesley's time.

Senator Ferguson Speaks On Carnegie Library Question

In St. Andrew's Church Sunday School—Was a Splendid Address—Many Take Part In The Discussion.

IN FAVOUR OF LIBRARY

In St. Andrew's Sunday school room last night Senator Ferguson of New Brunswick gave an eloquent and effective address on the Carnegie Library. The speaker was very strongly in favour of accepting Mr. Carnegie's money and pointed to several instances where money had been taken for public institutions from men held in the same light as Carnegie. He said he had yet to learn of one community which, after due consideration of this important question, did not accept the money offered by Mr. Carnegie towards the building of a library.

Hon. Mr. Ferguson hoped his appearance before an Ontario audience would not be regarded as an apparition. A gentleman belonging to the Commons had recently described life in the Senate as a state of blissful serenity. He was sorry he could not return the compliment as regards the Commons. This reminded him of a declaration made by the late David Mills in 1875 that a call to the Senate meant a companionship with Abraham, Isaac and Jacob. Twenty-five years later Mr. Mills was found knocking at the door of the Senate and sitting as one of the most venerable of the patriarchs.

He commended the citizens of Peterborough on their determination to found a first-class library. The university and even the high school were only available for the few; but the common school and the public library were for all the people. He recounted a movement in his native country district which took place fifty-two years ago in the founding of a small library. Of the young men who participated in that movement and benefited by it, one, Mr. Haythorne, became premier of the Island, and afterwards a Senator. Another distinguished himself in a broad field and his name became a household word in Canada. He referred to Dr. Grant, late principal of Queen's University. A third was now addressing the meeting, and owed whatever success he achieved in life to that movement.

When Peterborough became possessed of a well-furnished library, the equipment would benefit all classes of the people. On its shelves the merchant would find Canadian and other tariffs, the monthly bulletins of the Department of Trade and Commerce, our trade and navigation returns, and reports bearing on our commercial relations with other countries. The artisan could resort to the library and replenish his knowledge not only on labour problems, but on all subjects in connection with mechanical development. The railway or canal employee could get light on the many complicated questions connected with transportation, while the farmer would learn more surely to make two blades of grass grow where only one had grown before.

In general literature, any person could study British history as presented from the Tory standpoint by a Froude, and weigh it against the story as revealed with a Whig bias in the pages of Macaulay. Every boy and girl in Peterborough could trace the discovery, early settlement and development of the Dominion from the arrival of Cabot, Champlain and Cartier, through the struggle which ended on the Plains of Abraham, the coming of the Loyalists, the British emigration, the union of the two Canadas, and the crowning achievement of confederation.

On the shelves of such a library would be found the books of all our great British poets and the most attractive alcove in the whole place should be devoted to Canadian literature. A young country cannot hope to possess a literature equal to that of old and fully-developed communities, but that is no reason why we should not value what we have. Our Kirby, Parker, Duncan, Campbell, Sangster and Gordon are an advance guard of the great army which is one day to follow.

From the present day trend of thought discussion pro and con of the higher criticism would seem to be the all in all of religious literature, but the day will never come when such books as the Pilgrim's Progress will not be eagerly sought for and read by men and women.

Many people in Peterborough and elsewhere are wrestling with the question whether the city should accept the proferred gift from Andrew Carnegie on the ground that the money has not been honestly gotten. The churches have grappled with this question and do not appear to have strained their conscience by accepting similar benefactions. The speaker held strong views as to the immorality of much of the means used in these days in the making of money. The man, however, who rounded his hundreds of millions was not, in point of principle, one whit worse than his fellow who only made thousands, or even hundreds by the same means. If no money but such as could be shown to be honestly made could be accepted as a benevolence, he was afraid we could build few churches, and found fewer universities, hospitals and libraries. It would be necessary to keep offerings separate on all collection plates and empannel a jury to distinguish between tainted and untainted money.

But our friends who take the other side say we should not accept the gift of an alien. In effect, they warn us to beware of the Greeks who bring gifts. But almost as old an adage, and a much more sensible one, is—never look a gift horse in the mouth. The nations have not been in the habit of looking askance at each other in regard to matters of benevolence. Some of us are old enough to remember the benefactions of an American Peabody for the relief of the British poor, which was gratefully accepted. Quite recently we have the wonderful endowments of Cecil Rhodes for a common education of Anglo-Saxons and Teutons, and the United States did not spurn the gift because it came from an alien. Philanthropy knows no national boundary; "not pent-up Utica contracts its powers."

The gifts of a Peabody, a Rhodes, a Rockefeller and a Carnegie are, after all, but touches of nature which make all men kin,—

"Then let us pray that come it may,
As come it will for a' that,
When man to man the world o'er
Shall brithers be, and a' that."

DEATH OF J. L. HUGHES LAST NIGHT

A Well Known and Greatly Respected Citizen Passes to Rest.

46 YEARS A RESIDENT

Last night at the Nicholls Hospital one of the oldest and best known of our citizens, one held in the highest respect and esteem by all classes of citizens, passed to rest in the person of Mr. James Louis Hughes, 300 Park street. The deceased gentleman, though seventy-five years of age, was a man of robust physique who carried his years lightly and had the appearance of a much younger man. He was in good health until two or three months ago. His ailment though of a serious character did not develop acute symptoms till a few days ago. As late as last Saturday he was able to be about, and attended the market. But in the early part of the week, his condition became serious and he was removed to the Nicholls Hospital, where death ensued between ten and eleven o'clock last night.

The late Mr. Hughes was born in Prince Edward County near Picton. His first place of residence in adult life was Port Hope, where, in 1855, he was married to Miss Mary Sloan, who died about two years ago. Mr. Hughes in 1862 removed to Peterborough, where for the last forty-six years he has been an honoured and useful citizen. His business was a builder, and for many years he was in charge of construction—bridges and stations—on the old Midland Railway. He was also concerned in the erection of many of the important public and semi-public structures of Peterborough, notably the present drill shed and the George street Methodist church. He was also associated with the erection of many of the business buildings that adorn George street to-day. Several years ago he retired from active business to enjoy the fruits of the industry and prudence of his younger years. Mr. Hughes was a public-spirited citizen and took a warm interest in the welfare of the town. The little triangular park at the intersection of Downie, Charlotte and Park streets, will constitute a living monument to his public spirit. Though advanced in years, Mr. Hughes personally watched and cared for it, and it is largely to his efforts that it exists in its present state of growing attractiveness. He was a member of the town council for two terms, for a time a member of the Board of Education and was noted as a safe and prudent public servant.

In religion the late Mr. Hughes was a Methodist, he having been a member of that communion from the age of twenty years. He was associated with the congregation of the George street Methodist church till the establishment of the Charlotte street church of that denomination, of which he was a constant, consistent and devoted member till the time of his last illness. He was a member of the Trustee Board and Quarterly Official Board since the establishment of the church, and was for a time a class leader. He was in other ways actively identified with all the interests of the church and in all his church relations and relations as a citizen worthily won the great respect and esteem of all who knew him. He was a man of strong character and decided convictions, to which he gave consistent effect in all the relations he sustained to the church, his personal friends and the public at large. In politics Mr. Hughes was a Conservative but not a strong party man. He was in this as in other things broad-minded, and regarded his political duties as requiring an exercise tending to the greatest good of the community. He was a warm friend, a good neighbour, always prompt to help in time of trouble or sickness, and in fine, in all the relationships of life revealed in practice the qualities that constitute the highest standard of Christian manhood.

Mr. Hughes leaves behind him to mourn his loss a family of five sons and three daughters. The sons are Andrew Sloan Hughes, British Columbia; Fred Hughes, Spokane, Washington; James Franklin Hughes, Butte, Mont.; E. Howard Hughes, Montreal, and Gordon Bruce Hughes, Peterborough. The daughters are, Minnie, Mrs. (Rev.) R W Sharp, Edmonton, Alta.; Lizzie, Mrs. J Colin Grant, Toronto, and Ada, Mrs. W. T. Spencer, Marshall, Texas.

The funeral will take place from the family residence, 304 Park street, on Saturday afternoon, March 7th. Service at residence at 2.30. Funeral at 3 o'clock, to Little Lake Cemetery for interment.

AN ELECTRIC DISPLAY ON CAR

Woman Became Frightened at the Work of Circuit-Breaker.

A woman riding in a street car the other night had an experience which, while simple in itself, gave her a very bad scare. It was about dusk, and she was the only woman in the car, the other passengers being several men. The rails were covered with snow, and as a result the traffic was very hard. Finally the car came to a standstill and could not proceed any further. It was backed up, and then negotiated the difficulty, but of a sudden there was a flare, a rather loud noise, and the car was in darkness.

The cause of this was that the circuit-breaker had done its work, and when the circuit was broken there was a bright flash, and the loud click of the lever, and at the same instant all the lights went out. The lone woman who, like the rest of her sex, fears even a mouse, almost fainted at the electrical display.

The conductor pushed the lever back, but when the car started again the flashes and noise were repeated. The woman was so frightened that she finally left the car in an almost hysterical condition.

NEW ROOF AND EXTRA SEATS FOR GEORGE ST. METHODIST CHURCH

The Trustee Board of the George street Methodist church met last night and considered some matters for the improvement of the church. A new roof will be placed on the building and tenders will soon be invited for the work.

It was also decided to place the seats in the church closer together in order that two extra rows may be installed from north to south to provide for more and necessary accommodation.

The question of changing the lighting system from gas to electricity was another question discussed, but no action was taken last night in this respect.

Mr. D. W. Dumble was appointed secretary of the Board pro tem.

THE CLEVELAND SCHOOL DISASTER

Children Meet Awful Fate in a Fire Horror at Cleveland.

MANY TRAMPLED TO DEATH

Nearly 170 Victims — Flames Burst Out From Around Furnace In Basement — Spread With Astounding Rapidity—Exits Opened Inward and Became Blocked—Touching Tales at the Scene.

Cleveland, March 5.—Death in one of its most terrible forms claimed between 160 and 170 school children of the North Collinwood School in the Village of Collinwood, an eastern suburb yesterday, when the school building, catching fire from a defective furnace in the basement, was wrecked in the space of half an hour.

The building, being inadequately provided with fire escapes, the children were unable to make their way to the lower floors in time to escape the flames as they shot up from the basement and cut off egress. Starting about 9.30 o'clock in the basement from an over-heated furnace, the fire gained tremendous headway before its presence was noted. The fire drill was inaugurated at once and those in the rooms on the lower floors quickly moved out of the building. But when the panic-stricken little ones in the upper rooms attempted to make their way to the stairway, the jam of uncontrolled and fear-stricken children grew until but few were able to extricate themselves, and they perished almost within reach of safety.

Various and unconfirmed statements are made as to the cause of the fire, and also that the doors of the building had been locked at the front entrance, while but one door of the rear entry was unfastened. The janitor, Fritz Herter, himself bereaved of three children, says the doors were open, according to custom. At any rate, the congestion of fleeing children in the hallway below effectually barred the way, and the little ones went to their death totally unable to evade the flames.

School Overcrowded.

Within three hours after the start of the fire it had burned itself out, and the work of recovering the bodies proceeded. The village fire department had only two engines, and neither, upon arrival after the alarm was given, was at all effective in stemming the flames. The school was a two-storey and attic brick building, constructed about six years ago. It was overcrowded with pupils and it was found necessary to utilize the attic for those of the ages between 6 and 8. Nearly all the children were killed in the mass at the first floor door, which finally was opened by men from the Lake Shore Railroad shops, who hurried to the scene. A wall of flame had formed across it, however, and most of the children already were dead by the doors swinging.

Approximately 300 children attended the school, which had nine rooms.

Janitor Herter could remember little of what happened after the fire started.

"I was sweeping in the basement," he said. "When I looked up and saw a wisp of smoke curling out from beneath the iron stairway. I ran to the fire alarm and pulled the gong that sounded throughout the building. Then I ran first to the front and then to the rear doors. I can't remember what happened next, except that I saw the flames shooting all about and the little children running down through them screaming. Some fell at the entrance and others stumbled over them. I saw my little Helen among them. I tried to pull her out, but the flames drove me back. I had to leave my little child to die."

Herter was badly burned about the head.

Fated Teacher a Heroine.

Miss Catherine Weiler, one of the nine teachers in the school, lost her life in a vain effort to marshal the pupils of her class and lead them to safety. She died in the crush at the rear door. Her room was on the second floor and when the fire alarm sounded she marched her pupils out on to the hall, thinking it was only a fire drill. There the truth dawned upon both teachers and pupils and control was lost. The children, in their frenzy, plunged into the struggling mass ahead of them. Miss Weiler formerly lived in Detroit, and was educated in Toledo. Miss Fisk, another teacher, was taken out alive, but she cannot live.

Recovering the Bodies.

Burning through the cross supports of the first floor, the flames passed upward until all three floors crashed into a smouldering pile into the basement. After the fire had practically burned itself out, the work of rescuing the bodies was begun by firemen and railroad employes from the Lake Shore shops. The railroad company turned over one of its buildings nearby to be used as a temporary morgue, and there the charred and blackened little bodies were removed as fast as they could be dug from the ruins. Within five hours practically all had been recovered.

They were placed in rows in the Lake Shore shop. Identification was made only by means of clothing or trinkets. The fire had swept away nearly all resemblance to human features in the majority of instances. Distracted parents soon began to gather, and the work of identifying the blackened and mangled corpses began.

Was a Gruesome Task.

The gruesome task of taking out the pieces and bits of human remains was one of horror. A line of rescuers was formed, backed by half a dozen ambulances. As the bodies were untangled from the debris they were passed along to the stretchers and thence loaded in the ambulances. Mercifully covered with blankets, the pitiful sights were veiled from the crowd of curious gathered about the entrance to the structure. As fast as a load was obtained it was driven away to the morgue.

The sights of the human charnel house caused the men delving into the mass of burned flesh to hesitate, but the work had to be done quickly, so they smothered their feelings for the time being as they tenderly handled all that was mortal of the little ones.

Terrible Scene at Morgue.

At the temporary morgue in the Lake Shore shops the scene became fourfold in the intensity of human sufferings as fathers, mothers, brothers and sisters passed up and down the lines formed of one hundred and sixty corpses. To facilitate identification the bodies were numbered as they were received at the morgue. The first identification was made by the mother of Nels and Tommy Thimpson, aged 6 and 9 years old respectively. The heads and arms had been burned from both bodies, but the mother recognize the shoes on her children's feet. And so the disheartening work went on, accentuated now and then by a piercing shriek or plaintive moan as a loved one was recognized by clothing or token, such as ring or necklace.

About the burned school house there are but few residences. In one of these Mrs. Clark Sprung lived. Her little boy, Alvon, aged 7, was a pupil in the second grade. When the fire started the mother ran over to the school and arrived when the first floor was a mass of flames. At a window on that floor she saw the face of her boy. He recognized her and pleaded for help.

Woman's Bravery.

Rushing across the street, Mrs. Sprung secured a step ladder and placed it against the window. Climbing up she reached for her boy. She caught him by the hair. It burned off in her hand and the lad fell back into the flames.

Desolation unspeakable hangs over the vicinity of the school, and the whole village of Collinwood. The school board met in special session at the temporary morgue late yesterday afternoon to discuss the calamity, while the coroner prepared to hold an inquest to determine the cause and place the responsibility for the fire.

ANARCHISTS THREATEN TOWN.

Demand $750 Within a Week—More Arrests In Chicago.

Chicago, March 5.—Charles Yaniatis, 35 years old, and William Stadlweiser, 34 years old, alleged anarchists, were arrested yesterday in connection with the attempted assassination of Chief of Police George M. Shippy.

Lazarus Averbuch, who attempted to assassinate Chief Shippy and was himself slain, was one of the body of men who called upon the corporation counsel several weeks ago to secure permission for the parade of the "unemployed." This permission was denied.

It is thought that the county will be obliged to inter the body, which has not been claimed.

A despatch from Goshen, Ind., says that Wawaka, a town of 300 inhabitants, located in Noble County, has received a letter post-marked New York City, in which $750 is demanded from the town within two weeks, failing which the town will be blown to atoms.

A vigilance committee is being organized and officers will meet every train pulling into Wawaka for the next two weeks.

Denver, March 5.—Guiseppe Alla, the slayer of Father Leo Heinrichs, is declared absolutely sane by four experts.

Floods Bring Poverty.

Pekin, March 5.—The Chinese Government has been informed by some American engineers who visited the district that the Peiho changed its course for a distance of sixty miles between Tung Chou and Tien Tsin, following the inundations of last August and September.

This was the first the Government knew of the occurrence, its own officials having failed to report the matter. The floods in the Peiho Valley have impoverished tens of thousands of people, and foreigners have expended considerable sums of money to relieve the winter famine in this region.

Suffered From Heart and Nerve Troubles FOR THE Last Ten Years.

The heart has supplied to it two sets of nerves, one set which quickens, the other which slows its action. The proper action of these nerves, so important to the well-being of the heart, depends upon the general condition of the nervous system. If there be nerve derangement of any kind it is bound to produce all the various phenomena of heart derangement.

Knowing the intricate structure of the heart, and being aware how diseases of the nerves affect the heart, we have combined in Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a treatment that will cure all forms of nervous disorders as well as act on the heart itself, and in this is the secret of their success in curing so many cases of heart trouble which have defied all other treatment.

Mrs. John Riley, Dorset, Ont., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from heart and nerve troubles for the last ten years. After trying many remedies and doctoring for two years, without the least benefit, I decided to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial. I am thankful to say that, after using nine boxes, I am entirely cured, and would recommend them to all sufferers."

SPEED OF AUTOS ON THE ROADS

Mr. Bowyer's Bill to Regulate Speed Discussed in House.

RIGHTS OF PEDESTRIANS

Premier Whitney's Attitude—Admits Problem Is a Puzzling One—How to Deal With Reckless Motormen —Committee to Be Appointed— What Power Commission Has Cost — Bills Removed.

Toronto, March 5.—The Government will appoint a special committee to deal with the whole automobile question, and to this committee will be referred the various bills of private members now before the House.

Mr. P. H. Bowyer, (East Kent) moved the second reading of his bill to regulate the speed and operation of motor vehicles on highways, by compelling them to stop and turn aside on meeting funerals. The bill, Mr. Bowyer said, was prompted by a sad and vexacious affair that occurred in Kent County when a funeral was disturbed by a reckless motorman.

The Prime Minister was inclined to concur in the bill. "We shall have to grapple with this whole puzzling question of the automobiles," said Mr. Whitney. "It is probable that the only practical conclusion in relation thereto is to be guided from year to year by the experience of what is found. It is well that all should understand that the highways are primarily for foot passengers and then for horse vehicles. Motorists must remember that the rights of other people are the principal rights. Yet we must recognize that the motor-car has come to stay. It is a more serious situation than that created by the bicycle. It is a question of time till the horses become accustomed to the motors. This has come about in England, but it is very different here. In the rural districts, therefore, great care must be taken to safeguard the rights of the people. At the same time it would be unwise to enact ill-considered legislation. It has been suggested that motors be prohibited on certain days and on certain highways. Such measures are unworkable and of no use.

"I frankly confess," continued the Prime Minister, "that I am at present unable to suggest a solution. I think that it is well that all persons interested should consider carefully and arrive at a conclusion upon which the matter might be settled.

"Speaking individually and not as head or member of the Government," Mr. Whitney concluded, "I think that on all rural highways the driver of a motor car should instantly stop on the approach of a horse vehicle driven by a woman, get out and tender his assistance till the woman gets by.

"I believe it to be the duty of the Government to refer all automobile bills to a carefully selected committee, which will later be appointed. In the meantime I suggest that the bill of the hon. member for East Kent pass its present reading."

Mr. Bowyer's bill accordingly was adopted.

Mr. Duncan C. Ross (West Middlesex) said he was glad to hear the Prime Minister proclaim the primary rights of the pedestrian and asked that the committee appointed be urged to consider the principle of his (Mr. Ross') bill, to increase the penalties and provide imprisonment for infractions.

Hon. Mr. Whitney said all these things would be considered.

Mr. Ross said that last year the province collected $8,080 in licenses and numbers during the past year. He suggested that a portion of this money be utilized in engaging a special detective force to see the law is enforced. Mr. Ross said that under existing conditions motorists almost invariably escaped and the rural residents suffered a real grievance.

Speaking of the number of bills which had been presented for amendments to the Assessment Act, Mr. Whitney said that he was going to ask that all be withdrawn and the Act left intact this session. A great deal of time and labor had been spent in preparing it and the Government was prepared at the next session to appoint a special committee to revise and deal with the whole act.

This removes many bills from the order paper.

In response to a question from Mr. Smith (Sault Ste. Marie) Hon. Mr. Foy said Hon. Adam Beck, George Pattinson and P. W. Ellis were appointed hydro-electric commissioners by order-in-council on July 5, 1905, to inquire and report as to present and probable demand for hydraulic and electric power. Hon. Adam Beck, George Pattinson and John Milne were appointed new commissioners on Jan. 23, 1906, and the Hydro-Electric Commission was appointed June 7, 1906. The present commissioners were Hon. Adam Beck, Hon. J. S. Hendrie and W. K. McNaught.

The expenses of the commissioners and all they had drawn to date was:

1906—Hon. Adam Beck, traveling and other expenses, $400.

1906—P. W. Ellis, honorarium, $600.

1907—Hon. Adam Beck, traveling and other expenses, $1,000.

1907—John Milne, traveling and other expenses $300.

The cost to the province of the commission since its creation had been: 1906, $6,639.95; 1906, $25,762.34; 1907, $40,524.21. Total $79,926.98.

Magistrate Woodcock of Newmarket Faces Serious Charges.

ARRESTED ON CROWN'S ORDER

Information Laid as Result of Evidence Given at Investigation by Judge Winchester—Constable Savage Also Held—Alleged Perjury and Fraud on County In Connection With Cases He Tried.

Toronto, March 5.—T. J. Woodcock, police magistrate for the town of Newmarket and justice of the peace for the County of York, who has been suspended from hearing cases by the Attorney-General's Department, pending the outcome of an investigation by Judge Winchester into the administration of justice by himself and county constables, was taken into custody at High Constable Ramsden's office, Adelaide street, at noon yesterday. The arrest was made upon two warrants sworn out under instructions from Crown Attorney Corley. Detectives Mackie and Wallace made the arrest.

Woodcock was later charged with conspiracy to defraud the Province of Ontario and the County of York of the sum of $7.90.

County Constable John Savage is charged jointly with the magistrate upon this warrant. Savage was arrested at Barrie, where he is also employed as Grand Trunk constable, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, at the request of the Toronto police.

Woodcock was admitted to bail in the sum of $1,000.

The Perjury Charges.

The perjury charges arise out of evidence given by Woodcock before Judge Winchester in the present investigation. The first charge comes out of Woodcock's evidence with regard to the case of William Gray, a lad who appeared before him at Mount Albert upon two charges of theft. To both of these Gray pleaded guilty at a single hearing at Mount Albert. These facts were attested to before Judge Winchester by six witnesses. Upon Woodcock's books appeared a charge for costs of a hearing at Mount Albert of one case and a further charge of $7.90 mileage for subsequent hearing at Toronto. Woodcock testified before the judge that, after receiving a plea of guilty to one charge at Mount Albert, he had heard the second case in Toronto, when a plea of guilty was again entered.

The second jury charge arises out of a damage action by a Georgina Inland Reservation Indian, Big Canoe, who brought action against one Boyd, employed by the Gooderham & Worts Co., for damage to his sleigh, which was demolished by falling through a hole in the ice made by Boyd. Woodcock heard the case and awarded the Indian $20 damages. This was paid Woodcock by the Gooderham Co., and upon Woodcock's books and from his testimony before the judge it appeared that he had paid the $20 to Big Canoe, whereas the Indian swore at the investigation that he had not received one cent of this money from Woodcock.

The conspiracy charge, in which the names of Woodcock and Constable Savage are coupled, arises from the Gray case, where it is alleged that Woodcock and Savage conspired to defraud the county and province of $7.90, mileage to Toronto, it being alleged that they concocted the story of the second hearing at Toronto to secure that sum. Savage swore to the second and imaginary trial of Gray at Toronto in his testimony before Judge Winchester.

Magistrate's Career.

Magistrate Woodcock is 60 years of age. He was born in Leeds County. He started life working in the woods and carried on a lumbering business and ran a store near Mount Albert from 1875 till 1878, when he went to Newmarket, where he was employed by the G.T.R., furnishing ties. Later he entered Judge Morgan's law offices, where he remained a number of years. Since then he has filled the position of warden and county councillor. For eight years he was county auditor for the province.

Struck at Railway Crossing.

Brighton, March 5.—Herbert Poole, resident of Smithfield, while returning home from Trenton about dark in a one-horse cutter, was hit by a freight train at Bush Crossing, four miles west of Trenton. The horse was killed and the cutter completely demolished. Poole escaped uninjured.

DOUGHTY LITTLE CHIEFTAINS TRIM BRIDGENORTH HANDILY

The unbeaten Chieftains won their biggest victory of the season last night when they took into camp the Bridgenorth City League team in a splendid game, in which the "Mud-Hens" were decisively defeated by 4 goals to 2. The "kids" were ahead all the way, leading at half-time by 1-0. Manager Thirnbeck's team, whol average only 15 years of age, were stacked up against a team years older and many pounds heavier, but had it over their opponents at all stages, playing about as pretty an article of hockey as has been seen at Brock street rink this season. It was a treat to see that great little forward line flashing down the ice passing and taking passes cleverly and working right in on the nets for a shot on Belleghem, who, as usual, showed a persistent desire to keep the puck away from his nets. "Another bunch of Colts," was the remark of an old hockey man who saw the game, and he had, as usual, sized up the situation accurately. Coupled with speed and gameness to burn, the youngsters appeared to have mastered all the intricacies of combination and team play, and the way in which they manipulated the rubber and bore in on the flags was at once an inspiration and a delight. And they were game all the way, too, and when Bridgenorth showed signs of giving them the gaff the kids took their bumps without a murmur, and came back for more, never ceasing their attack on the Bridgenorth nets. There was no let up when they lost the puck, either, for back would come the forward line, often overtaking the big Chemong Lake advance guard and taking the rubber from them or else bothering them so effectively that the defence was enabled to take care of nearly all attacks with ease. The exhibition they gave was clever at all times, and they had Bridgenorth headed off from start to finish.

Bridgenorth had the weight and a good defence, and that about let them out. Their forward line was so smothered up by the speed and fast back-checking of the Chieftains' quartette that they had little chance, and what opportunities they had were thrown away by failing to play combination, their work in this respect showing in marked contrast to the sharp, clever passing of the Chieftains. All the youngsters played grand hockey from start to finish, but Hugh Burritt, the youngest and lightest player on the ice, was the favourite with the crowd. His stick-handling was tricky and pretty, and he had behind it a turn of speed that allowed him to get away with many telling rushes. Crane at rover played his usual effective game, both on the defence and attack, while Hall was always in his place at centre to take the passes from the wings for shots on goal. Fortye was moved up from cover to left wing and played a great game along the boards. The defence was equally as strong as the forwards. Jas. Giroux in goal made some grand stops with the Bridgenorth forwards right on on top of him. Munro at point was impregnable on the defence, and his clever rushes always relieved the pressure. While Wallis at cover was effective at all times, breaking up many rushes.

Ernie Belleghem played a great game in goal for Bridgenorth, especially in the first half when the youngsters were hurling them in at him from all sides, only to see him weed the most of them out. Jopling was the pick of the rest of the team, but his individual rushes were not of much avail against the Chieftains' defence.

L. Derocher was referee and gave general satisfaction, there being little complaint about his work. The teams—

The kids went right at their big opponents from the start, and Belleghem was called upon to stop a blizzard of shots, several combination rushes right off the reel threatening to score. H. Belleghem was ruled off for slashing, and then Munro and Cullen had a set-to and were laid away. Finally on a pretty piece of combination, Burritt to Crane to Hall, the latter beat Belleghem from close in, and the score was 1-0 in favour of the Chieftains. Hall and Munro were penalized together for throwing their sticks at the puck, and playing five men to seven, the red and black team more than held their own.

Soon after half-time Burritt made it 2-0 with a pretty rush and shot. Belleghem was railroaded once again for tripping, but returned in time to score on a pass from Cullen. Score, Chieftains 2, Bridgenorth 1. Conway was penalized for tripping.

Fortye and Hall got away together and after some clever passing the Chieftains' centre man scored again, Chieftains 3, Bridgenorth 1.

Soon afterwards Crane found the net again for the Chieftains after a combination rush, and the score was 4-1.

Bridgenorth was given credit for another score before time was called. There was a scrimmage near the nets and the umpire's hand went up, but it looked very much as if the puck had been shoved through the side of the net. In the argument that followed, the Bridgenorth umpire struck Goalkeeper Giroux and the crowd invaded the ice. Peace was, however, soon restored with no damage done, and the timer's whistle ended the game within a few minutes. Final score, Chieftains 4, Bridgenorth 2.

EXAMINER TEAM WON FROM THE LINDSAY POST AGGREGATION

Great is the Examiner hockey team. Last week they administered a crushing defeat to the Review, and last night the husky seven representing this sheet followed up that victory by taking a fall out of "Slats" Reilly's Lindsay Post "Typos" by a 3-2 score. It was the third occasion that the two teams have clashed, and for the first time one seven has scored more than the other. Last year the Post seven succeeded in drawing with the Examiner here, the score being 3-3, while in the return game in Lindsay the teams were once more on an even footing, with four goals to their credit.

The Examiner team had little trouble in proving their superiority last night, leading at half-time by 3-0, while Lindsay should not have scored. Craig kindly keeping himself out of the way of two stray shots that were hurled at him in the second half and which had no license to score. The game was a mixture of hockey and golf, while at times one would have imagined from the way the players bunched that a rugby game was in progress. The winners had the better of the play at all stages, and the score should have been bigger, although the Scugog newspapermen put up a hard defence battle. A fairly large crowd saw the contest and seemed to enjoy it. The best of good feeling was in evidence at all times, and the game was very clean, only one man, Henry of the Examiner team, being laid away for tripping.

The winners started the scoring early in the game. Lindsay had a couple of shots in the first minute, but after that the puck travelled down to their end of the rink and stayed there. After a few minutes' play, Theobald carried the puck down the ice and centred to Huston, who hammered it past Connell. A few minutes afterwards he repeated the trick on a pass from Henry. Before half-time Clarke made it 3 to 0 with a long lift from centre, which landed in the net.

Soon after half-time the Examiner scored again. Huston passed from the corner to Henry, who heaved one at the net. Williams stopped it, but Burridge slammed the rubber in. Lindsay got their first goal a few moments afterwards. Henry passed out in front of the goal, and there was not one there but "Rats" Barry, who scored an easy tally. The Scugogites followed up the attack by scoring again, Reilly carrying the puck down the wing and scoring on a long shot from the boards. Before time was up, however, the Examiner's lead was lengthened, Theobald scoring on a rebound after a shot by Burridge had been stopped.

Rolly Glover was on the Examiner line-up and was a tower of strength both on the attack and defence. No Lindsay forwards were allowed to roam around loose near the nets, and his rushes were always dangerous. Clarke at cover was in the way of all the Lindsay rushes and did great work. All the forwards played well, playing good combination and taking advantage of every opportunity to score.

For Lindsay, Barry and Reilly were the stars. They are the only members of last year's team left and both played good hockey, Reilly tearing off a few rushes down the boards, a la Koyle. Williams at point and Connell in goal stopped a number of shots that looked good for goals, and Henley was effective, if not brilliant, at cover.

Geo. Lynch refereed the game and his rulings were satisfactory to everyone. The teams—

Remarkable Tribute Paid To Hartley By Tom Slater

Buffalo Man Who Finished Second In The Race In a Letter To The Examiner Tells Of Peterboro Man's Great Pluck—More Fit For Bed On The First Day.

UNDER A DISADVANTAGE

The following letter from Tom Slater, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was second in last week's great walking match in Kansas City, is a remarkable tribute to the plucky work done by Dave Hartley in that contest and shows under what disadvantages the Canadian was labouring in endeavouring to beat the top-notchers in the walking game. As for the challenge it will have to wait until Hartley is home again.

Detroit, Mich., March 3, 1908.

Sporting Editor Peterborough Examiner.

Dear Sir:—Will you kindly allow me space in your paper to issue a challenge to any Heel and toe walker in the Dominion of Canada, any distance will suit me from ten to fifty miles. I am on my way to Buffalo, N. Y., from Kansas City, Mo., where I was a contestant in the six-day race that closed there last Saturday, and I finished second. I had the pleasure of meeting David Hartley of your city in that race and in justice to Mr. Hartley I wish you would inform all his Peterooorough friends through your paper that a gamer man never lived. He arrived in Kansas City a week in advance of the race, and the climate and water affected him so much that on the day the race started he was more fit for a bed than a six-day race. Then he had no care. He had a fellow looking after him for the first three days who knew absolutely nothing about training. In fact, I feel safe in saying that he did Hartley more harm than good. Towards the close of the race some gentlemen took an interest in Mr. Hartley and the way he improved was nothing short of wonderful. If he had the same care all through the race he would have carried home higher honours. There was a limit of 260 miles, and every man had to do this in order to get in the prize money.

Hartley did it, but it is safe to say he will not forget for a long time the punishment he took on that last day of the greatest race ever walked in America. I, as well as everyone else, who witnessed his great pluck could not help but admire him. In fact I helped him all I could to do the limit, and was amazed when I was accused on the following morning by the loafer who was taking care of him, or rather taking care of his money, of trying to stop him from winning a prize, and I am inclined to think that "Dave" believed it was so, because he is easily led and not accustomed to the ways of those "grafters" who follow those six-day walkers and try to get their hard-earned money. I know them all and they don't bother me. I always have a good experienced trainer and that is the reason why I am so successful in my races, and if Mr. Hartley goes away from home to do any more racing I would advise him to take a man along.

I have lived a good part of my life in Canada and have been in your city on several occasions; have always been treated well there and why should I want to do a Canadian a wrong, especially when it meant nothing to me? I don't know if this will interest you or not. I am writing more to try and explain to Hartley and his friends why he did not make a much better showing, when I know he can. As the matter now stands I will walk David Hartley a match race of fifty miles, and if he don't care to cross the border again I will meet him in any city in Canada. The contest must, of course, take place on an in-door track.

Thanking you for any favours you may do for me, I am

Respectfully yours.
TOM. SLATER.

DAVE BELLAND WANTS RACE WITH WALTER KNOX HERE ON MAY 24

The Examiner has received a letter from Dave Bellard, formerly of Peterborough and now of Quebec, in which he refers to his defeat of Archie Harris in a hundred yards race in Boston last week. The time was caught inside of ten seconds. Two thousand people saw the contest. Bellard wishes to arrange a race with Walter Knox, of Orillia here on May 24th, as he wants to show Peterborough people that he can beat the Orillia crack. He will be here in May, before going to England to take part in the Olympic games.

"Dave" offers to give Knox a handicap of one yard in 100 in a race for a medal, with Fred McGrath, of Peterborough, as referee. In the case of Knox not accepting Bellard would like to meet Bobby Keir, of Hamilton.

The ex-Peterborough sprinter has incidentally lost sight of the fact that Knox has been suspended by the C. A. A. U. and that therefore Bellard's amateur standing would be in danger in case of a race.

STRATHCONAS PLAY IN TRENTON

Will Meet the Fast Bay of Quinte Team To-morrow Night.

The Strathconas City League team have arranged an exhibition game in Trenton for to-morrow night, and will send down a strong team in the hope of taking a fall out of the fast Bay of Quinte bunch. The Trenton team has not been defeated this year. They have been playing independent hockey and have cleaned up everything in the district by big scores, beating Cobourg and Port Hope on their own rinks. The Straths will have to move some to secure a victory over such a bunch, but the locals are in fair shape and should give a fair account of themselves.

CRESSMAN'S AHEAD AS USUAL

Defeated a Combination Team at Brock Street Rink Last Night.

Cressman's hockey team won another victory last night at Brock street rink, when they defeated a picked team representing the J. C. Turnbull and Rich. Hall & Son, by a score of one goal to nothing. At the half time neither team had scored. The game was just as hard fought and as exciting as the score would indicate. Miss Hazel Craig refereed the game and gave every satisfaction to both teams.

Mr. B. Dunsford, formerly with Dr. Johnston here, and now in Port Hope, has developed into a prominent horseman. He has four speedy horses at the Queen's Hotel there and expects to bring them to Peterborough on the occasion of the first opportunity. The horses are City Queen, Hazel Wilkes, Harry Keswick and Baby Miller, the latter being a green trotter which Mr. Dunsford is rounding into form.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

The Toronto News has the following dope:

Evidently "pro." hockey has come to stay, the knocks and bewailing attitude of the O.H.A. officers notwithstanding. From Peterborough, one of the homes of hockey players, and one of the best sporting cities in Canada, preparations are being made for a crack at the pro. hockey game, although 'tis said by many old-timers that this will not be the first venture. The present proposal is to form a league with Belleville, Picton and Port Hope, and the promoters, who are all local men, are confident of its success. Hockey in Peterborough this winter, with a losing intermediate O.H.A. team, has not been a success, and a small debt of $100, which is owing the rink management, has not made the latter any too friendly towards O.H.A. hockey, unless teams of the old calibre can be produced. And then again, in Peterborough, as in other towns, it has been found that a winning hockey team is the best of advertisements for the rink, which is used on off nights for skating, and the huge crowd that used to pack the rink has dwindled down to a corporal's guard, with the result that many anxious eyes are being cast at the dividend sheet.

• • • •

The Knox church Boys' Club juniors challenge the Alerts of the North end, to a game of hockey to be played on the Knox church rink on Saturday night at 7 o'clock.

• • • •

The hockey season in Edmonton is not over by any means. A series of games have been arranged between a picked Saskatoon team and the Edmonton Seniors, to take place next Monday and Tuesday nights. This team is after the Record Shield and from current reports are satisfied they can win it. The Edmonton team will line up as in the last games. The rink management think they can have the ice in condition for the games if there is enough frost to freeze an orchid.

• • • •

• • • •

For the third time this season St. Andrew's Men's Guild team will clash with Knox Church team to-night at 10 o'clock at Brock street rink. The first games resulted in a tie and the second was won by St. Andrew's by 4 to 3. St. Andrew's will line up as follows and all players are asked to be on hand at the rink at 9.45 sharp:

Goal—Campbell.
Point—Macdonald.
Cover—Clark.
Rover—Reid.
Centre—Curry.
Right—Richardson.
Left—Dorner.
W. Rose will referee.

• • • •

One of the fastest games of the season will be played at Brock street rink to-morrow night, between seven and eight o'clock, by the Matthews' Port Stickers and the Bell Ringers. The latter defeated their opponents by a score of 4 to 1 about three weeks ago, so that there is great rivalry between the teams.

• • • •

The Shamrocks have challenged the Beavers to a game of hockey, and it will be played on Saturday morning March 7th, from 10 to 11 o'clock on the north end rink. There is no doubt that there will be a fast game between the two. The line-ups will be as follows:—

Shamrocks.		Beavers.
	Goal
Armstrong		Clark
	Point.
Murphy		Thompson
	Cover point.
Carew		Dallier
	Rover.
Nelson		Coughlin

HOME FAT REDUCER

Works Rapidly and Safely—Requires No Exercising and Allows You to Eat What You Like—Cut This Out.

For the benefit of those who wish to reduce their flesh quickly and safely, we will give the receipt and directions in full for a simple household remedy that can be obtained at trifling cost from any good drug store: 1-2 ounce Marmola, 3-4 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic and 4 3-4 ounces Syrup Simplex. All three are cheap and wholesome, but you should take care to get an unbroken package, so that you get Marmola and not a substitute. When you get home mix the three by shaking them together in a large bottle and take one teaspoonful after each meal and at bedtime.

Follow these directions and you will have the best fat-reducer that money can buy. It will take off the flesh at the rate of at least two pounds a week without disarranging the stomach or causing wrinkles, while, best of all, no exercising or dieting is required to help it out. You can get results and at the same time take things easy and eat what you like—as much as you like—and whenever you like.

Stopped Doukhobor Funeral.

Fort William, March 5.—John Chlin, one of the Doukhobor pilgrims, died Monday night and the band Tuesday endeavored to carry out his funeral service in a manner that soon had them in conflict with the civic authorities, and which ended with the police taking possession of the corpse and turning it over to one of the local undertakers for burial.

Old age, starvation and lack of medical treatment is what caused the death of the man, who, according to reports, had been lying around the house in a naked and dying state for some time past, while the rest of the band looked on in perfect indifference to his fate, their wild belief leading them to think that no earthly power could benefit him.

The funeral procession was a very striking one, the body being wrapped in a blanket and drawn on a hand sleigh by six of the band, while about 30 followed behind chanting their quaint dirge.

Met Fearful Death.

Toronto, March 5.—The traces of a tragedy on the engine of a C.N.O. train, which reached the station on Tuesday night, were proved yesterday morning when the mangled remains of Fred Chinn, a laborer living near Maple, were found on the track.

Chinn is said to have gone to the agent at Maple and asked for a ticket to King. This was refused and he started to walk there on the railway tracks. There were great heaps of snow on the sides of the track and any man caught there by the train would have no chance to get away without being killed.

One leg and arm and portions of his body were found miles up the track. Coroner Robinson of Kleinberg will hold an inquest to-night.

London, March 5.—(C.A.P.)—A lively debate took place in the House of Commons on the food duties amendment, favoring a preference on colonial wheat. It was defeated by 293 to 90.

Lloyd-George aroused the Opposition to cheers by admitting the question was a live issue.

Temperance members of the Commons presented Rev. Joseph Oliver of Sarnia, Ont., with an address in recognition of his able lectures on the working of Canadian liquor laws throughout the country.

LABELLING THE RESULT.

The result of the New Brunswick general elections, which put Mr. Hazen, the leader of the Opposition, in power, is claimed as a great Conservative victory. Mr. Hazen himself, in his speech after the returns were completed, said distinctly that it was not a Conservative victory. He said:

"In this fight I had the support of a large number of Liberals at the polls. I do not claim it as a victory for the Conservative party. • • The result today is not a defeat for the Federal Government."

Party lines have not been closely drawn in New Brunswick. Though, in the past, a Liberal has been at the head of the Government, there have almost always, if not always, been Conservative members in the Cabinet. It is stated that Mr. Hazen's Cabinet will include Liberal membership. It is a peculiarity of New Brunswick's that the line of political cleavage is not between Liberal and Conservative, but between the Provincial and Federal Governments. There are numerous instances where a man is a Liberal in local politics and an opponent of the Federal Government, while there are many who are Conservative in Provincial politics, and favourable to the Federal Government. Mr. Hazen frankly says he does not regard the result of the recent elections as a defeat of the Federal Government, nor does he "claim it as a victory for the Conservative party." This latter is what is to be borne in mind in view of the loud boasts of the Conservative journals. The Mail claims it as "a Conservative sweep"—in letters as deep as an adult grasshopper. But the leader of the New Brunswick Government says it is not a Conservative victory. No one is better qualified than Mr. Hazen to label the result correctly.

EDITORIAL NOTES

China is now threatened with a "yellow peril." Japan talks of war with the Celestial Empire unless certain concessions in regard to seized vessels are made.

The increase in Ontario's mineral output of nearly two millions of dollars was largely due to increased production of silver. Ontario's little cloud of financial depression certainly had a silver lining.

A deputation has called upon the Ontario Government for $5,000 to send athletes to the Olympic games. If there is a prize for strong language, Hon. Mr. Whitney should be sent by all means. He would bring back the laurels.

Mr. James Andrews wishes, says the Norwood Register, to thank the forty-four delegates who voted for him at the recent convention, also the eight who stood by and were refused the right to vote, which would have given him a majority of four.

The decrease of 15 per cent. in the deaths due to consumption, ascribed to the preventive and educative efforts of the National Sanitarium Association, should arouse governments and philanthropists to the necessity of active co-operation in staying the ravages of the white plague.

We are informed on reliable authority, says the Norwood Register, that there is a probability of Mr. James Andrews, of Asphodel, being brought out as an Independent Conservative in the next Provincial elections, owing to the dissatisfaction of some of the party over the recent Conservative Convention at Norwood.

The factious character of the Conservative Opposition in Parliament is illustrated by their attitude to the French treaty, which was denounced by many members of the Conservative Opposition as hostile to the best interests of Canadian trade. The hollowness of their objections is shown by the fact that when the adoption of the treaty came to vote, only five Conservative members stood up in Opposition to its adoption.

The growing power and influence of the press is measured by the growing power and influence of the Canadian Press Association, which has reached an age qualifying it to celebrate its silver jubilee. At the beginning it was little and unknown; now it wields an influence which is felt in Government circles, and can command the recognition of dignitaries at its annual banquets. The one this year is honoured by the presence of the Governor-General and the Lieutenant-Governor. More power to the Canadian Press Association.

"Travel pass through a city in Canada in the early morning, after leaving a railway station during the winter, without counting the number of open windows that I see, and I pass through street after street apparently without a cranny or a crack through which the free air from outside can penetrate the house, and I reflect upon the way in which the poor people, out of sheer ignorance, are manufacturing consumption by preventing the blessed air of heaven from coming in and saving them from becoming victims of that plague."—Earl Grey, at Tuberculosis Conference.

MAKE THEM OVER.

Chief Justice Howell, of Winnipeg, the Montreal Herald points out, reminds the people of this country that they may have a duty towards the foreigners in their midst, as well as a punishment to exact for any crimes that they may commit. It is quite true that the need of educating and enlightening our foreign population is being a little forgotten in the momentary wave of resentment against their bad behaviour. In the case of our own Italians, however—and they are a very striking case in point in the matter of disorderly foreigners—the best thing we can do for them and the first thing we can do for them is to teach them that in Canada they cannot kill even one another with impunity. It is to be feared that the Court of King's Bench is the only place where that lesson can be effectively taught.

A POINT TO REMEMBER.

Ottawa Free Press.

An answer to a question given in the House of Commons the other day by Hon. Frank Oliver is illuminative of the expense to which the country is being put by the Conservative campaign of "investigation" and scandal manufacturing. The Minister of the Interior was able to ggive a most effective answer to the Opposition charge that he had been withholding returns, by stating that, so far this session, his department had brought down 26 returns and answered 93 questions, as well as producing 26 original files. In addition, he added that altogether his department had produced no fewe than 236 files before the House of its committees.

This is a record of which any department may well be proud, even if the work has involved the diversion of the time of the employees of the department from their legitimate occupation to a greater extent than ever.

And the point which Liberals the country over should impress upon their fellow-citizens is that in not a single case have the Opposition proved any wrong-doing by either the Minister or any of his departmental officials.

ENCOURAGING TRADE FIGURES.

Manitoba Free Press.

The latest trade returns from Ottawa, which bring the figures down to the end of January last, are highly satisfactory and should materially help to restore confidence in those who have been afflicted with an attack of pessimism. The Free Press has not been among those who were alarmed at the large excess of imports over exports. It has often pointed out that the condition of the balance of trade was the result of causes which bespoke growth and enduring prosperity, and that in due course of time matter would right themselves. Now the time has come, and the croakers must perforce be reassured.

During the month of January there was a reversal in the trend of Canada's foreign trade, a decrease in our imports as compared with January, 1907, and a large increase in exports. The temporary decrease in imports is the natural result of the financial policy which affected every branch of business in the country, while the nature of our exports conclusively proves that this financial policy was by no means justified, and therefore could not last. The exports of agricultural products during January show an increase of over five million dollars as compared with January, 1907. Thereby it is shown that the crops of last season were by no means as bad as they had been said to be. This additional five millions of dollars restored to the channels of business in one single month show that there must be a resumption of activity in the immediate future.

But to fully appreciate the encouraging nature of the present trade figures, one must remember that Canada has just completed a decade of growth unprecedented in its own annals and, perhaps, in those of any other country. From 1896 to 1906 imports jumped from $118,011,508 to $294,286,915, and the exports of domestic products from $109,707,805 to $235,483,956. The aggregate foreign trade of the country rose during that decade from $239,625,360 to $550,872,645, an increase of some 130 per cent. Pleased as they were with this growth, our statesmen sometimes thought it was too good to last, and on more than one occasion the Finance Minister himself said that the country might be riding on the crest of the wave and advised prudence. The crisis that was feared came, not as the result of the action of Canadians themselves, but as a reflex of conditions in other countries, and the result has been to demonstrate, as nothing else could, the permanency and soundness of Canada's growth.

In 1906 the fiscal year was changed, so that the report on foreign trade and commerce is made up for the nine months ending March 31, 1907. During those nine months the aggregate trade was $462,532,000, a sum equal to the trade of the twelve months of 1904-5. And during the ten months since March 31 last imports show a slight increase over the corresponding period of the previous year, while exports show an increase of $3,909,790, including coin and bullion. The increase in the aggregate trade for this last period has been not less than $32,776,890. The crisis has come and gone, and there has been no going back, hardly a slackening, in Canadian trade.

Editor Post Card Column:

Dear Sir,—I suppose in view of the terrible disaster at the Collingwood, O., public school the other day, that the fire drill will be most zealously practiced in Peterborough for two or three times, gradually be discontinued, and finally cease altogether—until the next holocaust occus, and which may occur right here in our fair city of Peterborough. My lad, attending South Central School, says that the drill has not been practiced this year. Why, Mr. Editor Is there a close season for it?

Yours truly,
PARENT.

LOCAL ARTISTS IN HAVELOCK

Select Audience Pleased With the Concert Given There,

The concert in the opera house on Monday evening under the auspices of St. John's church was poorly attended, but the programme presented by the different artists was excellent. Miss Julia Choate, violinist, of the Conservatory of Music, Peterborough, was the favourite with the audience, and her different numbers were received with great enthusiasm. Mr. Burt Harvey, comedian, of Toronto, was the fun-maker of the evening, and his comic songs were well put on and well received. Mr. J. Harry Scriver and Miss Carrie Reesor, of Peterborough, were heard to advantage in solo numbers. Mrs. Wm. Culligan of town was the accompanist for Mr. Harvey, and that gentleman states that she is one of the best accompanists that has ever played for him.—Havelock Standard.

BLOOD WILL TELL

Old Adage Proven by Peterborough People.

Many people have looked upon this idea with ridicule and scepticism but show us a person in Peterborough who has pure rich, red blood, and we will show you a person who is healthy, strong and robust with clear skin and bright eyes. On the other hand, a person whose blood is poor, thin, badly nourished, sluggish or watery is just as sure to be subject to nervousness and all kinds of human aches, pains and ills, and that tired and all-dragged-out feeling is inevitable. Then the impurities of the blood often break out in the form of eruptions.

To such persons we recommend Vinol, the modern cod liver preparation without oil, it will purify, vitalize and enrich the blood, and create health and strength in a surprisingly short time. This is because Vinol is a scientific preparation containing all the medicinal and body building elements of cod liver oil taken from fresh cods' livers with peptonate of iron, which is a needful constituent for the blood, added.

We ask any person in Peterborough to try Vinol on our guarantee to return money if it fails to give satisfaction. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

Members Will Discuss the Pool and Billiard Table Question.

The members of the Y.M.C.A. are reminded of the meeting which will be held to-night in connection with the athletic department when arrangements will be made to organize baseball, lacrosse and Association football teams. The subject of installing pool and billiard tables and bowling alleys in the Y. M. C. A. building will also be discussed and it is important that there should be a large attendance of senior members. The meeting will be called at 7.45 o'clock sharp.

Temperance League Meeting Discusses The Convention

Good Meeting Held Last Night—Campaign Matters Were Underlined to be Further Considered.

INTEREST IS INCREASING

The City Temperance League met last night in the Y. M. C. A., with a fairly large attendance. The president, Rev. J. G. Potter, was chairman. Rev. A. H. Bruce, on account of illness, was unable to be present. He wanted to have given a report of the convention in Toronto, which he attended. In his absence Messrs McFadden, Powell, T. Moore and A. B. Cunningham spoke on important topics that were brought up at the convention. They referred to the encouraging state of the temperance cause in the Dominion and in the United States. Thirty-seven millions of people in the latter country are now under the prohibition law and none of the states have passed any legislation giving concessions to the liquor party.

Prince Edward Island as a prohibition stronghold, and Nova Scotia and New Brunswick are almost entirely under its influence. In Quebec 700 out of 900 municipalities have prohibition, and in our own province the situation is about balanced. Manitoba has removed the three-fifths clause and in the western provinces the cause is being increasingly advocated.

One fact that was reported last night was that the leading business men and railway companies are favouring the new temperance movement. The Pullman Car Company, after April 1st, will sell no more liquor, nor handle it. An instance was cited of an Ottawa business man who asked the city to remove the hotels from the vicinity of his large establishment and he would make good the $3,000 per annum which was received as the license fee.

All over the country, one of the speakers said, the people are becoming alive to the fact that the liquor business is not a commercial institution, but a bane to the community. The sentiment of the convention was very strongly opposed to the three-fifths clause and memorialized the Government to have it removed, according to the universal wish of the temperance party.

Outline of the Work

The president of the league briefly outlined the work of the temperance people as adopted in their constitution.

1. To advance with all possible speed in the enlistment of all the men in the signing of the total abstinence pledge, and that this work would be done through the different churches.

2. To undertake the liberal and systematic education of the people along the lines of temperance.

3. To assist as far as possible the existing organizations and officers who are seeking to procure a better enforcement of the law.

The president explained that some misunderstanding had been caused by the publication of names of gentlemen who had been invited to act in counsel regarding breaches of the law. It had been thought that they were to act as detectives of spies. This was rectified by the appointment of a vigilance or law enforcement committee, composed of representative men, as suggested by the Toronto Convention.

It was the unanimous sentiment of the meeting that citizens generally should aid in maintaining the observance of the law, and that any infraction of it should be reported to the inspector.

It was also strongly asserted that in districts where local option is being pressed that suitable accommodation should be first provided for travellers—or at least arranged for.

MAGISTRATE DUMBLE FAVOURS FLOGGING FOR PETTY CRIMES

At the Canadian Club meeting held last night Mr. D. W. Dumble, police magistrate, in moving a vote of thanks to the speaker, touched upon the question of punishment by flogging. Mr. Dumble is a thorough believer in flogging as punishment for petty crime, especially in the case of the young, and his views were evidently endorsed by many present at the club meeting, from the applause that greeted his remarks.

He believes that boys fear a flogging in many cases more than imprisonment. It should be done judiciously by a competent person. It should be calm and deliberate to instil fear into the heart of the boy. The shame of such a punishment does not appeal satisfactorily to boys who, as a rule, do not wish their companions to bear tell of it.

For these reasons Mr. Dumble believes punishment by flogging to be effective in deterring boys from committing criminal acts and he was strongly in favour of its introduction by the Department of Justice.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONERS WILL HOLD SITTINGS HERE

The Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada will meet in Peterborough on March 17th, according to a notice received this morning by City Clerk Armstrong which did not however, state the hours of the sittings.

A number of very important matters are to come up before the Commissioners. The city has applied to have the C.P.R. plane gates on the Aylmer street crossing and to have the G.T.R. instal similar protection at Reid street, near the Wm. Hamilton Works. Any information as to accidents or narrow escapes at these points which will show that the present conditions are dangerous to the public will be gladly received by City Solicitor E H D Hall or City Clerk Armstrong. The public is asked to co-operate with the efforts of the council in this matter by sending in evidence.

Among the other matters that will come up is the application of the city to crossing the Grand Trunk Railway tracks with the extension of George street.

The G.T.R. has two applications to be heard as the company is asking for permission to build sidings on Bethune street at Wolfe and Dalhousie streets and also to construct a siding to the Matthew's Company's factory.

LARGE ATTENDANCE AT RECITAL

Mrs. Scott-Raff of Toronto Delighted Audience at the Charlotte Street Church.

A FINE PROGRAMME GIVEN

Mrs. Scott-Raff, principal of the Margaret Eaton College, of Expression, Toronto, was given a most cordial reception at her recital last night under the auspices of the Young Mission Circle of Charlotte street church. The seating capacity of the Sunday School room was taxed to its utmost by a thoroughly appreciative audience. Mrs. Scott-Raff was assisted by local talent of ability combining an entertainment of unusual merit.

Mrs. Scott-Raff's elocution was cultured to a degree. Her voice was pleasing and she showed complete knowledge of the selections which she read. Her best numbers were Tennyson's "The Lady of Shalott," "The revolt of the Mother" and "The Lullaby." The last was recited in a manner true to nature and appealed most to the audience.

The programme was arranged as follows:—

Piano solo... ... ...Miss Estelle Foy

Prologue of Canadian Poems—
"Work"... ... ...Jean Blewett
"Kisses and Crosses"... ... ... Ethelwyn
... ...Wetherald
"Scotch Characteristics"... ... ... Jean
... ... Blewett
Mrs. Scott-Raff.

Solo, "Afterwards"... ... ... Mullen
Miss Irene Mowry.

"The Lady of Shalott" ... Tennyson

Solo... ... ... Selected
Mr. Mortimer Johnston.

"The Hour Glass" ... ...W B Yeats
Epilogue, "L'Envoi"... ... ... Kipling
Mrs. Scott-Raff.

God Save the King.

Mrs. Scott-Raff's numbers were in almost every case encored.

Miss Foy's opening piano solo was a sprightly selection rendered in a dainty manner. Miss Irene Mowry displayed a good voice in her vocal solo "Afterwards," by Mullen. Mr. Mortimer Johnston's rollicking "The Song of the Drum" by Jude, was warmly encored. In response he sang one of the numbers from Rigoletto. Miss Irwin was heard in an ably rendered violin solo.

The accompanists for the evening were Misses Clarry and Taft.

WHO COULD THESE YOUNG MEN BE?

They Left the Girls Behind Them—Their Hearts Were Weak.

On Sunday last two young men passed through the village on their way to a certain residence in Douro, where two young ladies were visiting, and whom they had promised to take back to their homes in Peterborough. The day was very stormy, and the roads in bad shape, but the young men managed to reach within a mile or so of their destination when they became discouraged at the appearance of the road and returned to Peterborough. The young ladies drove to the village on Monday and boarded the train for their homes in Peterborough.—Lakefield News.

TRAINS WERE LATE AT NOON

Snowstorm Began to Cause Trouble This Morning.

This morning's storm had every appearance of personified trouble for the railways and, in fact, several of the trains were late. The C. P. R. 11.16 a. m. arrived at the station over an hour late, and the 11.45 G. T. R. was reported three hours late. All the trains this afternoon bore marks of heavy roads, and unless there is an abatement there is bound to be trouble.

The street railway service was maintained on schedule time, the sweeper being kept busy throughout the day.

While Driving in Smith Township Yesterday.

Although the weather to-day has been rather stormy signs of spring are greatly in evidence. A gentleman who was driving in Smith Township yesterday afternoon saw a chipmonk and a woodchuckas he was passing along the road. Further on he came across a skunk and tried to kill it but it got away.

NORWOOD CONCERT A SUCCESS

Various Items on Programme Excellently Rendered—In Aid of Methodist Church Library.

VISITORS IN THAT VILLAGE

Examiner Special.

Norwood, March 6. — The concert held in the town hall on Friday evening last was in every respect a decided success, and much credit is due those who had the training of all who took part in the evening's entertainment. The programme consisted of scenes from the battlefield, military and tambourine drills, recitations and character songs, etc. The soldiers and red cross nurses made a brilliant and attractive appearance on the stage, and their opening chorus, "The King, God Bless Him," was rendered in excellent harmony and style. Several appropriate choruses were sung during the scenes. The solo, "When the Blue Sky Turns to Gold," by Mr. Bongard, was highly appreciated, and Miss Duffield's solo, "Beyond the Blue," was exceedingly good, while Mr. G. Andrew's recitations, "My Girl's Alone" and "I've Got to Go Home," took the house.

Mrs. Harold Howson also sang and was heartily applauded.

The character song, "We'll Have to Mortgage the Farm," was well rendered.

The twelve young ladies who were in the tambourine drill and march were heartily applauded for the way in which they formed the different figures in the march, and also for the precision in which they performed the motions with their tambourines.

The last part of the programme was given by twenty young ladies who personated the famous "Peak Sisters" from Pike's Peak, and from beginning to end was the cause of much laughter and merriment, each one doing her part to perfection.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $70, which, after expenses are deducted, leaves a sum of $50 to be used in purchasing books for the Methodist Sunday school library.

WAS PRESENTED WITH A BIBLE

Mr. Richard Holland Leaving Peterboro For Province of Alberta.

A happy presentation took place on Wednesday afternoon, March 4th at the home of Mr. Richard Holland, who is about to leave Peterborough for Alberta. The president, ex-president and secretary of the Peterborough Evangelical Laymen's Association, called to express their regrets and read the following address, and presented him with a beautiful copy of the Bible, as a token of remembrance when he was far away.

Dear Brother Holland,—It is with feelings of deep regret that in our gathering to-night we must say farewell to you, one of the oldest members of our Laymen's Evangelical Association.

Yet when we look back and remember you work in our association for the last twenty-eight years, your earnest appeals to the unsaved, the times when we stood side by side against opposing influences, and times when our voices were mingled with those of new-born souls, our feelings are those of joy and gratitude. It is a world of change, men must come and men must go, but we hope dear brother—our loss will be other's gain.

Fail not, wherever you are to remember our laymen's creed, expressed by the three R's, and proclaim it wherever you are found. As a reminder of happy days gone by and as a source of strength in failing years, please accept this copy of God's word, the life-giving bread, as a small token of friendship from those who remain.

Signed on behalf of the Association.

JOSEPH BATTEN,
WILLIAM MIGHT,
ISAAC RICHARDSON.

In reply, Mr. Holland opened the book and read the Twenty-third Psalm. "These are my feelings at this moment," he said "and no gift in this world could be more acceptable," emphasizing the sentence "My cup runneth over." Other Bibles had been given him, he said, and had been read with profit, but this with its clear type would now be read with greater interest in a new home, where churches and ministers may be far distant.

The above was arranged to take place at the association meeting last Monday evening, March 2nd, but Mr. Holland was not well enough to be present.—Con.

Marvelous case of Leo Corrigan which shows that skin diseases heretofore considered hopeless can be cured.

Since childhood, Leo Corrigan had been tortured with the burning agony and itching of Eczema. His parents had spent a great deal of money in consulting physicians and buying medicines—but all to no purpose.

As he grew older he sought other doctors—some of them specialists. He was eleven weeks in a Toronto hospital—eight weeks in bed. At times the irritation and pain caused by the Eczema were so severe, life was a burden. He would get so bad he could not walk. Several winters he could do no work.

He wrote, on February 20, 1906:

"In November, 1905, I had another attack, and was advised to use Mira Ointment. (I thought this would be like the other remedies I had tried, and of no use to me). But, to my great delight, a few hours after the first application, I felt great relief.

I have used it, now, two and a-half months, and unhesitatingly state that it is the best remedy I ever used. It has worked wonders for me. Since using Mira Ointment I have been able to work every day—without irritation or pain—no stiffness of the limbs or soreness. I feel a new person.

"From a state of great irritation and sometimes excruciating pains to freedom from all such, being capable of doing hard work every day, is a marvelous change. Mira Ointment has effected it.

"I strongly recommend any person afflicted with this terrible complaint—Eczema—to use Mira Ointment."

What this wonderfully effective Ointment has done in this extreme chronic case, it can do in other seemingly incurable conditions. If you suffer from any form of skin-disease, don't delay. Certain relief and cure is waiting you in Mira Ointment. Get a box to-day. 50c.—6 for $2.50. At drug stores—or from The Chemists' Co. of Canada, Ltd., Hamilton—Toronto. 16

THE METHODS OF MANAGING THE PENITENTIARY LIVES OF THE CANADIAN CRIMINALS

Breakers Of The Law Not So Bad As Painted By Those Without The Prison Bars—A Glimpse Behind The Scenes.

ADDRESS BY MR. ARCHIBALD

Work, The Law of Existence—The Parole System Explained—Statistics That Speak For Themselves.

SOME EXTRACTS

We cannot make a man good by punishment alone.

Vengeance by suppression is an ancient treatment.

Opportunities succeed where treatment fails.

No man should ever be a criminal in Canada.

In the onward march of science the prisoner has had his share of study.

Work is the law of all human existence: a man is by what he does.

All men who are branded criminals are not criminals.

Among the national questions which are ever before the minds of the thoughtful and truly loyal Canadian people are those of the treatment of criminals, the prevention of crime and the development of the moral characters of the younger portion of the population. All of these questions were, last evening at the Canadian Club dinner in the National, dealt with in a splendidly educative manner by a man who by his official connection with the Canadian institutions for criminals has had a close acquaintenceship with them. The speaker was Mr. W P Archibald, Dominion Parole officer of the Department of Justice, Ottawa. With no reflection upon previous speakers at the Canadian Club dinners, Mr. Archibald is possibly one of the most instructive men who is likely to appear in Peterborough in that connection, and the persons responsible for his visit to Peterborough made a very happy selection.

Mr. Archibald introduced incidentally in his address the self-evident fact that he is in love with his work and that he is master of the situation. He speaks from practical knowledge, has the faculty of conveying to his hearers in simple language his own ideas and of vividly portraying with pathos and humour the characters he desires to present.

The Parole officer assumes the arduous duties of reading the character of the criminal by keeping in touch with his conduct and life while in prison, with a view to pardon, providing his conduct warrants it. Mr. Archibald during his experience has come into contact with hundreds of the criminals of the country. He has studied the various types and classes and his conclusions are therefore worth more than a passing consideration.

Of Vital Importance

After dinner the speaker for the occasion was introduced by the President Mr. F D Kerr. On rising Mr. Archibald was greeted with hearty applause. He considered the subject of the treatment of criminals to be one of vital importance to any country as there was reason for all to become interested in the study of the nature of crime. In Canada crime has been increasing, but at no alarming rate but when the number of newcomers to our Dominion is taken into consideration, the question of being able to reach the domestic circles to uplift those tending to a path of crime becomes a very important one, vitally for the country.

But our ideas of prisons and other institutions for the criminals are not in accordance with facts. Different persons have different ideals. There are the economical, the punitive, the sentimental and the philanthrophic ideals in persons. Conclusions are too often reached before a study is made such as lies within the power of the prison officials. They learn by coming into contact with the criminals, their habits and peculiarities and thereby their attitude is changed towards them.

But with the outside world it is different. The majority judge the criminal by the results they see, by the effect in the community, from the police court records and from the press.

The Changes of Time

In the year 1800 there were no less than 200 crimes punishable by death. Now there are but four. The reign of the respected Queen Victoria saw the loosening of the hand of vengeance. The number of convicts had been greatly reduced and yet while it is necessary to punish the criminal, his path can be made easier. This, said the speaker, is one of the problems that has and is now occupying its share in the master minds of the Dominion. Although punishment is necessary, assistance must be lent for the correction of the breakers of the law. Man cannot be reformed by punishment alone—the punishment must go hand in hand with correction.

In the onward march of science the prisoner has had his share of study and in these modern times vengeance by right suppression is becoming unknown by the laws. The prisons of the Old Country at one time became so choked that the government was compelled to make penal colonies for the "human rubbish."

In many cases it was found that desperate criminals incurring punishment by the law at home become reformed and industrious citizens in their new environments. Thus opportunities afforded or furnished, succeeded where harsh treatment failed.

Unjust Criticism

When a crime is committed in any community a strong feeling usually arises against the perpetrator. Nothing seems too hard for him.

Popular opinion in many cases of this nature was censured by Mr. Archibald. Too often judges are censured for not being severe when they dispense justice to fit the criminal as well as the crime. Too often society has condemned a man when that same society has placed things in his path to drag him down to a life of crime.

In the prisons and penitentiaries of Canada at the present time there is every facility for an industrious person to rise above the plane on which they stood when entering. The Government has secured the best talent as trade instructors, and trades are taught in prison. The criminals are educated to be helpful, so that when their terms expire they will be in a position to live without falling again into the pitfalls of crime.

The industrious men need attention. If the officials find a man who will not work they entertain little hope for his amendment. Work is the law of all human existence; a man is such by what he does, and we honour our Creator when we are engaged in legitimate work.

Tribute of Canada

With the wealth and resources of the great Canadian West, with the industry and advancement of the whole Dominion, no man should be a criminal in Canada. If he falls, it is by environment and temptation.

The Government does not neglect the educational side in the prisons. The speaker gave illustrations where men had learned to write in jail—the first school they had ever attended. This has been a great lever in the reconstruction of the criminal class.

The religious side of the question is not forgotten. There is that in the prisons which appeals to the religious side of man, and the clergy are doing a great work in this respect by devoting themselves to the development of the good.

One of the brightest gems in the crown of our Sovereign is mercy, and so prisoners are treated with a lenient hand. The idea is not to crush, but to instruct. Here is where the parole system is needed. A prisoner by applying himself closely to his work and by showing good conduct, may be pardoned through the Minister of Justice.

Of 643 whose sentences were shortened, according to the last report, only 33 went back to a life of crime. Sixty of them were again placed behind the bars for failure to report, while the remainder, or the bulk of them, led better lives.

Where Society is Wrong

Chilly receptions too often await the freedom of the criminal by society. It is too often hard and cruel, and many a man who is trying to reform is despised by his old associates, and returns to the ways of the wicked.

All men who are branded criminals are not in reality criminals. They become so only by accident, and it is for these that the parole system has chiefly been instituted. There are, of course, men who live by crime alone, and these deserve to be punished more severely.

Quoting statistics, Mr. Archibald pointed out that in the United States in 1907 there were approximately 1,330 institutions for criminals, with 149,095 persons confined. In marked contrast to this Canada supported only six or seven similar institutions. In London, England, in 1907, there were 24 murderers, 20 of the murderers being convicted. In New York City, a city half as large, there were no less than 240 murders in the same year. There were 65 arrests, 33 placed on trial, 20 convicted, 3 condemned to death, and 3 received life sentences.

Neglect not the Children

It is in childhood, said the speaker, when the germs of criminality first take root. It is then when parents should recognize that obedience be one of the first requisites in the bringing up of the children.

Criminologists often make the mistake that criminals, by their facial peculiarities, can be identified. He had seen the hardened-looking man out of prison as well as within, and there were no marks, he declared, in the countenance in any of the human race by which a criminal could be identified. In closing, he believed the children should be taken charge of and taught the highest ideal in society—the development into men and women of character, for, said he, the highest assets of our country are our women and men.

In two short addresses, Mr. D. W. Dumble, 2nd Senator Ferguson of Prince Edward Island, who is visiting in the city, moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Archibald for his splendid address, to which the latter gentleman responded in suitable terms. The meeting was closed by the singing of "God Save the King."

INTERESTING MEETING ARRANGED

The Astronomers Will Meet at Y. M. C. A. This Evening—The Subjects.

A particularly interesting public meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society will be held at the Y.W.C.A. to-night. Mr. H. B. Collier will address the meeting on "One Hour with the Moon," and Mr. H. O Fisk will speak on "Echoes from the Dominion Observatory." In addition Rev. Dr. Marsh will give his astronomical observations since the last meeting.

Dr. Marsh is in possession of a large number of especially fine photographs of the moon, which were placed on exhibition at the Y.W.C.A. parlours at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Those attending are requested to bring note-books with them as much information of a useful nature will be given and it will be of advantage to jot down some of the points.

ROW IN GEORGE ST. DWELLING

George Downer Has Trouble With His Father-in-Law, Thos. Clarke—Started Over Checkerboard.

THEY WERE BOTH FINED

After nine years of humble endurance of an overbearing father-in-law, the final climb came last Monday night when George Downer, who resides with his family in a roughcast building on George street between Brock and Murray streets, tried to throw his father-in-law, Thomas Clarke, into the street.

Both men were charged in the police court this morning with having created a disturbance by swearing, and they pleaded not guilty.

Mr. R. A. Dutton, the first witness, stated that he was passing this dwelling when he heard a disturbance. The door sprang open and a woman and some children ran out, screaming. He opened the door and saw two men fighting. One was on the floor and the other was standing. Considerable swearing was going on. Downer told him to get out and shut the door, and that he was running the place.

Mr. Fleetwood also heard the noise and saw the woman and children run out. A man ran past and said he was going to 'phone the police, as two men were killing each other.

Mr. Howland's evidence corresponded with that of Mr. Fleetwood.

Clarence Wilson said he was in Mr. Blodgett's store at the time. Mrs. Downer came running in there for help, and he went out.

George Blodgett, who keeps the shop south of Downer's, said he went inside and told the men if they did not cease he would find a way of making them. He then went out again.

Clarke said the trouble began over a checkerboard. He said it belonged to a grandchild of his, while Downer stated it belonged to Wesley Crouter. He went out and came back again.

Downer called him a "tattle-tattle," and the fight commenced.

Downer said Clarke was his father-in-law and had been troubling him for the past nine years. Monday night he came in drunk and swore at his child. He sprang from his chair and grabbed Clarke by the throat, and the latter pulled a knife, and swore repeatedly.

Mrs. Downer corroborated her husband's testimony excepting that she said she had only heard her father swear once.

His Worship fined both men two dollars to be paid in ten days, or, in default of payment, ten days in jail.

SPLENDID ADDRESS AT ST. JOHN'S

Rev. W. T. Hallam of All Saint's Church, Toronto, Was the Speaker.

LARGE NUMBER PRESENT

The first special Lenten service of St. John's church was held on Wednesday night and there was a very large congregation present. The address was given by Rev. W. T. Hallam, of All Saints' church, Toronto. He chose for the subject of his address the words "Come Ye Apart and Rest a While." In his remarks the speaker very ably dealt with the spiritual refreshment which came through an earnest and faithful observance of Lent. He urged that the people should definitely turn aside from social engagements and give their souls an opportunity for nourishment and development. The Bible should be regularly used and an increased amount of time devoted to prayer, public and private. The congregation of St. John's had a special call and they should make a united effort in view of the impending parochial mission, which would be a thorough success if all the members entered into it heart and soul.

PETERBORO LODGE AT HOME

First of the Season—Organizer Burns Delivered Splendid Address—Good Programme Rendered.

The Peterborough lodge of the A.O U.W. held their first "at home" of the season in the lodge rooms on Simcoe street last night. Mr. J. J. Turner, Deputy Past Master, occupied the chair, and a splendid programme was rendered. Organizer Burns was present and delivered a splendid address, bringing forward the necessity and benefit of life insurance. He paid a tribute to the good management of the local lodge, and urged the members to increase the membership. He said the A. O.U.W. was one of the pioneer fraternal societies of Ontario, beginning here thirty years ago, and was one of the strongest and best societies in the country. He closed his remarks by expressing his pleasure at seeing such a large number present, and hoped there would be a large attendance at the meeting on Tuesday night.

During the evening the following excellent programme was splendidly rendered:
Piano Solo—Miss Sisson.
Scottish Song—Mr. Burns.
Recitation—Miss V. Palmer.
Piano Solo—Miss Hazel Gillespie.
Song—Mr. Lucas.

SENT TO ALEXANDRA SCHOOL

For An Indefinite Period—Was Sad at the Shelter.

Lilian Armitage was again brought up before His Worship the Magistrate yesterday morning. Mr. Henry of the Shelter said that the girl's immoral conduct was ruining the rest of the inmates and he asked to have something done in the matter.

His Worship had her confined to the cells for a short period and dispensed with two other cases on hand.

The girl was brought before him again and he ordered her to be sent to the Alexander School, Toronto, for an indefinite period.

THERE WAS A CHEER FOR ONCE

Opposition Had One Fleeting Moment of Enjoyment.

GREETING TO MR. CROCKETT

Minister of Railways Makes Important Returns — His Tribute to the Late Judge Killam—Progress on the Intercolonial — Work on Canada's Canals—A Comprehensive Statement.

Ottawa, March 6.—Hon. William Pugsley did not get an ovation in the House yesterday. The Opposition had a large amount of enthusiasm bottled up against the day of his return from New Brunswick and it being known that Hon. William was back in town, the left side of the House was crowded. Mr. Pugsley, however, came in unostentiously by the back door and before prayers he was in his seat.

The bottled-up applause was let go a little later when Oswald Seth Crockett, one of the conquering heroes, arrived at the proper moment. One of the Ministers was answering a question when Seth Crockett hove in sight and the rest of the official reply was lost in the general uproar.

"That is the best return brought down to-day," observed Mr. Foster. Then the House proceeded.

Mr. Foster asked if the Government had any information to impart to the House in reference to telegrams from Vancouver referring to the influx of Hindoos, also as to the statement alleged to have been made by Baron Hayashi, Foreign Minister at Tokio, that contract laborers from that country were not forbidden to enter Canada.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier replied that he could not credit such a statement in view of the assurances of Japan.

Mr. Lemieux added that he had had a visit at noon from the acting consul-general of Japan, who stated he had been advised from Tokio that in future no contract laborers would be permitted to come to Canada unless authorized by the Canadian Government.

Mr. Lennox was informed that the Government had not alienated property on the Plains of Abraham to Sir Charles Ross. Such a request had been made, but was refused.

Outlay on Rideau Hall.

A return moved for by Mr. Wilson (Lennox) was tabled. The total expenditure on Rideau Hall from 1891 to Dec. 31, 1907, was $670,541. Of this amount $133,250 was for heating and lighting, $11,262 for the removal of snow, $122,299 for construction and improvement of buildings and $26,900 for improvement of grounds. Maintenance of buildings cost $305,552 and maintenance of grounds $71,277. The total outlay in 1906-7 was $72,652. In the year 1891-92 it was $20,392. The outlay for His Excellency's traveling expenses is about $5,000 a year, on an average. For the nine months ended Dec. 1 last the expenditure under this head was $12,500.

When the House got into committee on Sir Wilfrid Laurier's bill respecting the battlefields of Quebec, Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) offered a few observations. The dominating idea of that celebration next summer seemed to be imperialism, whereas it should be thoroughly Canadian. It seemed to Mr. Lavergne that the Government was departing from the real object which was to mark the foundation of Quebec in 1908. The statue of Angel of Peace was a poor substitute, he thought, for the $5,000 a week paid to workingmen of Quebec by the Ross Rifle Co., and it was a strange idea to locate the statue here.

"Let us rather build a monument," he said, "with the words of the late Sir John A. Macdonald engraved upon it, that in this country there is not a superior race; that we are all Canadians."

The Intercolonial.

On motion to go into supply Hon. G. P. Graham rose to present the annual statement of the Intercolonial Railway. He promised by saying he made no pretence to having mastered the details of his Department. He did not propose to discuss in a general way the question of transportation, but before taking up the working of the railway he proposed to make a few remarks on the Canadian canal system.

Including the Rideau Canal, this country had expended no less a sum than $120,000,000. The business of the St. Lawrence Canal was not as large as it should be, the number of locks ages in the Cornwall Canal last year being 4,217. The business of the

PIMPLES

ALTHOUGH, NOT A DANGEROUS DISEASE, ARE A VERY TROUBLESOME AND UNSIGHTLY AFFLICTION . . .

They are caused by either poverty or impurity of the blood and require the prompt use of a good blood medicine such as Burdock Blood Bitters, for their eradication, which it speedily accomplishes, at the same time strengthening the entire system. Pimples also often arise from dyspepsia and constipation, and in these cases Burdock Blood Bitters has the double effect of removing the pimples together with their cause.

Mr. D. P. Sampson, Osceola, Ont., writes: "I was troubled with pimples all over my face and hands. I paid out money to doctors but they could do me no good. A friend convinced me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after using two bottles the pimples vanished, and I have not been troubled with them since."

canal amounted to 12 million tons locked through.

Welland Canal Traffic.

On the Welland Canal 31 millions of dollars had been expended to date. An elevator was being erected at Port Colborne which would be completed up to 800,000 bushels capacity this year.

It was a question whether Government ownership of elevators was a success. The present Government elevators at Montreal, Halifax and St. John were not very active.

Discussing the question of deepening the Welland Canal Mr. Graham said the present rate from Fort William to Buffalo was 11-2c. a bushel; from Buffalo to New York five decimal seventy cents, in all 7.40 cents. By deeping the Erie Canal it was estimated that grain could be profitably carried from Buffalo to New York for two cents.

Then by the deepening of the Welland Canal it was estimated that a rate of two cents could be given from Fort William to a port on the St. Lawrence, Kingston or Prescott, where transshipment would be made. From Prescott to Montreal the rate would be 1 3-8 cents. This would be an advantage of 1-8 of a cent over the deepened Erie Canal.

Regarding the Trent Valley Canal Mr. Graham was in favor of developing water powers there if it could be done at reasonable cost.

Grand Trunk Pacific.

Mr. Graham then turned to the progress of work on the Grand Trunk Pacific. The only lamentable thing in connection with the Moncton-Winnipeg section was the collapse of the Quebec bridge. The proposals of the Government would be discussed when the report of the commissioners was brought down, but they all agreed that the bridge must be rebuilt on more substantial lines.

Proceeding to discuss the railway commission, Mr. Graham paid a tribute to the late Judge Killam. The powers given the board were wider than those given to any similar board. The commission had already done a great deal of work and this would be increased with the expanding of the board and widening of its powers. To illustrate what had been accomplished, M. Graham said that in 1907 there were 2,600 applications, 18,894 letters received, 1,816 orders issued, 66 public sittings and 321 applications heard. Reductions of freight rates were enumerated, such as, $45 a car on pears from St. Catharines to Montreal. These were mentioned to show the practical work being done. Last year the railways carried 32 million passengers and 63 million tons of freight, while 1-6 of the population were dependent on railways for their means of sustenance.

PAID WITH MUSKET.

Farmer Shoots Landlord Who Came to Collect His Rent.

Mount Forest, March 6.—Because he wanted to collect the rent Henry Arnott, a farmer of Egerton, was shot yesterday through the hand by Warden Shand. The weapon was an old military musket.

Acting Bailiff Thomas Ryan of Mount Forest and the landlord had gone out to collect the rent. Shand ordered them off the premises, holding the musket in a threatening manner. They did not go fast enough and Shand blazed away.

Dr. Perry of Conn, eight miles from here, dressed the wound, and Chief Cringle of Mount Forest set out for Warden Shand. The prisoner went along quietly and last night was in the lock-up here. He will appear at 10 o'clock this morning before Magistrate M. O. McGregor.

CUPID'S VICTIM AT 74.

Confederate Veteran Elopes From Toronto With 22-Year-Old Maid.

Providence, R.I., March 6.—Eloping from Toronto with Theresa Moquin, a 22-year-old French maiden, Col. Victor Ward, 74 years old, the oldest living confederate army officer, former governor of Kentucky and on the staff of President Jefferson Davis of the confederacy, reached here yesterday, believing they had outwitted the relatives of the girl, who they say are following them.

Col. Ward is one of the best known men of the south. He called on Governor Higgins and introduced his wife. Considerable mystery was thrown around the party by two detectives who acted as a bodyguard.

House Blown Up.

Brantford, March 6.—Mrs. Joseph Smith was painfully burned about the hair, face and arms yesterday morning by a gas explosion at her home, Darling street.

It is believed the explosion was caused by gas leaking from the street main into the cellar, which ignited when Mrs. Smith started to go down cellar with a lamp, which she lit on the way.

The explosion blew out the side of the house, which is frame, breaking the windows, springing the floor, and partly raising the structure off the foundation.

Nova Scotia's Prize Apples.

London, March 6.—Nova Scotia's exhibit of apples at the Royal Horticultural Show was yesterday awarded the gold medal. The apples shown were in splendid conditions, although picke six months ago.

Now It's Chrysler.

Ottawa, March 6.—There is said to be little doubt but that F. H. Chrysler, K.C., will accept and be offered the chairmanship of the Dominion Railway Commission in the place of the late Judge Killam.

Many Explanations of the Terrible Tragedy—Statement by the Lady In Charge—School Was Overcrowded and Younger Children Were Housed In the Attic—Investigation by the Coroner.

Cleveland, March 6.—Yesterday afternoon 16 bodies had been recovered from the ruins of the Lakeview school at Collinwood. The exact number of fatalities from the conflagration is not known, but is expected to reach 180.

Firemen are still at work in the expectation of extracting more victims from the smouldering wreckage. So far 129 of the slain have been identified, but few of the others will be distinguished one from the other. Their names can be ascertained from the list of missing but which is which is a mystery that will probably never be solved. The arrangements for a great public funeral are being rapidly perfected. One monument will mark the grave.

County Coroner Dr. T. A. Burke began an investigation yesterday of the cause leading to the terrible loss of life in the school building, his work being supplementary to the investigation by the board of education and village council.

It is generally admitted that the school building was of approved fireproof construction, and that the calamity looked at from this standpoint, could not have been averted.

It is now believed that the fire did not have its origin in the furnace or from the explosion of the heating boiler, but that it must have started under the stairway leading from the basement to the first floor of the school building. The janitor, Fred Herter, stoutly maintains there was no waste or rubbish there. The officials are trying to ascertain the names of the three girls who are reported to have been in the basement at the time the fire started and who are said by the janitor to have first noticed the fire.

The janitor, Fred Herter, three of whose children perished, declares that on Wednesday was comparatively warm, he maintained the fires at a lower rate than usual. Fearing he had not sufficiently warmed the building he was on his way to open the furnace drafts when he was met by the three little girls running from the basement, who told him there was a fire below.

The school was overcrowded and quarters had been provided for the younger children in the attic. Strange as it may seem, most of the pupils escaped from this part of the school house than from any other. The children were under good discipline, they had been practiced frequently in the fire drill, their teachers without exception retained their self-possession, showing great courage in the face of imminent death, and yet more than half of these little ones died horribly because of faulty building arrangements.

The school house was two stories and a half in height, the walls being of brick and concrete. Inside it was a shed which burned inconceivably rapidly. The entire interior was a mass of smoking ruins lying in the cellar within thirty minutes after the alarm of fire was sounded.

Miss Anna Moran, the principal of the school, denies that the doors opened inward, and insists that they were never locked during school hours. She said: "When the bell rang, I and I suppose other teachers, thought it was a regular fire drill. Every child in the school has gone out over and over again from the second floor to the open air in one minute and thirty seconds. You can judge that how quickly we reached the first floor when we neared the front door, we saw the flames coming up the basement stairs and without knowing it we led those little children into the very face of the fire.

"Only one of the double outer doors was open. The other was fastened by a spring at the top. Before the janitor got it open, the children had wedged themselves into the vestibule, and the others in a panic stumbled and climbed and crowded over them. It was frightful—so near safety.

"If I could have turned my line back they would have had some chance on the third floor, but they kept coming down and we could not stop them or do anything to save them. Men from the outside were trying to pull the children out, but the crush was so tight, no human strength could clear a passageway. Dozens died within a foot of absolute safety."

Deputy State Fire Marshal Figenhaum, who made an inspection of the ruins after the fire, declared positively that the doors of the school house opened toward the inside, and that the rear door was locked when the children reached it.

HAND TERRIBLY MANGLED.

Doctor Withdrew his Remedies in favor of Zam-Buk with Marvellous Results!

Mr. Ab. Wheeler, Marine and Stationary Engineer, of 145 Frost St., Belleville, Ont., says: "Two months ago, while employed in a steam laundry in this city, my left hand became caught and was accidently drawn into a hot mangle. As soon as possible the machinery was stopped and my hand was extricated, but not before the flesh on the palm of the hand was literally cooked to the bone and the fingers flattened out of shape. However, quite soon after the accident my hand and arm became frightfully swollen to the elbow and the hand presented a shocking sight. No one can imagine what I now suffered and endured. Not only was it hard to bear on account of the cruel pains, but it was a great shock to my nervous system. It was some time after the injury before the cooked flesh could be removed from the palm and then only a very little at a time. As soon as all this had been well removed, healing balms were applied, but as the improvement seemed so slow I obtained permission from the Doctor for Zam-Buk to be used exclusively, as several of my men friends (having previously used it for severe injuries) spoke in the highest terms of its unusual healing qualities and urged me to give it a trial. From the commencement Zam-Buk soothed and relieved the pains and drew out the soreness. I now began to enjoy a good nights rest and sleep, as up to this time I had not had much rest or sleep either day or night. In about three weeks time the palm of my hand was nicely healed over thro' daily application of this wonderful remedy Zam-Buk, and all inflammation and swelling was thoroughly banished from both hand and arm. I feel so grateful for my cure, I shall do my best to make known to other sufferers the value of Zam-Buk as a healing balm."

MR. AB. WHEELER, Belleville, Ont.

ZAM-BUK'S WONDERFUL WAY!

Whoever watches the healing of a wound, chronic sore, or diseased surface of skin with Zam-Buk, is face to face with one of Nature's greatest wonders. The healing process thus set in motion is nothing but a phenomenon of regeneration—a natural process of replacing destroyed tissues by new ones. The antiseptic substances contained in Zam-Buk, first attack and kill off the microbes or germs that are the cause of the inflammation or disease, and then the healing ingredients proceed to build up new tissue to replace that which has become damaged or diseased. New cells appear like a builder extending a new row of houses; the whole of the wounded area is gradually overlapped; and soon it is difficult to tell where the injuries or sores have been, so perfect and complete is the growth of the new skin.

Zam-Buk has more than fulfilled the expectations of its discoverer, and many medical men to-day freely extol its merits. It possesses a wide range of usefulness, being especially recommended for eczema, psoriasis, bad legs, blind and bleeding piles, running sores, ulcers, pimples, boils, rashes, raw chapped hands, scalp diseases, dandruff, barber's rash, raw chin after shaving, chilblains, sore and aching feet, cold sores, festering sores, poisoned wounds, cuts, bruises, burns, scalds, sprains, stiffness, weak ankles, swollen joints, and all diseased, injured and inflamed or irritated conditions of the skin. Rubbed well in, Zam-Buk kills muscular and nerve pains. Of all druggists and stores, 50c. box or postpaid from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

Dave Hartley Tells Of The Great Kansas City Race

WAS A REMARKABLE FINISH

Without any fanfare of trumpets or blare of band, David Hartley, Peterborough's great little walker, arrived home on the 9.05 G. T. R. train last night from the six-day walking match at Kansas City, Mo., where he secured fifth place in a field of nineteen. The fact that he was to arrive last night was not generally known in the city, and as a result there was no one at the station to meet the local pedestrian except an Examiner reporter, to whom Mr. Hartley gave an interesting account of the great race. Had the citizens known that Mr. Hartley would be home last night there would no doubt have been a crowd on hand to welcome him back, as his plucky work has been generally recognized here and is thoroughly appreciated by Peterborough people.

Ill on First Day

To the Examiner Mr. Hartley confirmed the reports that his illness on the first day of the race had everything to do with the fact that he finished as far back as fifth place. Mr. Hartley blamed the climate and the difference in water to his illness. "I was all right until five o'clock in the afternoon," he said, "but the weather had been very warm and I drank a large amounts of water. In addition the radiators in the building made it so hot that it almost choked me and towards the close of the day I grew so ill that I had to leave the track an hour and one-half before the close, after I had travelled fifty miles. Hoagland covered 63 miles before midnight came and thus he and the other walkers gained a big lead on me. On the second day, I was still weak and had to leave the track frequently, although I managed to travel 41 miles during the ten hours. After that I was better and during the last days of the contest I felt in good shape. My feet were somewhat sore at first but the pain disappeared before the end of the race, and my legs and feet were at good condition at the finish."

Speaking of his sensational finish on Saturday Mr. Hartley said that when he came on the track on Saturday he had to cover 45 miles in ten hours to get within the required minimum of 260 miles. Messier, who had figured in fifteen long-distance contests, and other contestants told him that the feat was impossible, that it had never been accomplished in the last day of a six-day contest. No one in the crowd imagined that the Canadian would achieve what he had started out to do. However, Mr. Hartley stuck to his task and at 11.30 p. m. had completed the distance with half an hour to spare, having walked 45 miles in nine and one-half hours.

Wore American Flag

On the last lap the scene was a remarkable one. The other walkers who were left on the track kept Mr. Hartley company, and Mr. Scoville, the promoter of the race, and his wife also walked around the track with him. A large American flag was thrown over him and there was great enthusiasm over the plucky finish of the Canadian.

At the conclusion of the race there were short speeches from W. A. Hoagland of Auburn, N. Y., the winner; Tom Slater, of Buffalo, N. Y., who was second; H. O. Messier, of Milwaukee; Player, of Kansas City and Mr. Hartley. Messier, in the course of his remarks, referred to Mr. Hartley's spectacular finishing, saying that those present had witnessed a feat that had never been performed in a similar event before, that of a man walking forty-five miles in nine hours and one-half at the conclusion of a strenuous six-day race.

Well Treated by People

Mr. Hartley said that he had received the best of treatment from the people of Kansas City, and had more sympathy from them than any of the walkers. The other contestants also used him well, although Mr. Hartley states that Slater attempted to dissuade him from walking on Saturday. The Buffalo man, according to Mr. Hartley, told him there was no use of his trying to complete 260 miles, because it had been arranged, he said, to walk only nine hours on Saturday. Mr. Hartley sought Manager Scoville and found that this statement was untrue and that he had ten hours in which to perform the feat.

As to the report that the other walkers had assisted him during the last hours of the race, Mr. Hartley stated that there was nothing in it and that none of them had helped him until the last lap of the forty-fifth mile was reached, when they gathered round him and walked the final circuit with him.

Attendance was Small

Mr. Hartley considers the Kansas City race as one of the most remarkable six-day races that has ever been contested, from the point of hard, clever walking. Financially the match was not a success, the attendance being disappointingly small. The promoters of the race will drop about $2,000 on the contest, while the walkers received practically nothing for their labour. The feet that a six-day bicycle race had been held a short time before interfered considerably with the attendance, which was never large even on the last day. Convention Hall, in which the race was held, will seat 16,000 people and it can easily be imagined that it was never crowded during the race. The track was twelve laps to the mile and made of sawdust. The worst feature of the hall, according to Mr. Hartley, was that the heating plant of the building was kept going at full blast, despite the fact that it was May weather outside, and the result was that the temperature was always uncomfortably hot for the walkers.

The Oldest of the Field

Mr. Hartley was the oldest of the contestants, Hoagland, the winner, and who calls himself the world's champion pedestrian, is forty-two years of age and Mr. Hartley says that he is a grand walker, with a pretty style, but thinks that with more preparation for the race he would have made it closer for the New York State crack. The local pedestrian had but a week in Kansas City before the race to accustom himself to the climate, and although he walked daily during the week before the race, the water and the climate had their effects upon him when the contest was gotten under way. If he had been able to go to Kansas City, a month before the race in order to get properly prepared Mr. Hartley is confident that he would have made a better showing. On the last day he walked further than any of the contestants, including Hoagland himself. Mr. Hartley found it necessary to secure a trainer in Kansas City and succeeded in getting one that looked after him fairly well, and gave him satisfactory attention.

Mr. Hartley was very favourably impressed with Kansas City, although he says the people of that city seem to have little regard for human life. There has been no snow there all winter, and during the week of the race the sun beamed down from blue skies with a May-like warmth.

Mr. Hartley has spent the past couple of days the guest of his brother-in-law in Toronto.

GRAFTERS LOST TO OMEMEE

Played Strong in the Second Half But Could Not Win Out.

THE RINK WAS TOO SMALL

The Omemee hockey team trimmed the Grafters last night on the former's ice, making three Ptoerborough teams to come away from the northern village with the small end of the score. The locals went up on the 5.30 p.m. train, returning on the flyer. The ice was in poor condition, the rink an open-air one, and the afternoon sun had honeycombed it along the sides and at one end.

The game itself was not the best exhibition of hockey imaginable. The Grafters were handicapped by the smallness of the rink, which has length, but no breadth. The score at half-time was 5 to 1 in favour of the homesters, and the finish showed them still in the lead with 7 goals to 4. In the second half the Grafters made things interesting, checking the Omemee forwards to a standstill and going it on their defence many times. They were unable to score very often on account of the weight of Sherin and Bradley, who used their bodies on the Grafters' forwards. The teams were:—

IMPORTANT MEETING OF THE QUAKERS

Will be Held This Evening at Examiner Office at 9 o'clock.

The Peterborough Quakers will hold a very important meeting this evening at the Examiner office at 9 o'clock for the consideration of the trip out to the Coast. The Quakers are very anxious to take the trip and if possible will make arrangements to-night. At any rate a final decision will be reached. The following members of the club are requested to be on hand for the meeting:—Sullivan, Fitzgerald, Hagley, Creagh, Baker, MacDonald, Boycott, Evans, Doris, Archibald, Best DeLorge, MacFadden, Dr. Morgan and any others interested are invited to be present.

QUAKERS WON FROM GRAFTERS

Smile Men Won Wednesday Night by a Score of 7 Goals to 3.

Once more the Smile men have triumphed and Wednesday night the Quakers took into camp the Grafters by a score of 7—3, leading at half time by 3—1. The winners had the better of the play at all times but the game was a good one and was hotly contested at all times. S W Rose was a satisfactory referee and the teams were:

THE TRENTON TRIP WAS CANCELLED

Snowstorm To-day Resulted in Postponement of Straths.

The Strathconas' trip to Trenton to-day had to be postponed on account of the snow storm which tied up the railway connections. In addition the Trenton rink as an open air one and the management of the Bay of Quinte bunch telephoned this afternoon to the effect that the rink was buried up in the blizzard.

LINDSAY BANKERS HERE ON MONDAY

Will Bring Down a Strong Team to Meet The Strathconas.

A great deal of interest is being taken in Monday night's game at Brock street rink, when the Lindsay Bankers, winners of the Lindsay City League will meet the Strathconas in a game for the inter-urban championship. The Scugog team will include Leon Koyle, the spectacular point man of the Lindsay Midgets, and also Sullivan the hard-checking cover point of the same aggregation. In addition they have Sylvester, formerly of the Lindsay intermediates and other O. H. A. stars on the seven and the team will give the Strathconas about the hardest argument the City League Champions have had this season. A big crowd will be on hand for the game which at this distance looks about the best of the year. The popular City League prices, 10 and 15c. will be charged.

SPORTING NEWS AND VIEWS.....

In an evening contemporary an article recently appeared about wild ducks being seen on the Otonabee river near Nassau. Is this so very strange? Evidently the sportsman on that journal knows little about the birds of his own district. Every winter wild ducks may be seen on the Otonabee River in the open stretches of water between Young's Point and Rice Lake. The mallard and the whistlewings never go very far south and the presence of these ducks at Nassau therefore can scarcely be said to be any indication of the approach of spring.

In view of the Strathconas trip to Trenton to-night the proposed game between the Lindsay Bankers and the Straths has been postponed until Monday night next. Koyle and others of the Lindsay Midgets will be on the line-up of the visitors' team, and reports from Lindsay say that their seven is as fast as the Lindsay intermediate team.

The knockers who say hockey is dead in Peterborough should see the Chieftains and some of the other junior teams perform before rendering judgment. If the kids keep on improving there will soon be no difficulty in getting a junior O.H.A. team together that will win back Peterborough's hockey laurels.

Collingwood go to Midland to-night for the intermediate O.H.A. final with a lead of four goals. It would not surprise local fans very much to see Edie Gould's green and white team put it over the Collingwood aggregation.

Two Presbyterian teams, the St. Andrew's and Knox seven met again last night at Brock street rink between ten and eleven o'clock and played a tie game. The score ended 1—1 at half time. Neither team found the nets afterwards. "Bill" Rose made a satisfactory referee.

Saskatoon and Edmonton hockey teams have arranged for games to be played for the Secord Shield. The Edmonton Bulletin says—:

"There is some doubt expressed as to the results of the coming games. Manager Whitcroft will be back and on the line-up in his old position while the remaining members of the team will be in their old places.

"Saskatoon team has been recruited from several of the Manitoba teams, and the possibility of their giving Edmonton the hardest games of the season is very bright. Their team is not much heavier but all are first-class individual players and some fast brilliant hockey is to be expected."

An interesting game of basketball was played in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium Wednesday evening before a fair crowd of spectators. It was the occasion of the final game in the February League and every man was game from start to finish. Several changes in the line-up of the teams were necessary and the new men certainly made good. The score at half time was 17 points to 7 in favour of team No. 2, and at full time 23 points to 21. No. 4 made a strenuous effort to even the score in the last minute but when the whistle blew were found lacking by only 2 points. The teams lined up as follows:

E. Best	F. Hall

G. Martin	McCarroll
Defence.
S. Laing	Ford Turner
Dinsdale	Gillespie

E. A. Frowde—Referee.
Chas Sissons — Scorer and Timekeeper.

The scoring was chiefly done by F. Hall for No. 2, scoring 12 points, and E Best for No. 4, scoring 12 points also.

Names are coming in fast for the new League and as arrangements will be made on Friday for the formation of teams, all desiring to get into the game should sign at once.

CARRIED SEVERED LEG.

Plucky Lumberman Crawled For Two Miles After Losing Limb.

Vancouver, B.C., March 6.—Carrying his severed right leg with him, Daniel Stetson, a handlogger, crawled through two miles of bush to tidewater at Toba Inlet, got a boat and rowed another two miles down the coast to the logging camp before finally collapsing.

He was working alone Monday when caught by falling timber. It crushed his right leg into a shapeless mass, practically tearing it off, and Stetson completed the work by cutting the shreds of skin which remained. A man of iron determination and courage and although bleeding to death he retained consciousness, laboriously made his way through the bush to the coast. Foot by foot he crawled over the logs then got into the boat and managed to reach a small camp two miles away. Then he collapsed and died the next morning.

Government Will Act.

Toronto, March 6.—Premier Whitney yesterday received a deputation urging the Government for increased efforts in the fight against tuberculosis. Judge Barron of Stratford remarked that there were five persons died from consumption to one through intemperance and added that people were going crazy over temperance in Toronto.

"The Cabinet will sit down to a full and thorough—not a formal and perfunctory—handling of the problem, and, personally, I will do all in my power to comply with the aim of your petitions; not, mark you, with their specific suggestions," said the Premier. "We will inaugurate preliminary steps of some description leading to such a permanent course of conduct as, in our opinion, will be the best means to aid in driving this great and terrible scourge from the land."

Ex-Magistrate on Trial.

Toronto, March 6.—Ex-Magistrate Thomas J. Woodcock, arrested on two charges of perjury and one of conspiracy to defraud, was yesterday remanded for a week without plea or election, continuing at liberty upon bail.

Hon. Mr. Harcourt Suggests Course to Government.

TO PROTECT OUR SCHOOLS

Hon. Dr. Reaume Promises to Investigate Their Preparedness For Fire —Information Secured by Mr. McCoig About Supreme Court —House Discusses Amendments to the Game Laws.

Toronto, March 6.—Premier Whitney announced in the Legislature yesterday that the estimates would be brought down either to-day or Monday. As the tuberculosis debate was set for to-day it is probable that the budget will not be disclosed until the first of the week.

The House worked steadily through the order paper, and finished a good deal of routine business.

Mr. Harcourt asked the Minister of Public Works if he had a bill in mind for the better regulation of exits in schools and public buildings. He had a bill in preparation himself, but thought now that the Government should deal with it.

Hon. Mr. Reaume said the Cleveland matter had attracted the attention of the Department of Works, and the Department intended to take it up.

Hon. Mr. Matheson remarked that all the doors on schools and public places of entertainment in the province were required to open outwards. The danger at cinematograph performances was from the celluloid fibres which burst into flame if a spark ignited them. The State of Massachusetts required the apparatus to be enclosed in an iron box and the operator to have passed an examination. The Government had it in view to amend the legislation by a special enactment.

A Financial Arrangement.

In reply to Mr. McCoig the Attorney-General stated that the amount of money under control of the accountant of the Supreme Court of Judicature of Ontario on Dec. 31, 1907, was $3,514,367.48. This consisted of bank deposits bearing 3 per cent. interest, $278,919.75; Ontario municipal debentures $950,645.96; certificates of the University of Toronto, $428,068.50; Ontario mortgages, $767,780.24; Manitoba mortgages, $311,350; Manitoba mortgages, $877,585. All except university certificates were invested through the Toronto General Trusts Corporation, which guarantees the payment of principal and interest.

The court received on investment marked at 3 1-4 per cent. 3 1-2 per cent., 4 per cent., 4 per cent., 4 1-2 per cent., and the difference between the rates payable by the borrower and the above rates was received by the Trusts Corporation for its services. To suitors 3 1-2 per cent. was paid on invested bonds, but to litigants when money was paid into court with a defence, as a security for costs, as a security for debt, or costs to stay execution, as a deposit for sale and for other temporary purposes the interest allowed was two money has been in court six months.

The company paid all commissions, cost of managements, and all other outgoings and expenses besides guaranteeing the prompt payment of all principal and interest on every investment. A readjustment of rates payable to the court had been under consideration for several months and negotiations to that end were still pending.

Game Protection.

The bill to amend the Ontario Game and Fisheries Act was reported after some discussion in which A. G. Peck took a prominent part in settling the conditions under which decoys might be used.

Mr. Smith (Sault) complained about insufficient game protection in the north country. One man at $50 could not cover 600 miles. Mr. Gamey agreed that not sufficient money was spent for game protection, and that the game was recklessly slaughtered.

Hon. Frank Cochrane stated in reply to Mr. McMillan, that Charles Burns was a homestead inspector at Parry Sound; that he received $600 a year, and the Government was not aware that he was a prospective candidate for the Legislature.

Smuggling Not Illegal.

Detroit, March 6.—Harry Payne of Windsor, under indictment here for bringing a Chinaman into the United States unlawfully, was released. The point raised by former United States District Attorney Wilkins, who was Payne's attorney, that the rowboat in which Payne brought the Chinaman over was not a "vessel" within the meaning of the statute, was sustained by Judge Swan.

Mutiny of Ship's Crew.

St. John, N.B., March 6.—Thirteen members of the crew of the Government steamer Lansdowne mutinied Wednesday evening, alleging ill-treatment and complaining that their pay was delayed. They were promptly paid and dismissed, but the steamer was prevented from sailing until a new crew can be engaged.

School Burned at Sturgeon Bay.

Greenbay, Wis., March 6.—A telephone message from Sturgeon Bay says that the principal school building there was burned yesterday. Loss, $60,000; insurance, about $32,000. No one was hurt. The building provided quarters for the high school and the first, second and third ward grammar schools.

Aspires to British House.

Vancouver, March 6.—Joseph Martin, K.C., will leave in October for England, where he will take legal work before the Privy Council. He also intends entering political journalism and probably will eventually enter political life in the old country.

Lancashire Labor Troubles.

London, March 6.—Serious labor troubles are still threatening in the Lancashire cotton trade and among the engineers of the northwest coast. Notices were posted yesterday threatening a lock-out of 29,000 cotton operatives in the Colne and Nelson districts.

Men Refused to Work.

Vancouver, March 6.—The city is arranging to close down its relief station, where a couple of hundred men have lately been housed and fed, because it has been shown that on several occasions men have refused to labor at $2 per day.

Strangled Herself.

St. Catharines, March 6.—Mrs. A. G. Sangster, aged 46, wife of the superintendent of the Hamilton Cataract Power Co. at Decew Falls, was found dead in her room yesterday, having strangled herself. She leaves three children.

ITCH, Mange, Prairie Scratches, Barber's Itch and every form of contagious Itch on human or animals cured in 30 minutes by Wolford's Sanitary Lotion. It never fails sold by Nugent Drug Company.

Miss Maggie Cavanagh of Toronto is home for a few weeks' holidays.

Miss Emily Swan has been very ill for the past few days. It is hoped she will soon be able to be out again.

Mr. Roland Kidd is busy hauling logs to the new mill at Warsaw and intends building in the near future.

Mr. P. Walker, Indian River, has become one of our greatest inventors, having invented a switch, for which he hopes to receive a large sum. He has had it shown to the G.T.R., and they report it good.

Mr. N. Payne was the guest of Mr. Hugh Kidd Sunday last.

Miss Masters of North Dummer has been visiting friends at Cottesloe for a few days.

Inside the sleeves of all our better quality shirts you will find a piece of starched material, as illustrated, called our "Eziajusta."

And the cuff will remain out of the way until brought down by means of a sharp pull.

YOUNG WOMEN

Young women are often great sufferers for want of proper advice at just the right time.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., has always issued to young girls a special invitation to write to her about their sickness. She is a mother, and fully understands.

In nine chances out of ten your case will be just the same as that of the young lady whose letter follows.

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

is what you need to restore health.

Miss M. R. Morin, 335 Ontario St., Montreal, writes to Mrs. Pinkham.

"I was in very poor health and doctored for months, receiving very little benefit. I had lost all ambition, was nervous, and subject to dizzy spells and painful periods each month.

"A friend suggested Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as the proper medicine for me. I procured a bottle of this remedy and began taking, and before it was finished, I felt so much better that I continued its use and gave it a thorough test, with the result I am to-day well and a much healthier girl than I was three years ago. I have no more painful periods, dizziness or nervous troubles."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

PLAIN TALK FROM THE DOCTOR

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder troubles, stated that to the following prescription is due a great deal of his success:

One ounce fluid extract dandelion;
One ounce compound salatone;
Four ounces compound syrup sarsaparilla.

Mix and take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime, drinking plenty of water.

This mixture will, he says, positively cure any diseases arising from weak, clogged or inactive kidneys, and will assist these organs to cleanse the blood of the poisonous waste matter and acids, which if allowed to remain, cause lumbago, lame back, rheumatism and sciatics, and at the same time will restore the kidneys to healthy normal action. The ingredients, which are purely vegetable and entirely harmless, can be procured from any good druggist and mixed at home as very little cost.

This advice will undoubtedly be much appreciated by many readers.

THE DANGER OF LAZINESS

Many men have been accused of laziness who did not deserve the appelation, and a physician of national repute has recently declared that most so-called lazy men are not so in reality, but they are sick. Most of us have at times had to make a very decided effort to overcome a disposition to shirk our work, and have blamed it on the weather, not realizing that there is any real danger in the indisposition for mental or physicial exertion. There is, however, a very real danger, for this symptom is Nature's warning that the system is exhausted, and it is in just this condition that people are an easy prey to the serious diseases, such as typhoid fever, grippe, diphtheria or consumption. The surest way to ward off such consequences is to stimulate the bowels and digestive organs, thus cleansing and rehabilitating the entire system. The most practical manner of accomplishing this is by taking King Palmetto Compound, which is not a secret medicine, but is the most perfect prescription known to medical men. The formula of King Palmetto Compound is printed plainly on the wrapper, and if you are not acquainted with the efficacy of its ingredients, ask any one who is, and you will be assured of its great therapeutic value. Free sample sent. Write to King Palmetto Co, Bridgeburg, Ont. King Palmetto Compound is sold at $1.00 per bottle and is guaranteed by

"'Well,' says they, 'what have you got to say for yourself?' He looked at them brands staring him in the face, and he bit off a small hunk of chewing 'Ptt-chay!' Says he, 'Gentlemen, I'm at a loss for words!' And they let him go, as a good joke is worth its price in any man's country. I'm in that lad's fix. I ain't got the words to tell you how seriously drunk I was on that occasion. I remember putting for what I thought was the hotel and settling down, thinking there must be a lulu of a scrap in the bar room from the noise. Then somebody gave me a punch in the ribs and says, 'Where's your ticket?' and I don't know what I said nor what he said after that, but it must have been all right. Then it got light, and I met a lot of good friends I never saw before nor since. Then more noise and trouble, and at last I woke up—in a hotel bedroom, all right, but not the one I was used to. I went to the window, heaved her open and looked out. It was a bully morning, and I felt A1. There was a nice range of mountains out in front of me that must have come up during the night. 'I'd like to know where I am,' I thinks. 'But somebody will tell me before long, so there is no use worrying about that—the main point is, have I been touched?' I dug down into my jeans, and there wasn't a thing of any kind to remember me by. 'No,' I says to myself, 'I ain't been touched—I've been grabbed—they might have left me the price of a breakfast.' Well, it's service looking country, anyhow!' So down I walks to the office. A cheerful seeming, plump kind of a man was sitting behind the desk. 'Hello!' says he, glancing up and smiling as I came in. 'How do you open up this morning?'

"Here's your watch and the rest of your valuables."

"'Somebody saved me the trouble,' says I. 'I'm afraid I'll have to give you the strong arm for breakfast.'

"He grinned wide. 'Oh, it ain't as bad as that, I hardly reckon,' says he. He dove into a safe and brought out a cigar box.

"'When a gentleman's in the condition you was in last night,' he says, 'I always make it a point to go through his clothes and take out anything a stranger might find useful, trusting that there won't be no offense the next morning. Here's your watch and the rest of your valuables, including the cash. Count your money and see if it's right.'

"Well, sir!' I was one happy man, and I thanked that feller as I thumbed over the bills, but when I got up to a hundred and seventy I begun to feel queer. Looked like I'd made good money on the trip.

"'What's the matter?' says he, seeing my face. 'Nothing wrong, I hope?'

"'Why, the watch and the gun and the other things is all right,' says I, 'but I'm now $50 to the good, even figuring that I didn't spend a cent, which ain't in the least likely, and here's ten dollar bills enough to make a bedspread left over.'

"'Pshaw!' says he. 'Blame it! I've mixed your plunder up with the mining gentleman that came in at the same time. You and him was bound to fight at first, and then you both turned to to lick me, and what with keeping you apart and holding you off and taking your valuables away from you all at the same time, and me all alone here, as it was the night man's day off, I've made a blunder of it. Just take your change out of the wad and call for a drink on me when you feel like it, will you?'

"I said I would do that, and, moreover, that he was an officer and a gentleman and that I'd stay at his hotel two weeks at least to show my appreciation, no matter where it was, but to satisfy a natural curiosity, I'd like to know what part of the country I was at present inhabiting.

"'You're at Boise, Ida.,' says he; 'one of the best little towns in the best little territory in the United States of America, including Alaska.'

"'Well'— says I. 'Well'— for again I was at a loss for words. I had no idea I'd gone so far from home. 'I believe what you say,' says I. 'What do you do round these parts?'

"'Mining,' says he. 'You're just in time—big strike in the Bob Cat district. Poor man's mining. Placer, and durned good placer, right on the top of the ground. The mining gentleman I spoke about is having his breakfast now. Suppose you go in and have a talk with him? Nice man, drunk or sober, although excitable when he's had a little too much or not quite enough. He might put you on to a good thing. I'm not a mining person myself.'

"'Thanks,' says I and in I went to the dining room.

"There was a great, big, fine-looking man eating his ham and eggs the way I like to see a man eat the next morning. He had a black beard that was so strong it fairly jumped out from his face.

"'Mornin',' says I.

"'Good morning, sir!' says he. 'A day of commingled lucent clarity and vernal softness, ain't it?'

"'Well, I wouldn't care to bet on that without going a little deeper into the subject,' says I; 'but it smells good at least—so does that ham and eggs. Maw, I'll take the same, with coffee extra strong.'

"'You have doubtless been attracted to our small but growing city from the reports—which are happily true—of the inexhaustible mineral wealth of the surrounding region,' says he.

"'No-o—not exactly,' says I; 'but I do want to hear something about mines. Mr. Hotelman out there (who's a gentleman of the old school if ever there lived one) told me that you might put me on to a good thing.'

"'Precisely,' says he. 'Now, sir, my name is Jones—Agamemnon G. Jones—and my partner, Mr. H. Smith, is on a business trip, selling shares of our mine, which we have called "The Treasury" from reasons which we can make obvious to any investor. The shares, Mr.'—

"'Saunders—Red Saunders—Chanta Seechee Red.'

"'Mr. Saunders, are 50 cents apiece, which price is really only put upon them to avoid the offensive attitude of dealing them out as charity. As a matter of fact, this mine of ours contains a store of gold which would upset the commercial world were the bare facts of its extent known. There is neither sense nor amusement in confining such enormous treasure in the hands of two people. Consequently my partner and I are presenting an interest to the public, putting the nominal figure of 50 cents a share upon it, to save the feelings of our beneficiaries.'

"'What the devil do I care?' says I. 'I'm looking for a chance to dig. Could you tell a man where to go?'

"'Oh,' says he, 'when you come to that, that's different. Strictly speaking, my partner Hy hasn't gone off on a business trip. As a matter of fact, he left town night before last with two-thirds of the money we'd pulled out of a pocket up on Silver creek in the company of two half breed Injuns, a Chinaman and four more sons of guns not classified, all in such a state of beastly intoxication that their purpose, route and destination are matters of the wildest conjecture. I've been laying around town here hating myself to death, thinking perhaps I could sell some shares in a mine that we'll find yet, if we have good luck. If you want to go wild catting over the hills and far away, I'm your huckleberry.'

"'That hits me all right,' says I. 'For what I don't know about mining nobody don't know. When do we start?'

"'This or any other minute,' says he, getting up from the table.

"'Wait till I finish up these eggs,' says I. 'And there's a matter of one drink coming to me outside. I may as well put that where it won't harm any one else before we start.'

"'All right,' says he, waving his hand. 'You'll find me outside, at your pleasure, sir.'

"I swallered the rest of my breakfast whole and hustled out to the bar, where my friend and the hotel man was waiting. 'Now I'll take that drink that's coming, and rather than be small about it I'll buy one for you, too, and then we're off,' says I.

"'You won't do no such thing,' says the hotel man. 'It's a horse on me, and I'll supply the liquor. Mr. Jones is in the play as much as anybody.'

"So the hotel man set 'em up, and that made one drink. Then Jones said he'd never let a drink suffer from lonesomeness yet when he had the price, and that made two drinks. I had to uphold the honor of the ranch, and that made three drinks. Hotel man said it was up sticks now, and he meant to pay his just debts like an honest man, and that made four drinks. Then Jones said—well, by this time I see I needn't have hurried breakfast so much. More people came in. I woke up the next morning in the same old bedroom. Every breakfast Aggy and me got ready to pull for the mines, and every morning I woke up in the bedroom. I should like to draw a veil over the next two weeks, but it would have to be a pretty strong veil to hold it. I tried to keep level with Aggy, but he'd spend three dollars to my one, and the consequence of that was that we went broke within fifteen minutes of each other.

"Well, sir, we were a mournful pair to draw to that day. We sat there and cussed and said, 'Now, why didn't we do this, that and t'other thing instead of blowing our hard earned dough?' till bimeby we just dripped melancholy, you might say. Howsomever, we weren't booked for a dull time just yet. That afternoon there was a great popping of whips like an Injun skirmish and into town comes a bull train half a mile long. Twelve yoke of bulls to the team; lead, swing and trail wagons for each, as big as houses on wheels. You don't see the like of that in this country. Down the street they come, the dust flying, whips cracking and the lads hollering: 'Whoa haw, Mary—up there! Wherp! Whoa haw!'

"And those fellers had picked up dry throats walking in the dust; also they had a month's wages aching in their pockets. We hadn't much more'n got the thump of their arrival out of our ears when who comes roaring into town but the Bengal Tiger gang, and they had four months' wages. The owner of the mine got on a bender and paid everybody off by mistake. You can hardly imagine how this livened up things. There ain't nobody less likely to play lame duck than me, but there was no dodging the hospitality. The only idea prevailing was to be rid of the money as soon as possible. The effects showed right off. You could hear one man telling the folks for their own good that he was the Old Missouri River, and when he felt like swelling his banks it was time for parties who couldn't swim to hunt the high ground, while the gentleman on the next corner let us know that he was a locomotive carrying 300 pounds of steam with the gauge still climbing and the blower on. When he whistled three times, he said, any intelligent man would know that there was danger around.

"Well, sir, I put the Old Missouri River to bed that night, and he'd flattened out to a very small streamlet indeed, while the locomotive went lame before supper and had to be put in the roundhouse by a couple of pushers. That's the way with fine ideas. Cold facts comes and puts a crimp in them. Once I knew a small feller I could have stuck in my pocket and forgot about, but when we went out and took several prescriptions together on a day he spoke to me like this. 'Red,' says he, 'put your little hand in mine, and we'll go and take a birdseye view of the universe.' Astonishin' idea, wasn't it? And him not weighing over a hundred pound. Howsomever, he didn't take any birdseye view of the universe. He only become strikingly indisposed.

"Well, to get back to Boise, you never in all your life saw so many men and brothers as was gathered there that day, and old Aggy, he was one of the centers of attraction. That big voice and black beard was always where the crowd was thickest and the wet goods flowing the freest. 'Gentlemen,' says he, 'let's lift up our voices in melody!' That was one of Ag's delusions—he thought he could sing. So four of 'em got on top of a billiard table and presented 'Rocked In the Cradle of the Deep' to the company, which made me feel glad that I hadn't been brought up that way. After Ag had hip locked the last low note another song bird volunteered.

"This was a little fat Dutchman, with pale blue eyes and a mustache like two streaks of darning cotton. He had come to town to sell a pair of beef steers, but got drawn into the general hilarity, and now he didn't care a cuss whether he, she or it ever sold another steer. He got himself on end and sung 'Leeb Fadderiont moztrue eckstein' in a style that made you wonder that the human nose could stand the strain.

"'Aw, cheese that!' says a feller near the door. 'Come, get your steers; one of 'em's just chased the barber up a telegraph pole!'

"So then we all piled out into the street to see the steers. Sure enough, there was the barber sitting on the crosspiece and the steer pawing dirt underneath.

"'He done made me come a fast heat from de cohner,' says the barber. 'I kep' hollerin' "Next!" but he ain't pay no 'tention—he make it "next" fur me, shuah! Yah, yah, yah! You gents orter seen me start at de bottom an' slide all de way up dis yer telegraft pole!'

"One of the bull whackers went out to rope the steers, and Ag gave directions from the sidewalk. He wasn't very handy with a riata, and that's a fact, but the way Ag lit into him was scandalous. When he'd missed about six casts of his rope, Ag opened up on him:

"'Put a stamp on it and send it to him by mail,' said Aggy in his sourcastic way. 'Address it, "Bay Steer, middle of Main street, Boise, Ida. If not delivered within ten days, return to owner, who can use it to hang himself." Blast my hide if I couldn't stand here and throw a box car nearer to the critter! Well, well, well! How many left hands have you got, anyhow? Do it up in a wad and heave it at him for general results. He might get tangled in it.'

"It rattled the bull whacker, having so much attention drawn to him, and he stepped on the rope and twisted himself up in it and was flying light generally.

"'Say,' says Ag, appealing to the crowd, 'won't some kind friend who's fond of puzzles go down and help that gentleman do himself?'

"That made the whacker mad. He was as red in the face as a lobster.

"'You come down and show what you can do,' says he. 'You've got gas enough for a balloon ascension, but that may be all there is to you.'

"'Oh, I ain't so much,' says Aggy, 'although I'm as good a man today as ever I was in my life, but I have a little friend here who can rope, down and ride that critter from here to the brick front in five minutes by the watch, and if you've got a twenty-five dollar bill in your pocket or its equivalent in dust you can observe the experiment.'

"'I'll go you, by gosh!' says the bull whacker, slapping his hat on the ground and digging for his pile.

"'Say, if you're referring to me, Ag,' I says, 'it's kind of a sudden spring. I ain't what you might call in training, and that steer is full of triple extract of giant powder.'

"'G'wan!' says Ag. 'You can do it, and then we're twenty-five ahead.'

"'But suppose we lose?'

"'Well— it won't be such an awful loss.'

"'Now, you look here, Agamemnon G. Jones,' says I, 'I ain't going to stand for putting up a summer breeze agin that feller's good dough. That's a skin game, to speak it pleasantly.'

"Then Aggy argues the case with me, and when Aggy started to argue you might just as well 'moo' and chase yourself into the corral, because he'd get you sure. Why, that man could sit in the cabin and make roses bloom right in the middle of the floor. While he was singing his little song you could see 'em and smell 'em. He could talk a snowbank off a high divide in the middle of February. Never see anybody with such a medicine tongue, and in a big man it was all the stranger. 'Now,' he winds up, 'as for cheating that feller, you ought to know me better, Red. Why, I'll give him my note.'

"So, anyhow, I done it. Up the street we went, steer bawling and buck jumping, my hair a-flying and me as busy as the little bee you read about keeping that steer underneath me 'stead of on top of me, where he'd ruther be, and after us the whole town, whoopin', yellin', crackin' off six shooters and carryin' on wild.

"Then we had $25 and was as good as anybody. But it didn't last long. The tin horns come out after pay day like hoptoads after a rain. 'Twould puzzle the government at Washington to know where they hang out in the meantime. There was one lad had a face on him with about as much expression as a hotel punkin pie. He run an arrow game, and he talked right straight along in a voice that had no more bends in it than a billiard cue.

"'Here's where you get your three for one any child may do it no chance to lose make your bets while the arrow of fortune swings all gents accommodated in amounts from two bits to double eagles and bets paid on the nail,' says he.

"'Red,' says Aggy, 'I can double our pile right here. Let me have the money. I know this game.' You'd hardly believe it, but I dug up. 'Double or quits?' says he to the dealer.

"'Let her go,' says the dealer. The arrow swung around. 'Quits,' says the dealer and raked in my dough. It was all over in one second.

"I grabbed Aggy by the shoulder and took him in the corner for a private talk. 'I thought you knew this game?' says I.

"'I do,' says he. 'That's the way it always happens.' And once more in my life I experienced the peculiar feeling of being altogether at a loss for words.

"'Aggy,' says I at last, 'I've got a good notion to lay two violent hands on you and wind you up like an eight day clock, but rather than make bard feelings between friends I'll refrain. Besides, you are a funny cuss, that's sure. One thing, boy, you can mark down. We leave here tomorrow morning.'

"'All right,' says Ag. 'This sporting life is the very devil. I like outdoors as well as the next man, when I get there.'

"So the morrow morning away we went. All we had for kit was the picks, shovels and pans. The rest of our belongings was staying with the hotel man until we made a rise.

"Ag said he'd be cussed if he'd walk. A hundred and fifty miles of stroll was too many.

"'But we ain't got a cent to pay the stage fare,' says I.

"'Borrow it of Uncle Hotel-keep,' says he.

"'Not by a town site,' says I. 'We owe him all we're going to at this very minute. You'll have to hoof it, that's all.'

"'I tell you I won't. I don't like to have anybody walk on my feet, not even myself. I can stand off that stage driver so easy that you'll wonder I don't take it up as a profession. Now, don't raise any more objections—please don't,' says he. 'I can't tell you how nervous you make me, always finding some fault with everything I try to do. That's no way for a hired man to act, let alone a pardner.'

VARICOCELE CURED

NO NAMES USED WITHOUT WRITTEN CONSENT.

Confined to His Home for Weeks.

"Heavy work, severe straining and evil habits in youth brought on a double varicocele. When I worked hard the aching would become severe and I was often laid up for a week at a time. My family physician told me an operation was my only hope—but I dreaded it. I tried several specialists, but soon found out all they wanted was my money. I commenced to look upon all doctors as little better than rogues. One day my boss asked me why I was off work so much and I told him my condition. He advised me to consult Drs. Kennedy & Kennedy, as he had taken treatment from them himself and knew they were square and skilful. I wrote them and got THE NEW METHOD TREATMENT. My progress was somewhat slow and during the first month's treatment I was somewhat discouraged. However, I continued treatment for three months longer and was rewarded with a complete cure. I could only earn $18 a week in a machine shop before treatment, now I am earning $40 and never lose a day. I wish all sufferers knew of your valuable treatment.

"I feel it my duty to testify to the benefit I have received from the use of Psychine. While travelling in New Ontario conducting special meetings I contracted a very bad cold, which gradually developed into Bronchitis of the worst form. I was advised to try Psychine, which I did, and after using but a few bottles I was completely restored to health. I recommend this wonderful remedy to sufferers from Bronchitis and other troubles."

WOLF SLAUGHTER ON THE DECLINE

Dealers Find Difficulty in Securing the Skins—Mild Winter in the Northwest.

SILVER FOX SKINS SCARCE

The Edmonton Bulletin says: Notwithstanding the reports from the north of the havoc wrought by wolves among the herds of deer and even in the farmyards of the more thickly settled districts, the slaughter of these predatory animals has been probably less than for many previous seasons. This is the opinion expressed by Mr. R. M. Pierce, of the Pierce Fur Company, who has just completed some large consignments of raw furs for shipment to the London market for the March sales. Mr. Pierce says the dealers have found it very difficult to secure wolf skins this winter, and he is somewhat at a loss to explain the reason, as it was thought that on account of the mildness of the winter the hunters and trappers would have had easy work in pursuing the animals. The largest consignment he has had this winter was 800 skins which came from the Edmonton district, where it is said the wolves have been particularly troublesome this year, attacking the cattle and horses of isolated settlers in some cases. Old hunters and trappers would have had much better success this winter but for the fact that the snow this winter has been a handicap to them, as they are accustomed to the quest of their wolf-hunting with deep snow. The mildness of the winter has had a bad effect on the industry of the Indian hunters, who provide most of the fur. They hunt better when driven to it by privation. This season they have not experienced want and have consequently been negligent in the taking of game.

Mr. Pierce states also that the black and silver fox, which is so much prized for its fur, has been marked by absence from the packs of the hunters this year, not a single black fox having been sent in so far. Some cross fox skins have been brought to the city, but not to the extent that has characterized other seasons, with the result that the prices have advanced considerably. The price of wolf skins has practically doubled.

Mr. Pierce says that the districts from which furs are sent to Winnipeg are rapidly becoming more distant. This season considerable quantities of furs have been sent from the north eastern districts of British Columbia, while Northern Alberta is still a big producer. The refugee from the "cabbage-patch" west of the city are dropping off in a very marked manner as the furbearing animals are receding from the approach of civilization indicated by the projection of the new railway and the constant menace of men engaged in the lumber business.

CUTTER SMASHED IN A RUNAWAY

Miraculous Escape of Mr. N. Quinlan of Indian River Village—Mr. Rancier Repairing His Factory.

Examiner Special.

Indian River, March 3.—The miller from Warsaw has purchased a car-load of Manitoba wheat.

Mr. Nath. Stobler shipped a car-load of hogs from here last Thursday, the price being 5c per lb.

Mr. J. Davlin, of the C.P.R., wire gang, was home for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver McDonald spent last Sunday with friends in Douro.

Miss Fanny Fitzpatrick of Norwood visited friends in Douro last Sunday.

Mr. Nealey Quinlan while driving to Indian River last Saturday evening had the misfortune to come in contact with a runaway horse. Mr. Quinlan's cutter was badly damaged, but miraculously escaped the shaft of the vehicle drawn by the runaway horse, as it went close by his head.

Mr. Gilbert Rancier is doing some slight repair work on his factory and expects a busy season.

Mr. Stephen Murphy, postmaster of Guerin postoffice, has opened up his new store.

The bachelors are about to build a bakeshop here as the Peterborough supply comes short, especially in the stormy weather.

The president is a baker by trade and would not doubt mix the dough to the taste of his companions.

SOME IDLE MEN IN BRIDGENORTH

Correspondent From There Would Like To See Municipal Stonepile.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Just a few lines to let you know that Peterborough hasn't all the idle men. We are suffering greatly in Bridgenorth from lack of work. Every day you can find 20 to 30 idle men at Nichol's blacksmith shop, looking for work, without success. It is a great pity the township council had not taken steps similar to those taken by the city Council, in furnishing a stone pile to supply employment for those needing it. It is to be hoped that something will be done in the near future. Thanking you for space, I am,

Yours truly,

In Spring-Time Many People Need a Good Tonic.

Pe-ru-na, a Standard Tonic the World Over.

Mrs. R. Boyer Writes From 1421 Sherman Ave., Evanston, Ill., Concerning Pe-ru-na. Read Her Letter Below:

Mr. C. A. Landgrabe, Box 25, Coalburg, Ohio, Gives His Experience With Peruna. Read His Letter Below:

From the bracing rigors of winter to the balmy warmth of spring-time is a climatic change that affects every one more or less. A great multitude of people, however, are so affected by the change as to require medical assistance.

If such people neglect to take a good tonic that will safely tide them over the trying weather of early spring, the system is weakened, the blood over loaded with effete materials of the winter season and the victim is rendered an easy prey to acute ailments.

It has been the universal experience of mankind that a spring tonic of some sort is necessary. All kinds of remedies, herbal and mineral, have been used. There is usually great uncertainty as to the operation of the average spring tonic.

Peruna, on the other hand, has been in use for so many years and in such a variety of climates and by such a multitude of people that its beneficial operation for spring ailments has become a practical certainty. Peruna can be relied upon as a spring tonic. It cleanses the blood by correcting the digestion, which is the source of good blood.

"If any one has reason to praise Peruna, it is surely myself.

"Last spring I became run down from the serious effects of lingering cold and several complications united in pulling me down.

"I could neither eat nor sleep well, and lost flesh and spirit.

"I finally tried Peruna and it did wonders for me.

"In two weeks I was like another person and in a month I felt better than I ever had before.

"I thank Peruna for new life and strength."

"I had been a slight sufferer for a number of years, but paid little attention to it until the spring of this year when my suffering became very severe.

"I had pain in the head, back, liver, chest and other parts of my body, besides indigestion which caused me much trouble.

"I tried medical aid, but to no purpose. I wrote to Dr. Hartman for advice, telling him of my various ailments and he informed me that I had systemic catarrh.

"After using the first bottle of Peruna, I felt better. I continued to use it until I had taken four bottles, when I felt entirely cured. I recommend Peruna to others."

Aids Digestion, Promotes Sleep.

Mr. E. Arnold, Westerly, R. I., writes: "I wish to say a good word for your valuable remedy, Peruna. I have taken many kinds of medicine during my life, but find that Peruna stands ahead of all. It aids digestion, promotes sleep, quiets the nervous system, strengthens the throat and vocal organs. I have used it for catarrh and to break up sudden colds which is the best of all.

"I contracted a severe cold once which ended in pleurisy and left me weak, and every change of weather would bring a return of old pains. Peruna now vanishes all pain. I cannot praise it enough. I tell all my friends that it is the best medicine used for the ills of life. If any word of mine will lead others to try it, you are at liberty to use my testimonial in any form."

Gave New Life and Force.

Mr. B. F. Sellers, 3234 Olive street, St. Louis, Mo., writes:

"Any man in my profession often has to spend the whole night with a tremendous strain on his respiratory organs. I have time and again gone home so worn out that I could neither eat nor sleep, and a number of my colleagues have been in the same condition.

"But Peruna has changed this. I found that after using a bottle or two my system was greatly invigorated with new life and force, and I can now fortify my system to endure a greater strain than was ever possible before. Peruna certainly is very necessary to me, and keeps me in splendid health,"

Mr. L. D. Townsend, suite 2, 3 and 4, Century Bl'k, St. Joseph, Mich., writes:

"I am grateful for what Peruna has done for my family.

"Six months ago my wife's health was very much run down, lacking vigor and suffering with pains in her head and back.

"A friend advised her to try Peruna, which she did with most satisfactory results. In a few weeks she was completely restored to her usual vigor, and is now happy, well and strong, thanks to Peruna.

"I have tried Peruna myself when tired and overworked and in every instance I have felt better within a day or two."

Headache and Backache.

Mrs. Nannie Hall, 12 Herbert street, Atlanta, Ga., writes:

"I write to tell you how much good your Peruna has done for me. I was so sick and nervous that I was almost dead. I could not eat nor sleep nor work any at all, but was in bed nearly all the time, and was almost a skeleton I was so poor. Now I can eat anything I want and it doesn't hurt me, and I can sleep all night long and get up and work all day. I don't have any nervousness now, but am happy all the day long. I sing the praises of Peruna wherever I go, and I believe it saved my life. I could not have lived through the summer in the condition I was in.

"I had tried many doctors, but they did me no good. Peruna certainly cured me. I had headache and backache and was very nervous. I could not eat nor sleep, and was almost in a my grave. I tried your Peruna, and I felt better from the start. I took about five bottles of Perunа and the awful headache and nervousness was gone. I could eat anything, and my nerves are all right, and I have no more backache. I am well, and Peruna cured me."

Mrs. Elin Malmgren, 77 Cleveland street, West Manchester, N. H., writes:

"Every spring and fall, for eleven years, I have been troubled with catarrh in my throat and nose and hoarseness.

"I am pleased to state that at last I found a medicine, Peruna, from which I received great benefit, and I will here use and recommend it.

"I always keep it in my house in case of sickness.

"I recommend your medicine to all my friends and every sufferer as an excellent medicine."

Catarrh of the Head.

Mr. C. Hallock, Antwerp, O., writes: "My daughter Allie, after taking three bottles of your Peruna is entirely cured of catarrh of the head of two years' standing. We have used Peruna as a general tonic, as well as for catarrh, and are well pleased with it and recommend it to anybody who has catarrh. Anybody wishing any information can write to me."

Doctors Called It Consumption.

Miss Ella L. Matthews, Box 111, Hill City, Tenn., writes:

"I find much pleasure in writing you to let you know that I have been taking your wonderful tonic, Peruna. From experience I have decided that there could be no greater medicine in the world than Peruna.

"Several physicians had pronounced my disease as consumption. I had been a sufferer for several years, and was growing weaker all the while, until I could hardly walk across my room.

"I was so fortunate as to get a Peruna book, and after reading it carefully I decided Peruna was the remedy for me, so I began taking it. To-day my health is better than it has been since I had the measles ten years ago. I cannot express half the praise which is due to Dr. Hartman for his great and wonderful remedy and his advice regarding health. I do not think I would be living this day had it not been for Peruna."

Handling Of Wires Which Carry High Voltage Current

The Street Lighting Wires To Be Regarded As Suspicious—500 Volt Shock Kills a Horse.

SOME ELECTRIC SHOCKS

The fact that one has received a shock from a 500-volt circuit that did not prove painful is not a sign that the next one will not be equally harmless. The following experiments have been made involuntarily, by a great many people, says Cassier's Magazine.

Touch one side of the circuit lightly with the finger while making contact with the other side either through a a ground or by actually touching it; the sensation is similar to receiving a violent blow in the chest; a small burn that is deep but not painful, will be found on the finger where contact was made.

Make a better contact, as by touching the circuit with a piece of metal held firmly in the hand and the blow will be strong enough to knock the experimenter down. It is probable that no burn will result, as the circuit has a large surface through which to center the hand; in rare cases the person may become unconscious for a short time.

Grasp the wire firmly in the hand, and for a short time at least it will be impossible to release it. Serious burns are made where the wire touches the hand, and unless the victim succeeds in wrenching himself free or help is quickly rendered, the results will likely prove fatal.

The last case is of very rare occurrence; it is pretty sure to obtain considerable space in the daily papers when it actually does occur, while in many of the reports seen the victim may exclaim, with Mark Twain, "Accounts of my death greatly exaggerated." On the other hand, people are knocked down by the current every day It is rather peculiar that the 500-volt shock will, in the majority of cases kill a horse.

The trolley current is a 500-volt circuit, with the exception of perhaps half a dozen lines recently installed which go to 1,000or over. It is well to remember in case of a falling trolley wire that standing upon a dry board will give full protection, that while sitting in a car there is no danger of a shock from a broken wire or other causes if one does not touch metal or wet wood; raising the feet from the floor that may be wet or dirty will do as an additional precaution.

If one wishes to remove a wire to avoid shock or for other reasons, it may be done with safety by standing upon a dry, clean board, with a piece of dry board not large enough to stand on, or with several thicknesses of dry paper, (a newspaper) or, in case of emergency, a bundle of dry clothing. As it is difficult to get the latter perfectly dry, a shock may be received when this is attempted, but the resistance will be so high that the shock will not be very severe.

The deadly third rail also operates at 500-volts, and is no more deadly than has been already shown, except for the probability of a person who is thrown down by the shock of falling across the rail and becoming unconscious. This of course is as serious a case even as that of the man who is unable to let go of the wire.

Are Suspicious

Wires used for street lighting may always be regarded with suspicion; they are exceedingly likely to carry a current of 2,000 volts or more. This will, in most cases, give a fatal current, and the pressure is so great that the previous precautions described are not to be depended upon. One would be reasonably safe, however, if standing upon a chair or stool with wooden legs perfectly dry.

As wires of 2,000 volts or more are quite common in the streets, there are many chances for other wires to come in contact with them and so receive a dangerous current. It is therefore unwise for an inexperienced person to touch any outdoor wire, however harmless it may appear.

Lines for transmitting power across country operate on voltages all the way up to 60,000. Precautions are taken with such wires and special warnings are printed on the poles. Lines of 10,000 volts or over may be recognized by the fact that large clay or porcelain insulators are used in place of glass ones generally seen.

Persons rendered unconscious by a shock may frequently revived by inducing artificial respiration in the manner used for reviving persons apparently drowned; but of course, without the attempt to expel water from the lungs.

Didn't Agree with Me

Mr. Arthur Tennison, 18 London Street, Toronto, writes enthusiastically of the merits of Psychine for all stomach troubles.

"For seven years I have had indigestion and dyspepsia. I tried scores of remedies. My room resembled a drug store with nostrums which I had bought. Eventually I used Psychine, and every dose brought permanent relief."

All throat, lung and stomach troubles quickly cured by Psychine. It is the prescription of a great specialist. At all druggists, 50c and $1.00, or Dr. T. A. Slocum, Limited, Toronto.

HOW MONEY IS MADE IN ROYAL MINT AT OTTAWA

Several absolutely new devices in mint machinery, to be found nowhere else than in the new Ottawa coining factory were explained by Mr. A. H. W. Cleave, who installed the machinery and supervised the construction to the mechanical section of the Civil Engineers.

Five different parts besides that of the actual coin stamping department are in operation there. Most of Mr. Cleave's explanations were somewhat technical, but his description of the die-making plant, where the dies from which the coins take their impression are made, and of the coining plant proper were of great interest. In the die sinking press the blow is given by a heavy flywheel, five feet diameter. In this press a blow may be given varying from a few pounds to about forty tons.

Each coinage die requires 3 blows from the punch before the impression received is sufficiently sharp in all its details. After each of the first two blows the die is annealed in the die furnace. After the third blow it is turned to the correct size, and then hardened and tempered; after which it is ready for use in the coining press. It is usual for a pair of dies to strike about 80,000 pieces before they are unfitted for further use.

The coining presses of which there are three, are the type in which the pressure is given to the coins through levers and toggle-joints. The hard steel knuckles of the toggle-joints are of exceptionally large dimensions, so that coins can be struck at the rate of 100 per minute without any danger of them becoming overheated. Each press is driven by its own motor, and arranged so that the drive can be made either through a belt or gearing. The number of blows struck per minute can be varied from 30 to 100 by means of a 5-step controller.

The blanks are placed in the feed tube by the operator, in piles of about 30. They are fed to the dies, automatically, by steel feeding fingers, which take one blank at a time from the feed-tube, and drop it into the collar at the same time pushing the previously struck piece into the delivery tube.

Hitherto, when coining, it has frequently been the case that, for some reason or other, a blank has not been placed between the dies at the proper moment. This may occur through the feed tube being empty, or through a bent blank sticking in the tube. In every case the dies have come together, ("clashed") and have been rendered useless. It has been known ihn a large mint for as many as twelve dies to be "clashed" in a day; representing a cost of not less than $22, and over and above the time taken in changing the dies. As a general rule a pair should be capable of striking about 80,000 pieces before becoming unfit for further use. In order to prevent the possibility of "clashed" dies, a device has been adopted in these presses, by means of which the dies do not come together unless a blank has been placed between them. This device consists of a special clutch between the fly-wheel and the main shaft, which is actuated by an arrangement of levers connected with the feeding fingers. In the event of a blank not being fed to the dies, the clutch is released, and the column holding the top die is stopped instantly, at its highest point; the fly-wheel continuing to run idle on the main shaft. This attachment takes up no extra floor space, and is exceedingly neat and effective.

There was a large gathering of engineers, who listened with much interest to the description given of the coining processes.

The chair was occupied by Mr. J. A. Jamieson, elevator engineer and contractor. At the close of the lecture, there was a short discussion on the newer features introduced in the up-to-date production of coins. A very hearty vote of thanks was afterwards accorded the lecturer.

COLD SETTLED ON THE LUNGS

Mrs. Irwin Bennett, Parrsboro, N. S., writes: "I feel it my duty to write a few words in praise of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. I took a bad cold which settled on my lungs, and made it almost impossible to breathe at times. I coughed constantly and could not sleep at nights. A friend told me how Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup had helped her, so I procured some, and before I had taken one bottle my cough was gone and I could lie down and sleep at night."

GILLETT'S CREAM TARTAR.

When your dealer, in filling your order for any of above goods, reaches for a substitute, STOP HIM. That is the time to do it. It is too late when you get home, and the package opened, partially used and found wanting, as is generally the case with substitutes.

There are many reasons why you should ask for the above well advertised articles, but absolutely none why you should let a substituting dealer palm off something which he claims to be "just as good," or "better" or "the same thing" as the article you ask for.

The buying public recognize the superior quality of well advertised and standard articles like Gillett's goods. The substitutor realizes this fact and tries to sell inferior goods on the advertiser's reputation.

GAINED 15 POUNDS.

Mr. H. A. Thurston, of 225 Vermont St. E., Indianapolis, Restored by Ferrozone.

"A year ago I took the grippe. I was as weak as a child. I was no longer able to eat. My blood was thin. My cheeks were white and hollow. Doctors gave me all kinds of medicine, but none of them brought me strength. My friends said I was wasting away with some slow disease, and I bade them good-bye. Then I heard of the wonderful Ferrozone. After three days it gave me an appetite. I gained strength and became cheerful. Under Ferrozone I improved steadily. I am well to-day. I weigh fifteen pounds heavier than ever before, and feel like a new man.
(Signed) "H. A. THURSTON."

HISTORY OF LLOYDMINSTER, HOME OF FERTILE SOIL, AND THE SURROUNDING DISTRICT

Herian connection was taken up, E. Morgan being the first missionary, and he continued in the field till the spring of 1905, when Rev. A. M. McLennan succeeded him.

To Mr. McLennan's energy and resourcefulness is mainly due the erection of a church for his congregation, he even assisting in the actual building.

During the first year of the Barr colony Rev. E. C. McLaurin, general missionary of the Baptist convention, passed through the district in the summer and held a service in a large tent.

The third summer, 1905, Student Pastor C. S. Elsey came, staying all the summer, and in the latter part of that year erected and opened up the church.

Eventually the services of Rev. Mr. Pengelly were obtained and he is still with the church.

The Methodists have also a comfortable church, which was built in 1906 and which cost, $2,500.

Banking Facilities

The Canadian Bank of Commerce was the first financial institution to recognize the possibilities of the town and district, and is doing a flourishing business under the management of S. M. Daly. A couple of years ago the Northern Bank erected a handsome building, which would do credit to a western town of far larger size. G. C. Hodson is the manager of this branch.

While the district is remarkably healthy, so rapid has been the inflow of settlers that the present hospital accommodation is all too inadequate and the matron, Miss Beveridge, and the visiting physicians are working under difficulties.

It is the intention of the town and outlying districts to build a thoroughly up-to-date hospital in the near future.

Local Improvement Districts

In the fall of 1906 a petition was sent in to the commissioner of public works by the settlers located east of Lloydminster, asking that a local improvement district be formed. This being granted, an election of councillors took place in January, 1906, and the work of improving the roads and general conditions of the district was commenced right away.

This district is one of the most prosperous in the colony, the land in the south and west of the district being admirably suited for grain growing, whilst in the north and east the conditions prevailing make an ideal mixed farming country. The special feature of this latter being the famous Big Gully Creek, the banks of which are covered with a tremendous growth, making excellent feed for cattle, whilst the enormous ravines, affording natural shelter, and the many running springs which empty into the creek, providing an abundant water supply, make stock raising a profitable enterprise. The example set by this part of the colony has been followed by others, and now almost the whole settlement is formed into local improvement districts.

Sketch of I. M. Barr

Mr. Barr was born on a farm in eastern Canada, and had farmed both in this country and the United States at the same time carrying on his clerical duties. He was interested in colonization for many years and had done good work as a colonizer in the Saskatchewan valley below the present district now, occupied by the Barr colonists. He was at one time in charge as Anglican clergyman of St. Saviour's church, Tollington Park, North London, when he decided to organize an "All-British" colony. Without going into the merits of the quarrel and misunderstandings, which shook the colony to its foundations, a copy of a pamphlet issued by Mr. Barr in 1902, would go to show that he was the veritable Moses who brought the people to this "promised land." It reads:

"Notice, British Colony, Western Canada. As numerous enquiries are daily being made as to markets and means of transportation of produce from the new British colony in the Saskatchewan valley, it may be stated that by next year the facilities will be excellent in both respects. The areas reserved by the Dominion Government for British settlement are on the main line of the Canadian Northern Railway from Port Arthur on Lake Superior, via Winnipeg to Edmonton and thence extending to the Pacific Coast.

"The Canadian Northern Railway system, when completed, will rank as one of the most important in the world with nearly 5,000 miles of railway tracks, of which 1,400 miles are already completed and in operation. Further sections will be opened from time to time as the work of construction progresses, and in this work there is well paid employment for a large number of men."

How true these words were in that pamphlet time has proved.

GREEN CHEESE HURTS THE TRADE

The Buyers are Mostly to Blame in Not Getting the Best Grade.

"The selling of green cheese is a practice that works injury to our cheese trade," said Mr. N. J. Kuneman at the recent Convention of the Manitoba Dairyman's Association, "Here is where the buyer comes in. Cheese should not be shipped too near to the press. It should be at least 15 days old. At shipping quite a number of cheese are spoilt by this habit which works against the interests of the business and makes it much harder to secure improvements because makers will say that they can get just as much for their inferior and green stuff as for the best. As long as the buyers will not discriminate, I do not blame them. We see plenty of this kind of thing every day during the season. The buyers are the ones who must shoulder this blame. The sooner they get to buying by grade the better for the industry. As they are doing at present we cannot make much headway, excepting where makers and owners are willing to do so for the sake of advancing the interests and improving their conditions."

RHEUMATISM IN THE BLOOD

Cure it by Enriching the Blood With Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

There is only one way by which rheumatism can be cured. It must be treated through the blood. Liniments and outward applications may give temporary relief, but they can't possibly cure the trouble. And while you are experimenting with liniments the trouble is every day becoming more firmly rooted in the system, and more difficult to cure. The poisonous acid that causes rheumatism must be driven out of the blood, and you can only do this by making new, rich, red blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mr. Chas. H. Lumley, of Brickford, Ont., is one of the best known farmers in Lambton county. About three years ago, while Mr. Lumley was engaged in threshing, he became overheated, and this was followed by a severe chill that started the rheumatic pains. Mr. Lumley says: "I did not think anything of it at the time as I was accustomed to being exposed to all kinds of weather. As a result I was unable to go about next morning. I had severe pains in my arms and legs which I treated at first with the usual home remedies. As these did not help me, and the trouble was growing worse the family doctor was sent for, but he did not have any better success. He told me I was suffering from a severe attack of rheumatism, and there can be no doubt about it, as I was confined to my home about four months before I was fortunately advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I sent for a supply, and it was not long before I found they were helping me, and by the time I had taken a half dozen boxes the trouble had entirely disappeared. In other respects the pills also greatly improved my health, and I never felt better in my life than I have since taking them. I therefore most cheerfully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to other similar sufferers."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make cures of this kind after doctors and common medicines fail, because they actually make new blood. They don't cure the mere symptoms. They go right to the root of the trouble in the blood. That is why this medicine cures anæmia, indigestion, neuralgia, palpitation of the heart, and headaches and backaches brought on by the ailments that fill the lives of so many women with misery. Do not take any pills without the full name, "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around the box. Sold by all medicine dealers, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont.

CANADIAN BUTTER IN JAPAN

How One Shipment of Poor Quality Affected the Trade.

That the demand for Canadian butter in Japan is on the increase is the result of an investigation into the matter by Commercial Agent W. T. R. Preston. Since 1900 the imports of butter to Japan have almost doubled, while the imports of Canadian butter which in 1900 comprised about one-eighth of the total imports, have increased in six years over 300 per cent.

The use of butter by Japan is an experience of comparatively recent date. A taste for this dairy product is rapidly developed. There is a general consensus of opinion that there will be an enormous demand for this commodity in the course of a few years.

The greatest percentage of the imports of butter to Japan came from Denmark, France following closely.

Canada was just establishing an enviable reputation, reports Mr. Preston, when a large shipment from one of the western provinces turned out very unsatisfactorily. And unfortunately it had been extensively distributed before the importers became aware of its character. Personal complaints on this point came from several large centres in different parts of Japan.

Mr. Preston followed the matter up until, quite accidentally, he got in touch with the importers, and secured abundant evidence of one of the most ill-advised shipments that could possibly have been made from Canada. The result of the transaction is that a serious obstacle has been created against a growing trade, the facts connected with the unfortunate episode having been circulated far and wide. He learned that these dealers had transferred their importations to the Australian product.

COLDS, HEADACHE, CATARRH

Relieved in 10 Minutes by Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder.

Rev. W. H. Main, pastor of the Baptist-Emanuel Church, Buffalo, gives strong testimony for and is a firm believer in Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder. He has tried many kinds of remedies without avail. "After using Dr. Agnew's Catarrhal Powder I was benefited at once" are his words. It is a wonderful remedy and will relieve any form of head pain in ten minutes and eradicate catarrh.

STORAGE APPLES SELL CHEAP

Low Grade Fruit Has Been Shipped to Great Britain.

The export apple trade for the season of 1907-8 has turned out discouraging to those who held apples in storage. The prices realized during the past two months must mean disaster to some dealers.

Among the causes that contributed toward the bad results is the fact that too large a percentage of low grade fruit has gone forward to Great Britain. Usually only about 25 per cent of No. 2 grade will find a paying market in the Old Country. More than twice that percentage has been shipped, as well as thousands of barrels of absolute trash, marked No. 3. At least 100,000 barrels of the apples that were placed in storage for repacking were nothing more than absolute trash. The shipments of this stuff has completely demoralized the demand for the lower grades, and indirectly lessened the demand for better fruit.

Large quantities of our best fruit were frosted while on the trees. This is showing its influence on the keeping qualities of apples for late holding. An over supply of frosted fruit was also rushed on the market. This has given the impression that most of our fruit was of inferior quality. The market may still brighten somewhat, but it is feared that it will not strengthen sufficiently to make amends for the losses and discouragements that have already been felt.

MANY CASES HERE OF RHEUMATISM

A Mixture Which Makes The Kidneys Filter Out Poisons And Waste

TRY THE MIXTURE ANYWAY

All medical authorities are agreed that the blood is the great source of disease or of health in the human system. If the blood is pure, the individual is strong and healthy; if the blood is impure or diseased, then there is sickness or decay in the whole system.

Rheumatism is strictly a blood disease. It is caused by excessive uric acid. Sores, pimples, etc., mean bad blood. Catarrhal affections must be treated through the blood to get permanent results. To get well, to feel strong, hearty and vigorous, one must have good clean blood and lots of it. You can't clean the blood thoroughly unless the kidneys are made active. Bad blood means clogged, inactive kidneys and liver, which causes, too, such symptoms as backache, nervousness, bladder and urinary difficulties and other sympathetic troubles.

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one-half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces. Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime. The ingredients can be obtained at any good prescription pharmacy at small cost.

Here the readers of this paper have a simple yet powerful and effective remedy for all forms of blood, kidney and bladder disease which should relieve rheumatism and catarrhal affections and replace that weak, worn-out, indifferent feeling

Lakefield Train Again in Trouble To-day—Coach And Engine Off The Track Near Nassau

ASSISTANCE WAS CALLED

This morning the Lakefield tram made another unsuccessful attempt to make its trip from the city. It left the station with two engines but that snow bank at Nassau was again impregnable and the two engines could not force a passage. Their efforts were without result and reinforcements were dispatched in the form of another engine. It joined forces with the other two and a grand assault was made on the immobile snow.

It was first thought that the three tooters would be successful but the snow withstood the combined attack and only resulted in wedging the trains in the first line fast in the snow. This time the despatch that was sent to the station was for another and a fourth engine was sent up the line to assist the outfit to cover its defeat. The ultimate result was that the four engines succeeded in pulling the coaches back to the station.

Another attempt was planned for this afternoon and at 2.15 o'clock three engines and a coach again assayed the drifts. The company has endeavored to keep this line open but the recent storm packed the drifts very heavily.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

New York, March 7.—Union Pacific led the market to still higher levels to-day and the whole market did very well. The present upward movement is being helped to a great extent by the floor element, which has found the shorts at a disadvantage, and is helping profits as covering operations go on. The floor traders are quick to take their profits and consequently this may lead to sharp reactions from time to time, when for the present it is advisable to buy the active rails for turns.

We think that Union Pacific, South Pacific, the Hill stocks, St. Paul, Pennsylvania, Reading, D. & H., and Atchison will do considerably better but we would not advise staying by the long side for too great profits.

London closed soft in the American group where there was a disposition to take profits on the advance. Foreign houses had selling orders in this market to a moderate extent. The bank statement shows gains as expected. Whole statement makes a favourable showing.

Excerpts From Journals Of Peterborough Merchant Who Flourished 92 Years Ago

Money Was Scarce and Bills Were Paid by Manual Labour---Some Strange Purchases---A Business That Was Really General

WHISKY WAS BOUGHT IN A BARREL AT A VERY LOW PRICE

A peep into the ledger of a merchant who carried on a general business in Peterborough a century ago gives a comprehensive idea of how people lived one hundred years ago. Our readers have read of the early days of some of our oldest citizens who are still enjoying life, they having been kind enough to speak of their boyhood days and the conditions which then existed. However, none have been able to go back ninety-two years, to 1816, and recall as vividly as this old journal the every-day customs of the people.

The journal is a record of all the transactions of one of Peterborough's foremost business men, when the city was but a struggling hamlet. The book itself is very similar to the ordinary journal that is found in every office. Entries are made in it from the year 1816 to 1829, and in many respects it is a most interesting volume. The writing is legible, the ink well preserved, and the book is little the worse for its long existence, and particularly its constant use, while its pages were being filled.

The method of entering the items is practically the same as to-day. Each customer has his debit and credit column, and the entries were very simply entered. As a result there are few blots or scratches. The most noticeable features outside of the items themselves are the way some of the words are spelled and the use of the English currency.

Some of the Purchases

To give an idea of the general nature of the purchases a few extracts are taken from the pages, and the prices may be compared with those of to-day:

One gallon of whisky, — 5s., or $1.25.

One pound of tea — 6s. 3d., or $1.55.

One side of leather — £1, 6s., or $6.50.

Forty pounds of iron — £1 6s., or $6.50.

The Canadian figures are given with the English approximately, that is, the pound being equivalent to five dollars.

RIGHT OF WAY PURCHASED FROM FORT WILLIAM INTO EDMONTON

Toronto, March 7.—(Special.) — The last issues of Bradstreets' gives the information that announcement has been made from Alberta to the effect that the purchasing agent of the Grand Trunk Pacific is at Edmonton in connection with the purchase of the right-of-way adjacent to and into the city. The right-of-way from Fort William to Edmonton has already been purchased. It averages from a hundred to two hundred feet in width, according to the nature of the country, and its area averages 12 acres to the mile. There is every hope that the line will be completed into Edmonton this year, although the construction of the bridge over the Battle River may to some extent delay construction.

GOLDEN EXTRA OF THE LONDON DAILY MAIL A NOVEL ISSUE

A novelty in newspapers is the golden extra of London Daily Mail, a copy of which has been shown the Examiner by Mr. Harry Dunford. It was published on December 31st, 1900, in London, Eng., to commemorate the dawn of the twentieth century, and all the printing is done in gold, hence the "golden extra."

It is an interesting sheet, apart from the unique printing. It contains articles dealing with the passing of the old century and despatches from the world's great centres as to the manner of the celebrations. All the great nations were represented and the despatches referred to the customs of the people in signalling the event.

There is also an historic article dealing with England's progress as nation during the century and all the important epochs are dealt with. The advance of learning, of science, the development of the steam engine, of ocean vessels and railway trains, all there are referred to in exhaustive illustrated articles. These are but a few of the special features of the Golden Extra, which had an enormous sale and of which more are probably preserved to-day than any other issue of the paper.

STRANGE STORY OF THE HEROIC ENDURANCE OF A LUMBERMAN

Vancouver, March 7.—(Special.) — Daniel Stetson, a handlogger, after losing his right leg crawled through two miles of bush to tidewater at Toba Inlet, 250 miles north of Vancouver, got into a boat and rowed two miles to a lodging camp.

He was working alone, and was caught by a falling tree, and his right leg was frightfully crushed; Stetson cut the shreds of the skin remaining. The men in camp procured the launch Dolphin and took him to Lund. From there he was taken to Vananda Hospital, where he died.

IT'S PACIFIC COAST FOR THE QUAKERS

It's westward, ho! for the Peterborough Quakers. Last night they held a meeting at the Examiner Office and arrived at the conclusion that Peterborough would be represented in the People's Shield games in British Columbia for the championship of Canada. The decision was not reached because the club had secured financial assistance. The players themselves are forwarding the shekels, or at least the most of them, and they will trust to luck and big gates in the west for returns.

After the meeting a telegram was sent to William Ellis, the secretary of the Shield Committee, at Vancouver, notifying him of the decision as all entries had to be in by to-day, March 7th.

The team will, of course, travel by C. P. R. and it is possible may secure a private car for the purpose. The tournament does not begin until the 16th of April, so that the Quakers will have a month to get into shape. They will meet seven of the best elevens in the Dominion, among them being the Calgary Caledonians, the present champions of Canada. The trip will last a month. Among those who will constitute the team are Percy McFadden, Jas. Doris, F. Scrimshaw, Thos. Deforge, Percy Fitzgerald, Ray Best, Jas. Archibald, Jack Crough, Wm. Boycott, Fred Doherty and W. Hagley. Dr. Morgan, the president, may accompany the team. Another meeting will be held this evening at 7.30 o'clock for further arrangements.

No One Turned Up At Shelter Sewing Bee

The sewing bee called for yesterday day afternoon at the Children's Aid Society's Shelter, for the purpose of making clothes for poor children was anything but a success, not a single lady responding to the general invitation issued to be present. Probably the inclement weather had a great deal to do with the non-attendance of the ladies and it is hoped that the next invitation will result in something better.

Choral Club Proposed For Ladies Of City

There is a strong likelihood that a ladies' choral society will be formed in Peterborough in the near future. A preliminary meeting was held at the Y. W. C. A. last night when the question was considered. Mr. McCann, organist of the George street Methodist church, is interested in the idea and will lead the ladies if the society is formed. This week the various choirs of the city will be visited and will be asked to assist in the scheme, and a meeting next Friday night will be held to determine the progress of the undertaking.

With such unlimited talent which Peterborough is possessed of it has always been a matter of comment that an organization of this kind has not already been formed. Mr. McCann has had a wide experience in choral work, and it is sincerely hoped that his efforts will be appreciated and a strong club formed.

Work Of The Manufacture Of Carpets In Kidderminster, The Home Of The Great Weaver

First Carpet Factory Erected There in 1735---Power Looms Have Recently Been Resumed There---Peterborough Factory a Branch

EXPORTS WERE OVER $6,000,000 DURING THE YEAR OF 1907

Kidfderminster is the home of the carpet industry in England, and in that centre of carpet weaving one of the mainsprings of the city is the factory of the Brinton Carpet Company. In view of the splendid progress made by the local Canadian factory of the British interests, a reference to the growth of the industry in Kidderminster, in which Brinton's factory has been a conspicuous factor, will be of some interest here.

The first carpet factory was erected in Kidderminster in 1735. It is also probable that the firm which established it was the first to weave the "Kidderminsters," now chiefly made in Scotland, but the manufacture of which by power looms has recently been resumed in Kidderminster. There are now some 14 firms engaged in the weaving of carpets, and 2 in the worsted spinning trade. The textile industry, however, is not entirely confined to Kidderminster, but embraces one large factory each in the neighbouring towns of Stourport and Bridgnorth.

Large quantities of carpets are exported to Canada, Australia and New Zealand, and other British colonies; also to Brazil and other States in South America; a small and insignificant quantity still goes to the United States, France, Germany and Russia also take some carpets, and agents from the principal firms visit nearly every part of Europe to solicit orders.

Kidderminster exported direct to the United States in 1906 less than $40,000 worth of carpets; statistics of exports to other countries are not obtainable, but it may be stated that the exportation of "carpets, not being rugs," from the United K. was $4,751,937 in 1905, $5,465,468 in 1906, and $6,000,433 in 1907.

ONLY THREE BUILDING PERMITS ISSUED SINCE FIRST OF JANUARY

From the number of building permits that have been taken out at the City Clerk's office since the first of the year, one would not imagine that the record of building operations in Peterborough for 1908 will not nearly approach the figures of last year or the year before. Since January 1st, only three permits have been issued and all three were for repairs or alterations and not for new buildings. Following are the permits:—Harold Wilson, storehouse, George street, cost $200; Geo. Arnew, verandah, 495 Mark street, $50; H Cross, barn, Boundary Road, $150.

57th REGIMENT'S EQUIPMENT IN SATISFACTORY CONDITION

Col. Young, Assistant Adjutant-General of the Eastern Ontario Command, Kingston, inspected the arms, equipment and clothing of the 57th Regiment this morning and found everything in a most satisfactory condition. Col. Young was accompanied by Col. Stevenson, commanding officer of the Regiment and Quarter Master Capt. Eastwood, and thoroughly inspected the contents of the armouries, spending the morning there. At the conclusion of the inspection he stated to Sergt-Major Brittain that the condition of the armouries and contents were a credit to his care and was most satisfactory.

The Inspecting Officer was entertained by the officers of the 57th Regiment at the mess rooms last night.

AGED CITIZEN EXPIRES WHILE SAWING WOOD LAST NIGHT

While sawing wood at his residence, 680 George street, James Clotworthy, one of the oldest and most widely known and highly respected citizens of Peterborough passed suddenly away yesterday.

He went to the woodshed late in the afternoon to saw some wood, but did not return. His sister, who kept house for him, became anxious about him at 6.30 o'clock and went to the woodshed. There she found him lying dead on the floor with two slight cuts on his face and forehead. Beside him lay a piece of wood he had been sawing.

It was thought at first that the old gentleman had met with foul play and Coroner Grey was called. He examined the cuts and made a thorough investigation, and decided that he had fallen over on the sharp edge of the stick, and expired. It is supposed that while sawing the wood Mr. Clotworthy had taken ill and went to stand against the wall of the shed, and fell forward.

The sudden death of this well-known gentleman has cast a shadow of gloom over the community, and his sad demise is the topic of conversation around the city to-day.

The deceased gentleman was 77 years of age and had spent the greater portion of his life in Peterborough. He was unmarried, and leaves behind him two sisters to mourn his loss.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

OLD MAN MARRIES FOR MONEY; WIFE ONLY HAD TWO DOLLARS

A feeble old citizen of Peterborough, who has passed the years of three score and ten, now finds that his matrimonial troubles are beginning. He has been a husband to two wives. The first he married for love and she made his home happy and bright. Upon her decease his love for the fair sex faded away. A short time ago he made up his mind to live the rest of his life in ease and luxury and decided to marry a woman of wealth. He soon found a lady who claimed she had money and they were married. The extent of her finances proved to be a two dollar bill and that was soon spent. The wife went to the magistrate this morning for advice. She told her story and said that the rent had to be paid, and she hadn't any money. His Worship had a short conversation with her and she went away, but it is likely the case will be heard of again.

Russia is becoming a great buyer of British-grown teas. Partly owing to the enormous increase in the quantity they are using, the price of tea at the gardens has advanced greatly during the past year, making it necessary for the "Salada" Tea Company, in order to maintain the high standard of quality for which "Salada" is noted, to advance the price of "Brown Label" from 25c to 30c per pound.

Midland And Collingwood Are Tied In Finals

Midland are tied on the final round to the O.H.A. intermediate championship at 15 goals each. The recent game in Collingwood resulted in a score of 12 to 8, and to-night's game in this town was a victory for Midland by 7 to 3.

Collingwood started like winners, and forced the play for a time, but Midland got the first goal, Beattie and Hastings combining for the tally. Hastings and Chase got the next two goals, and, with the score 3 to 0 against them, Collingwood worked like beavers, raising shot after shot at the local goal-tender, who took care of a dozen or more. The visitors finally got one past him, but Midland came right back with another. Each team got another goal before the interval, which left the score at 5 to 2.

Midland started the second half only one goal to the bad on the round, and, inspired by plenty of confidence, sailed in with the determination to win. Collingwood's fast line played well, however, and the first goal of the half went to the visitors. Chase notched another for the homesters, and the score read 6 to 3. Burns and Gould collided, the latter being unable to continue. Midland needed two to win and one to tie, and the applause was deafening when Beattie and Chase combined for the tying tally. Two thousand people attended the game, which was well handled by Referee Caldwell of Barrie. The teams:—

THE DAILY ASTROLOGICAL HOROSCOPE

What the Stars Bring for the Seventh Day of March

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

Now they fare well who ply a curious trade,
And on their efforts fortune's touch is laid.

This is the 67th day of 1908. The sun is in sextile with Uranus. Sun and Uranus are in benefic aspect with the 5-day old moon.

A good influence extends over electricity.

Luck will probably accompany any operations that require unusual chemical or mechanical combinations or tasks of any kind that cannot be done in the ordinary way, but demand original and unique methods.

At 4.15 p.m. herbs under the moon will be especially potent — wintergreen, arrowhead, cress, coral wort, purslain, loose strife and white poppy.

There is an opportunity hidden in a commonplace duty this day for clerks.

An excellent birthdate, promising success, especially to scientists and travellers. The woman with this birthdate will meet unexpected friends or benefits during the twelvemonth, most probably in June. She must be careful about an acquaintance.

Promotion, increase in money and profits are foretold for the man whose birthdate this is.

The girl born to-day will probably meet with good fortune on Saturdays throughout life. She will be extremely sought by men.

Assistance from powerful friends will come to the boy born this day if his companions in youth are well chosen. Help will come to him from those whom he befriends in need.

IS IT GOOD POLICY?

The Executive Committee of the East Riding Liberal Association has seen fit to call a convention for the nomination, at the same time, of candidates to contest the constituency in the Liberal interest for both the Provincial Legislature and the House of Commons. With this course of action the Examiner does not agree and there seems to be several good reasons why such a course should not be adopted. It would be far preferable to have called a convention for the single purpose of nominating a candidate for the Provincial Legislature, since, after the local elections which will without doubt be brought on well in advance of the Dominion contest, there will be ample time for the nomination of a candidate for the Commons election.

In regard to the wisdom of making the nomination at a single convention there are good reasons for adopting this course. There are many electors in the East Riding whose varying attitude towards Provincial and Dominion questions, respectively, would permit them to attend a convention and take part in nominating, and pledging their support to, a candidate selected to contest the riding for the Provincial Legislature, in the Liberal interests, who would not feel so free to take part in nominating, and pledging their support to, a Liberal candidate for the Dominion House.

Then again the ridings are not identical, that is have not the same boundaries, some parts being in the riding for the local house and excluded from in a Dominion contest. So that among delegates promiscuously selected from the whole riding, to nominate candidates for both Houses, there would be some who would have no right to vote for a candidate in an election in which he would have no vote at the polls. For instance Lakefield is in the East Riding for Dominion contests and in the West for the Provincial. Delegates sent from this municipality to the convention to nominate candidates for both Houses would either have to abstain from voting for the candidate for the local Legislature or vote without the right, since they are not electors in the riding for Provincial purposes. There would necessarily be overlapping or friction, which might lead to results not to the advantage of the interests involved. At least, there might be a risk of this undesirable condition — an unnecessary risk,—which would be avoided by nominating the Provincial candidate first, and deferring the Dominion nomination till after the local contest is fought out. The only argument to be adduced in support of the course proposed is that the Conservatives have placed both men in the field. In this they evidently made a grave mistake, and the Liberals should learn from the mistakes of their opponents, and avoid the difficulties which have come upon them through holding a double-barrelled convention and nominating both candidates. The Liberals want to avoid the possibility of the difficulties, dissatisfaction, contention and internal dissension, that are rending the East Riding Conservative party through the convention, at which both candidates were nominated at the same time.

There is no great urgency for placing both candidates in the field at the same time, but many good reasons against it. The nomination for the Dominion can well afford to wait. People will not promise their votes till they know who the Liberal candidate for the Dominion is. Though individuality may be something of a factor, the real question is whether the Laurier Government is to be sustained, and of this there is no question of doubt. That is the question the vast majority of the electors will consider. A Liberal candidate for the Dominion, if nominated after the Provincial elections are disposed of, will, therefore, start on an even footing with his Conservative opponent. He will even stand to enter the contest with an advantage over the party with two candidates nominated now. Where two candidates are in the field, both will be expected to, and will certainly, take a part in both contests. With the distinction of interests in the two issues, one or other of the candidates will be called upon to take positions and perform actions, which may stand to his detriment in the subsequent contest—he will unavoidably have made enemies rather than friends, and will enter the contest handicapped to this extent, while his opponent, nominated subsequently to the Provincial contest, will have nothing to explain as to his connection as a known candidate, with the preceding contest.

For the reasons given, it seems the part of wisdom to not nominate both candidates at one convention,

HAS MADE GOOD EARNINGS.

The seventeenth annual meeting of the shareholders of the Dominion Permanent Loan Company, a report of which appears in another column of this issue was held in the company's office, 12 King street west, Toronto, yesterday. There was a large attendance of shareholders. The financial statement submitted shows that the earnings of the company as reported by the General Manager for the past year amounted to $174,140. Adding to this the amount of $18,680.14, the balance brought forward from last year, making a total of $192,820.94. After deducting $75,153.81 to cover interest and debentures and writing off $1,000 from furniture and allowing $69,813.91 for dividends there remained $46,853.14, permitting of the addition of $28,000 to the reserve fund —bringing the total of this account up to $258,000—and leaving $18,853.14 to be carried forward to the credit of profit and loss. The report shows the addition of substantial figures to the assets and the reserve account. There has been an active demand for money during the year. All the available funds of the company have been employed, the rates of interest have been good and payments satisfactory.

EDITORIAL NOTES

Mr. W L Mackenzie King will consult with the Imperial authorities on the proposed exclusion of British Indian subjects from British Columbia. The Government's handling of the whole difficult question of Oriental immigration has, the Toronto News, (Conservative) says, been careful, judicious and statesmanlike. Throughout the negotiations both the distinctly Canadian and the broader Imperial aspects of the problem have been respected. The despatch of Mr. King to England is in keeping with this policy. His success in previous negotiations warranted his selection for the present mission.

The Whitney Government, in its amendments to the act respecting the election of members of the Legislative Assembly, has discarded the policy of the old government of making obligatory the appointment of sheriffs and registrars as returning officers. This is, the Brantford Expositor asserts, undoubtedly a retrograde step. The officials in question are not only more or less removed from party politics, but there is a responsibility attached to their office which other men, still active, in party warfare, are not likely to feel. The country is not desirous of a return to the "revising barrister" business.

Mr. Borden's plank of his rather shreddy and contingent Halifax platform, declaring for government ownership for public utilities does not gain much favour from high authorities in his own party. Hon. John Haggart, a "Tory" stalwart of the stalwarts, declared against it in the House on Thursday, and now the Whitney Government practically condemns the principle. The Provincial Government had an opportunity to solve the vexed power question by accepting and offer to sell the Niagara Falls Development Company to the Government — plant and transmission lines and all—on as favourable terms as those accepted by Mr. Mackenzie This refusal is denied by Mr. Whitney, but whether his denial refers to an offer on the part of the Development Company, made last year, or to the undoubted offer made by a representative of British stockholders a short time ago, is not known. Mr. Whitney will have a chance to corroborate his denial when he comes to answer the explicit and categorical questions Mr. MacKay has placed on the order paper of the Legislature.

TUBERCULOSIS CONVENTION.

What one report calls the "splendid tuberculosis conference" in Toronto, emphasizes the importance of a subject which has to do with a decimating disease, whose annual ravages in even the limited population of Canada count more victims than a war or a pestilence. Speaking at this conference, Mr. W. J. Gage said that in ten years in Ontario there had been registered thirty thousand deaths from consumption, and that counting one death in every four cases meant that there were 120,000 cases of consumption, in various stages, continually in existence in this Province. The fact that, owing largely to the efforts of the National Sanitarium Association, the mortality, from tuberculosis, has decreased fifteen per cent. in ten years, seems to indicate that this Association is worthy of governmental and popular support. But, excellent as its work is, it is chiefly directed to curative attempts, and does not strike at the root of the matter. What is needed is prevention, which can be much more easily procured than cure. To this end, there must be popular education upon the simple but effective general precautions to be observed, especially the primary element in prevention — the benefits and value of fresh air. Earl Grey, speaking at the conference, referred to his observation of popular neglect of house ventilation which means that inmates breathe and re-breathe foul air. The popular dread of fresh air and "draughts" is surprising, and would be ludicrous, if it were not so deadly. If the curative measures for incipient consumption consist principally and essentially of pure fresh air, it goes without saying that pure air is one of the most potent elements in prevention. Take a person of consumptive tendency—there is no doubt that the tendency can speedily and fatally be developed or hastened by breathing impure and foul air, while, in the same person, the tendency can be effectively counteracted and the disease staved off indefinitely by, pure air and associated cleanliness. Life if maintained through breathing air into the lungs; if the air is pure the health will be better, and bad if the slow poison, in the shape of foul air, is fed into the system through the lungs. No one would feed a delicate stomach with putrid meat, and delicate lungs should not be expanded with foul air. What is wanted is popular knowledge of the benefits of house ventilation as a medium of pure air, and of this inestimable and supreme benefits of fresh air as a capital element in the prevention of tuberculosis, or of impairment of vitality, such as prepares a favourable breeding ground for the germs of the dreadful disease. More attention, that is, more effective attention, should be given to the subject of the therapeutics of fresh air. The average school board and the average man gives the least thought and the least expenditure to the greatest element in sanitary dwellings or school buildings — ventilation — which simply means an adequate supply of the pure air of Heaven.

POPULATION AND IMMIGRATION

In the last number of the Canadian Courier appears an article entitled, "From Buffalo Bones to By-laws," detailing the sudden development of "Pile o' Bones" into the stately city of Regina, with elaborate and complete civic institutions and all the elements that go to constitute a thriving city. Last week Regina, which was a scraggy hamlet only a few short years ago, opened its splendid new city hall. A few months ago a Conservatory of Music and a flourishing choral society were established. What has made this great change within little more than a decade? The answer is, population. What was the primary source of population? The answer is, immigration.

No one will deny that with Canada's immense resources and her boundless acreage of grain-growing soil, her one great need is population. We cannot, with modern prejudice against race reproduction, wait for the slow process of natural increase. We must depend upon immigration to people our now useless acres. Some economic writer has placed the value of a citizen to the state at a thousand dollars, a possibly low estimate for a citizen thus capitalized, would at 4 per cent. yield only $40 a year. Every new arrival who becomes a settler and establishes a home in Canada gives a stimulus to every commercial and industrial activity of the country. A new home will create a demand for nearly all the supplies that enter into modern civilization, and these demands our manufacturers and merchants must supply. Multiply one citizen or one family by a thousand, ten thousand or one hundred thousand, and we can easily see how their presence, apart from the wealth they create as tillers of the soil, swells and broadens the stream of domestic trade, and fertilizes the field of national industry.

Nobody but narrow-gauge, little-Canadians, for a moment argues against immigration. However, a certain class of Conservative journals and politicians pretend to object to the immigration policy of the Dominion Government. But, bless you, they don't mean it all; all the same they are so anxious to make party capital out of what, deep down in their hearts, they knew constitutes a supply of Canada's greatest need, that they raise petulant howls of disapproval.

What has the immigration policy of the Liberal Government done? It has poured a flood of good Anglo-Saxon immigrants into the North-west, which has by virtue of this influx grown by leaps and bounds. Upon the ashes of lone camp fires have risen hamlets which have grown into cities. "Pile o' Bones" has become the city of Regina, worthy of its regal title, only a type of what is happening all over the boundless west.

This is done by bringing in population, the great bulk of which is the best on earth, from the British Isles good Anglo-Saxon and Celtic stock, not omitting the sturdy element from the United States. Of course there is a proportion of a less desirable element, but what statesmanship will take the responsibility of shutting the door in the face of a minority of the immigrants which come to our shores? What we want is population —tillers of the soil—home-makers.

We should not bring immigrants to swell the population of our towns and cities. But every province of the Dominion needs population for its fields. Ontario is starving for farm labour—if it had a greater supply the products of our farmers would be immensely increased and the purchasing power of farmers proportionately enlarged.

We must encourage immigration into the country parts of the older provinces, to make up for the draft of our young men into the cities and into mechanical trades. We must encourage immigration to build our railways—we must have hewers of wood and drawers of water for our great public works.

The researches recently made in the muniment room of Rochester Cathedral reveal the fact that the Dean and Chapter possess great treasures in the shape of ancient documents. The royal charters include two of Henry I, one of which bears the crosses of Henry and Matilda. Archbishop Anselm, Bishop Gundulf, and other nobilities of that time. A charter of King Stephen confirms the donation of previous Kings, and is attested by several Bishops and earls. A charter of great interest is the original foundation charter of the Cathedral that of the famous Gundulf, architect and Bishop, who died in 1108, granting certain churches to his new foundation. Harmon, Sheriff of Kent, and many abbots and knights attest his gift. There are several deeds with almost perfect seals of the early defenders of Rochester Castle, under the title of either Arbulastor Ballisterium. Another long series of great interest is that connected with the Priory of Austin Canons, of Leeds, including no fewer than five royal charters, with the seals more or less perfect, of Richard Coeur de Leon, but probably the finest single document in the whole collection is the great deed of exchange between Hubert deWalter, Archbishop of Canterbury, and Gilbert Bishop, of Rochester, which has appended a number of extremely interesting seals, including a perfect specimen of that of Richard I, tied to the seal of Hubert.

The spectators of a menagerie in Falcon road, Battersea, the other night, saw a more sensational turn than they anticipated. They saw a lion tamer, named Marco, fight for his life with an infuriated lion. A large crowd had gathered to watch a magnificent full-grown, forest-bred lion, "Wallace," go through a series of performances. All the week the beast had been ill-tempered, but he went through his turn without displaying any vice. The performance had concluded, and Marco turned his back on the lion in order to leave the cage, when the struggle occurred. The moment he turned his back "Wallace" leaped at him and struck him a terrific blow, felling him. The lion pinned him with one paw, and tore at his back with the other. For a moment he did not realize what had happened. Then the assistants prodded him off with iron forks, and the trainer sprang up, seized his stick, and faced him, driving him back to the far corner of the cage. Then he jumped quickly into the safety cage. The leather coat which Marco wore showed the holes the lion had made with his claws and and with his terrible teeth, for the animal had tried hard to get them into the trainer. The audience became very excited, but the manager was able to assure them that all was well.

SCOTLAND

The Edinburgh police effected an arrest under unusual circumstances the other day. Some two months ago a lady had a thrilling experience in her house. She was attacked by a man, who represented that he was an official of the Edinburg and District Water Trust. The man called and stated that he had come to examine the water taps. There did happen to be a leakage in one of the taps, and the lady allowed the man to enter the house. Some little time afterwards the lady discovered the man in a bedroom. She asked what he was doing there and he said that he was looking for a pipe. "There is no pipe there," the lady said, "and you had better get out of here at once." The man then attacked her and struck her over the head with a hammer. She screamed and the man bolted, leaving the hammer on the floor. An examination of the room later showed that some articles which had been taken from a sideboard were found on a chair. For some days the lady was laid up as a result of her injuries. Two of the police detectives took the matter in hand, but while they had an idea who the man was, they failed to locate him. The other day they learned that the man's child had died in a hospital in the city, and they guessed that the man would visit the institution. On the day of the funeral four police officers were stationed near the hospital, and were successful in arresting the suspect.

A splendid specimen of the wild cat has been captured in the Argyllshire mountains and brought to Edinburgh alive. It has been the general impression that wild cats were extinct in the Highlands, but recently there have been great ravages wrought by those animals in the district of Lochaber and Eastern Argyllshire. A shepherd at Aryhuslan, on the estate of Ardgour, had an exciting experience with one of the breed lately. Attracted to his hen coop by a commotion amongst the fowls, he saw a large especimen of the wild cat busily accounting for the hens. The animal, on seeing him, did not make off, but cowered in one of the next apertures. Returning to the dwelling-house the shepherd procured a gun, and the animal being ultimately induced to leave th coop, he fired at it but in the excitement of the moment he missed it. A collie dog, however, which accompanied the shepherd, gave Thame and after a sharp struggle, managed to kill the cat.

IRELAND

An extraordinary situation has arisen with regard to the public libraries in Dublin. The Libraries Committee of the Dublin Corporation has announced that owing to the absence of available funds the free public libraries of the city have been closed. The closing will, it is stated, be "temporary," but what period of time will be covered by this term cannot as yet be decided. It is possible, unless some special arrangement can be made, that they may not be reopende till April, when the rate for the next financial year will be available. The committee plead that they have been guilty of no extravagance; that, on the contrary, they have exercised the greatest economy, but they are limited to the penny rate, and this in Dublin brings in only between £3,500 and £4,000. One of the difficulties in connection with the matter is as to how the officials in connection with the libraries are to be paid their salaries during the interval. They have not been discharged, and there is no desire to discharge them. But there is no money.

Miss Minnie Walsh, a Galway woman and her son, Percy, aged 15, were indicted at Dublin the other day on charges of attempting to obtain money by false pretences from Lord Ashtown and his agent; also of having engaged in a conspiracy to solicit certain persons to damage a building with intent to murder Lord Ashtown. Mr. Seymour Bushe, K.C., who prosecuted on behalf of the Crown, said that on August 14 the outrage occurred at Glenahiry Lodge, and shortly afterwards Mrs. Walsh wrote to Lord Ashtown indicating that she was in a position to give valuable information as to the perpetrators. She obtained a sum of money from Lord Ashtown's agent. Subsequently other letters passed, including four that were anonymous, and in which the alleged incitements were made. Counsel read a letter addressed to a Galway man named Martin Ryan. It purported to describe an interview Mrs. Walsh said she had with Lord Ashtown, and in it she informed Ryan that if he could give information which would put Lord Ashtown on the tracks of the perpetrators of the outrage he would receive a reward of £100, as well as other marks of consideration.

The magistrates in the Belfast Citydy Court recently were enraged for a considerable time in investigating a series of charges against a 13-year-old girl named Susan Whitman, who was charged on remand with the larceny of a large number of articles, chiefly ladies' jackets and umbrellas, while in one instance a pair of blankets were taken. There were in all 24 charges of larceny, but in two instances the Crown was unable to prove the offence. The articles stolen belonged, in almost every case, to school children, and the goods, it appeared from the evidence, were taken from the cloakrooms attached to the various schools. Their Worships made an order committing prisoner to St. Joseph's Female Reformatory, Limerick, for five years.

Dear Sir,—As one of those who purchased a ticket for the artists' concert, which was advertised to take place on Tuesday night of this week, and which was so suddenly called off, I would like to inquire where the money from these tickets has gone and whose is Mr. Harry Scriver, the promoter of the entertainment?

Yours truly,

Editor Post-Card Column:

Dear Sir,—Will some one for goodness sake tell me who on earth is supposed to look after the clock on the postoffice. Is it the post-master? Is it the supernumerary engineer on the Trent Canal, whose office is immediately below the town clock, or is it the Postmaster-General himself? I have observed, when coming down Water street for the past week, that the hands of this clock point to 25 minutes past 6, or somewhere thereabout.

THE BRITISH LION BEGINS TO ROAR

Storm of Protest Raised by Letter From German Emperor.

PUBLIC SHOW RESENTMENT

People Fear Kaiser Had Ulterior Motive in Writing to Lord Tweedmouth—Said to Have Tried to Influence England's Naval Policy—Thunderer Launches Bolts and Demands Publicity.

London, March 7.—An outburst of anger against Emperor William on the part of the British public, equalling that caused by the German Emperor's famous letter to President Kruger at the beginning of the Boer war, has followed the announcement made yesterday morning by The Times, that Emperor William had attempted to influence the British naval policy by a secret correspondence with Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty.

The Germanophobe party, which never was stronger than now, immediately jumped to the conclusion that Emperor William was trying to meddle in the most vital matter in Great Britain's national interests by underhand methods, and the public at first shared that view, and Parliament, the newspapers and the diplomats had the greatest sensation they had enjoyed for many a day.

According to one version, Emperor William's letter to Lord Tweedmouth gave exhaustive details of the comparative strength of the navies of Great Britain and Germany, and basing his opinion on this comparison the Emperor said he thought the German fleet could not be considered more than one-fifth as strong as that of Great Britain. This being so, Emperor William thought Great Britain had no need to fear any rivalry in naval supremacy from Germany, and that consequently there was no need of any increase in the shipbuilding program of Great Britain.

The matter was considered so serious that Lord Tweedmouth broke his customary reticence, hastening to say: "The letter from the German Emperor is purely a personal communication, and there is no reference in it to the British naval estimates."

Lord Tweedmouth visited the House of Commons yesterday afternoon and conferred with the Liberal leaders. The Cabinet met afterward. It had been announced at first that Herbert Henry Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, would make a statement concerning the matter next Monday, but the public was so excited and so many members of Parliament had given notice that they would ask questions in the Lower House about the correspondence that the Cabinet decided something must be done at once.

Mr. Asquith, therefore, appeared in the House of Commons at the close of its sitting, and made a brief statement to a crowded House, elaborating, amid profound silence, Lord Tweedmouth's explanation, that the correspondence was purely personal.

These explanations only stimulate curiosity and criticism, instead of appeasing them, and a strong demand is heard everywhere for the publication of the letters. Nothing else will satisfy the British public, and probably this will be done eventually.

In the meantime the newspapers are saying that he should make any statements regarding the British navy that he desires to make through the regular channels, and they are criticising Lord Tweedmouth because he did not immediately place the letter before the Cabinet. The Government is in an awkward position now to handle any critical international question, because King Edward is on the continent, and Sir Henry Campbell-Bannerman, the Prime Minister, is too ill to be consulted on official matters.

HACKED WITH AN AXE.

Desperate Fight Between Brothers Results in Fatal Injuries.

Montreal, March 7.—A telephone message was received in the city yesterday stating that a brutal murder had been committed in a lumber camp near St. Faustin.

It appears that two brothers named Martel, who were at work in the camp, during a spree held in celebration of "Leo Jours gras," became intoxicated and quarelled. A fight with axes followed, in which one of the two was killed and the other badly wounded.

Trust Official Suicides.

Detroit, Mich., March 7.—Enwood T. Hance, first vice-president of the Union Trust Company of this city, and former postmaster of Detroit, shot and killed himself yesterday in his home here. Friends say that he had been greatly depressed over his own financial affairs for some time. Mr. Hance was born in Wilmington, Del., 68 years ago, and came to Detroit in 1878. He was admitted to the bar, and in 1889 was appointed postmaster. When the Union Trust Company was organized he was made secretary and later vice-president.

Floods in Toledo.

Toledo, Ohio, March 7.—The Maumee River has become a raging torrent, and yesterday ice caught a steel boat and jammed it into the bridge connecting the two sections of the city, moving the bridge out of position and stopping all traffic. Streets and cellars in streets near the river are flooded, and water now rising. A span is gone out of the bridge across the Maumee as a result of the jam.

MEMBERS WANT BILLIARD TABLES AND ALSO BOWLING ALLEYS; OUTDOOR SPORTS

Enthusiastic Meeting at the Y. M. C. A.—Not a Single Dissenting Voice

PETITION FOR DIRECTORS

Vigorous is the campaign being waged by the members of the Y.M. C.A. for what they consider to be a progressive policy in connection with the addition to that institution of affiliated outdoor sports and of indoor amusements. The proposals have for the past two weeks been discussed among the members on the street and finally it was decided to hold a meeting to bring matters to a head.

Last night was set for the special occasion of airing the different views and from the large attendance present, the movement is certainly a popular one. About 75 members were present and talked over the proposal to add bowling alleys and billiard tables to the Y.M.C.A, as well as to have the athletic sports—Association football, baseball, lacrosse and lawn tennis—affiliated with the institution. As far as the meeting was concerned, these additions will be accomplished. There was not even one dissenting voice in the whole company of young men indicating that in their estimation there was something lacking in inducements so far as the Y.M.C.A. was now concerned. The tone of the gathering was for the liberal step and the directors will in the near future be made acquainted with the requests for the additions.

Committees Selected

The meeting last night was held at the Y.M.C.A, and was presided over by Mr. H R H Kenner. The objects for which it was called were explained briefly and concisely by Mr. Best, following which a general discussion took place led by Mr. C G Graham. He was in favour of the advanced project believing it to be one for the betterment of the Y.M.C. A. Mr. C E Sisson spoke in a similar manner and Mr. P A Kerr moved that committees be appointed to look after the organization of baseball, lacrosse, football and tennis clubs. He suggested for the former Messrs C G Graham, E M Best and A Frowde to be a committee to consider the organization and to report at a subsequent meeting. Mr. Jas D Clarke seconded the motion which carried.

Similarly a committee was appointed consisting of Messrs. W E Watson, Geo. Robertson and G Galley to look after the lacrosse department and Messrs. R Baker, C E Sisson and B T Huston for association football.

Messrs. A Poe, R F McWilliams and Jas. D Clarke were appointed to report on lawn tennis.

Indoor Amusements

The problem of the advisability of asking the directors for billiard tables and bowling alleys was next placed before the meeting and discussed from various standpoints. Mr. Poe believed that in order to have an onward movement in the increase of the membership some attractions should be added and he was heartily in favour of the scheme. He touched upon the financial side. Mr. C E Sisson explained the situation as at present and the proposals. Mr. J D Clarke favoured the scheme and in addition suggested pool tables and a smoking room as attractions. Mr. R F McWilliams also believed in widening the scope of the institution and presented the following motion:

That in the opinion of the members present at this meeting, the interests of the Young Men's Christian Association would be greatly advanced by the introduction of certain games of skill, particularly by the furnishing of bowling alleys and billiard tables, and that these games should be procured without delay.

That in order to strengthen the hands of the Directors of the Association in meeting these needs a petition asking for these improvements be circulated among the members of the Association, and that the following be a committee to present a petition to the Directors at their next meeting: Messrs. Simon, Poe, Cook, Lillie and Middleton.

Mr. B A Lillie in seconding the resolution referred to the increasing interest being taken in the Y.M.C. A. as indicated by the large number present.

Would Cancel Licenses

Messrs. C. Coleman and R J Sgden were also in favour of the proposals. The latter incidentally mentioned that he was with the Y.M.C.A. and intended to assist. The members were working on the proper course. He believed that something should be done to alleviate what he considered was an evil—the manner in which a number of the pool and billiard tables in the city were run and offered to circulate a petition to be submitted to the council to have the licenses of establishments running them cancelled.

The above resolution was unanimously carried and the following petition circulated and signed by all present:

To the Board of Directors, Peterborough Y.M.C.A.:

The undersigned, being members of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A, respectfully submit the following petition:

Whereas, we are of the opinion that this Y.M.C.A. has for a number of years fallen far short of serving the purpose for which it was formed;

And whereas, we are strongly of the opinion that the installation of bowling alleys and billiard tables would very materially assist in placing the association in a prosperous and useful condition;

Therefore, we do earnestly request that the Board of Directors take immediate action in this matter, and we further pledge them our hearty and united support in making use of this equipment, to place the Peterborough Association in that position of influence in the community which it should rightfully fill.

Peterborough, March 6, 1908.

This petition will when sufficiently signed be presented to the directors for their approval or disapproval.

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN,

Who appears at the Grand next Thursday, supported by a clever company, in the hilarious musical farce, "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp." Plan opens Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock.

WILL LECTURE ON "A DAY IN ROME"

Meetings Arranged to be Held at the Y.M.C.A.

Mr. H. R. H. Kenner will give an illustrated lecture at the Y.M.C.A. on Tuesday, March 17, on "A Day in Rome," under the auspices of the Social Committee of the "Y." As Mr. Kenner has visited Rome his lecture will be most interesting and instructive. The lecture will be preceded by some special music.

Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock Mr. H. A. Pearson, secretary of the Y.M. C.A., St. Catharines, will speak to men and older boys on "The Worth of a Man." A particularly bright song service from 4 to 4.15, will be led by a young men's chorus.

Sunday morning at 10 o'clock Mr. W. B. Warne leads a class for young men. All are invited.

The Saturday Night Bible Club will meet to-night at 8. Mr. Arthur Poe will lead the class.

Music and Drama

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN AND THE AWAKENING OF MR. PIPP

The strong combination of a very clever comedian and exceedingly funny play comes to the Grand next Thursday. Mr. Grapewin's portrayal of the part of "Mr. Pipp" can truly be called a character study in mirth, for although he makes of "Mr Pipp" a strong type, still he exudes merriment throughout the entire three acts and in his efforts he is ably assisted by talented Anna Chance and a company of marked excellence. Incidental to the play and quite a feature in its popularity are the singing numbers introduced. A song them being "Pie" and "You'll Be Sorry in the Morning," by Mr. Grapewin and a full chorus. But the musical hit of the merry production is "The Old Oaken Bucket for Mine." It is not the song or the music alone but the inimitable way in which Mr. Grapewin takes his audience into his confidence and makes every man in the house feel with him as he sings.

Another one of the notably good musical things is "I Can't Think of Nothing Else But You, Lou," sung by Miss Chance with full chorus. This is an attraction that can be classed near the top of the lighter style of entertainment, and Mr. Grapewin is now well into his third season of "Mr. Pipp."

The J. C. Turnbull Co. will make a special showing of new spring novelties in Ready-to-wear Millinery, Untrimmed Shapes, Flowers, etc., on Tuesday and following days, and are now prepared to execute the early orders for trimmed millinery. 3d-57

ANOTHER DISTRIBUTION TO-NIGHT

There Will be Only One More Held This Season

The usual weekly distribution of food to the needy poor of the city will take place at Mr. Finch Miller's store, Water street, this evening. The relief officer wishes to announce that the meat and vegetables, etc., will be given out after six o'clock. There will probably be one more distribution this winter.

Local Labour Conditions During Month Of January

Report of Ald. W. J. Johnston---What the Labourers Were Doing---Farmers Hauling Produce to Market---Manufacturing Rather Active

Labour conditions during January especially among outside works were very dull, says Ald. W. J. Johnston, in his Government report, only a few being employed on buildings under construction. Employment in the several factories and shops was fairly active, except during stocktaking. There were more men out of work in Peterborough this winter than for many years past, owing to a large extent to the influx of immigrants. The closing down of the Wm. Hamilton shops has been a serious matter for about 200 workmen, the majority of whom are still out of work, some having left the city. A few men and teams were employed removing snow from the main streets. The harvesting of the ice crop gave employment to a number of men. Carpenters, lathers and plasterers are still employed on the Collegiate Institute, the Normal School and some residences, and workmen are engaged on the Bell Telephone Company's new building. The Northern Electric Company of Montreal is installing a telephone plant in its building, which will be ready for occupation about April 1. Stone-cutters are actively employed at the new armouries when weather conditions permit. Contractor Richard Sheehy has been busily engaged in the quarry at Clear Lake getting out stone to be used in the construction of the Roman Catholic church. The civic authorities provided work at stone-breaking for the unemployed. In the painting trade a number of workmen were busy, but a large number were out of employment. Linemen looking after wires and lights were active. Florists were active preparing for spring. Commercial activity was not up to the standard, but wholesale and retail trade was fair, considering the condition of the weather. Banks were feeling the money stringency and doing a cautious business. Wages rates remained practically the same, except in cases where shorter hours have been adopted. The large curling rink was recently destroyed by fire at a loss of about $10,000.

Condition of Local Industries

Agriculture

Farmers were mainly engaged in hauling produce to market, which sold at good prices: Hay was sold at $17 to $18 per ton; wood, $4 to $6.50 per cord; beef, $5 to $6 per cwt.; pork, $9 to $10 per cwt. Potatoes, butter, eggs, and fowl of all kinds were selling at high prices.

Fishing—Dull conditions prevailed.

Lumbering

The lumbering industry on the whole was somewhat inactive, but the Munn Lumber Company was very busy sawing lumber and shingles for custom and local trade. The planing mill department was busy on stock and orders. This company employ about 25 men, and declared a dividend of 6 per cent for the past year.

Manufacturing

On the whole, active conditions prevailed in all branches. Curtis Bros. were busy during the past year, making over 4,000,000 bricks, and having yet to supply the new armouries with 1,000,000 bricks. This firm employs about 30 workmen, and has in operation a portable sawmill cutting custom logs; it is also cutting 3,000 cords of wood for burning in brick kilns. The Sand and Lime Brick Company manufactured a large output and is busy shipping to outside points. The Taylor and Hall Cement Company sold last year 400,000 cement bricks, together with all the cement pipes of all sizes it could make, and is now busy making pipes of all kinds for the spring trade, also a new style of cement blocks for solid and veneered walls. The firm employs about 8 men in summer and 3 in the winter. The Canada General Electric Company was fairly active in all branches and employing over 1,000 hands. The Quaker Oats Company was also busy in all departments, the oatmeal mill running 24 hours per day. This company employs about 400 hands and could give employment to 50 more girls if it could get them. The Peterborough Cereal Company's mill was busy in parts; it is not usually so active at this time of the year as in the summer, when it generally finds employment for 30 hands. The Central Milling Company's plant was running 24 hours per day, with 12 hands employed. The Matthews Packing Company was active, employing about 100 hands. The B. F. Ackerman and Company's harness factory was active, employing 50 hands. On account of crop failures in the west, some of this firm's orders had to be cancelled, and consequently its business was not so large as in previous years, but the firm's Ontario trade was very promising. All branches of the Peter Hamilton Company were active, but will not have to make up so large a stock this season on account of the recent fire, which impeded last year's sales and caused it to have some of last year's machines on hand. This firm employs about 110 workmen. The G. N. Green shops were active, except the moulding shop, which is slack just now; the firm employs 40 hands. The Shovel works were fairly active, employing 45 hands. The G. Fitzgerald carriage shops were active in all branches. The several blacksmith shops were not active in the horse-shoeing line; owing to the fall of snow, little shoeing was needed. Some blacksmiths were active on other work and on spring trade. The Wilson machine shop, employing 8 workmen, was very busy; and the firm is adding to its plant. The Peterborough Canoe Company, employing 55 hands, find business somewhat quiet. The Canadian Canoe Company, employing 30 hands, was active, while the cordage works, employing 180 workpeople, were very active. The lock works were active for a while; they are now taking stock, but will shortly be in full running order, with orders ahead. The 170 employees of the Auburn Textile works were actively employed, the firm having orders ahead. The Colonial Weaving Company's plant was busy, employing 45 hands and did 23 per cent. more business this year than last; having put in $1,200 worth of new machinery, it is enabled to manufacture material here that it previously had to import. The Oke Furniture Company had a good year's business, disposing of all its stock; its prospects for the coming season are excellent. J. J. Turner & Sons had a splendid year, keeping a full staff of 65 workmen employed steadily, and paying over $20,000 in wages. This firm has orders ahead for months and is making for the Provincial Government of Ontario 6,000 flags for the Public Schools of the Province. The Rapid Tool Company, employing 25 hands, found business active, and shortly expects to give employment to at least 40 workpeople. The McDonald planing mill and Ward's planing mill were both active on orders and stock for the coming season.

Lumbering — Operations in the camps were busy.

Mining — Dull conditions prevailed.

Railway construction and employment—General dullness prevailed.

Condition of Particular Trades

Building—Conditions were more or less dull, except in the case of painters and gas and steam-fitters.

Metal, engineering and shipbuilding—Inactivity was the rule in these trades; this condition did not apply to iron workers and helpers, electrical workers and linemen, brass workers, ship carpenters and caulkers, and jewellers, who were more or less actively employed.

Woodworking and Furnishing — Woodworkers were active in some shops. Upholsterers, varnishers and carriage makers were active, but car workers found employment dull. Pattern-makers employed in the Canadian General Electric Company's works were active, but dullness prevailed in other shops. Coopers were inactive.

Printing — Printers, pressmen and bookbinders were active.

Clothing—Dullness was the rule in these trades, excepting with the boot and shoe workers, who found employment active.

Food and tobacco preparation—Activity prevailed in all branches.

Leather—Activity was the rule.

Miscellaneous — Barbers, clerks, stenographers and delivery employees were active, and furriers, hotel and restaurant, theatre and laundry employees busy, while broom makers were very busy.

Transport—With the exception of street railway employees, who found employment active, dullness generally prevailed in branches of transportation.

Unskilled labour—Dullness prevailed.

CABBAGES BY THE CAR LOAD

Mr. Jas. Bell Has Received 34,110 Pounds of Sauerkraut Material

Peterborough has not a German population, nor is saurkraut recognized as a staple food of its people, so the statement that a carload of cabbages has arrived in the city will no doubt cause some surprise. The carload, which contained 34,110 pounds of the salad commodity, was for Jas. R. Bell, the Hunter street grocer, and the vegetables were grown around Black Rock, N.Y., being shipped from that point. This is said to be the largest consignment of cabbage ever received in this city at one time.

Do Three Modes of Being Need Three Kinds of Food?

"Pupil" Writes on the Question —Physical, Mental and Spiritual Food

SOME COMPARISONS MADE

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Allowing that man is possessed of three assortments of nature combined in one, viz.: That he possesses a physical nature, or body being; a moral, or mental nature or mind being; and that he has also the greatest of all—a spiritual nature, or rather a spiritual being. This trinity in one is no doubt somewhat vague to the untrained mind, or soul. There are three modes of existence in the one being; Christ in the flesh was a new mode of being of a method of showing God in existence through the flesh, or better still, a reflection of God in human form.

I need not say much about the first kind of food which feeds our bodies when we get hungry for that kind is natural food. For thus we eat the goose or the ox and we do not stand up and refuse to eat and ask the reason why the goose or the ox eat the grass, and was converted into meat or food.

I believe the body of man, or this material shell to be an epitome of the material earth; that in the body of Adam all the elementary substances composing this world were incorporated more or less. The second kind of food required for the soul or mind of our being is thought. Perhaps a little explanation at this point will not be amiss. The soul or mind is in essence an epitome of all substantive existences between rough matter and pure spirit, and it therefore connects matter and spirit, and contains in itself properties allied to both and yet at the same time it has, and is, what neither of the others has or is. The mind is a vast granary or store-house in which you can store pure grains of thought and not thistle tops and sour seeds. But in order to feed this part of the being the thought must be prepared by the Divine Cook. Our thoughts must not proceed from what we see if they do, they will be a material food and not fit for the mind to eat and digest. The proper food of thought must be generated by the thought of God meditating upon the mind of man thus bringing man unto his Creator.

The third kind of food is spiritual bread to feed our spirit. This should be sought after with delight and eagerness to feed the spirit within us. "Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the spirit of God dwelleth in you." Our spiritual condition to receive the spirit of God should be as willing to respond to the spirit of Christ, as it is natural for a new born infant to respond to breath for the first time in its new surroundings or as the eyes gradually open to the light. Or, again, as the plant inhales the sunlight of Heaven which is food for the plant. Our spirit partaking of the spirit of the Divine is the third great food. Now these three kinds of bread is necessary to be eaten by every man and digested in such a manner so as to give strength to the spiritual kingdom to rule over the soul or mind kingdom; also that the mind kingdom should be able to rule over the material body and not vice versa as it is too often the case. Hoping to hear more about this food in our Bible classes to-morrow.

Yours truly,
PUPIL.

HAT GOES OFF TO THEM

An articles entitled "Prairie Cities" in the London, Eng., Evening Standard and St. James' Gazette, A J Dawson, the well known English journalist, has the following description of Regina and Moose Jaw:

"Three hundred and fifty miles west of Winnipeg stands Regina, the capital of Saskatchewan. Twenty years ago Regina was little more than a settler's prairie camp. It was only in 1903 that it was given the status of a city; and it is not too much to say that its growth during that period equals that of any centre even in this kind of marvellously rapid development. It should be noted that these Western centres are not boom towns. Their growth has no connection with the inflation of stocks and shares. It is based simply upon the cultivation of the world's most productive wheat lands by an enormously increasing influx of settlers, almost every one among whom becomes an independent wealth producer. Regina's postal revenues, for example, show an increase of 335 per cent. during the past five years. Regina's hotels, clubs, warehouses, churches, schools and public buildings are massive and imposing in character, and justly so. There is scarcely a calamity or combination of calamities known to history which can check the continuous advance of this prairie capital. Its rate of progress last year was almost double that of the previous year, and that previous year's record represents a hundred per cent. of increase. Fortunes are being made rapidly here, and will continue to be made. The average wheat yield for this district is more than 27 bushels to the acre, and no form of fertilizer is used.

"In addition to being the government capital of the province and the residence of the Lieutenant - Governor, with its population of just upon 10,000 (a gain of 263 per cent. in five years), and its assessed property value of $7,100,000 (a gain of 647 per cent. in five years), Regina is the headquarters of one of the finest institutions of the Dominion — the Northwest Mounted Police. It would be difficult to exaggerate the value to Canada, and indeed, to the British Empire, of the work accomplished by this tiny semi-military body of men during the thirty odd years of its existence. The "bad man" of the United States West has never obtained a footing in the Canadian West.

The Mounted Police

"I'll tell you what it boils down to," a settler from Minnesota, who is now a loyal Canadian citizen, said to me yesterday. "Ever since the settlement of this country began it has been recognized and understood that the man who breaks the law is just going to be jailed. It don't matter if he is as spry as a gopher, nor as husky as a buffalo. It don't make any odds if he can crawl into a prairie dog's hole. If he breaks the law he's going to be jailed, good an' sure. He can have fifty guns and fifty thousand dollars; he can have any sort of blame pull you like, but he's just going to be jailed. It may take a week or a year, but he'll be jailed. Maybe he'll kill a Northwest policeman, maybe he will. Well, then he'll hang for a dead sure thing. He'll never buy a Northwest Mounted policeman, and he'll never escape jail if he breaks the law. And all Canada knows that, and all America knows it; and that's one reason why the Canadian West is a good country to live in—God's own country, as they say; good enough, for me, anyway; and I tell you the Northwest Mounted Police have done a big lot to make it so. I'm not given to blowing and scraping, but I take off my hat to the N. W. M. P. Yes, sir; every time."

The Royal Alexandra Stock Company Disbanded To-day

Jealousy Between the Actors Supposed to be the Cause---Advance Agent in Lindsay—Actors Have Other Positions

NO MATINEE HELD TO-DAY

The Royal Alexandra Stock Company which has been playing here all week disbanded this afternoon before the matinee. The trouble is said to have occurred over jealousy existing among the heads of the bill. Mr. Geo. Machan, manager of the show, tried to come to a satisfactory arrangement but without avail.

One of the actors who plays a minor part was seen by the Examiner and stated that the company had gone through. The advance agent was in Lindsay preparing for next week's show, but he would be called in. Most of the actors had other positions to go to and would leave the city either this afternoon or to-morrow morning.

The organization had only been in existence a short time and was the old Marks Bros. dramatic company. "Bill" Wordley, the popular comedian, is leaving this afternoon on the C.P.R. for the United States, having been engaged there by a big stock company as leading comedian. He will be greatly missed by all who know him.

The consumption of tea in England increased from 1 1-2 million pounds in 1740 to 117 million pounds in 1870, and to 241 million pounds in 1907. In Canada, since the introduction of "Salada" Tea, the consumption of tea is increasing in a like ratio.

GETS NEW TRIAL.

Man Sentenced to Death Has Another Fight For Life.

Montreal, March 7—The second trial of Wallace McCraw for the murder of one Sclater at Grand Anse some two years ago, will, it appears, be further delayed, as some of the most important of the witnesses cannot be found, while others are too far away to be got at just now.

This, however, sounds strange in view of the fact that the authorities have had several months to look after all concerned in the trial. Two years ago Sclater was murdered in cold blood by someone, who killed him in his tracks with a rifle ball.

Mrs. Sclater, the widow of the victim, and one McCraw were arrested and tried at Three Rivers for the crime. The woman was declared not guilty, and it is said that Lord Strathcona, who had known the woman's father as a Hudson Bay officer, furnished the money to put up a fine defence.

Be this as it may, Mrs. Sclater was a free woman, and the trial of McCraw, the alleged accomplice, took place, resulting in his condemnation and sentence to death.

The Court of Appeals, however, found irregularities in the trial, and the accused was given a new trial, which opened at Three Rivers yesterday. An adjournment took place for two weeks.

THE MEAT QUESTION UP AGAIN

Correspondent Asks Pertinent Question as to Quality as Seen on Market

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir.—In Thursday evening's issue I noticed a letter referring to the examination of meat that is sold on the market. The writer seemed to think that some of the meat was not fit for sale and urged that an inspector be appointed to insure meat of the best quality being sold.

If this condition really exists I think that something should be done to look into the matter and determine whether there is any need for an inspector. The Medical Health Officer or some one knowing the quality of beef, should be appointed and if diseased meat is found then a further step should be taken to continue the inspection every Saturday. If the meat is found satisfactory the citizens will feel confident of the quality of the meat they purchase.

I have been on the market myself and some men display meat than which none better could be desired, but I must say that there were sleighs which contained meat of very questionable quality.

Trusting that the authorities will give this matter due consideration, I am

THE PLAINS OF ABRAHAM BILL

Opposition Members Against Grant to Quebec Battlefields.

DOCUMENT QUESTION AGAIN

Measure Passes Third Reading in House of Commons — Mr. Foster Objects to Ross Rifle Factory—Says the Site Should Not Have Been Given Away—Sir Frederick Borden Tells Why.

Ottawa, March 7.—The entry of Dr. Daniel, one of the New Brunswick heroes, was duly noted by the Opposition. The member for St. John City walked majestically down the floor and in answer to the cheers of his colleagues he waved his hand. Coming to the aisle where he turned to make his bow to Mr. Speaker, he accompanied that gesture with a wave of his hand in the direction of Mr. Pugsley opposite. The whole House laughed.

The principal business of the afternoon was the passing of the Quebec battlefields bill. Eleven members of the Opposition voted against the third reading. Dr. Reid (Grenville) raised the old question of the rights of the minority to see original documents. Certain papers were ordered and brought down in the public accounts committee. When the committee was not in session the members were denied the privilege of inspecting the papers.

Mr. Oliver said any order of the committee would be respected; beyond this he would not go.

Foster Again Threatens.

Mr. Foster desired to have the Prime Minister say if the whole question was to be gone over again. As for himself he refused to be at the behest of that committee.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said it was a new question, and he would look into it.

The Quebec battlefields bill was again taken up in committee of the whole. Mr. Foster asked about the Ross rifle factory. In the first place, how did it come to pass that the factory ever got a place on the sacred plains of Abraham? Sir Frederick Borden explained this. It was a matter of convenience, both to the Ross people and the Government. The manufacture of cartridges was carried on in that vicinity, and it was considered advisable to have the two institutions close together.

Armand Lavergne (Montmagny) wanted a guarantee that this Ross factory would be located some place in Quebec. The Prime Minister said this discussion was premature. It might not be necessary to take the rifle factory at all.

Mr. Foster condemned the Government for giving away the site. It would cost a vast amount of money to expropriate this land.

Mr. Blain (Peel) observed that many leading citizens of Quebec protested against the establishment of the Ross factory on this site.

This, said Sir Frederick Borden, was the kick of a disappointed golf club.

Mr. Lavergne revised history. The battle did not take place on this ground.

Dr. Reid (Grenville) said it was well-known that the Ross rifle had not given satisfaction. If the Government bought out the Ross Co. it could not compel the company to build elsewhere.

Mr. Northrup (Hastings) said we had made a present of the land to the Ross Rifle Co., and now proposed to buy it back.

A Faculty For Giving.

Dr. Sproule said the Government had a faculty of giving things away. The House ought to have an intelligent estimate of the cost of this scheme.

Mr. Blain disapproved of the bill, which, he declared, was hasty legislation, while Dr. Barr opposed the double object of the vote, and announced that he would vote against it. At the beginning of the session it was whispered around that the Ross Rifle Co. was going to unload on the Government.

Champlain, Canada's Hero.

W. F. Maclean (South York) heartily endorsed the proposal. He pointed out that subsequent Parliaments were not bound to vote any further sums of money, and every dollar to be voted would be subject to scrutiny of Parliament. He would vote for the bill in so far as it was proposed to commemorate the memory of Samuel De Champlain. He was the real hero of Canada. The visions which he saw were realised in later years by Sir John Macdonald, and Mr. Maclean regarded Champlain as the historical precursor of the late Premier. These two men, one French, the other English, represented two races in this country, which were welded into one by the battle of the Plains of Abraham. Mr. Maclean believed that the people would willingly vote this money. There was only one race in Canada, and he did not care what their origin was. "I say," said Mr. Maclean, "that it is because we are sons of Canada that we join together in commemorating the foundation of our country and in consecrating, if we must, any event, even a battle, if it tended to the consolidation of the country and perpetuation of the ideas we have at heart. I believe the people of Canada from one end to the other will endorse this proposal to commemorate the battleground and the foundation of this country."

Col. Sam Hughes approved the bill, and the committee reported.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was anxious to have the bill given its third reading. There was not a moment to lose, he said.

Haughton Lennox (Simcoe) objected, but consented to the immediate passing of the bill after stating his objection, which was that he did not want to be held up by the Ross Rifle Co. and bled white. He agreed with the proposal to adequately celebrate the tercentenary of Champlain.

Sir Wilfrid made it plain that any further appropriation would be entirely within the hands of Parliament, and Mr. Foster thought this assurance was satisfactory.

Mr. Lavergne moved to strike out thec lause providing for the appointment of representatives on the commission of colonies of the United Kingdom contributing $100,000. The amendment was lost on division, and the third reading carried. On the formal resolution a few Conservatives asked for yeas and nays. The vote was 91 to 11.

Messrs. Alcorn, Henderson, Wilson (Lennox), Blain, Barr, Jackson (Elgin), Christie, Herron, Lalor, Owens, Staples were the Opposition.

IF WE COULD LOOK AT THE HEART OF A PALE-FACED PERSON!

Few people ever stop to consider what pallor to the countenance means. In the first place it indicates an absence from the blood of the rich, red, life-giving elements so requisite to health; and in the second place it indicates a weakened heart action. These two things act and re-act. If we could look at the heart of one of these pale-faced people, we would see it flabby, weak and pallid. No wonder they are easily tired, get out of breath quickly, have palpitation, are nervous and downhearted. Their muscles are poor, their stomach disordered, and their lives are seldom free from misery.

Let them take Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills: there is no remedy to equal them for making pale faces rosy, weak hearts and shaky nerves strong, flabby muscles firm, and infusing new hope and ambition into life.

Mr. W. J. Churchill, Lombardy, Ont., writes: "I was troubled for three years with a weak heart and nervousness. I could not sleep and ever so little food would distress me. I also had faint and dizzy spells, and doctored with three doctors but was growing worse. After taking three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I feel as well as ever I did. They are the best pills on earth."

Price 50 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25 at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THROW AWAY LINIMENTS

Here's the Prescription to Cure Rheumatism.

Liniments only reach the skin and the muscles directly under the skin. Now, liniments can't cure Rheumatism. They simply deaden the nerves for a time. When the effect wears away, the pain returns worse than ever.

If the bowels do not move regularly—if the kidneys are strained or weak—if the skin is dry or harsh—the blood is sure to be filled with impurities or urea. This urea is changed into uric acid which is the poison that causes rheumatism.

Now, the only possible way to cure Rheumatism is to prevent uric acid from being formed. Logically, the only way to do this is to keep kidneys, bowels and skin in good working order, and prevent the stomach from being too acid. And the only way to do this is to take "Fruit-a-tives."

These marvelous tablets of fruit juices and tonics act directly on the three great eliminating organs—bowels, kidneys and skin—and put them in perfect condition. That is the only secret of their great success in curing rheumatism, sciatica and lumbago.

50c a box—6 for $2.50. "Fruit-a-tives," Limited, Ottawa.

PULPWOOD FOR NEWSPAPERS.

Press Association Are Alarmed at Its Decrease—Pass Resolution.

Toronto, March 7.—Many important matters, including the preservation of Canada's pulpwood, postal regulations, the libel law and the formation of a national press association were discussed at the closing meetings of the fiftieth annual convention of the Canadian Press Association yesterday.

In regard to the pulpwood situation the following resolution was passed:

"That the Canadian Press Association place itself on record in the strongest possible terms in recommending the Government to take without delay such action as will conserve the spruce forests of Canada in the most effective manner; and that no arrangement relating to the pulpwood and paper export of Canada be entered into with any foreign country until such time as the representatives of this association shall have had the opportunity to place before the Government or a commission the views of the publishers of Canada."

E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., Kingston, advocated an amendment to the libel laws by which the writer of an anonymous article should be made co-defendant in a libel suit or, in the report of a speech, the speaker should be made a co-defendant and a jury should be allowed to apportion the damages between them. The executive committee will draft a list of proposed amendments to be submitted to the Attorney-General.

The association will visit the Agricultural College at Guelph to-day.

FEARED ANARCHIST ATTACK.

Man Who Wanted to Photograph King Edward Causes Scare.

Paris, March 7.—King Edward arrived here last evening from London Sir Francis Bertie, the British Ambassador to France, met him at the station and escorted him to a private hotel. Although he is traveling incognito as the Duke of Lancaster, King Edward will visit President Falieres before departing for Biarritz to-day.

He witnessed the production of Paul Bourget's "Divorce" last night. Owing to the world-wide activity of the anarchists recently, exceptional precautions have been taken to safeguard King Edward. The police and detectives had a scare at the hotel where the King is staying, when an enterprising photographer set off a flashlight at the curb as the King alighted from his motor car.

DECIDE ON EXPENDITURE OF MILLIONS

Estimates Brought in at Legislature Yesterday.

HOW MONEY WILL BE USED

Ontario to Spend $7,501,875 During 1908—Premier Whitney Premises to Supply Full Information on the Power Situation—Liberal Leader Determined to Probe Deeply—Bills Read a Second Time.

Toronto, March 7.—"I would suggest that my hon. friend frame his motion so as to include every possible phase of the situation, to make it as complete as it is possible to make it, and as wide and as far as it can be made to reach, and present it on Monday. I shall be prepared to reply with full and complete and, I trust, satisfactory information."

Such was the statement of Hon. Mr. Whitney in the Legislature yesterday in reference to the series of questions propounded by Hon. A. G. MacKay relative to an alleged offer or offers received by the Government from the Electrical Development Co. or a representative of its bondholders prior to the time Mr. William Mackenzie secured a controlling interest therein.

The Prime Minister's statement was made after an interchange between the leaders, in the course of which Mr. MacKay had adopted a suggestion to amend the form in which he secured the information from a question to that of a motion for a return.

The interest of the sitting centred on the two and comprehensive series of questions the Opposition leader proposed to put to the head of the Government, both in relation to the work of the Hydro-Electric Commission:

"Surely a limit to the question of privilege is here reached," began Mr. Whitney, with a smile. "As I understand procedure the test of a question is whether or not it can be made the subject of a return. Unless the subject is one permitting a concise reply a motion for a return should be made. I quite understand the desire and the right to get information as soon as possible, but if there is any unjustifiable waiting for returns the Government will not only complain, but will be obliged if attention is drawn to the matter."

Mr. Whitney added that the information Mr. MacKay sought would fill about two volumes of journals, but if he made his motion for a return, it should be forthcoming.

The Liberal leader said he was quite satisfied and would move again on Monday.

Mr. MacKay then put the following questions:

(1) Did any representative of holders of bonds issued by the Electric Development Co. interview the Premier or any member of the Government prior to the 26th of February last, when Mr. Wm. Mackenzie obtained a controlling interest in the said company?

(2) If so, was any suggestion, proposition or offer made by the said representative to the Government or any member thereof looking to the acquiring by the province or the city of Toronto of all the property of the said company or of a controlling interest in the said company?

(3) If the interview was not along the said lines, what was the nature and result of said interview?

(4) What was the date of the interview?

(5) Did any letter or memorandum pass between the said representative and the Premier or any member of the Government?

(6) Did the Premier immediately make known to the mayor of the city of Toronto, or to any other member of the City Council the nature of the said interview and the terms of any such suggestion, proposition or offer?

(7) Did the Premier or any member of the Government do anything whatever towards bringing the said representative and the City Council into conference on the subject?

(8) If not, why not?

"It would be utterly impossible for me to answer these questions in any satisfactory way as they stand," declared Mr. Whitney. "It would take a speech of 40 minutes to answer the third enquiry alone."

He added the suggestion that these questions also be transferred to a motion, and then declared his desire that they should be wide and comprehensive, and his preparedness to deal with them.

In response to a question from Mr. Labrosse (Prescott) Hon. Mr. Cochrane said the greatest depth reached by the Government as yet in the mining operations on the Gillies' limit was 140 feet.

A number of bills were put through their second reading and committee stages.

Ontario will spend $7,501,875.67 in 1908, according to the estimates brought down in the Legislature yesterday.

The actual expenditure of the province for 1907 was $7,714,245.61, so there is over $200,000 margin for the supplementary estimates yet.

Expenditures and Estimates.

The summary of the gross estimated expenditure for the year (the actual sums for last year following in each instance), shows the provision for civil government, $537,546; 1907, $502,833; legislation, $233,450; 1907, $222,

MADOC ARE THE WINNERS OF THE TRENT VALLEY LEAGUE

Norwood, March. 6.—Madoc captured the championship of the Trent Valley Hockey League here to-night by defeating the Norwood club by 4 goals to 3, thus winning the round by 11 to 7. Norwood were defeated in Madoc on Tuesday night by 7—4 but it was confidently believedf by the club and its supporters that they would over come the lead here to-night. Fred Doherty and Huyoke were, however, both out of the game owing to injuries and their absence was greatly felt by the team, especially that of Doherty, who has been the mainstay of the seven all season. In Tuesday's game he had a bone in his left arm splintered while Huyoke sustained a severe sprain ot one ankle.

The rink here is an open air one and the ice was in very bad condition, the surface being rough. Despite this fact, however, the game was a hard, fast exhibition which was enjoyed by the crowd who took the defeat of the homsters in very good spirit. It was not rough although the checking was close and the penalties handed out were all for trivial offences. One of the biggest crowds of the season was on hand.

At half time the score was a tie—twith both teams going strong, and the result of the game very doubtful. Madoc, however, managed to out score Norwood by 3—2 in the last half and captured both game and round.

For Madoc Wellington at centre and Murphy at point were the stars, although the whole team played good hockey. Wellington was the pick of the forward line, being very speedy and handling his stick neely, while Murphy was very effective on the defence. In fact all three of the rear guards put up a stubborn resistance.

Morrow and Scott, the kid forwards, were Norwood"s best, both playing fast, brilliant hookey all through. Nicholl was good on the defence checking and rushing well. The Pearce brothers and Kempt did not seem to be in the best of condition, and did not put up their usual game.

Geo. Lynch of Peterborough refereed the game faultlessly and both teams and the crowd were satisfied with his decisions.

The teams were as follows:—

Norwood.	Madoc.
Goal
Doherty	Dale
Point
C Pearce	Murphy
Cover
Nichol	Moore
Rover
R Pearce	Pine

Kempt	Wellington

EXCERPTS FROM JOURNALS OF PETERBORO' MERCHANT

Customers helped pay their bills in many ways:

By helping to kill 28 hogs—17s. 6d., or $4.35.

By plowing garden — 2s. 6d., or 60 cents.

By digging a well—£3 4s. 9d.

By attending horse as farrier — £1 3s. 1d.

By killing one beef — 5s., or $1.25.

By Billy the sailor — £2 7s. 6d. (Whatever that means.)

By making three pairs ladies' boots —18s., or $3.75.

By lot in burial ground—£2.

By your note of hand — £13 5s., or $66.25.

By carding wool — 7s. 8d., or $1.85.

By scouring cloth—17s. 5d.

These are a few of the great number of ways by which the articles were paid for. It must be remembered that money was scarce, but labour was, as good a currency as it is to-day.

Other Articles

A few other instances of the nature of the purchases are:

Pasturing a cow one season—£1 6s., or $6.50.

Three bushels of Peace — 15s., or $3.75.

Three gallons soap — 3s. 9d., or 93 cents.

33 lbs. "cheese" at 7 1-2d. lb., or about 15c lb.

One pair of oxen — £12 10s., or $62.50.

One bbl. whisky, (43 gals.), at 1s. 10d.—£3 18s. 10d., or $19.70.

Plenty of Whisky

Almost every customer must have been bibulous. The whisky items occur more frequently than anything else, and large quantities were purchased. The cost was about 35 cents a gallon, which was exceedingly cheap. There was no "crock," or quart bottle, to be had, but the pure article, "high as the Rockies in quality," was sold, and it would only be insinuating that our ancestors were rots if further figures were given. However, it is said that the "article" of 1816 had not the same effect as that which local option has now on the run, therefore it may be concluded that while the whisky was freely drunk, there was not the corresponding drunkenness as if it were present day "stuff."

A Large Account

Accounts then, just as now, were often long-standing. One of the customers began an account in 1817. In 1824 he owed the merchant £920 14s. 3d., or $4,603.55. In 1827 the bill was settled and paid by a mortgage on property belonging to the customer.

RESULT OF THIS GAME DISPUTED

South Enders and Park Street Played Last Night

Last night's game at Brock street rink between Park Street and the South End team ended unsatisfactorily, inasmuch as one team claims a 1-0 victory, while the other contends that the score should be 0-0. The Park street team scored a goal towards the end of the game, claiming it was scored before time was up. The South Enders, however, say the game was over when the puck was melted. The game was warmly contested, and neither team had anything on the other.

BELL TELEPHONE CO. WON AGAIN

Defeated Matthews' Pig Stickers Last Night

The Bell Telephone Company's team is still undefeated, adding another to their unbroken list of victories last night by defeating the Matthews' Company in a hard fought battle, by a score of 4—2, leading at the half by 3—2. Both teams had a big bunch of rooters on hand and the game was brimful of excitement from start to finish. The score was tied twice in the first half, at 1—1, and 2—2, but before half time the Hello seven took the lead and the line was busy for the rest of the evening, although in the second half they only scored once, Gagnon doing the trick on a pretty rush. Wade, Borradaile and Gagnon were the stars for the Bell people, while for the Porkmen Barclay was the pick. Harry Munro, of the Chieftains, refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows:

Bell Telephone	Matthews
Goal
Bruce	Mordoff
Point
Leitch	Ranger
Cover
Borradaile	Cowie
Rover
Wade	Barclay

'MABEL ALLEN GOES FREE.

Young Girl Acquitted of Burning Barns—Jury Out Three Hours.

Toronto, March 7.—After three hours' deliberation the sessions jury last night acquitted Mabel Allen on a charge of burning the barns and outbuildings of Jacob Hopkins, a Mount Albert farmer. There was almost a demonstration in the court among the large crowd who waited to hear the girl's fate. One man remarked: "I was sorry for the horses that were burned, but that is all."

Judge Winchester charged the jury briefly but, if anything, against the accused.

The address of counsel for the defence was not long. Mr. Fitch pointed out that the tracks leading to and from the barn were smaller than those which would be made by the feet of the girl. After saying that Hopkins himself had said that he could think of no reason why the girl should set fire to the buildings, he dwelt upon her wrongs at Hopkins' hands.

He closed saying: "I ask you to believe this girl against one hundred men like Hopkins."

Mr. Drayton pointed out that the girl had the strongest of motives and that she had admitted to bearing a revengeful feeling toward Hopkins.

"But I don't want you to decide that because there was motive there was guilt," said he.

Arson was a crime of stealth and evidence of it must be circumstantial. The girl had threatened just this act. She had admitted that she had perjured herself at the preliminary hearing.

"I don't want to defend Hopkins," said the crown attorney. "I have just about the same opinion that each of you has of such men, who are going about with girls young enough to be their daughters. Hopkins perhaps deserved what happened, but that is not the point."

Merchant Brutally Assaulted.

Montreal, March 7.—James Watterson, of the firm of J. Watterson & Co., commission merchants, was held up and brutally assaulted when on his way to his home on Roslyn avenue, Westmount.

The man came up behind, struck a vicious blow at Mr. Watterson, rendering him completely unconscious. This took place within a few yards of the victim's own doorstep. His senseless form was discovered by several young men who were returning to their homes after a hockey match, the assailant having evidently been frightened away by their approach.

Cobalt, March 7.—Steven Balla and John Hartman, who were arrested on a charge of stealing a quantity of silver from the Kerr Lake Crown Reserve, pleaded guilty here yesterday before Magistrate Hartman and were sentenced to eighteen months each in Central Prison.

YOUNG KING TO MARRY.

German Princess Victoria May Be Manuel's Bride.

Lisbon, March 7.—The report that Emperor William of Germany will visit Lisbon this spring started the rumor here that arrangements were being made for the marriage of King Manuel, who came to the throne last month, through the assassination of his father and brother, and Princess Victoria, only daughter of Emperor William.

The early marriage of King Manuel is regarded as a necessity of state, but it is understood that the English party at court is opposed to a German alliance.

MEANING OF THE WORD "SHAUGRAUN"

Mr. John Belcher's Opinions of This Word

Mr. John Belcher states that there are several meanings according to what he has often heard, of the word "Shaugraun." A Shaugraun, according to one report is a "no'er-do-well of a fellow." Again in 1798, when the English forces invaded Ireland they were accustomed to call all against them "The Shaugrauns." Another meaning attributed to the word is exemplified in the sentence "He went out on a shaugraun", referring to a "spree."

Another Letter On The Saturday-Sunday Question

Believes in The Seventh Day as the Sabbath — Which Day Matters Much, He Says

QUOTES FROM THE BIBLE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I read with interest an article in your paper of Saturday's issue on the Sabbath question, signed "Liberal Christian," and if you would allow me a little space in your valuable paper I would be pleased to call attention to some points in the article.

The article makes it very clear that the seventh day is the Sabbath and that Christ and the apostles kept the Sabbath, which is all true. He also points out the fact that the transfer from the seventh to the first day of the week was not made by Christ, but by Constantine. But who was Constantine? A pagan emperor and a sun worshipper, and in his law he calls Sunday the "venerable day of the sun." Worldly bishops, united with the pagan emperor to lead the people to honour the heathen Sunday, and to trample under foot the Lord's day—the Sabbath. (Mat. 12: 8.

God reproves this violence to his law. See Isa. 22: 25, margin. It tore out the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. This made a breach in God's law. Now, God appeals to his true children, both Catholic and Protestant, to take their feet off from his holy day and call it honourable; the holy of the Lord, and by thus honouring the true God, help to build up again the breach that was made in God's law, Isa. 58: 1, 2, 12-14.

In concluding his article, "Liberal Christian" asks this question, "What does it matter to us as long as we keep one day in seven, whether it is the seventh day or the first day of the week."

It matters to us a great deal whether we keep the Sabbath or not. It made a difference back there when the transfer was made, and those who did it are reproved for violating the Sabbath. The Sabbath which originated at creation was confirmed by the commandment from Sinai, not to remember the seventh day, or every seventh day, but the seventh day on which God rested. "The Sabbath was made for man," said Jesus. Mark 2, 27. It was made for the English, German, Chinaman, Swedish and for whatsoever tongue or complexion, be they black, brown, red or white, for "man" uttered the Master, "for man." Be it true then eternality for the word, like its author, changeth not. "I am the Lord, I change not"; "Jesus Christ the same yesterday (the eternity of the past) and to-day (present time) and forever (the eternal future.) Heb. 13, 8.

Christ made the Sabbath. He was the active agent in creation. I Cor. 8, 6; John 1, 1-3; Col. 1, 12-17; Heb. 1, 12. He was the one who did the work and the resting; therefore Jesus made the Sabbath. He is the one who gave to man in the seventh day Sabbath, his own rest, blessing and holiness, and in Exo. 20, 12 we are told that if we hallow the Sabbath, it is a sign that the Lord is sanctifying us. As Christ is our sanctification, (I. Cor. 1, 30), the Sabbath is therefore, a sign of what Christ is to the believer. Notice, too, that in the making of the Sabbath, it was the day and not the institution only, that was honoured. God blessed the seventh day. Gen. 2, 3. He sanctified the day and he commands us to remember the day. Ex. 20, 8. All this was done in Eden before the fall, before there was any sin, before there was any need of a Saviour from sin, before there were any types or shadows. Hence, the Sabbath is in no sense typical or shadowy; its is wholly commemorative—a memorial of creation. Ex. 20, 8-11.

There has been no trouble whatever in keeping Sunday in any part of the world, and no one saw any difficulty nor raised any objection until the Sabbath question began to be agitated, and men have desired to evade—to them a cross, but really a blessing, in keeping of God's Sabbath.

The objections against being able to keep the Sabbath in any part of the aworld are not against men who may observe the Sabbath, but against the one who gave the Sabbath. Notice these two texts. "The Sabbath was made for man." Mark 2, 27. "God that made the world, hath made of one blood all nations of men for to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath determined the times before appointed, and the bounds of their habitation." Acts 17, 24-26. He that made the world knew that it was round and placed men upon it. He has overruled them all the ages of the past, so that every soul that desired had no trouble whatever in keeping God's time before appointed. and every objection that is brought against it is not against man but is against the wishes of God as expressed in His word, and demonstrated by the conduct of His faithful children.

Prominent Missionaries Are Coming to St. John's Church

Some Interesting Details About Each One—List Comprises the Strongest Speakers in Canada—Are Well Known

MISSION BEGINS TO-MORROW

To-morrow morning at St. John's church, the parochial mission about which so much has been said during the past few weeks, will open. The names of the speakers are familiar to all those who have read about the coming mission, and some interesting personal details regarding them are given.

Rev. W B Heeney, who is to arrive to-night is an Irishman by birth and was appointed some years ago to to Newport, one of the most fashionable American resorts. He longed again for life under the British flag and was appointed to the important post at Barrie. The church had been Christ's Church, Belleville. After a brilliant pastorate he accepted a call in a depressed condition but since his arrival it has gone forward by leaps and bounds. A few weeks ago he received an invitation to go to one of the larger churches of New York, which it is hoped he may not accept.

Rev. F L Barber was a well known missionary worker in England. He came here a few years ago and received the appointment at Stouffville. After a short pastorate he accepted a call to Bobcaygeon and promoted 93 candidates last week for confirmation to the Bishop.

Rev. Salisbury Lloyd, a Welshman, passed through the great Welsh revival as an evangelist. He was formerly of the Free Church of England, but later joined the ranks of the clergy of the Church of England and offered himself for mission work in Canada.

Rev. C. Egmor Sharpe, an Englishman and a graduate of Oxford is both a cultured and a polished speaker. He was Chaplain of the Navy at Esquimalt some years ago. He then became assistant to the late Rev. Mr. King and was advanced to rector upon the death of the pastor who was killed in the Salisbury railway accident in England.

Rev. H R Mockridge, is the youngest son of Rev. Canon Mockridge, late of Christ Church Cathedral, Hamilton. He comes as the assistant to Rev. Mr. Sharpe.

Rev. C E Wilkinson came to Canada from England last November and was ordained in St. John's church last Sunday.

Rev. Dr. Langfeldt will also become of the speakers but he is too well known throughout the city for any further reference.

Services and meetings will be held daily in the church. The evening services are especially of a missionary character. The mission will be conducted on Church of England lines. Everyone will be warmly welcomed without regard to denomination or class. Two Sunday mission services will supersede all ordinary services. It is hoped that the missions will be largely attended and that everyone who attends will feel at home.

ADJUTANT BLOSS AT THE BARRACKS

Arrived From Montreal—Mrs. Bloss Unable to Come

To-morrow in the Salvation Army Barracks Adjutant Bloss, of Montreal, will have charge over the services. It was thought that Mrs. Bloss would accompany the adjutant but she was unable to get away. The adjutant is one of the ablest army speakers in Ontario, and holds the position of chancellor in the eastern part of the province. The subjects of his address have not be given out as yet, and it is thought that he will speak on general army lines. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance at all the services to-morrow.

AN ANSWER.

On Friday our evening contemporary, the Review, in its editorial columns grandiosely demanded that the Examiner give a categorical answer to questions regarding the three-fifth majority and a simple majority. The Examiner, ignoring the modest suggestion, the Review, on Saturday repeated its demand, which it converted into an "appeal," and seemed bound to "put a head" on the Examiner even if it is only a "head" line. The Review is a somewhat perplexing quality to deal with. Its controlling genius occupies a dual role—he is a kind of reincarnated Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde—he is editor of the Review and Conservative candidate. One would know better how to deal with his demand, if one could decide in which capacity he speaks. Possibly in neither. It may be that the recollection which comes to him of his brilliant triumphs at the bar may suggest the idea of putting the Examiner into the witness box and subjecting it to cross-examination. While not admitting his right to do so, the Examiner is inclined to be obliging and will attempt to answer his question. The "bare majority" is on general principles and in general practice satisfactory to the Examiner, but in the case of the Conservative candidate for West Peterborough, in view of Hon. Mr. Hanna's line of argument in regard to local option—that to give effective character to the law a three-fifths majority should be required—the Examiner is of opinion that to make Mr. Burnham an effective representative he should be required to poll a three-fifth majority—like local option he might not be effective under a "bare majority." The editor of the Review, the Conservative candidate, or the legal light, under whatever character the cross-examination is conducted, will have to be content with these answers to his questions. The Examiner has only to add that the British principle of majority rule is good enough for it. The three-fifths majority question is a matter which concerns the Whitney Government and the temperance party. The latter think it "an outrage" and the Examiner is willing to leave the bare fact to the judgment of those concerned. The Review is informed that the Examiner has its policy upon public questions and that when it feels inclined to state its position it will do so with no uncertain sound, and it declines to make any statement, mature or premature at the instance of the amateur editor of the Review in whatever of his triple capacity he chooses to pose.

THE LIE DIRECT.

Speaking before the Young Conservative Club, Mr. J. H. Burnham declared, as reported in a morning contemporary, said the result of the New Brunswick elections was a great victory for the Conservative party, and a great blow to the Federal Government. Here he gives the lie direct to Hon. Mr. Hazen, the new leader of the Government in New Brunswick, who distinctly stated in his address, at the conclusion of the polling, that the result of the elections was not a victory for the Conservative party. He said:

"In this fight I had the support of a large number of Liberals at the polls. I do not claim it as a victory for the Conservative party. . . The result today is not a defeat for the Federal Government."

Of course, Mr. Hazen, a native of New Brunswick, and presumably familiar with the situation, in which he was a prime factor, doesn't know as much about it as the bumtious Mr. Burnham, who would possibly be an authority upon "ways that are dark" in capturing a convention, but is not in a position to contradict point blank, the statement above quoted, of a man who knows what he is talkm about. However, the matter is of little moment as regards New Brunswick. The point seems to be in Mr. Burnham beginning his campaign auspiciously when he sets out by stating as facts what Mr. Hazen's words show to be false!

AMERICAN HOLDINGS.

According to government reports, 70,000 square miles of the timber land of the Provinces of Quebec is now held by various individuals and corporations under license to cut timber; and of these 70,000 square miles fully one-fifth is in the hands of Americans. This is a large and valuable part of the public domain of the provinces to be placed for exploitation in the hands of foreigners, especially when it is considered that the product of these lands is all shipped to the United States for manufacture, leaving comparatively little in the land where the wood was grown.

All the land held under cutting licenses by American companies in Quebec is under the control of about a dozen companies, of which the following are the most important: The International Paper Co., which has over 2,000 square miles of the St. Maurice river, as well as limits on the Pentecost, bringing its Quebec holdings alone to 3,000 miles; the Union Bag and Paper Co., with 2,200 miles on the St. Maurice and 600 on the Upper Ottawa; the Berlin Falls Co., which has 2,700 miles on the St. Maurice, including about 300 miles of freehold and the splendid water-power of La Tuque; the Oyamel Lumber Co., with 1,464 miles on Lake St. John; and the Bayless Pulp and Paper Co., with 400 miles on the Jaques Cartier river. This land held by thes American companies is among the most valuable timberland in the Province of Quebec, and coatributes thousands of cords a year to the supply of American pulp and paper mills.

If American limit-holders in the province of Quebec were compelled to manufacture in the province the product of their limits it would unquestionably be a source of great wealth to the country. At a moderate estimate fully 150,000 cords went from these limits to the United States last year to be manufactured into paper, leaving in Canada about $7.000 a cord, and bringing to the States about $40 a cord in the finished product. This meant a loss to the province of about $5,000,000 in round figures. Why cannot the conditions imposed by the Liberal Government of Ontario, that no pulp wood should be allowed to leave the province in an unmanufactured condition, be applied to the Quebec article or the Dominion at large?

FIGURES THAT ARE FALLACIOUS

When the Conservatives in power claimed for protection the virtue of making the people prosperous they quoted long lines of figures to show that the people were prosperous without knowing it. They place great reliance in figures. When protection failed to make the country prosperous, figures were invoked to prove to the contrary. When the Conservative policy doesn't commend them to the electorate, they again resort to figures to show that the Conservatives are going to win, anyway, at the next election. The Brantford Courier a day or two ago proved, on paper and by figures, that Laurier's doom was sealed, and Borden was to ride into power in triumph, as a sequel of the New Brunswick elections. It said:

"Of the 214 members in the Ottawa House the four Conservative provinces send the following:

Ontario	86
New Brunswick	13
Manitoba	10
British Columbia	7
	116

This is 9 more than half the total and is one of the reasons for that panicky feeling among the Liberals."

The Brantford Expositor shows that there is nothing in the above contention. True these "four Conservative provinces" send 116 members to the Commons, but the point is that they are not all Conservative members. At the last general elections in November of 1901, for example, the members returned were:

	Lib.	Con.
Ontario	39	47
New Brunswick	7	6
Manitoba	6	3
British Columbia	5	0
Total	57	56

It will thus be seen that even in these Conservative provinces the Federal government had a majority of one immediately after the election and three contests which were held later increased it.

Add to this the fact that in 1904 the Liberals won 51 seats in Quebec and the Conservatives 11 and that the Government made a clean sweep of 18 seats in Nova Scotia, and the "certain doom" theory need occasion no alarm.

UNGAVA VISITOR TO BE AT THE MEETING

Mr. Cotter Will Attend Meeting of Astronomical Society.

The meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society to-night at the Y.M.C.A. promises to be an interesting one. The society hopes to have the presence of Mr. H. M. S. Cotter, a gentleman whom Dr. Marsh had met in Labrador in 1905. He has been a factor of a Hudson Bay post at Northwest River, and has occupied the same office as Lord Strathcona when the latter was there.

Mr. Cotter has been promoted to a factor at Fort Chimo, Ungava. He is visiting Peterborough to-day and will make an effort to attend the astronomical meeting to-night, to which all are welcome. He will be the guest of Rev. Dr. Marsh to-morrow.

"LIBERAL" SAYS IT IS TIME FOR ACTION

Endorses The Examiner in Regard to Separate Conventions.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

I quite agree with your editorial of Saturday. I think a convention should be held for the nomination of a candidate for the local and that a convention for the Dominion, when over held should be a separate meeting. In both these ridings there are many electors who will vote for the Liberal party in Ontario and for the Conservative party in the Dominion, and vice versa, and they should be given the same freedom and access to our convention in the selection of candidates for either house as anyone else.

Complications cannot arise when the conventions are held at different times, and there would be avoided any possibility of ill-feeling arising. I think the officers of the Association in West Peterborough should get to work. A candidate should be nominated for the Local Legislature. The Local Legislature within two months will be dissolved, and the elections are likely to be held early in June.

Surely there is no time to be lost in calling a meeting. When Mr. Stratton was the candidate for the Local House we had no trouble in selecting him or in keeping our organization perfect. He kept the organization, but when he left the political scene of Ontario things have taken a different turn, and I am afraid unless the party waken up and take some action, matters will be allowed to drift too long.

The heart of the Liberal party is sound. The friction attempted to be created is a myth. What we want is someone to strike out and lead the party locally. Have we not had a sufficient number of dummy representatives in this county?

So far as the County of Peterborough is concerned one side is little better than the other. It is time for action.

LIBERAL.

WOOD AND HAY SOLD ON THE MARKET

Rather Plentiful This Morning and at Fair Prices.

The market was fairly active this morning hay, wood, and cattle passing over the scales for local sales. Hay was sold at $18 and $19, hardwood sawed in two was offered at $7 per cord, while mixed wood was sold at cheaper prices. The farmers report that thje roads are in fair condition and sleighing just now is good.

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. W. Barrett, of 602 Moreau St., Montreal, who writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

"For years I was a great sufferer from female weakness, and despite every remedy given me by doctors for this trouble, I grew worse.

"One day a friend advised me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I did so, and am thankful to say that it made me strong and well."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SHOT THE BLACK HAND.

Daring Attempt to Rob New York Bank In Daylight.

New York, March 9.—Repulsing a daylight attempt of the Black Hand to rob his bank Saturday at the point of a gun, Pasquale Patti, who conducts a large banking and exchange business in the Italian quarter on Elizabeth street; in a pistol duel, in which his son-in-law, Louis Cartiar joined, shot Francesco Pellatro, alias Guiseppe Sapio, who is dying in a hospital with five bullet wounds in his body, as a result of his attempt to hold up the bank. A second man, Michele Dognostino, whom the police believe is an accomplice of Pellatro, was arrested while running from the bank after the shooting.

For fourteen years, Patti told the police, he has constantly defied Black Hand terrors, and only a month ago the front of his bank was blown out by a bomb and $40,000 scattered in the street, which was saved by prompt work on the part of the banker.

The closing hour of the bank was near at hand and the streets in the neighborhood were teeming with people returning from a half-holiday's toil, when Pellatro entered Patti's bank. Patti was talking with his family, when Pellatro, drawing his revolver, declared his intention of killing the banker. Quickly seizing a revolver on the shelf, Patti opened fire on Pellatro, while on the other side of the bank, Louis Cartiar, who conducted the branch postoffice station in the institution, drew his revolver and also began firing. Pellatro fell to the ground with five bullet wounds in his body, while Dognostino was caught running from the bank.

Pellatro told the coroner that he went to kill Patti, but fire no shots. The police have been unable to find Pellatro's revolver.

Patti is held by the police pending further investigation of the affair.

ROW IN B.C. LEGISLATURE.

Socialist Leader Clashes With Liberals and Defies the Chair.

Victoria, B.C., March 9.—The House prorogued Saturday after seven weeks' session, in which it passed 61 bills, the most notable being the British Columbia Immigration Act, the Grand Trunk Pacific bill, making an agreement with the new trans-Canadian railroad for terminal facilities at Prince Rupert, and the university bill, for the establishment of British Columbia University.

The final session was marked by a most disgraceful scene in wrangling over the G.T.P. agreement. The Kaien Island deal of three years ago was introduced in the discussion and Hawthornthwait, the leader of the Socialists, declared that "the Liberals had swallowed themselves." John Oliver (Liberal) declared Hawthornthwait had deliberately argued from false premises, and the Socialist again bounded up and hurled back the accusation with another to the effect that Liberals had deliberately misrepresented the position of the Socialists in the Kaien Island deal during the last election. The Liberal leader demanded the withdrawal of the statements, but he replied: "Not until Oliver withdraws his." Mr. Ross (Nanaimo), who was chairman in committee, repeated the Socialist leader to withdraw his statements, but the request was made in vain. Twice within the last week the member for Nanaimo had refused to obey a ruling of the chair, said the Liberal leader. If the dignity of debate was to be upheld, this should be stopped.

The Premier urged also in vain that both men explain and withdraw their statements.

Boat Went Over Dam.

Pittsburg, March 9.—Three lives were lost Saturday night when the tow boat Stella Moren, with two flats of coal, went over dam No. 2, on the Monongahela River at Port Perry, Pa., and sank in 20 feet of water.

The Moren was about to enter the lock when the strong current, due to the high water, swung it around and before it could be controlled, the vessel and flats was swept over the dam and completely wrecked. One man was caught between the lock wall and the boat and crushed to death. The rest of the crew, numbering ten men, were thrown into the river.

Drove Into Creek.

London, March 9.—A drowning occurred about two miles from here on the fourth concession of Tilbury, when Verville Bernias, aged 13, lost his life.

The boy was driving along the road near the culvert bridge, where the river has overflowed its banks, when he drove into the creek and was caught by the current and swept under the ice.

He tried to escape by getting on the horse's back. The ice was dynamited for considerable distance, but no trace of either the boy or the horse was found.

Arrested for Theft.

Winnipeg, March 9.—Cornelius Epp, a well-known city steamship agent, has been arrested in St. Louis, Mo., on the charge of stealing $2,300 from a Galician named Wenck.

CLAIMED WRONG BODIES.

Parents of Cleveland Victims Make Sad Mistakes—Rescuer Killed.

Cleveland, March 9.—The total number of dead, as a result of the burning of the Lakeview school in Collinwood last Wednesday is now thought to be 174. Of this number the bodies of 167 have been found.

The death list was increased early yesterday by the death of Glen Barber, ten years of age, who succumbed to injuries sustained when he leaped from the second storey of the doomed building. Of the bodies recovered 147 have been identified. The last identification was established when the body of Richard Kelly, the ten-year-old son of Walter Kelly of The Cleveland Leader, was picked from the charred remains. His mother was able to complete the identification by means of stitches she had worked about a button-hole found in a small piece of the boy's underclothing, which clung to the body.

It is believed by officials in charge of the bodies that mistakes have been made by parents who claimed the little blackened remains during the excitement of the first day or two, and that they took possession of bodies that were not those of their dead children. Deputy Coroner McNeil was convinced of this, and made an effort to rectify some of the blunders. In this he was handicapped, as in some cases the funerals had been held and in other instances the bereaved parents could not be convinced of their supposed error.

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the public funeral for the unidentified, which will be held today. The bodies of several children, whose parents are not able to bear the financial burden, will be included in the service.

The village council of Collinwood has purchased a small tract of land in the village cemetery, where all of these bodies will be interred.

At the same hour the public funeral will be held, memorial services will be held in all of the city schools in Cleveland. At that hour also, all of the church bells in Collinwood will be tolled simultaneously.

The body of Miss Katherine Weiler, a teacher who met death with her school children, has not been recovered. Twice it was thought her body had been found, but the identifications were erroneous. In the last instance the body claimed by her father was found to be that of a man. This body is supposed to be that of John Krajnyak, who was one of the first to reach the burning school building and who was seen to rush into the building in an effort to save some of the little boys and girls. He has been missing since the fire, but it was not thought that he had sacrificed his life.

The Collinwood fire has incited Cleveland school officials to a thorough investigation of the city school buildings, and already changes and improvements have been asked for by the school director, which will cost upwards of a million dollars. The city building inspector threatened to close two or three of the city schools, which he believes to be in an unsafe condition should a serious fire break out.

HELD FIRST COURT.

Justice Clute Takes His Seat on Stage of Theatre.

Sudbury, March 9.—The first sitting of the first high court of this judicial district was held here during the past week. The cases included two of a serious nature and the scenes were in many respects unique. Justice Clute presided.

Court was held in the opera house and the balcony was crowded at every sitting, many women attending. The crowd at times seemed to imagine that the proceedings were only of a "stagey" kind, and once laughed and applauded, so that Judge Clute ordered that all the men in the gallery should leave the hall.

E. Meredith of London was crown prosecutor. In the case against one Silverman, accused of perjury in connection with his work as an "employment agent" in bringing men here from Cobalt during the miners' strike in the camp, a verdict of guilty resulted in a sentence of five years' imprisonment.

A woman, who pleaded guilty to assault on another, was fined $100 and costs.

Another serious case will be concluded later. In the meantime Inspector Reburn of the provincial detective department, will continue to gather evidence. It is the case of George Bisinsky and L. Wardy, Assyrians, accused of assault and perjury. In November last they bought a general store here for $1,010 and placed $3,000 insurance. On Feb. 8, the place was burned out and the men swore to a statutory declaration of a loss of $4,400. It seems, however, that on Jan. 15 a valuation of $2,000 had been made by a prospective purchaser.

In addition, a store at Parry Harbor, owned by the couple, was burned out in December and $2,000 insurance collected. Bisinsky charge Wardy with not making a proper accounting in this respect, and had him arrested, but the case was settled. T. C. Robinette, K.C., of Toronto, is defending them. The grand jury returned a true bill for perjury. The arson case is yet to be heard by a magistrate.

Couple Found Dead.

Denver, Col., March 9.—Harry Adler, clothing salesman, 40 years of age, shot and killed his divorced wife, Miss Grace Nottingham, 27 years of age, in a room in the Waldorf Hotel last Wednesday night and then shot himself to death. The bodies were found Saturday. The pair were married in Los Angeles on Jan. 12, 1908, and the woman obtained a divorce in Denver a year ago.

Before her marriage Miss Nottingham shot and killed Edward Murphy, a railroad fireman, at Avona, Col., where she lived with her parents. She pleaded self-defence, but a jury found her guilty of involuntarily manslaughter and she served one day in jail.

Town Treasurer Arrested.

Winnipeg, March 9.—W. W. Unsworth, secretary-treasurer of the Town of Emerson, has been arrested at the instance of Mayor Wright, on the charge of appropriating $270.90 of the town's funds.

The money was paid back at the eleventh hour, when an audit of the books was made.

BURKE WILL APPEAR TO-MORROW

Truth of His Statement That He Was In Norwood Nov. 5th Investigated.

Charles Burke, the man with the baseball hand will appear to-morrow again before His Honour Judge Weller. At the last trial the prisoner was found guilty of robbery on November 5th, but on a plea that he was in Norwood on that morning and had registered there the name "Charles Bancroft," the judge allowed the sentence to stand over for investigation.

The evidence, if there is any, in this regard will be brought out to-morrow morning.

NOT MANY NOW IN THE COUNTY GAOL

Some Waiting To Go To Central—Only One Female.

At present there are only fifteen prisoners in the County gaol. This number is considerably less than a few days ago when the gray wall enclosed about 22, half a dozen of whom have since been released. Some are ready for Central Prison but that institution is filled. There are about 60 persons in Toronto Gaol waiting for admittance to Central so that there appears to be little hope for the Peterborough prisoners soon being placed in the enjoyment of the easy life of the Central.

There is only one female in the county gaol and she is billed for the Mercer.

RUN-DOWN PEOPLE OF PETERBORO' NEED VINOL

The Modern Strength Creator and Body-Builder.

Many people right here in this vicinity are all run-down and hardly able to drag about—don't know what ails them.

In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, this is caused by overwork, too close confinement or continued strain and worry.

Mr. McDermid, of McDermid & Jury, our local druggists, says: "Such people need Vinol, our cod liver preparation without oil, which contains in a highly concentrated form all of the medicinal and strength-creating elements of cod liver oil actually taken from fresh cods' livers, but from which the useless oil has been eliminated and tonic iron added."

Vinol cures conditions like this because in a natural manner it increases the appetite, tones up the digestive organs, makes rich, red blood and strengthens every organ in the body.

We ask every man, woman and child in this vicinity who is run down, tired and debilitated to try Vinol on our offer to return money if it fails. McDermid & Jury, druggists, Peterborough, Ont., also the Market Drug Store.

WEATHER GOOD FOR THE RAILWAYS

Freight Service Became Busier Yesterday On Both Lines.

Sunday saw an unusually heavy freight traffic through the city as a result of the change of the weather. The freight service has been tied up to a certain extent of late, but if the weather continues to relax the trains will recommence their former frequent runs. It will be rather heavy for a time on account of the quantity of freight that has been held back.

One of yesterday's trains was a long row of passenger cars on the C. P. R going west. Two of them were occupied by newly-arrived emigrants.

A G. T. R. mixed train, with two engines and a snow-plough arrived at the station from Port Hope shortly after 12 o'clock. The front windows of the first engine were boarded up, either from protection or because they were broken going through a drift.

REV. FATHER McCOLL DOUBLY HONOURED BEFORE DEPARTURE

Presentations by the Young Ladies Sodality of St. Peter's and by the C. M. B. A.---Two Handsome Gifts Received---Leaving Wednesday for Europe.

The members of the Young Ladies' Sodality held a meeting of unusual interest on Sunday afternoon at St. Peter's Cathedral when they gathered to the number of about one hundred and fifty, to take a temporary farewell of their spiritual adviser, Rev. W. J. McColl, who intends sailing on the 14th inst. for Naples, and to wish him bon voyage. Rev. Father McColl, who has always been most zealous in his efforts in the interests of the society, was met at the altar railing by the officers of the Sodality, and the following address was read by the secretary, Miss K. M. McGrath:

Rev. W. J. McColl,
Spiritual Adviser,
The Young Ladies' Sodality of the Blessed Virgin Mary,
Peterborough:

Reverend and Dear Father—

The young ladies of the Sodality of St. Peter's feel that they cannot allow this opportunity to pass by without expressing to you, in some slight way, at least, their sentiments of sincerest gratitude and appreciation for the friendly and unselfish interest you have always manifested towards their society, and to wish you God-speed on your proposed trip.

While we feel the madequacy of words to convey to you the sincerity of our appreciation of your good work in our interests, we beg of you to believe that we consider the success of our Sodality due largely to the stimulus of your many good words and instructions, and we trust and pray that God will see fit to spare you to St. Peter's for many, many years to come. Our feelings on this occasion are of a two-fold character — regret that we should be deprived of your valuable assistance and co-operation for several months, and gladness that your heavy duties and responsibilities are to be temporarily lightened and that you will have a chance to recuperate your health and enjoy a well-deserved rest.

We feel sure that, in your travels, whether to your own dear Land of the Heather, or to the sunny South, your parishioners will daily share in your prayers, and you may feel certain that we shall not cease to petition our Divine Maker to speedily restore your strength and vitality and to send you safely back across the seas to Canada.

We offer you this little gift as a token of our esteem and love and trusty as may find it useful; and should it be the means of bringing you any pleasure or comfort on your journey, we hope your mind will turn with kindly thoughts and remembrances towards the donors.

Signed on behalf of the Sodality of the B. V. M.,
MISS L. DAINARD,
President,
MISS K. M. M'GRATH,
Secretary.

Miss M. A. O'Connell, treasurer, then presented Father McColl with a beautiful bouquet of flowers in the centre of which were five large calla lillies, and attached to the pistil of each lily were two five-dollar gold pieces—in all, fifty dollars.

The presentation was certainly an unique and appropriate one, as the lily is an emblem of the society.

The occasion proved quite a surprise to Father McColl, who, after thanking the young ladies for their beautiful as well as substantial gift, and also for the good wishes and kind thoughts expressed in the address, said that he did not by any means consider his work in the society as burdensome, and that he thought the good work of Sister St. Edward, the directress, and the hearty co-operation of the members, were responsible to a great extent for the success of the Sodality. He spoke of the different kinds of work done by religious committees, viz.—the active and the contemplative, and he pointed out that the Sodality combined these two, and that therein lay a great deal of the strength and usefulness. He complimented the members on their faithfulness to their society and their persistence in carrying out its rules and regulations, and said that while he always looked to the young ladies of St. Peter's to maintain the standard of true Christian womanhood, he was in a special manner pleased with the members of the Sodality.

He then referred to his trip as a real pleasure, as it combined all three elements of pleasure—anticipation, realization, and retrospection. He was certainly looking forward to it with a great deal of interest; he felt sure he would thoroughly enjoy it, and that when it was over, he would look back upon it and its associations with a great deal of delight.

REV. FATHER McCOLL,
Doubly honoured before his departure for Europe on Wednesday.

By the C. M. B. A.

Among the Catholic societies of Peterborough that have remembered Rev. Father McColl on the eve of his departure for Europe is the C.M.B.A., the members of which presented him with a purse of fifty dollars. A deputation of the society waited upon Rev. Father McColl, and with the presentation the following address was read by Bro. P. M. Leahy:—

To Rev. Father McColl.

Dear Father—We are assembled here to-night for the purpose of giving expression to our appreciation of your services and the high esteem which we entertain for you as a man and a priest of God, working faithfully and nobly for our spiritual and temporal welfare.

We are proud of our priests, and we are proud of you as one of them, and our pastor, and we find words inadequate to give expression to the high esteem in which your priestly character has placed you.

Whether in the pulpit or on a public platform, a sense of security and pride seizes us that commands your attention to receive from you advice, well seasoned with unselfish thoughts. And why? Because you have acquired that rare virtue given to man to possess the luxury of doing good.

It is with regret that we learn that the duties of your office have undermined your physical forces and your health to an extent to compel you to give up work for some months.

We do hope and pray that Almighty God will bestow upon you His kindly light to choose the proper mode to waft you back to health again, and that we, again in the near future will have the pleasure and benefit of your ministration.

Kindly accept this small gift; forget the paltryness of its worth; think of the spirit in which it is given, with the hope that you will return to us with renewed strength and vigour.

Signed on behalf of the members of Branch No. 30, C.M.B.A.,
JOHN TROMBLEY,
President.
P. M. LEAHY,
Rec. Secretary.

Father McColl's Reply

The presentation was made by Bro. R. Sheehy, after which Rev. Father McColl replied in the following words:

Mr. President and Members of the C. M. B. A.—

Your visit here to-night and your handsome gift are a pleasant surprise and I assure you I appreciate your kindness and generosity. The C. M. B. A. is one of our good Catholic societies, and it is a great pleasure to possess your good will and esteem.

I am looking forward with great pleasure to my trip across the ocean, and feel confident it will make a new man of me. The years I have spent in Peterborough have been very pleasant ones, and each day only adds to the good opinion I have of you.

You assure me of your appreciation of the priests of the parish, as well as of myself.

I thank you for these kind words and realize that the progress which the parish has made is due to our united efforts, as we all work together as one man.

Parochial Mission Opened At St. John's By Rev. Heeney

Two Inspiring Addressess, "Righteousness of Temperance and of Judgment" in the Morning---"Work" in the Evening.

The Parochial Mission of St. John's Church, of which so much has been said during the past few weeks, opened yesterday morning. The mission will close a week from next Sunday and meetings will be held every day during that period. The attendance in the morning was very large and a hearty service was held. Rev. W. B. Heeney, of Barrie, was the speaker at both services and made a decided impression upon the congregation. He did not preach a regular sermon, but gave more of an informal address and at different periods of which the congregation sang several mission hymns.

He said in his opening remarks that the mission was not a breeze that was passing over the congregation, but the object was to make an everlasting impression upon them, and the effect he hoped would never pass away. He chose the words, "Of righteousness of temperance and of judgment" as a suitable text and brought forth the grand life of the brave apostle, St. Paul, as an example to his hearers. He showed how St. Paul, when taken a prisoner by the Roman soldiers, stood up alone for the religion he was preaching. Then the Roman law was the ruling force of the world, but three hundred years after the Gospel was a stronger power than the Roman law had ever been. Paul stood alone at first, but he did not stand in vain. The speaker told of having been in an office in Montreal at one time and saw a picture of the Rocky Mountains hanging on the wall. Underneath was written the words, "These shall pass away." These words were true, and not only the mountains but the whole earth would pass away. He appealed to the congregation to accept Christ as their master to-day, and go out into the world and stand for His name. He also brought forwards very strongly the necessity of a man purifying his life. In New York the gambling that existed had a strong effect on the stock markets of the world and it lay with each individual soul to stop this evil. To-day there were people living who shunned the idea of a last judgment; such people were existing in a fool's paradise. The day had passed when ministers of the Gospel preached hell fire and they were now preaching the judgment. He pointed out how many people kept putting off religion until a more convenient season, but he mentioned several instances where this more convenient season never came.

In concluding his remarks he made once more a strong appeal to the congregation to confess Christ as their Saviour and start life anew.

WORK FOR OTHERS IS NECESSARY IN ORDER TO BE A CHRISTIAN

At the evening service the seating accommodation was taxed to its utmost and the enthusiastic manner in which the large congregation entered into the service augers well for the spiritual success of the Mission being held there. After the regular Evensong of the Anglican church, Rev. W. B. Heeney, rector of Barrie, took charge and conducted the Mission service. The entire congregation remained and joined heartily in the singing of the familiar mission hymns. Rev. Mr. Heeney is an interesting and thoughtful speaker and in his discourse last night made a strong appeal to those present to lead a Christian life and to take up some active work for Christ. He based his remarks on the words found in the 8th verse of the 21st chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, "Son, to-day go work in my vineyard." Prefacing his sermon, Mr. Heeney urged upon the people the necessity of each one co-operating in the work of the Mission in order that it might be a success. God depended on each one to do his part, and inasmuch as it lay within their power, they were expected to do something in uplifting men to Christ.

The preacher began his address by referring to the fact that at the present time, many churches were weak and not carrying on the work laid down for them. The reason of this, he said, was because the members did not consecrate their lives to Christ, and were disobedient to the command, "Son, to-day go work in my vineyard." "What success would an army have if half her men were asleep?" asked the speaker. The same applies to the Christian church. "The day, you step out to do something for Christ, that day you will be blessed in your church work, in your business and in your home life." To the unbelievers the reverend gentlemen urged them to accept Christ as the only true Saviour. Every man and woman should be enlisted in God's army, to work for Him and carry out His blessed command.

"What have we been doing with the life entrusted to each one of us?" asked the speaker. "Most of us have lived for selfishness and the worldly pleasures that surround us," he said, "and forget that each one must account for his or her life."

The preacher was glad that the Church of England was obeying the command by going out into the slums of the city and preaching the Gospel to those that were in spiritual darkness. If Christian people accept Christ, then they should serve Him. Serving Christ is serving one's fellowmen and giving out to them the Gospel.

The motive of this blessed service is love. Then, to parents, the speaker impressed upon them the necessity of training their children in spiritual things and exercise a loving influence. "Many men and women find time for playing bridge and attending the club, but not to properly teach their own families," said the preacher.

In conclusion, the reverend gentleman pointed out the joy of the service of Christ and he also addressed a word of warning to those who are idle and who are living for the pleasures of the world alone. "Do not let your life end in the mere quest for pleasure, but rather find the joy of knowing that you belong to Christ." Prayer and concluding remarks.

From Annual Report Of The Inspector—Figures That Will Prove Interesting.

THE HOUSE OF REFUGE

The 38th annual report of the Ontario Inspector of Hospitals contains a fine view of Nicholls Hospital of this city. The picture shows a building that compares favourably with those of hospitals in other cities. During the year ending Sept. 30th, 1907, there were 533 patients admitted. There were 14 births in the hospital during the same year; 569 patients were under treatment, 513 discharged and 33 deaths. Twenty-three patients remained under treatment on September 30th, 1907.

Members Of Fourth Estate Visit The Guelph College; "The Blind Mare" Attracts Press Association Delighted With The Trip—The College Still Grows—Honesty Of The Press.

THE MACDONALD INSTITUTE

Special Staff Correspondence.

Guelph, March 7. — "The Blind Mare" was one, though possibly not the chief attraction, for the members of the Canadian Press Association who visited the Ontario Agricultural College to-day. This now famous animal, with her mate, comprise, according to the statement of Professor Day, head of the live stock department, the best team of heavy draught horses in Ontario, despite the fact that one has lost the sight of one eye.

It was the opinion of members of the college staff that seldom, if ever, had a body of men and women visited the institution and took such an intelligent interest in the work being done, as the members of the Press Association. Comparison was made of the attitude of the visitors to-day and that paid recently by the members of the Ontario Legislature, and this comparison was very favourable to the newspaper men, who, singularly, were much more interested and apparently more intelligent visitors than the men who legislate for the province. Another somewhat amusing comparison was made, too.

Fourth Estate Honest

Following the visit of the members of Parliament the discovery was made that the ripe tomatoes growing under glass in the building devoted to horticulture had disappeared, whereas to-day they were unmolested.

Two years ago the Canadian newspaper men visited the college and were so thoroughly interested in the work being done there that they very gladly accepted the invitation of President Creelman to pay another visit and learn more fully than they were able to do in one day, of the great work which the institution is doing in teaching farmers' sons and daughters the economics of agriculture and of the home, since domestic science is one of the most important branches of study carried on at the college.

The old belief that farmers need no special training for their work is being rapidly displaced by the realization that there are more opportunities for the agriculturist who is educated in the science of farming than there are in any other branch of industrial activity.

The Famous Holstein

The Holstein cow in the dairy herd at the college, which last year gave 20,778 pounds of milk or 913 pounds of butter, and seen by the visitors today was an evidence of what may be accomplished by intelligent breeding and feeding. When it is said that the average annual yield of the cows of Ontario in milk is less than 3,000 pounds, some idea of the possibilities in this branch alone may be gained. There are possibilities equally as great in all the branches of this great industry.

Evidence of the growth of the college is not lacking. When the first winter term was opened in January, 1875, there were 22 pupils in attendance, a report stating that this was "all that could be crowded in." In January, 1908, the thirty-fourth winter term was begun with 837 students, and President Creelman believes that the number this year will reach 1,200, and constitute a record. That the thoroughness of the training given is appreciated beyond the bounds of this province is proven by the fact that there are students in attendance not only from all parts of the Dominion, but from the United States, the West Indies and even from the Argentine Republic.

Practical demonstrations, too, of the superiority of the college is furnished by the continued success of the judging team, which visited the Chicago Live Stock Show, and for three years in succession won the famous bronze bull, in competition the last time with seven teams, representing different agricultural colleges in the United States, and the trophy now becomes the absolute property of the Guelph College.

To MacDonald Institute

Naturally one of the most interesting features of the day's programme was the visit to to Macdonald Institute, where the work done by the 150 young women students was seen, and in the case of the luncheon, proven and pronounced perfect.

In a province where more than 90 per cent. of the women do their own work, as is the case in Ontario, the importance and value of instruction in domestic science can be appreciated, and it is certain that excellent results, represented by capable housewives, graduates of the institute, are being accomplished. Manual training and nature study also form part of the curriculum of the Macdonald Institute.

A special train over the C. P. R., and in charge of C. B. Foster and George Ham, carried the newspaper men and their wives to the Royal City from Toronto, where the fiftieth annual meeting of the association was held.

Mr. Delaney, who has been most popular with his fellow-employees, was presented with a set of briar pipes in a leather case by Mr. N. N. Greenhalgh on behalf of the toolmakers. Music was provided by the opera house orchestra, and a pleasant afternoon was spent in songs and music. FUNERAL OF THE LATE JAMES LOUIS HUGHES

Last Tribute of Respect to One of Our Most Greatly Respected Citizens.

The funeral of the late J. L. Hughes took place from the family residence, 304 Park street, on Saturday afternoon, and the large attendance was a tribute to the high respect and esteem in which the deceased gentleman was held. At 2.30 o'clock religious service was conducted by Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, where the late Mr. Hughes had been a worshipper and an office-bearer since the establishment of the church. The service consisted of prayer, the singing of the hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," followed by an address by Mr. Manning, in which he spoke of the lessons to be learned from the life of Mr. Hughes, which had been fruitfully spent in preparation for the great change which, in his case, meant a translation to the life elysian. To the address succeeded the singing of Tophady's immortal hymn, "Rock of Ages," after which Miss Clara Bolleghem sang "Face to Face." The casket, hidden by beautiful floral tributes, one of which, a wreath, was sent by the late Mr. Hughes' colleagues of the Quarterly Board of the church, and another a floral piece from the Sunday school, was borne by Messrs. J. T. Stenson, George Webber, Joe Foster, W. Henderson, and H. E. Harding. The out-of-town relatives present were Mr. Arch. C. Hughes of Picton, brother; Mrs. Allis, Rochester, sister; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grant, Toronto, and Mr. E. Howard Hughes of Montreal. Mrs. W. T. Spencer, of Marshall, Texas, arrived in the city on Saturday night, of course, too late for the funeral.

OTONABEE CASE MERELY AN ACCIDENT

Mr. Cooney Explains How He Was Injured Last Week.

Mr. James Cooney of Otonabee called at the Examiner office on Saturday and stated that the paragraph which had appeared in the Examiner earlier in the week rather exaggerated the condition of the accident which he met wit hat his home on Monday morning. He says the facts are that early in the morning after the fire had been kindled, Mrs. Cooney was preparing breakfast and he was getting ready to go to the barn, when a friendly scuffle took place, in which his wife happened to have a knife in her hand, and the knife, of course, gave him a severe cut. It was unintentional on the part of his wife—a mere accident. The wound, of course, bled freely, and a doctor was sent for and the wound was dressed, but there was nothing of a serious character to warrant the circulation of the rumour that he had been stabbed by his wife. Mr. Cooney feels that the accident, which happened in the best of humour, has led people to believe it was done intentionally, when it was only an accident.

The deep snow of Monday morning delayed the doctor a considerable time in getting to his residence, and he bled freely from the wound, but outside of the fact that he had a severe accidental cut with a sharp knife, nothing serious occurred.

PASSING OF A HEROIC PHILADELPHIAN

Death Thomas B. Wanamaker—The Work of a Crusade and His Newspaper.

The following tribute to the memory of the late Thomas B. Wanamaker, of Philadelphia is well worthy of perusal. The Rev. Robt. Pogue, pastor of St. Paul's Church, this city, was an intimate friend of deceased:—

Thomas B. Wanamaker

(From Philadelphia North American)

Yesterday, in the early morning, just before the dawn, at Paris, France, Thomas B. Wanamaker, the proprietor of this journal, died. In this hour of sorrow, when family and friends are muffled in the mantle of grief, it is fitting that the public should be told of the loss it has suffered in the untimely ending of a noble life. Until now the interdict of his shrinking and manly diffidence has sealed every avenue of utterance that might have proclaimed his merits. The death that released his soul has broken the bar of silence.

Thomas B Wanamaker's early life differed little from the usual life of the average boy in the same station. From the schools of his native city he went to the University of Princeton, and, after graduation, entered the business establishment of his father, John Wanamaker. Here, under the tutelage of the first merchant of the world, the son developed business genius of the highest order and soon reaped the fruitage of industry and skill in an honourable fortune.

Immersed in trade, absorbed in the management of large financial affairs, expanding the sources of his gain, studious of economy and thrift, his life seemed destined to begin and end in successful accomplishment in the domain of personal profit and earthly getting—neither blameworthy nor praiseworthy.

From his early manhood he was a patient sufferer from a cruel recurrent illness, and this, joined to a natural shyness, caused him to shrink from social pleasures and amenities, except among a few chosen friends. In the consequent enforced solitariness he formed his mind by contemplation to philosophic calmness, fortitude, courage and tenacity of purpose.

Had Mr. Wanamaker's life ended here, here, too, might these lines have ended, with whatever of perfunctory praise is due to a life of successful private efforts and worth. But a Providence whose inscrutable designs we cannot fathom had destined this silent, retiring, modest man to do a great work for civic truth and social and political regeneration that we believe to be unparalleled in the history of journalism.

Nine years ago the state of Pennsylvania and the city of Philadelphia were sunk in political degradation so low and so shameful that their names were a byword and a hissing in the nation. One malignant, masterful mind, adept in the craft of venality, held the state in his sordid hand. Every avenue of public service paid tribute to his greed, was debauched by his retainers and reeked with his morals and his methods. The manhood of the state seemed smitten into lethargy by fear, or corrupted into acquiescence. A universal blight had deadened the political conscience of Pennsylvania. Quay was the over-lord of an enslaved commonwealth.

In Philadelphia the worst evils of this political depravity were manifested in the most repulsive form. Ashbridge was Mayor. The city government was joined in a league, offensive and defensive, with the most odious vice. City Hall was a clearing house for the plunder of all kinds of crime, and crime flaunted itself in public office and in the public streets, preyed upon the youth of both sexes, and even used the schoolhouses as a gambling mart, with the school children as victims.

The merchants of the city were terrorized into silence, the banks and capitalists were the factors and beneficiaries of the public plunderers, the corporations were their tools and supporters, and the public press, with a few honourable exceptions, was either subsidized or too cowardly to utter a word of censure or deprecation.

At this juncture Thomas B. Wanamaker bought the North American, then an obscure newspaper with a circulation of 5,000 copies, and dedicated it to a relentless warfare against the organized crime that, in the name of the Republican party, dominated the state and city.

The flag of political regeneration that he then ran to the top of this paper has never been lowered until this day, when it floats at half-mast for his doubly sad death.

Enfeebled with illness, burdened with great business cares, yearning for that rest that science admonished him was the indispensable condition of any considerable prolongation of life, he nevertheless took up the sword of the crusader in a holy war for the deliverance of his native community and native city.

Liberalists, philanthropists, teachers, stop and consider this man at this epoch in his life. Every consideration of self-interest warned him threateningly against the step he was taking. Every emotion of his nature was averse to it. His vast business interests were instantly made the subject of attack and reprisal by the most potent and unscrupulous officials and financial forces in the state. His ample fortunes was in jeopardy from the day the first editorial attack on public corruption appeared in this paper. Malice and slander at once sharpened their weapons not only for himself, but for those he held most dear.

Loving friends who knew by how slight a thread his valuable life was suspended admonished and entreated him to desist from the conflict. The pain-tortured body and weakened mind too, beckoned him away. Personal ambition he had none. Publicity was as distasteful to him as light to the eyes of the sick. Yet, notwithstanding all these warnings, dangers, risks, sacrifices, a noble heroism transformed his soul and he placed fortune, ease, comfort, happiness and life at the service of the state.

How well he kept the faith, how valiantly he fought the good fight of justice, truth, and political rectitude, the people of the state and nation know.

The ordeal was hard and bitter, more hard and more bitter than he or any one had anticipated. The power of money, patronage, partisanship, ignorance, cupidity and selfishness, concentrated in an almost perfect political organization and directed by consummate craft, seemed at times omnipotent and invulnerable against the assaults of a single newspaper, supported by a single devoted man.

For long the contest seemed hopeless, but little by little judgment was effected in the public mind and conscience. Staying at no draft upon his time, energy or fortune, he equipped this journal with the most improved devices of scientific and mechanical skill necessary for the production of a great modern newspaper. He brought to its service the best journalistic talent the country commanded. With these auxiliaries, marshalled by his superb business ability, he made unceasing war on iniquity in high places.

Investigation followed investigation; exposure followed exposure; prosecution followed prosecution, sometimes convictions followed; sometimes justice failed or was betrayed by her sworn ministers. But always the war went on.

At last the state and city arose in menacing revolt. The public conscience, enlightened and quickened, responded to the promptings of duty, and the corrupt political organization was routed and broken.

The story of these achievements in their detail cannot be rehearsed here, but it is known the country over. Considering the power and skill of the organized forces of evil, and the long solitary position of this newspaper in the attack, the results accomplished in five years are unprecedented in journalistic history.

These results are written in the statute-law of the state, they appear in the honest executive administration now at Harrisburg, in the criminal trial now progressing at the Capitol, in the awakened civic spirit from Lake Erie to the Delaware, in the earnest militant zeal for reform voiced in the pulpit, on platform and in the press, and in the hypocritical deference to public sentiment shown at times by the cowed and chastened remnants of the political organization.

But at what a cost these results were won! Yonder in his coffin on the banks of the Seine lies the quiet, modest, devoted man, whose valiant soul wrought this great and lasting public good.

This journal as at once his monument and his legacy to his generation. He leaves it clear and strong in its high mission, the child of his brain and his heart. And neither shall the grave close the measure of his public usefulness. Following still in the path he blazed for it, this journal will perpetuate his work and make his name enduring.

Who hath wrought better than he, and who hath served the people more?

THE OPEN AIR SERVICES BEGUN

Opened on Saturday Night by Rev Canon Davidson.

The first open air mission service conducted by the members of St. John's church was held on Saturday night opposite the post office on Hunter street. Rev. Canon Davidson opened the meeting and delivered an inspiring address which was followed by a few hymns. The rector was supported by a large number of the men of the church and the service was a hearty one. Another service was held later on in the evening at the corner of George and Simcoe.

Last night another open air service was held before the regular service in the church and was conducted by several members of the congregation. The meetings are proving very successful and they will be continued during the two weeks of the mission.

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" CURED HIM

Christopher D. Graham is a well known citizen of Ottawa—formerly in the City Hall and largely instrumental in forming the Ottawa Hunt Club. Mr. Graham's voluntary testimonial as to the great benefit he received from taking "Fruit-a-tives" will carry conviction.

Ottawa, Ont. Nov. 26th, 1907.

Dear Sirs:—

I have been a sufferer from Rheumatism for a long time — pains in my shoulder and joints practically all the time. I tried various treatments without benefit and then I was recommended by a friend to try "Fruit-a-tives." I took several boxes of the tablets and now, for a long time, I have been entirely free from all rheumatism and rheumatic pains.

I wish to state, also, that I suffered from haemorrhoids, or piles, for years, I used all kinds of ointments and treatment and nothing did me any good, but after taking "Fruit-a-tives" for my rheumatism I am entirely cured of these dreadful piles. (Sgd) C. D. GRAHAM. 149

SENDS HER APOLOGY TO JAPAN

China Offers Reparation For Insulting Jap Flag.

ULTIMATUM FROM JAPAN

Seizure of Steamer Tatsu Maru May Lead to Serious Trouble—Immediate Release of the Vessel Demanded —Officials Responsible to Be Punished — Ships Being Fitted Out In Readiness.

London, March 9.—The statement was made at the Japanese embassy here yesterday that China has expressed deep regret for hauling down the Japanese flag on the Tatsu Maru, and has promised to punish the officials responsible for this act. It was further stated that China had promised to reply later concerning the seizure of arms.

Tokio, March 9.—The difficulty which seemed about to embroil Japan and China arose over the seizure by Chinese warships of a Japanese mercantile steamer—the Tatsu Maru—in Chinese waters, just outside Macao harbor and escorting her to Canton on the charge that she engaged in an attempt to smuggle arms and ammunition into China. To add to the irritation, the Chinese commander hauled down the Japanese flag and ran up the Chinese dragon ensign in its stead.

The Japanese Foreign Office lodged a strong protest with the Chinese Foreign Board demanding the immediate release of the Tatsu Maru, the punishment of the officials responsible for her seizure, and the payment of a full indemnity. Action was demanded within a "reasonable time." In case of default or postponement it was stated that Japan would "take immediate action." Quite irrespective of the merits of the case, the Japanese Minister maintained that the seizing of the steamer and the hauling down of the Japanese flag was an insult to Japan, even though it was the outcome of a misunderstanding. He therefore insisted on an apology and reparation, and refused to accept mediation.

There has been no indication of the period of time that Japan will await China's reply. The Associated Press is informed at the Japanese Foreign Office that it is presumed that Yuan Shi Kai will require three or perhaps four days for consultation with the Viceroy of Canton in the consideration of the entire affair. Consequently a decision may be reached before March 10 or 11.

What action Japan will take in the event that she decides immediately to take "independent action" is a matter of speculation in diplomatic circles in Tokio. It is believed that it is entirely improbable that Japan will make an effort to re-take the Tatsu or send warships to Canton waters. While war is regarded as most improbable, the naval base at Sasebo is extremely active.

It is announced that a part of the first squadron will leave port March 14. The armored cruiser Chiyoda suddenly left port Saturday night. Coaling is proceeding rapidly, and a number of torpedo-boat destroyers have already coaled. Enormous supplies in storage at Sasebo are being hurried aboard the vessels.

Burns for Chancellor.

London, March 9.—The high place that John Burns, president of the Local Government Board, has assumed in the estimation of the public, is illustrated by the fact that The Spectator, a most conservative weekly newspaper, seriously suggests him for the highest post in the Cabinet, namely, the Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the event of Mr. Asquith becoming premier, and finding it necessary to resign the chancellorship.

Decrease In Immigration.

London, March 9.—(C. A. P.)—Col. Lamb of the Salvation Army says a striking change was apparent this year compared with 12 months ago in respect to the popular rush to Canada. While applicants for facilities for emigration were still very numerous, few had the daring to go out on speculation. A second contingent will be sent to British Columbia in May.

Steps Out on Thursday.

Fredericton, March 9.—The local Government meets here on Tuesday. It is reported that Premier Robinson will place the resignation of his administration in the hands of the governor on the following Thursday.

AN EATING ULCER.

Ulcers are a skin disease, and are more or less directly occasioned by a bad state of the blood, which produces acrid humors and corrupts the secretions.

No one can expect to have a skin free from disease when the blood is in a disordered condition and the stomach and bowels acting feebly in consequence.

Through its wonderful cleansing, purifying powers on the blood, and its renovating action on the entire system, Burdock Blood Bitters has made thousands of cures of different skin diseases during the past thirty years it has been on the market.

Mrs. Joseph Robinson, Hallerton, Que., writes: "I had an eating ulcer on my ankle. I took two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters and it worked like a charm, cleaning out all the impurities from my system and improving my appetite. While taking the B.B.B. internally I used it externally to cleanse the sore, and it helped a lot."

MAKE OBJECTIONS TO THE TREATY

United States Irishmen Enter Protest Against Arbitration.

QUOTE SIR WILFRID LAURIER

Are Afraid Great Britain Might Join With Japan In the Event of War—Ambassador Bryce's Plan Likely to be Upset—Send Petitions to State Department, Washington —Scope as Yet Unknown.

Washington, March 9.—Irish opposition, which, it is asserted, defeated the arbitration treaty negotiated by United States Secretary of State Olney and Lord Pauncefote twelve years ago, now menaces the new arbitration treaty which has been evolved by Secretary Root and British Ambassador Bryce.

Already the United States state department has been deluged with remonstrances and protests from Irish patriotic organizations all directed against the new convention.

Moreover, this opposition has developed before anything specific as to the nature and scope of the new treaty has been made than officially.

There has been nothing more than a reference to the subject in the British Parliament and some statements in explanation based upon that declaration in American newspapers. So the protestants are in the singular position of directing their fire without knowledge that there is any enemy, for it may be that the new convention is drawn upon lines that free it from the objection made to the Olney-Pauncefote convention. In that case, it was alleged that America stood in danger of losing territory as the result of an adverse arbitration.

In the present instance, while the rule of the state department prevents the publication of any details, it is the understanding of the officials of the state department that the same objection would not be, for the limitations are so narrow that there is no danger that questions involving the integrity of territory can ever be drawn into arbitration against the will of the United States Government.

The protests so far received at the state department also show a lack of understanding of the nature of the treaty which binds Great Britain and Japan. In the protests fear is expressed that America will find herself confronted by a combined British and Japanese fleet in the event of any serious issue between the United States and Japan. Indeed, some of the petitions quote from a speech by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, the Canadian Premier, Jan. 28 last, a prophecy that such a combined fleet might some day to expected to drop anchor in Vancouver harbor.

But as the British-Japanese compact is understood at the American state department, there is no obligation whatever upon Great Britain to support her ally with arms except in the remote contingency that a third nation should undertake to possess itself of Japanese territory.

Therefore the officials are quite convinced that the opposition to renewing the treaty is based upon a wrong conception of conditions.

But they are nevertheless apprehensive that through ignorance the ratification of the treaty may be jeopardized.

ROBINSON COMMITTED.

Shooting of Fleeing Housebreaker at Granby—Judge's Comments.

Granby, Que., March 9.—Thomas Robinson, accused of firing the fatal shot that killed the unknown man on Feb. 26, at Granby, came before Judge Mulvena of Sherbrooke Saturday morning. Robinson said he had no intention to kill or injure, but was running with the rifle to make the man surrender.

Judge Mulvena committed him for trial, saying:

"Had you shot this man when he was threatening you would have been in a different position, but you were over 100 yards away, and he was fleeing and was shot in the back. The law gives you power to stop a man committing a felony by any reasonable and less violent means if it is not liable to cause death or grievous harm. Under the circumstances, although intentions show you were not trying to kill, it may be a culpable offence. I can not do otherwise than hold you responsible. A sympathetic jury may acquit you."

He was allowed bail.

Ship Broke In Two.

San Francisco, March 9.—The schooner Czarina, which arrived yesterday from Pirate Cove, Alaska, brought news that the schooner John ..., which sailed from San Francisco Nov. 23, for Bear Harbor, Alaska, was driven ashore during a gale Jan. 8, at Ivaterck Peninsula, Unimak Island, and was broken in two.

Ten of the crew died of exposure, and it is believed that 25 survivors are still on the peninsula. Two of the crew put out in a dory for assistance, and arrived at Sandpoint, after six days' hardships. The lightkeeper at the island pressed the schooner Martha into service and despatched it to the scene of the wreck.

Up to the time the Czarina sailed the Martha had not returned.

NINE MEN WERE FOUND GUILTY

"Hatchet Men" Condemned For Murder at Boston.

WAS LONG-STANDING FEUD

Wealthy and Influential Celestial Convicted of Causing Four of His Countrymen to be Killed — Revolvers Freely Used In Public —One Man Dies In His Cell —Rival Societies at Work.

Boston, March 9.—Warry Charles, one of the wealthiest and most influential Chinamen of Boston, and eight of his countrymen, claimed to be notorious "hatchet men," were found guilty by a jury in the Superior Criminal Court late Saturday of murder in the first degree, on four counts alleging the killing of four Chinamen in Boston Aug. 2 of last year. A tenth defendant, Yee Watt, who had also been on trial on the same charge, died suddenly in his cell last Tuesday, while the trial was in progress.

In each case Warry Charles was accused of being an accessory before the fact, in that he "counselled, hired and commanded others to commit crimes." The cases had been on trial for 33 days.

The murders for which the nine Chinamen were found guilty grew out of a long-standing feud between the Hip Sing Tong and the On Leong Tong, rival Chinese societies.

Early in the evening of Aug. 2, 1907, a number of strange Chinamen suddenly appeared in Oxford Place, in the heart of the Chinese quarter of Boston, and at a given signal, which was the discharge of a fire cracker lighted by a cigar, one of the strange Chinamen was smoking, they immediately began firing from revolvers upon scores of Chinese merchants and laundrymen who were in the fear of the places of business lazily lolling about after a hard day's work. Over 40 shots were fired and when the police appeared they found three Chinamen dead in the alley and a dozen others seriously wounded, one of whom died.

Shoy Tong, one of the principal witnesses for the state, testified that Warry Charles, a rich and influential Americanized Chinaman of this city, and president of the Hip Sing Tong, had instigated the killing. In his testimony Tong said:

"Charles said that we would have to do some killing and make the Chinese business men so afraid that all of them would join our society."

Charles is also alleged to have said: "We were getting to be dead ones and must kill someone."

Tong testified further that Charles proposed sending to New York, Philadelphia and Chicago for "hatchet men," who were unknown, to do the killing, as they would be better able to escape.

Student Cuts His Throat.

Winnipeg, March 9.—The body of young J. S. McIntosh, an agricultural college student, who mysteriously disappeared on Wednesday, was found Saturday in an unoccupied room on the top floor of the college by two brother students, who were in the room by accident.

The corpse was lying partially in an oldclothes closet and death had apparently resulted many hours previous, by the cutting of his throat with a razor.

The tragedy is a sad sequel to a boyish college prank, in which some mild hazing was indulged in. For his share McIntosh was suspended, though he did not appear to take the affair very seriously.

He was clever, industrious and with no bad habits, and in fairly good financial condition, with tuition for general court and boarding fees paid up to the end of March.

He came from Derbyshire, Eng., in 1906.

Four Die In Tunnel.

Baltimore, March 9.—Four men are dead and ten others were taken to a hospital suffering from the effects of gas which overcame them while at work in the Pennsylvania railroad tunnel. A number of others were affected, but managed to reach fresh air before being overcome.

The accumulation of gas is said to have been due to the fact that the exhaust fan depended upon to carry off the gas and smoke from trains using the tunnel was out of order and had not been working for several days.

Killed by a Train.

St. Catharines, March 9.—George Lamburn, an employe of the Kinleith Paper Mills, died at the General and Marine Hospital yesterday as the result of an accident on the Grand Trunk Railway Saturday night. It is supposed he was struck by an express train due from Toronto about 7 p.m. He was hard of hearing and had passed the station earlier in the evening on his way home, three miles westerly along the track. The body was found in the station yard in a mangled condition.

U. S. Crooks Invade West.

Winnipeg, March 9.—John King and Charles Parsons, two crooks, with a bad record south of the line, were sentenced on Saturday to three years in Stoney Mountain Penitentiary for playing a confidence game on farmers at the C.P.R. depot, by which they got $30. The city police have been busy lately rounding up American "bad men," who have been driven across the boundary by hard times.

Averted Assassination.

Venice, Ills., March 9.—By arresting an armed and apparently half crazed Austrian who was loitering near St. Mark's Cathedral Church, the police believe they frustrated an attempt on the life of Father Peter Kaenders, pastor of St. Mark's. The man, who gave his name as Peter Maffeaze, yesterday was fined for carrying a revolver, and was given two hours to leave the town.

Father Kaenders received a letter a few days ago asserting that he would be killed.

The Tuberculosis Convention
What the Governor-General Said and Didn't Say

The White Plague and its Causes can be Cured by

At the Convention for studying and checking the awful ravages of Lung Troubles in Canada, held in the Royal Alexandra Theatre, Toronto, this week, Earl Grey, Governor-General of Canada, who presided, says people do not get enough fresh air. This is undoubtedly true. Much disease is caused by bad ventilation. His Excellency forgot to say, however, that tens of thousands of people whose work is largely in the open air have throat and lung troubles, brought on by Colds, Coughs, Chills, La Grippe, Pneumonia, run-down systems and exposure. His Excellency also omitted to say that the Greatest Cure the world has ever discovered for these diseases is which has become world renowned for its marvelous cures of throat, Lung and Stomach Troubles, when all other hope has fled and physicians pronounce the cases incurable. Read the evidence of one of thousands of similar witnesses :—

DR. T. A. SLOCUM, LIMITED,—

Gentlemen,—Following an attack of typhoid fever in Toronto General Hospital, three of Toronto's best known physicians pronounced my lungs incurably and hopelessly diseased with tuberculosis. They insisted on my going to the Weston Sanitarium for Advanced Cases of Consumptives, and assured me that a few weeks or months at most would be my allotted span. While there I felt each day brought me one step lower into my grave. A friend visited me and told me of his wonderful recovery from lung trouble, through Psychine, and insisted on my trying it. I did, and felt so much better in a few days that I got up, said "Good-Bye" to the doctor in charge and walked out of the institution. I continued using Psychine for some months. I gained in flesh and strength, until to-day I am back to my regular business in connection with the C.P.R. Telegraph Service. My life I undoubtedly owe to Psychine.

I voluntarily make this statement from a sense of my obligation to you and of my duty to similarly afflicted humanity. As you do not know me and probably never before heard of me, I refer you to any of the C.P.R. Telegraph Officials, for the correctness of the above statements.

Yours in lasting obligation,
R. DAVENPORT.
Toronto, Sept. 19th, 1907.

PSYCHINE truly cures La Grippe, Coughs, Colds, Chills, Night Sweats, Pneumonia, Bronchitis, Wasting Diseases, and all run-down conditions, which are almost invariably the forerunners of Tuberculosis, and even Incipient Consumption, often when doctors and all other remedies fail. Absolute proof of this fact gladly furnished. Ask your druggist for 50c or $1.00 bottles, or write to SWEPT BY THE FLAMES.

Dominion Coal Co.'s Washer Plant Entirely Destroyed.

Glace Bay, March 9.—The Dominion Coal Co.'s big washing plant, near Morden Junction, was completely destroyed by fire yesterday.

Early in the afternoon Foreman McLeod noticed flames shooting up through the roof. It caught presumably from a spark from the chimney. Only himself and two other men were in the plant. Their efforts were of no avail and telephone calls were sent into Glace Bay.

Special trains conveyed the local brigade with apparatus to the scene. By this time the flames were practically in complete control. All that could be saved was the biquette plant, and a small part of one of the trestles leading to the Morden washing building.

The machinery at the plant is all ruined, and 800 tons of slack coal was burned, and eight coal cars on sidings were destroyed. The loss is placed at from $75,000 to $100,000, with the insurance about two-thirds of this amount. The plant employed 48 men. It will be rebuilt, but the work and the getting of machinery will occupy some months.

A previous fire did about $15,000 damage, but temporary arrangements were made a few days ago to resume washing.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 9.—Hiram Maine, 64 years of age, was arrested Saturday on a warrant sworn out by William L. Fletcher, United States postoffice inspector, charged with writing threatening letters to Speaker Joseph G. Cannon of the House of Representatives, and Congressman Jesse Overstreet of Indiana. These letters have continued at various times for nearly two years.

King Manuel Recovering.

Lisbon, March 9.—King Manuel and the Queen Mother Amelia held their first public reception at the palace Saturday. It passed off without accident.

NOT JUST AS GOOD

Did you ever inquire at a store for certain articles and get for a reply "We have something just as good"? Did it ever occur to you that "Something just as good" is something the dealer has been able to buy much cheaper than the articles you inquire for? This is true in drugs, fabrics, groceries, hardware, and in fact every line, including silver-plated ware. If you inquire for 1847 Rogers Bros.' Knives, Forks or Spoons, don't accept any bogus Rogers' stamp because your dealer tells you it's just as good.

The above trade mark has been stamped on every article of the original and genuine Rogers Bros.' goods for over 50 years. Get this and you get the best that is made.

The Western Football Men Expect To Make $2000 Clear

Secretary of Peoples Shield Committee Writes the Quaker Club —Six Visiting Teams.

MAY PLAY IN OTHER PLACES

The Peterborough Quakers are concluding arrangements for their trip to the Pacific Coast. They held a meeting Saturday night and talked over matters relating thereto, and there is now little doubt that Peterborough will be represented in Vancouver in the People's Shield games next month.

On Saturday the local secretary received a letter from Mr. Ellis of Vancouver, the honourary secretary-treasurer of the football league there, in which he expressed the hope that the Quakers would go. The committee managing the games expects to make $2,000 clear of all expenses on the tournament and this will be divided among the visiting teams.

Mr. Ellis' letter, in part, says:—"You could make enough to cover the balance of your expenses by playing games in Fort William, Winnipeg, and Calgary. Each of these cities has a large following to the soccer code. You could also play in British Columbia at Revelstoke, Vernon, and on Vancouver Island. Of course, that's up to your club to consider these matters.

The committee meets on March 7 to make final arrangements, excepting the draw. The cities wishing to compete are Toronto, Montreal, Fort William, Winnipeg and Calgary. Yours would make six outside teams and we would make up the eight by including two teams here.

Under English Football Association laws eleven men constitute a team, and if a player should get injured during a game he cannot be replaced.

Wishing to hear from you shortly.

SPLENDID ICE FOR TO-NIGHT'S GAME WITH LINDSAY BANKERS

There is much speculation over the result of to-night's game between the Lindsay Bankers' team, winners of the Lindsay Town League, and the Strathconas, champions of the local City League. The Lindsay aggregation will be the strongest that has been seen here this season and they expect a victory over the red and white team. Keale of the Midgets is a team in himself and he will be on hand to-night with the money men who have, in addition to the clever point man, a very fast forward line. The team includes several others of the Lindsay intermediates and it will be seen that the Straths will have most formidable adversaries.

Ernie Ford will referee the game which is billed for 8.15 sharp. The High Commissioners will line up as follows:

Goal—Wilson.
Point—Barber.
Cover—Ferguson.
Rover—Dusty.
Centre—Ray.
Right—McMillan.
Left—Weatherston.

Before the big game the Bell Telephone Company's team and the Furniture Men will play a curtain-raiser beginning at 7 o'clock, and the Lindsay-Strathcona fixture will be followed by a bout between the Geo. Matthews Company and the Crescents. For the one price of admission—10 and 15 cents—all three games may be seen. It will be the last hockey night of the season, and there promises to be a big crowd of fans in attendance.

EDMONTON WON FROM SASKATOON

The Saskatoon team again went to the bad in their game with the Edmonton Seniors last night for the Scoord Shield by a score of 11 to 9. Undoubtedly the hockey offered last night was a better sample than that offered on Monday evening, but it was plainly demonstrated that the Saskatoon boys were just a little presumptuous in challenging for the trophy.

The first score was made by Saskatoon and shortly after Whitcroft evened. From then on Saskatoon seemed to have a little the better of the play till half time when the score stood 7 to 4 in their favour. Stafford was off twice in the first half. After the rest period the teams came back on the ice, Saskatoon with a Grim determination to win out and Edmonton with instructions that the farce had gone far enough. At first it looked as if Saskatoon would have a say in this. They scored two more points making the score 9 to 4. Then Manager Whitcroft gave the word and it was apparent the local boys had been making a burlesque of the game. Seven goals were scored by them in quick succession, without Saskatoon making another point, and the spectators saw how the team could play when they got started.—Edmonton Bulletin.

AUBURNS WON FROM THE CORDAGE

Defeated the Rope Men by 2 Goals to 1 On Saturday.

The Auburns still remain undefeated. On Saturday afternoon the team from the north end tied knots in the seven representing the Canadian Cordage Works by 2 goals to 1. The game was played at Brock street rink and both teams had a big bunch of rooters on hand for the occasion. The Auburns lead at half time by 1—0, and had a little better of the play all through. Although the game was an exceedingly hard fought one with honours practically even. Herb McMillan refereed satisfactorily and the teams were as follows:

Auburns		Cordage Co.

Kempt		O'Brien

Flannery		Crowe

Brumwell		Overend
	Rover

NO MEDAL CAME TO THE WINNER

News Thinks the C. A. A. U. Should Take Up Protection of Athletes.

The Toronto News of Saturday night says, it is high time that the C. A. A. U. passed some law which would protect the athletes from clubs who have a habit of holding athletic meets and then failing to produce the prizes.

In a communication received from Trainer Dick Baker, of the Peterborough Y. M. C. A. Harriers, the Sporting Editor has been asked to bring to light the fact that Ernie Wilson, the Peterborough boy who defeated Tom Coley in their matched race at the fall indoor meet of the Garrison A. C., has not as yet received the gold medal which was supposed to go to the winner.

Mr. Baker claims he has written the secretary of the C. A. A. several times, but that the latter has not even had the courtesy to answer any of their letters.

Wilson's case is on a par with many others who have not been handed over their "junk," and the whole business needs very decidedly a little attention from the Union.

Should Close on Them

It is understood that the G. A. A. are after, or have obtained, permission to hold the Canadian championships next month, but it is hard to fathom how the Union can allow these games to go on with debts in the shape of unawarded prizes still remaining from the last meet, some months ago. Surely the athletes has some redress, especially when they supplied the driving force which drew the crowd for the G. A. A., which, as it well known, has but few athletes of its own.

The unexpected happened in Toronto on Saturday night, when the All Star Eastern junior team defeated the best juniors of the west by 6 goals to 3. On paper the westerners looked good enough to swamp the east, but on the contrary they were beaten off with comparative ease. The two teams were the guests of Secretary Hewitt, of the O. H. A., at a theatre party at Shea's in the afternoon and after the game were given a supper. The teams were presented with the sweaters in which they played and the winners in addition were the recipients of handsome gold watches. Pretty lucky bunch of kids, those juniors.

To-night at 7.30 o'clock the City Hockey League will hold a meeting at the Examiner office when the question of the annual banquet will be considered. The various teams will receive their share of the gate receipts for the season.

The Strathcona A. C. will branch out in a new line of sport this spring and has entered a team in the March basketball league at the Y. M. C. A. The Straths will have Weatherston, Dobson, Loomis and other fast basketball men to choose from and should have no trouble in selecting a team that will be heard from. The league is creating considerable interest this month and a number of fast teams have entered.

A VICARIOUS EPICURE

Scheme of a Man Whose Digestive Organs Were Jaded.

GASTRONOMIC JOY BY PROXY.

He Couldn't Eat Himself, but He Scoured the Markets For Game and Dainties For Feasts For His Friends and Watched Them While They Ate.

"Awhile ago," observed the man who sees things, "I caught an old dyspeptic friend of mine doing a curious stunt. He was watching a gang of negro street pavers eating their noonday meal. He watched them with a sort of fascinated gaze. The feats they were accomplishing in the way of projecting absolutely impossible things into their systems seemed weird and almost uncanny to my dyspeptic friend. One of the negroes particularly seemed to hold the enraptured focus of my friend's vision. This negro had for his noonday feed two gigantic sandwiches, composed of thick hunks of boiled salt pork stuck between big slabs of bread. He gulped these two sandwiches in about four bites and then licked his chops in a hungry sort of way, as if they'd only about tasted like more to him, if more were to be had. It was a spellbinding spectacle in the view of my dyspeptic friend. It looked incredible, out of the question. It seemed to him such a spectacle as might be afforded by the sight of a boa constrictor feeding on a full sized and kicking donkey.

"'Enjoy that stuff?' he asked the big darky.

"Had he enjoyed it! The darky grinned and licked his chops suggestively.

"'Could you eat any more o' that junk?' he asked the big negro.

"The negro invited him to try him—dared him, in fact, to find out.

"'Get a couple more of those sandwiches,' my friend said to the black, and gave him the money to pay for them at the wagon presided over by the negro woman in charge of feeding the gang.

"The black sat down with the other two huge salt pork sandwiches and put them away with the same easy and facile unction that he had exhibited in disposing of the first two. My friend stood and watched him as he put 'em away. Then he shook his head over and over again. He couldn't understand it. It was beyond reason. His own diet consisted of a little milk with graham wafers, and the idea that any two legged creature could get away with, much less like, such a terrific mess as those four salt pork sandwiches came to—oh, it was the world upside down, that was all.

"Well, this dyspeptic friend of mine reminded me of a rather celebrated character who used to live in Washington many years ago—now long in the land of the beyond. He was a noted wit and bon vivant. But through excessive and kinkish eating and drinking—drinking particularly—he had quite ruined his stomach long before I ever met him. He had ruined it so thoroughly that he could eat nothing but frozen food—frozen consommes, frozen fruits, frozen creams, and the like. In fact, he existed almost wholly on ice cream, which was made particularly for him by a chef whom he employed for fixing up his frozen foods. Hot stuff of any sort was poison to his man with the lining of his stomach all gone, and even a morsel of the sort of natural food we ordinary mortals partake of would have put him out of the game entirely.

"So, with praiseworthy philosophy, this clever and accomplished man resigned himself to the system of getting his gastronomic fun by proxy—that is to say, he'd enjoy watching other folks eat. He'd provide the ways and means. He'd do all of the buying. I've enjoyed some rare old feasts myself at that man's Washington house. I was just one of the good eaters, with a perfect stomach, whom he had on his list.

"He'd find out the stuff that I or any of the others liked the most, and then he'd have us come to his house to partake of that stuff. There'd be terrapin, perfectly cooked game of all kinds, richly fixed vegetables, ornate and rich pastries, extraordinarily fine coffee, delightfully bouqueted wines—everything imaginable, and a good deal of the stuff, as you may imagine, to the last degree indigestible, except for folks whose internal mechanism was of cast iron and in perfect working condition.

"And so, with such a spread all set and in process of being served, this wit, 'ah in' himself, from the gastronomic point of view, would lean back and just watch us fellows, friends of his, eat and enjoy ourselves. He'd be taking little mouthfuls of his frozen stuff—a bit of frozen asparagus or frozen consomme, or the like—while we went on with the feast, and there'd be a wistful gleam in his eyes as he watched us putting away the ducks and the terrapin and the choice wines—he wasn't allowed a mouthful of wine even, I should have said. Then when it was all over there were huge cigars ready for us—he wasn't permitted to smoke anything whatever—and then we'd just lie back and blow the heavy, odoriferous rings of smoke into his face and enjoy life up to the end of the handle.

"Now, we used to wonder if this man wasn't inflicting needless torture upon himself, but it really seemed as if he was not. We used to ask him about that, in fact, and he invariably replied that, next to eating the fine truck himself, he enjoyed seeing people capable of appreciating it and enjoying eating the stuff. I always thought, though, that his curious system must have involved an immense amount of self control and character.

"Not only did he like to watch people with fine stomachs eat difficult things, but he was forever buying choice articles of food for them on the

A PERSON OBSESSED.

The Victim of an Insistent and Compulsive Habit of Action.

The word "obsession" may be defined as an insistent and compulsive thought, habit of mind or tendency to action. The person so burdened is said to be obsessed.

Few children are quite free from obsession. Some must step on stones; others must walk or avoid cracks; some must ascend the stairs with the right foot first; many must kick posts or touch objects a certain number of times. Some must count the windows, pictures and figures on the wall paper; some must bite the nails or pull the eye winkers.

Consider the nail biter. It cannot be said that he toils not, but to what end? Merely to gratify an obsession. He nibbles a little here and a little there; he frowns, elevates his elbow and inverts his finger to reach an otherwise inaccessible corner. Does he enjoy it? No, not exactly, but he would be miserable if he discontinued.

It is during childhood that we form most of the automatic habits which are to save time and thought in later life, and it is not surprising that some foolish habits creep in. As a rule, children drop these tendencies at need, just as they drop the rules assumed in play, though they are sometimes so absorbing as to cause inconvenience.

An interesting instance was that of the boy who had to touch every one wearing anything red. On one occasion his whole family lost their train because of the prevalence of his color among those waiting in the station.

The longer these tendencies are retained in adult life the greater the danger of their becoming coercive. And so far as the well established case is concerned, the obsessive act must be performed, though the business, social and political world should come to a standstill.

A child who must kick posts is father to the man who cannot eat an egg which has been boiled either more or less than four minutes, who cannot work without absolute silence, who cannot sleep if steam pipes crackle and who must straighten out all tangles of his life, past, present and future, before he can close his eyes in slumber or take a vacation.

The boy Carlyle, proud, shy, sensitive and pugnacious, was father to the man who made war upon neighbors' poultry and had a room, proof against sound, specially constructed for his literary labors. — Lippincott's Magazine.

What the Stars Bring for the Ninth Day of March.

Let wedding bells peal. Plight troth with a ring.

The planet of women will happiness bring.

The 76th day, moon 14 days old, having Venus in benefic aspect.

A favourable day for courtship. Press thy suit.

An equally fortunate day for marriage or wedding journeys, especially in the morning.

Be cautious and look well into all business matters. Study new offers and demand proof. Take heed against a plausible tongue.

Be cautious in handling sharp tools.

There is danger from "falling places" in these twenty-four hours. Use more than ordinary care in approaching or passing old walls, broken-down buildings, dams, and high fences. Walk not under overhanging banks.

In the evening the auspices are good for seeking amusement, visiting or receiving friends.

A fortunate birthdate for women. They will win social recognition in a long-desired quarter. The unmarried will be wooed.

Money and business will increase with care and prudence for the man with this birthdate. Unwise insistence on a matter of mere dignity threatens his promotion.

The girl born to-day will be fortunate in marriage. She will have a taste for art, which should be encouraged.

The boy born this day will be kind, generous and well-conducted. He will be rather successful in business,

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN IN THE AWAKENING OF MR. PIPP

Will be at the Grand next Thursday. It is all well enough to have nice things said about you and your play, says Charley Grapewin, but the compliment that counts is the one that comes from the man who is capable of giving a discriminating opinion. I know of no better class to judge of a play from the viewpoint of the audience than the commercial traveller, who sees everything all over the land, and while I don't wish to convey the idea that it is the only compliment I ever received, I want to say that the one I appreciate most I received from a commercial man who got on the train on which I was travelling on the Southern Railway. The car was crowded at the time and I made room for him beside me. After being comfortably seated he turned to me and handed me a card and said, "I want to thank you, Mr. Grapewin, twice; first, for the chance you have given me to have a ride and a chat with you, and, secondly, for going to Atlanta with your play to-night. Do you know, I've seen you in 'Pipp' eleven times, and I expect to make an even dozen to-night and enjoy the play more than I did the first time."

Do you want anything better than that?

FREE LECTURE ON ISBEN

The management of the Grand Opera House and Mr. Arthur C. Aiston, manager of Miss Jane Corcoran, who comes here in "A Doll's House," Saturday, matinee and night, March 14th, will act as hosts to the public of Peterborough, offering a lecture on "Ibsen," by the highest authority in America on the literature of the drama, entirely free of all cost.

The lecturer is Mrs Sarah E. Dunbar. She will deliver a free address on "Ibsen" at the Grand Opera House at 4 p. m., Friday, March 13th. Mrs. Dunbar knows her subject thoroughly, having discussed it from the lecture platforms in every large city in the United States.

Mr. Aiston obtained Mrs. Dunbar's services only by paying a large bonus to the lecture bureau which had her under contract to deliver a series of addresses on "The Great Ones of Literature" in a number of cities this winter. Mrs. Dunbar is to lecture on "Ibsen" in every city where "A Doll's House" is to be seen this year, the purpose being to bring closer to the public the wonderful beauty of Ibsen's works, his idealsearchings and the strength of his plays.

The J. C. Turnbull Co. will make a special showing of new spring novelties in Ready-to-wear Millinery, Untrimmed Shapes, Flowers, etc., on Tuesday and following days, and are now prepared to execute the early orders for trimmed millinery. 3d-57

THE WORTH OF A MAN THE SUBJECT

Mr. H. A. Pearson of St. Catharines Spoke at the Men's Meeting at Y. M. C. A.

Mr. H. A. Pearson, secretary of the Y.M.C.A. St. Catharines, spoke at the at the Y.M.C.A. here yesterday, to the men's meeting. There was a good attendance and much interest shown.

Mr. Pearson started with a comparison of the sun, moon and stars, as compared with the earth and chose as his text one of the verses of the Psalms of David, where after studying the heavens the Psalmist writes "What is man that Thou art mindful of him. The speaker told of the distance of the sun and stars away from the earth, and of their great power of heat and light, and of the immensity of the universe and then compared the earth as being so small and of so little significance that it would be hardly missed among the numberless planets When we think of the Master Hand that created the universe, it was no wonder the Psalmist wrote, "What is man that Thou art mindful of him." and yet we hardly realize the value of a man. Men sell themselves for very small things a few dollars worth of pleasure will buy some people, a little money will buy others; a paltry position will buy others; buy their souls or their honesty or their character and yet what would a father sell his son for, or a mother her child. Nothing would buy our love for her child, or would a father sell his son for all the world, yet men sell themselves for evil and become slaves to satan and there is no way to become free only through the Blood of Jesus Christ.

No one can be a slave in Christ and it is only by His power that any man can be made free. An appeal was made for any man who felt the bondage of sin, to go to the Saviour for power to become a free man.

Miss May Laing sang a solo with good expression and was much appreciated.

A class of young men meet to-night at 7 o'clock for the study of personal Christian work. Any Christian man invited.

THE SALVATION ARMY IN MONTREAL

Making Splendid Progress—Two Barracks Erected—Salvage Department Opened.

In a conversation with Adjutant Bloss this morning he stated to the Examiner that the Army work in Montreal was going ahead by leaps and bounds. They were at the present time erecting two new barracks', which would make the total strength of the Montreal division five corps. They had also erected a handsome "Poor Man's Metropole" on the Alexandra property at a cost of $15,000. The Metropole, the Adjutant believed, was one of the best institutions of its kind in Canada. They have also a large salvage department in connection with their work which is operated on the same charitable plan as that in Toronto.

MUCH PLEASED WITH THE CITY

Hon. Senator Ferguson is Pleased With Peterborough as Seen in His Visit.

While Hon. Senator Ferguson of Prince Edward Island has been in the city during the past week he has rather thoroughly inspected the various railways as they are laid through the city. He is deeply interested in this, and he will be able to apply what his experience here has taught him when he returns home. The chief points he investigated were the length of lines in the city proper, the number of crossings, the diamond, the crossing protection, speed of trains through the city, the relation of the street railway to the C. P. R. and G. T. R., and many other points which will be of use to him.

He was particularly pleased with the gates at Simcoe street and Charlotte street, the cabins that have been supplied for the gatemen, and the neatness and cleanness in which they are maintained. Hon. Senator Ferguson will likely depart from the city to-morrow, and is pleased with the railway and other conditions he has found in the city.

TEN YEARS' CONFINEMENT IN KINGSTON PENITENTIARY IS CHARLES BURKE'S PUNISHMENT

After a Thorough Investigation, Judge Weller, Satisfied With the Man's Guilt, Sentences Him This Morning—Large Crowd Present

WAS A BAD CHARACTER

PRISONER—Charles Burke
THE CRIME—Robbery of Purser's Store Buckhorn at Revolver Point, Nov. 5th. 1907, Between 7 p. m. and 8 p. m.
PUNISHMENT—10 Years in Kingston Penitentiary.

CHARLES BURKE,
Who To-day Received the Heavy Punishment of 10 Years in Penitentiary

After a trial that was beginning to assume characteristics of that which Harry K. Thaw endured, Chas Burke was finally disposed of this morning and was sentenced by Judge Weller to ten years in Kingston Penitentiary.

His Honour said that for some time he had been deliberating the question of adding the "cat" to the punishment which Burke would receive. The "cat," of course, is nothing more than a whipping for the prisoner, a certain number of lashes to be delivered at certain intervals during the confinement. The fact that Burke had used no violence towards Miss Purser and Miss Higgins, who were in the store at Buckhorn when he stole the money, alone saved him from the maximum punishment—imprisonment for life, with floggings.

The Summary

Burke appeared in court with a beard that has grown since his arrest until it is now of a respectable length, but only adds repulsiveness to his appearance. It is a dark red colour of an unsightly hue, but fails to hide the full, thick lips and the criminal lineaments of his face. He said a great deal this morning, but it availed him nothing. His Honour told him that he could not believe him, as it was an impossibility for him to speak the truth. Since 1891 he has had five convictions registered against him, burglary and theft being the crimes. During the past twelve years he has been in prison almost the entire time.

Was not at Norwood

Judge Weller stated that he had made thorough inquiries about the prisoner's actions and learned that Burke was not at Norwood on the morning of November 5, and that his story to that effect was utterly false. His Honour said that his first opinion had been confirmed, and that Burke was the man who stole the money from Purser's store, and in doing so threatened the occupants with a revolver.

His Honour felt that Burke was past reformation, and that if he were allowed to go free he would return to his crimes and criminal companions to-morrow. Burke said many things similar to those which procured for him a delay at his previous trial, but Judge Weller was done with him and paid no heed to his wandering statements.

The Sentence

In conclusion the judge finished with the case by delivering sentence.

"Charles Burke, the sentence of the court upon you is that you be imprisoned in the Kingston Penitentiary for ten years."

"Thank you," was Burke's only response as he swetted his lips. He maintained his self-control and walked quickly from the room between his guards.

Hotelkeepers Fined For Not Providing The Supper

Act Governing The Offence—Cost Them Each $22.88 For Their Neglect.

THE KITCHEN FIRE WAS OUT

The Fenelon Falls hotelkeepers who refused to provide supper for some Coboconk hockey boys on Jan. 23rd, have been fined. It will be remembered that on that date they drove to Fenelon Falls and put up at Twomey's hotel in that village. At about 7.330 p.m. two players named Ham and Hall respectively asked the proprietor for supper. The latter would neither give them a hot nor cold meal, claiming that the kitchenf ire was out and his servants out or occupied. The young men then went to Aldou's hotel on a similar errand with the same result. Informations were sworn out under R.S.O., 1897, C. 245, S. 75, which says:

"Every tavern keeper failing or refusing either personally or through any one acting on his behalf, except for some valid reason, to supply lodging, meals, or accommodation to travellers, shall for such offence be liable on conviction, to forfeit and pay any sum not exceeding $20."

The case was tried before Police Magistrate Moon, of Lindsay. His Worship, after hearing the evidence, fined the hotelmen $5 each with $17.88 costs. Had it not been that the license inspector of the district testified to the excellent manner in which both hotels had otherwise been conducted, the penalties would have been heavier.

FORMER DOURO MAN RECEIVES NOTICE FROM THE ANARCHISTS

According to newspaper reports Mr. J D O'Brien, a member of the police force in Chicago and formerly of Douro township, is marked by the band of anarchists who attempted the life of the Chief of Police recently. Mr. O'Brien was in Peterborough visiting a couple of summers ago and is well known throughout the city. He is a cousin of Mr. M J O'Brien, Separate School Inspector.

The newspapers state that he has received notice by the anarchists that his turn is coming.

It will be remembered by some how in 1886 his brother met death in Chicago in the famous Haymarket riot.

GIRL'S EYE WAS INJURED BY EXPLOSION IN CHEMICAL ROOM

The chemical labratory of the Peterborough Collegiate Institute was yesterday afternoon violently disturbed by a big explosion which for a time spread consternation among the boys and girls at work. Explosions usually happen without much warning and the one at the labratory yesterday was no exception to the rule.

One of the boys was using some mixture the exact ingredients of which have not been learned and evidently made some mistake.

A portion of the contents of the compound dropped into the eye of one of the girls and caused her severe pain. It is understood that some of the dresses of the girls were damaged also. The teacher was absent just at the time of the explosion.

Pogue, W Beattie, D W Currie, J A G Stirling, D A McKenzie, H A Abraham, A S Burns, Elders; Rev. A McNaughton, Messrs. W Cook, R Nicholl, John Smyth, J McIntosh, W Fowler, D Spears, and J O Shook. Rev. Messrs. Brokenshire, Webb and Pearson were present and made a request to sit with the Presbytery, which was granted.

The meeting was opened with a hymn, and prayer was offered by the moderator, Rev. J F McFarlane, followed by the reading of a special passage of the Bible.

When the meeting was opened Rev. J B Wilson of Winnipeg was nominated as professor on church history, and practical theology at the Presbyterian College Halifax.

Rev. J F McFarlane presented the report on the settlement of vacancies, and Rev. Mr Skene spoke on behalf of the increase of stipends to $900 per annum for augmented churches, but remit from the General Assembly. He said it was pleasing to note that the congregations of Omemee, Colborne, Grafton and Springville had reached the minimum of $900. Rev Mr. Skene also asked a grant of $100 for the Rice Lake congregation.

The records for Norwood, Warsaw, and St. Paul's, Peterborough, were duly examined. The report of Mill street church, Port Hope, regarding congregational matters was presented and explained by Rev. J McClellan to the satisfaction of all. The report regarding Stewart's Settlement came before the meeting, and a deputation from the congregation asked that the services of Rev. Mr McKenzie be continued for six months according to the arrangements agreed to. A communication from Rev. Mr. Duncan of Colborne expressing his thanks to the Presbytery was acknowledged.

The meeting adjourned till 1.30 o'clock.

ABSURD STATEMENTS.

At the banquet given the Hon. Mr. Whitney by his friends and supporters a few days ago, that gentleman, of course, made a speech, in the course of which he stated—

"In three years we have passed more substantial legislation than had been passed by the party now in Opposition—the Liberal party in the thirty years it had held the reins of power. From the day that Sir Oliver Mowat left the Legislature no beneficial or constructive legislation had been passed."

Hon. Mr. Whitney's extraordinary and unfounded statements may have been a mere flourish of oratorical exaggeration, such as he is given to, or his memory may have been under the influence of a powerful partizan sedative.

It needs very little effort of thought to suggest emphatic contradiction to his extraordinary statement. Its absurdity would be abundantly shown if Mr. Whitney would candidly answer a few questions like these:

Under which Government was Niagara Falls power developed, and which Government is taking a course that threatens to neutralize the benefits of this development?

What Government was it that developed the pulp industry as it exists to-day at Sturgeon Falls and the Canadian Soo?

What Government was it that procured the manufacture of saw logs in Ontario, and enacted that no pine timber nor pulpwood should be permitted to leave the province in an unmanufactured condition?

What Government was it that laid the foundation of the immense industry now centred at the Canadian Soo, the impetus to the first steel rail mills in Canada?

What Government was it that came to the rescue of these industries and prevented the steel industry of Canada from falling into the grip of the United States Steel Trust?

What Government had in doing this to fight against practical agents of this same steel trust, then members of the Conservative Opposition now represented in the Conservative Cabinet?

What Government was it that first showed its faith in New Ontario, caused it to be explored and revealed its tremendous agricultural, mineral and other resources?

What Government was it conceived and built the first Government-owned railway in Canada, as a development railway—whose construction has resulted in the discovery of the greatest silver and copper deposits on the continent—whose operation has led to a mining (silver) output last year of over six million Loons?

What Government was it that established, in the face of Conservative opposition, the fruitful sources of revenue that bring to the Provincial coffers about two millions a year?

What Government was it that established a system of forest reserves, covering two and a half million of acres, established a bureau of forestry, and made forestry a practical subject of Government attention?

What Government was it reorganised the public institutions of the province, established an institute for epileptics, deaf with girls' and boys' refuges?

What Government was it made a practical beginning of law reform, which the present Government has ignored, if it has not definitely shelved?

Pertinent questions like these might be extended indefinitely in illustrative of the great number of beneficial acts legislative and administrative, performed to the public good by the Liberal Government. But since Sir Oliver Mowat enough has been shown to demonstrate the bombastic and hollow character of Mr. Whitney's absurd heroics.

Per contra the prominent items that can be placed to the credit of the Whitney Government are the introduction of the spoils system and the enormous and extravagent increase of the provincial expenditure, at the rate of nearly a million dollars a year since they took office.

CANADA'S TREATY-MAKING POWERS.

(Ottawa Free Press.)

That was a most important contribution to political history which was made by Hon. L. P. Brodeur in the House of Commons on Tuesday, when, in the discussion of the French treaty, he pointed out the remarkable concession which the British Government made to the Dominion last year.

Before commenting upon that development of Canada's national evolution, it is well to recall the fact that in 1895 the Marquis of Ripon, then Secretary of State for the Colonies, laid down the principle that any negotiations between a foreign power and a British colony should be conducted by the representative of the Sovereign at the court of the foreign power. Lord Ripon was most emphatic upon the point, saying:

The negotiations, being between Her Majesty and the Sovereign of the foreign state, must be conducted by Her Majesty's representative, at the court of the foreign power, who would keep Her Majesty's Government informed of the progress of the discussion and seek instructions from them as necessity arose. It could hardly be expected, however, that he would be sufficiently cognizant of the circumstances and wishes of the colony to conduct the negotiations satisfactorily alone, and it would be desirable, generally, therefore, that he should have the assistance, either as a second plenipotentiary or in a subordinate capacity, as Her Majesty's Government think the circumstances require, of a delegate appointed by the Colonial Government.

Mark the ruling. The negotiations must be conducted by the British Minister.

What happened last year? Sir Edward Grey wrote to the British Minister at Paris recalling the ruling of Lord Ripon, and adding:

I do not, however, think it necessary to adhere in the present case to the strict letter of this regulation, the object of which was to secure that negotiations should not be entered into and carried through by a colony unknown to and independently of His Majesty's Government.

The selection of the negotiator is principally a matter of convenience, and, in the present circumstances, it will obviously be more practical that the negotiations should be left to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and to the Canadian Minister of Finance or the Canadian Ministers, who will doubtless keep you informed of their progress.

If the negotiations are brought to a conclusion at Paris, you should sign the agreement jointly with the Canadian negotiator, who would be given full powers for the purpose.

Note the difference: In the former case it was laid down that the chief negotiator must be the British Minister. Last year it was conceded that the negotiations should be left to the Canadian Ministers. That ought to settle once and for all the Tory claims that there is no difference in the manner in which the French treaty of 1907 was negotiated as compared with that of 1893.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Dominion Government's loan of $3,000,000 in three and a half per cents, and the Grand Trunk's new issue of $5,000,000 four per cent stock, were both over-subscribed in London. The confidence in Canada, says the London Advertiser, is a rebuke to croakers at home.

Conservative journals are making complicated mathematical calculations in the effort to show that their party will win in the next Dominion election. There is, however, very little precedent to sustain their little dions. The Conservative party has not shown its strength very conspicuously in the bye-elections. A return of bye-elections for the Commons held during 1907, shows that during the year fourteen bye-elections were held. Of these five were by acclamation, the members elected being all Liberals, namely, Hon. Wm. Pugsley, Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Jacques Bureau, Pius Michaud (Victoria, N. B.), and C. B. Major (Isabelle.) In the nine contested constituencies Liberals were elected in six and Conservatives in three. The aggregate Liberal majorities totalled 5,318, and the aggregate Conservative majorities 1,500, to which Major Beattie's majority in London against the Labour candidate contributed 1,035.

SUGAR MAY GO UP AGAIN IN PRICE

According to Advices From New York to Local Wholesale Men

The chances are that sugar will take another rise, if the sugar market in New York is any criterion of what will occur in that respect. A few days ago it went up ten cents in New York, and yesterday again the Peterborough wholesale men were notified that it had taken another rise of four cents. Again last night it went up a penny and a half in the raw form.

The prospects are that the sweet stuff will again go up in Peterborough. The cause of the accelerating prices is the scarcity of the cane in Cuba.

EXCITING RUNAWAY LAST NIGHT

Horse Ran Up George Street Took to the Sidewalk Twice and Fell.

HAD HIP BADLY BROKEN

About 8 o'clock last night a runaway occurred on Lock street which caused considerable excitement and ended with the horse being severely injured.

Mr. Wm. Morris, the local cattle-buyer, was out driving in a cutter last night and left his horse standing in the roadway near the exhibition grounds while he went to make a call.

The animal took fright at a passing south-bound car and started up the road at a mad pace. At Lake street the tugs broke and the horse shook itself free from the shafts and continued on up George street. At the C. P. R. crossing it crossed the tracks as the gates were being lowered to allow the coal to go through. Many attempts were made to bring the horse to a standstill, but in vain.

At Simcoe street the horse took to the sidewalk for a short distance, but soon took to the road again. Just in front of Mr. Carey's shoe store the horse again tried to get on the sidewalk, but slipped and fell on its side. The horse was unable to get up, but was assisted to its feet by several men who witnessed the fall. The animal was taken over to Dr. Johnston, who found that the left hip had been badly broken.

The appreciation of the public is the final test of merit. This is the reason "Salada" Tea has the enormous sale of over eighteen million packets annually. If you do not use it, The "Salada" Tea Co., Toronto, will send you a sample. State whether you use, Black, Mixed or Green, and the price you usually pay per pound.

COMPANY HAVE LEFT THE CITY

Many Have Positions—Mr. Baldwin Has Joined Willar Stock Company

The Royal Alexandra Stock Company which disbanded here on Saturday did not leave the city until last night. It was expected that most of the actors and actresses would cave the city on Saturday, but such did not turn out to be the case, as only one actor left. The remainder stayed in the city trying to arrive at some kind of settlement. Most of them have secured good positions, but the remainder, who were not so fortunate, have gone to their homes for the remainder of the season.

Mr. Arnold C Baldwin, who starred with the company, left on the C.P.R. last night for St. Thomas, Ont., where he will appear as leading man with the Wilbur stock company under the management of Mr. Fred W Haman.

Ottawa Observatory And The Moon Were The Subjects

Interesting Meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society---President Refers To The Interest Taken.

NEW SECRETARY ELECTED

Although the audience was not large at the meeting of the Royal Astronomical Society last night at the Y.M.C.A., the interesting character of the session more than made up for that deficiency. Rev. Dr Marsh, the President of the Society, occupied the chair and in his address referred to the communications since last meeting and also to the recently held annual meeting in Toronto. He also spoke of the pleasure it was to him to see a few interested and hearty workers in the Society.

Since the last meeting Mr. S Lowry, the secretary, had resigned and last night Miss Foy was elected as his successor.

The addresses of the evening were presented by Messrs. H O Fisk and Herbert Collier—the former on "Echoes from the Observatory at Ottawa" where he visited a short time ago, and the latter on "An Hour With the Moon." Mr. Fisk gave an interesting and concise account of his journey through the Ottawa Observatory explaining the workings of the various clocks, the electrical apparatus, spectroscope, etc. He visited the Observatory on the invitation of Dr. King who was recently in Peterborough.

The building is a fine one, handsomely erected near the Experimental Farm. In the interior is a large circular construction, the foundation of the great clock. Mr. Fisk happened to meet Dr. King in the corridor and fortunately was taken through the building. The fire-proof nature of this place arrested his attention—the cabinets, etc., being all of pressed steel. The library is scarcely yet completed but everything in connection with it is fire proof. The photo gallery was another interesting spot. Relief maps of the Pacific Coast was shown on one of the maps; everything being shown to a minature scale. Dr. King explained that this was secured chiefly through the camera which in surveying is classed almost on an equality with the transit.

The spectroscope was another of the articles seen on his visit. This instrument separates the rays of light through prisms of glass and is capable of making rays of light travel at an angle. The equatorial dome was next visited. It is a large structure, the tube itself being 21 feet in length and balanced so nicely that it can be turned with the hand. The telescope is fitted up with a wonderful time device, so arranged that the time is kept most accurately. This time device is synchronased with the mother clock in the basement by means of electricity. In fact electricity was noticeable in all parts of the building and played an important part in the various machines.

The clock room is so constructed that the temperature is uniform. The clock is one of the best on the continent, made in Germany and keeping sidereal time. Another clock is so arranged that it flashes the time by the G.N.W. wires over all Canada.

The synchronizing of the clocks was one of the most interesting things he observed. By electrical devices every clock is kept in touch with the master clock.

Dr. King spoke highly of Peterborough and hoped to make another visit. Mr. Fisk assured the members that a visit to the Dominion observatory was one that should be made if any of them ever had the opportunity.

Surface of the Moon

Mr. Collier next took up the subject of the moon and his discourse was listened to with much interest. He stated that much may be seen from even a pair of opera glasses if a telescope cannot be secured.

On the moon can be noticed with the naked eye many dark surfaces. Mr. Collier then by crayon diagrams on paper drew the surfaces which are supposed to be dry ocean beds. He also gave the name of each.

There are, too, many mountain ranges on the moon's surface with mountains extending 450 miles in length and with altitudes of 15,000 feet.

A peep at the surface of the moon shows that it has been disturbed by volcanic action. Craters of volcanoes can be seen at various places. Many of these gaping mouths are more than 100 miles across indicating the great forces that have in years gone by been in action on our satellite. The magnitude of these chaotic openings can scarcely be comprehended when compared with the craters of two miles or less in diameter which are to be found on our own planet, betraying our volcanoes.

Mr. Collier's address was one of great profit to the astronomers and was listened to with pleasure by all present.

The meeting closed shortly after with some remarks from the President.

ASTONISHING RESULTS

Follow Each new Discovery of Science

The great strides that medical science has made in the last few years is due to the germ theory. When the germ of a disease has been discovered the doctors have not been slow in finding a drug to kill it. In a few years it will be rare to find a bald-headed man or woman. The falling out of hair is due to a dandruff germ, and now it has been discovered how to kill the germ. The remedy used is called Newbro's Herpicide. Its success has been marvellous. Not a failure has been so far reported. It is also a delightful hair dressing, free from oil or sticky substances. Try it and be convinced of its actual merit. Sold by leading druggists. Send 10c in stamps for sample to the Herpicide Co., Detroit, Mich. Two sizes, 50c and $1. McDermid & Jury and the Market Drug Stores, Special Agents.

Had Palpitation of The Heart

EVER SINCE SHE WAS NINE YEARS OLD,

DILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS EFFECTED A COMPLETE CURE.

If you find your health failing, your food apparently doing you no good, your heart beating irregularly—now slow, now fast—skipping a beat now and then, palpitations or throbbings on the slightest excitement or exertion, pain in the region of the heart, face pale, dizzy and faint spells, these all point to heart weakness, to nerve derangement, to a state of health consequent upon these, which, if not corrected and cured by Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, will surely end in utter prostration and hopeless invalidism.

From the depths many have been raised by this remarkable remedy, as its power is beyond all question most marvellous; but, why wait until you have gone so far? Taking these pills now will turn you from the perilous path of sickness and put you on the highway to health.

Miss Mary Wilson, Toronto, Ont., writes: "It is with the greatest of pleasure that I recommend Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. Ever since I was nine years of age I have been afflicted with palpitation of the heart, pain in my side and nervousness. As I grew older it kept increasing. After having tried numerous doctors medicines, but to no avail, I was induced to try your pills, and after using several boxes I began to improve, so kept on taking them for some time until now I can truthfully say I am in perfect health."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are 50 cts. per box or three for $1.25, at all dealers or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

FUNERAL OF THE LATE JAMES LOUIS HUGHES

Last Tribute of Respect to One of Our Most Greatly Respected Citizens.

The funeral of the late J. L. Hughes took place from the family residence, 304 Park Street, on Saturday afternoon and the large attendance was a tribute to the high respect and esteem in which the deceased gentleman was held At 2.30 o'clock religious service was conducted by Rev. H. M. Manning, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, where the late Mr. Hughes had been a worshipper and office-bearer since the establishment of the church. The service consisted of prayer, the singing of the hymn, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," followed by an address by Mr. Manning in which he spoke of the lessons to be learned from the life of Mr Hughes, which had been fruitfully spent in preparation for the great change, which in his case meant a translation to the life elysian. To the address succeeded the singing of Toplady's immortal hymn, "Rock of Ages", after which Miss Clara Bellegheim sang, "Face to Face." The casket hid by beautiful floral tributes, one of which a wreath, was sent by the late Mr. Hughes' colleagues of the Quaterly Board of the Church, and another a floral piece from the Sunday School, was borne by Messrs J. T. Stenson, George Webber, J. Foster, W. Henderson, H. E. Hawley, and F. H. Yokome. Out-of-town relatives present were Mr. Arch. C. Hughes, of Picton, brother; Mrs. Allis, Rochester, sister; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Grant Toronto, and Mr. E. Howard Hughes, Montreal, Mrs. W. T. Spencer, of Marshall, Texas, arrived in the city on Saturday night but too late for the funeral.

Academy In Parish Of Rev. Father Torpey Burned

THE CHURCH THREATENED

The Mason City Times-Herald of Mason City, Iowa, in a recent issue gives a detailed account of the burning of St. Francis Academy there, and of the narrow escape of the church of the parish in which Rev. Father Torpey, formerly of Douro, and who has relatives in Peterborough, is located. The Times-Herald, referring to the fire, says, in part:

A sharp damp wind from the southeast carried the flames directly toward the church. The fire department arrived almost immediately and the work of saving the contents of the building was delayed not a moment. At the first alarm the fire had already claimed most of the roof for its domain, and those sleeping in the building were compelled to flee with very little clothing, and many without shoes. The trunks containing the personal effects of the pupils and the sisters could not be saved. The pianos and most of the furniture of the lower floor were saved, but by the time of the arrival of the fire department the flames had so enveloped the upper floors that nothing could be saved.

Holy Sacrament Saved

Father Torpey stated when interviewed this morning that the holy sacrament and all else connected with the divine service which was held in the school had been saved. Father Torpey was the first to reach the burning building after the alarm and carried first of all the holy things of the church to a place of safety. Father Torpey also asked that a statement in praise of the firemen be made, for they fought the fire well, and it was through no fault of theirs that the building was destroyed.

The Church Threatened

The strong wind from the southeast drove the flames directly toward the church. The fire raged with unabated fury for several hours. From 1 o'clock till 4 the conflagration was fierce and the firemen were compelled to mount to the roof of the church and fight out the blazing cinders carried over from the fire. At 3 o'clock the walls were still standing, but shortly after 4 they collapsed and fell with a resounding crash as the separate bricks of each wall fell tumbling precipitately down into the mass of flames.

Built Twenty Years ago

The St. Francis Academy was built twenty years ago. Mayor McConlogue was in charge of its construction. It was one of the most beautiful buildings of the city. About 200 children attended the school. The residents of the academy were twelve children who were pupils and eight sisters. Nell, one was injured. The total loss was estimated by Father Torpey to be about $25,000. Only a year ago $5,000 was spent in improvements. The insurance amounted to $13,000, $12,000 of which was on the building and $1,000 on the contents. Father Torpey said he was sure the school would be rebuilt better than ever.

LOCAL OPTION ALL OVER MANITOBA

Liberal Leader Brown Says It is Now Possible Excepting In The Three Cities.

The Toronto News of last night has the following:—

"Prohibition all over Manitoba except in the three cities of Winnipeg, Brandon and Portage la Prairie!"

Mr. Edward Brown, Portage la Prairie who led the Manitoba Liberals at the elections last year, says this is now quite possible, as a result of local option legislation just passed.

Mr. Brown was interviewed at the King Edward this morning and when asked as to the temperance situation in his Province he said:—

"If the temperance people in Manitoba take time to get well organized, I think they can carry local option all over the Province, except in the three cities of Winnipeg, Brandon and Portage la Prairie. The old law required a vote of three-fifths of the names on the list, but the new legislation requires only a majority of the qualified voters. There is no doubt that before the end of the year, local option by-laws will be submitted in the majority of the municipalities.

"The Roblin Government have really stolen our policy in the matter of temperance legislation," Mr. Brown continued. "They did not make this an issue in the election, but on the other hand, had the support of the whole liquor interest. Now, however, they have passed the most drastic temperance legislation in the Dominion. One of the restrictions is the prohibition placed on common carriers to bring liquor into local option municipalities."

"Is there any suggestion of cutting down the licenses in Winnipeg?" the reporter asked.

"No, that is entirely in the hands of the License Commissioners, not of the Municipal Council, as in Ontario, and they have not shown themselves specially favourable to such a policy."

Beloved Pastor Remembered By The Knights Of Columbus

Rev. Father McColl Presented With Address and Purse of $500 in Gold---Large Gathering in the Commodious Club Rooms Wish Bon Voyage to the Rector of St. Peter's---His Lordship Bishop O'Connor and Clergy of the Diocese Present.

When Rev. Father McColl leaves Peterborough on Wednesday morning for an extended holiday on the continent for the purpose of regaining his health he will bear with him the blessing of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, the prayers of all the clergy and laymen of the diocese, and the best wishes of his many friends among the general public in Peterborough. Of the various farewell functions that have recently been given in his honour, that conducted by the Knights of Columbus in their rooms last night in many respects surpassed them all.

The assembly room was comfortably filled by a gathering comprising not only members of his own church, but of other churches in the city. The clergy of St. Peter's Cathedral was represented by His Lordship Bishop O'Connor, Rev. Father McColl, Rev Father Galvin and Rev. Father Kelly Other priests from the diocese of Peterborough were Rev. Father McGuire of Downeyville, Rev. Father Brethertton of Hastings and Rev. Father Phelan of Young's Point. The commodious quarters of the Knights of Columbus proved most suitable for the occasion, and the members of the society did all in their power to make the affair the success which it was.

The Address

The duties of chairman were ably carried out by Mr. John Corkery, who extended a hearty welcome to the assembly and explained the object of the meeting. It had been arranged in order to provide for the friends of Rev. Father McColl an opportunity of formally bidding him farewell. Mr. Corkery called upon Dr. McNulty to read the address of the evening, as follows:

Reverend and Beloved Father—

It was with feelings of deepest regret that we recently learned of your inability, through failing health, to fully and actively continue in the discharge of your parochial duties. Realizing fully how zealously you have applied yourself to the work of the parish, and how splendidly your various undertakings have been crowned with success, we feel that you have justly earned a respite from the anxiety and care necessarily associated with your efforts on our behalf, and now on the eve of your departure for a more salubrious clime, we are gathered together here in the hope that we may in some measure impress upon you the kindly and grateful feelings of appreciation that dwell so deeply in the hearts of every one of us. During your residence in our midst we have come to realize the fervour and sincerity of your piety, the sterling value of your executive ability, the broad liberality of your opinions, the charity that permeates all your actions. Succeeding years of association and intercourse have served but to increase the fervour of our affection and devotion. "Time but the impression stronger makes,
As streams their channels deeper wear."

To particularize or dwell upon your various undertakings would serve but to illustrate for how many reasons we have cause for gratitude. Our spiritual, intellectual and social life have in turn come under your watchful tutelage tempered with keen discernment, and now rest on a firmer and more elevated basis than ever before. In a special manner your solicitude seems to have been attracted towards the young—your endeavours to surround them with the more gentle accomplishments, to early associate with their general education the refining influences of elocution and music, will, we feel, in due time bear fruit and tend to the cultivation of high and wholesome ideals. So much that pertains to our advancement and uplifting has received your special thought and care, and nothing seems to have been sacrificed—nothing but your own personal comfort. Unmindful of needed rest and negligent of the constitutional strain, your manifold energies still kept pace with the ever-increasing demands of the parish, until your natural reserve of strength was so far encroached upon as to seriously jeopardize your state of health, but this we trust and pray will soon be restored to its pristine vigour, and pray also that for many years to come you may be spared to labour amongst us.

And now, dear Father, our nearest wish is that you may travel far away from care and worry, seek some quiet haunt, there to indulge your reveries, enjoy the luxury of wandering thought, and build not chapels or churches, but air castles undisturbed. This purse we ask you to accept as coming from grateful hearts. In your absence from our midst we trust that you may enjoy that happiness and peace of mind that surpasseth all understanding, and, returning home again invigourated in mind and body, may continue as the guide of our earthly destinies and so fulfil our hopeful expectations.

Signed—

H. LeBRUN.
H. PHELAN,
R. SHEEHY,
T. P. McNULTY.

Mr. H LeBrun then presented Rev. Father McColl with a purse of gold amounting to $500.00 and in a few words wished him "bon voyage" and a safe return in good health.

A Grateful Reply

Father McColl was noticeably affected by the kind words of the address and the generous gift he had received. He felt that his work and his efforts had been over-estimated and more credit had been given him than was his due. During the past 6 years the parish had experienced considerable development but this was mainly due to the co-operation between the clergy under the guidance of His Lordship Bishop O'Connor on the one hand and the whole congregation on the other. The people had assisted in every way and the result was a success. The church and schools were in good condition and until recent improvements had been made no debt had existed. Rev Father McColl referred to the able guidance of His Lordship and the pleasant relations which have always existed among the priests. Moreover he was proud of the ability which not only the priests of the Cathedral have displayed but also all those throughout the diocese.

Rev. Father McColl concluded his remarks by expressing his deepest gratitude for the exceeding kindness that had been extended to him on every hand.

Bishop O'Connor's Remarks

His Lordship said that it was a source of extreme satisfaction and pleasure to him that the services of Rev. Father McColl has been so thoroughly appreciated. He had been anxious for several months that Father McColl take a rest from work but the latter was so devoted in his labours that it was impossible to effect it then. However, about ten days ago when Father McColl had been taken with a more severe illness His Lordship decided not to wait until the summer but to insist on immediate rest. His idea was confirmed by a delegation of men of the parish waiting on him and pointing out Father McColl's failing health and petitioning that he be given a vacation and thus the three months' holiday was determined on.

Bishop O'Connor said that he, more than any one, knew the sacrifices which a priest had to make. Father McColl was the second priest he had ordained and was most devoted to the spiritual welfare of the people. His Lordship was pleased to see him go away accompanied by such generous and hearty wishes. He added the sincere hope that Father McColl would return with renewed strength to labour for many years cheered on by the good wishes of the people and assisted by their prayers.

Father McGuire

In a few characteristic remarks Rev. Father McGuire said he was proud of Father McColl for the great amount of good he was doing in the parish and congratulated him upon the splendid manifestation that had been given in his honour. Father McGuire remarked that the best wishes of the whole diocese went with him. He had been glad to learn that Bishop O'Connor had seen fit to order a vacation and it was most gratifying to see the hearty co-operation with which the people assisted.

Rev. Father Phelan

Rev. Father Phelan was proud to be present. Peterborough was the Cathedral city and many duties were involved with the rectorship of St. Peter's. It required a man of more than ordinary ability to fill the position with success and the chief qualities necessary were talent, tact and executive ability.

Father McColl's six years of arduous labour demanded an extended relaxation from work and Father Phelan expressed the wish that the journey would return Father McColl to his parishioners in excellent health.

Hon. Mr. Stratton

Mr. Stratton said it gave him very much pleasure to be present and he had to thank the committee. It was indeed a pleasure to Rev. Father McColl to see so many friends present to join in wishing him a pleasant trip and a safe return, and he could join heartily in the expressions of good will the occasion evoked. He had known Rev. Father McColl for about fifteen years—during his pastorate in Enniscore and Peterborough. He had always found him the same; moderate, generous, broad-minded and tolerant. During his residence in Peterborough, by virtue of the exercise of these qualities he had made many warm friends not only among his parishioners but among all classes of citizens. He was sure he was expressing the general feeling of the city when he sympathised with him in his, it is to be hoped, temporary physical condition of impairment which necessitates his taking a holiday, and, if the time assigned were not sufficient to restore him to health and strength, it was to be hoped that his Lordship would kindly extend it and if he "ran short" while roaming the heather-clad hills of Scotland, it was probable that Mr. LeBrun would honour a necessary draft for the continuation of the period of travel and rest. The liberal contribution to the funds for Rev. Father McColl's journey were practical evidences of the high appreciation by his parishioners of his faithful work. He wished Rev. Father McColl a happy journey and safe return.

Mr J. H. Burnham

Mr Burnham in a few words stated that he was pleased to have been given the opportunity of attending the meeting. The regrettable feature was that Rev. Father McColl was unwell but wished him a speedy recovery. He joined in the sentiments that had been voiced and spoke of the general esteem in which Father McColl was held by the citizens and concluded by wishing him a pleasant and invigourating trip.

Rev. Father Kelly

Rev. Father Kelly stated that Father McColl's enforced temporary retirement had been no surprise to him on account of his combined life of activity and intense study. The relations between the priests and their rector had always been most felicitous and he sincerely hoped Father McColl's journey would regain for him the health which he had undermined by constant attention to duties that increased with every year.

Rev. Father Galvin

Rev. Father Galvin spoke somewhat along the same lines. He had often considered that Father McColl might have spared himself much labour by increasing that of the curates. No one had guaranteed that the duties would be assiduously carried out while Father McColl was absent but under the careful watchfulness of Bishop O'Connor he trusted that the congregation would be in a satisfactory condition when Father McColl returned strengthened to resume the work which he had for the time discontinued.

Mr. D. O'Connell

Mr. D. O'Connell, in a particularly fine address outlined the work done by the Knights of Columbus as a society. The welfare of the priests of the church has always been a matter of concern to them, and Mr. O'Connell briefly referred to the nineteen centuries of history which had been adorned by acts of sacrifice, and even the martyrdom of the priests. When Father McColl undertook his duties at the Cathedral six years ago he determined to carry them out. Gradually the city has grown, and St. Peter's has kept pace, and one of the noticeable features is the spiritual development in the parish. The result of Father McColl's labours, Mr. O'Connell said, has been brought home to all.

There are many duties in which the Catholic people have to engage, assisting the clergy. Many organizations care for the sick and distressed, the widows and orphans, and in our own city the cause of temperance has been deeply implanted. The Knights of Columbus, Mr. O'Connell said, had chosen a different field in which to engage. Since there were so many possibilities for young men to-day, the society's aim was to build them up strong in character and so develop their morals by example and teaching, that they would be good children of the church and respected members of society.

The Knights of Columbus, Mr. O'Connell continued, had found in Father McColl their spiritual adviser, a warm friend, and his counsel had on all occasions been of utmost assistance. When Father McColl's health was noticed to be failing it was the duty of the society to in some manner help him recover it, and His Lordship Bishop O'Connor was of the same opinion. Mr. O'Connell concluded his fine address in a pleasing manner, describing the beauties of clime that would, he hoped, serve to restore in Father McColl the vigour which carried him along in his past work and he trusted that God would guide him on his long journey and that he would return to work as before with his people.

Ald. Phelan

Ald. Phelan endorsed the cordial wishes that had been extended to Father McColl, and he added his hope that the expectations of the people would be realized by the trip. Ald. Phelan gave a recitation of one of Drummond's character poems, which was well received.

Mr. L. M. Hayes

Mr. Hayes said he had known Father McColl for many years, and esteemed him not only as a priest, but as a brother and a friend. He had gained the respect of the whole city and by his industry and devotion had successfully cared for St. Peter's. Mr Hayes hoped Father McColl would be himself again when he returned.

Mr. M. O'Brien

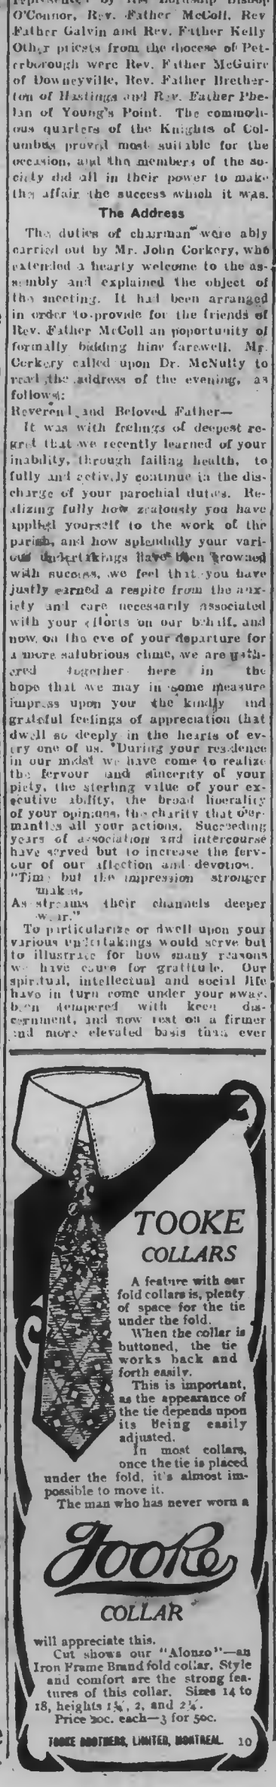
Mr. O'Brien, in a brief speech, marked with deep feeling, said it was a touching scene to see a strong, educated young man wasted in strength by the arduous task of caring for the people that had been entrusted to him. Mr. O'Brien said the people wished Father McColl to return only when he had regained the health which he had lost in ministering to them.

Mr. T. P. O'Connor and Mr. A J Grant voiced the wishes of the other speakers and united in endorsing the hope that Father McColl's journey would bear the fruit desired.

Mr. H. LeBrun sang in good voice his favourite "La Marseillaise," assisted in the chorus by the whole assembly.

Mr. D. O'Connell moved a vote of thanks to His Lordship Bishop O'Connor for his visit to the society's rooms. The motion was heartily endorsed, and in reply His Lordship expressed the pleasure the evening had given him and thanked the members for their kind words.

The evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King."



TOOKE COLLARS

A feature with our fold collars is, plenty of space for the tie under the fold.

When the collar is buttoned, the tie works back and forth easily.

This is important, as the appearance of the tie depends upon its being easily adjusted.

In most collars, once the tie is placed under the fold, it's almost impossible to move it.

The man who has never worn a

Tooke COLLAR

will appreciate this.

Cut shows our "Alonzo"—an Iron Frame Brand fold collar. Style and comfort are the strong features of this collar. Sizes 14 to 18, heights 1¾, 2, and 2¼. Price 20c. each—3 for 50c.

MR. PILLING'S ENGINE DID IT

Cleared the Line Through to Lakefield On Saturday.

Everybody has read about the drift on the Lakefield division of the G. T. R., which gave the engines considerable trouble on Friday and Saturday, was open in the afternoon of the latter day. The train that did the trick consisted of three engines and a coach. Engineer Wm. Pilling, with his shamrock little engine, headed the attack, having the iron plow attachment in front. The run to Lakefield proved a hard one, but the three engines succeeded in getting through. Mr. Pilling has one of the best engines on the local line and always maintains it in good condition; thus it is ready for any emergency of this kind.

The shifting off of private legislation comes earlier in the session this year than usual, and may be another indication that no time is being lost in concluding the Provincial business.

HON. A. B. MORINE TO SPEAK AT ST. JOHN'S

Notes in Connection With the Mission There.

At St. John's church yesterday morning after the Processional Hymn Rev Canon Davidson read the Bishop's mandate commissioning the missioners and giving them authority to use the special services during the missions according to their discretion. The congregation stood during the reading of the mandate and after this Canon Davidson returned to the vestry and Mr. Heeney formally accepted the charge.

Some weeks ago Hon. A B Morine accepted an invitation to take part in the mission services and as the posters were going through the press no public announcement was made. This was also omitted yesterday. Mr. Morine will give an address on "Religion from a Layman's Standpoint," at St. John's church next Sunday evening.

Rev. W B Heeney will leave tomorrow for Barrie and Mr. Salisbury Lloyd, the Welsh evangelist, and Rev. W. Barber will arrive tomorrow morning to begin the work.

CHARLEY GRAPEWIN, THE PEOPLE'S FAVORITE

Here on Thursday in the Big Fun Show "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp"

After a week in Toronto and a week in Montreal Charley Grapewin comes to the Grand next Thursday night in that hilarious comedy, "The Awakening of Mr. Pipp." Peterborough has been fortunate enough to be included as one of the one-night stands which Mr. Grapewin is playing in Canada. The Russell Theatre, Ottawa, gets Mr. Grapewin for Monday and Tuesday nights; Kingston, Wednesday; Peterborough, Thursday, and Hamilton, Friday and Saturday, from which place Mr. Grapewin's company jumps across the line for his annual tour of the American cities. Judging from the big advance sale, which opened this morning at the Box Office, the Peterborough public intend taking advantage of Mr. Grapewin's visit. Those who have not yet booked their tickets would do well to secure them as early as possible as the management expect a bumper house on Thursday night.

Box office open until 9 p.m. tonight.

THE MARCH NUMBER OF ROD AND GUN

Story of the C. P. R. Wolf Hunt—Many Stories of Special Interest.

Hunting takes the palm of place in the March number of "Rod and Gun and Motor Sports in Canada," published by W. J. Taylor at Woodstock. Out From the fascinating sport of caribou hunting in Newfoundland we are taken to deer-stalking in the Gatineau Valley, hunting on a Quebec preserve, a successful hunt in Muskoka, while an unsuccessful one in New Brunswick proves that hunters are sometimes prepared to tell of their failures as well as to boast of their successes. The C. P. R. Wolf Hunt is told about, while a bear hunt is also described. These papers are opened by an excellent one on The Bloodhound, and the thoughtful and practical address before the Canadian Club at Toronto entitled "The Protection of the Wild and the Things of the Wild," by Cy. Warman is given in full. Some rough sketch words experiences show the reality as compared with the glitter of the life on the frontiers of civilization though the latter must retain its attractions for many men. Good illustrations are a feature of this number, and the departments are all abreast of the other contents of the magazine making it creditable alike to the publisher and the Dominion, the attractions of which, from a sport-loving point of view, it presents to the world.

IMPORTANT BILL IN THE COMMONS

Stringent Provisions in Mr. Aylesworth's Election Bill.

DEALS WITH CONTRIBUTIONS

All Such Must Be Made Public—Those From Companies Illegal—Circulation of Information—False Statements About Candidates to Be Severely Punished—Wants One Man One Vote.

Ottawa, March 10.—The introduction of a couple of Government bills was the principal business of the Commons yesterday afternoon. During the proceedings Messrs. Fowler and Ganong, who had been absent in New Brunswick for the elections, were welcomed by Conservatives with a vigorous thumping of desks.

The total amount expended on exhibitions outside of Canada since the Government took office was $1,568,140, Mr. Brodeur informed Mr. Armstrong. He was also informed by Mr. Oliver that 620,000 acres of Indian lands had been sold since 1896, the amount received being $525,567.

Mr. Aylesworth introduced his bill to amend the Dominion Elections Act. In examining the present act the Minister of Justice said he was unable to suggest any substantial betterment whatever. Complaints that had been heard had to do with the administration of the law. The Minister of Justice said he had examined the bill of Mr. Alcorn and that introduced in the Ontario Legislature by the Attorney-General and had received from each some important suggestions. The measure he was introducing was one he had drawn up four or five months ago, and it had, therefore, received due consideration.

The principal clause had to do with election fund contributions. He proposed that all contributions be made to and through the statutory agent, who will be required to make returns to the returning officer of the amount and source of all contributions. Any other contributions will be illegal. It was proposed to prohibit contributions by any company.

Another clause deals with the circulation of false statements regarding the personal character of a candidate, adequate punishment in such cases being provided.

Handbills and other matter regarding election matters must show the name of the printing office. The intervention of aliens in election matters is prohibited. There is provision for publication of polling booths and nomination papers will be required to contain an address for service of person nominated. Other amendments deal with the form of oath and proper preparation of the voters' lists.

Another provision which he had taken from Mr. Alcorn's bill was that no mark which a deputy or official may make on a ballot may void the ballot. Mr. Aylesworth cited the Wentworth case, when a polling division was thrown out because the D.R.O. had placed a mark on each ballot. The man who pays money or takes money as a bribe will be disfranchised and disqualified from holding office for a period of eight years. This is in addition to punishment provided by the present law. There is also a strong penalty for the man who tampers with the ballot.

Mr. Bergeron thought there should be a prohibition against double voting. He believed also that all elections should take place on the same day.

Mr. Aylesworth also introduced a bill to amend the Exchequer Court Act. The old act provided for the appointment of a substitute during the illness of a judge. In the case of the late Judge Burbidge, Judge Taylor took up his work, but on the death of the former there was no authority for Judge Taylor continuing in office. The amendment proposed to give authority to the temporary incumbent to close up any matters before the court and to confer general authority on the registrar of the court to transact routine business.

Mr. Martin, (Queen's, P.E.I.) provoked discussion by introducing his resolution for papers in respect to the construction of a tunnel between the mainland and the island. The tunnel, he said, was like the spirit of MacBeth, which would not be quieted, and it would annually recur till justice was done. The resolution offered opportunity to the Prince Edward Island members to urge upon Government this great work.

Cure That Cough!

YOU CAN DO IT BY USING

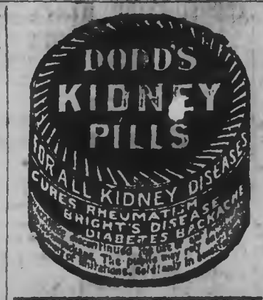
Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup.

The Most Perfect Throat and Lung Healer in the World.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup gives prompt relief from that choked up, stuffed up feeling which is so distressing, it loosens the phlegm, checks the rasping and useless cough, and heals and soothes the irritated breathing organs. It is a pleasant preparation to take and is therefore specially adapted to the coughs and colds of children and those who dislike nauseous mixtures.

This is no vain boast, but a fact that can be backed by unimpeachable testimony. One 25 cent bottle, indeed, a trial dose, will prove its merits.

Mr. Frank K. Purdie, Brandon, Man., writes: "I have used your Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup for some years and have always found it a sure remedy for all colds, coughs, sore throat, hoarseness, etc. I cannot too highly recommend it to anyone suffering from any effect of cold."



THE DESIGN FOUND TO BE FAULTY

Commission Reports on Cause of Quebec Bridge Collapse.

ENGINEERS ARE RESPONSIBLE

No One In Authority at Great Structure to Meet the Crisis—The Work Was Fatally Hurried — Government Not Wholly Without Responsibility —. Nothing Could Save Bridge After Aug. 27.

Ottawa, March 10.—The report of the Quebec Bridge Commission was laid on the table yesterday afternoon by Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

It declares that the collapse of the bridge was due to errors of judgment of the designing engineer, P. L. Szlapka, and the consulting engineer, Theodore Cooper, whose ability, says the report, "was tried in one of the most difficult professional problems of the day and proved to be insufficient for the task."

The specifications were unsatisfactory in that unit stresses were higher than any established by past practice. The steel used was of good quality, but serious defects were fundamental in the design and the failure of the company to appoint an experienced bridge engineer as chief engineer was a great mistake.

The commission was composed of Henry Holgate, C.E., of Montreal; John G. Kerry, C.E., of Montreal; and Prof. John Galbraith, C.E., of Toronto University. The members of the commission were appointed on Aug. 30, the day following the accident, and the taking of evidence was begun in Quebec on Sept. 9. Subsequent sittings were held at Ottawa, New York, Phoenixville and Philadelphia.

The report goes fully into the history of the Quebec Bridge Co., contracts entered into with the Phoenix Bridge Co., and the employment of Theodore Cooper of New York as consulting engineer. The engineer of the Quebec Bridge Co. was W. A. Hoare and the chief engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co., John Sterling Deans.

The commissioners find: (a) The collapse of the Quebec bridge resulted from the failure of the lower chords in the anchor arm near the main pier. The failure of these chords was due to their defective design.

(b) The stresses that caused the failure were not due to abnormal weather conditions or accident, but were such as might be expected in the regular course of erection.

(c) The design of the chords that failed was made by P. L. Szlapka, the designing engineer of the Phoenix Bridge Co.

(d) This design was examined and officially approved by Theodore Cooper, consulting engineer of the Quebec Bridge and Railway Co.

(e) The failure cannot be attributed directly to any cause other than errors in judgment on the part of these two engineers.

(f) These errors of judgment cannot be attributed either to lack of common professional knowledge, to neglect of duty, or to a desire to economize. The ability of the two engineers was tried in one of the most difficult professional problems of the day, and proved to be insufficient for the task.

(g) We do not consider that the specifications for the work were satisfactory or sufficient, the unit stresses in particular being higher than any established by past practice. The specifications were accepted without protest by all interested.

(i) We do not believe that the fall of the bridge could have been prevented by any action that might have been taken after Aug. 27, 1907. Any effort to brace or take down the structure would have been impracticable owing to the manifest risk of human life involved.

(j) The loss of life on Aug. 29, 1907, might have been prevented by the exercise of better judgment on the part of those in responsible charge of the work or the Quebec Bridge and Railway Co., or the Phoenix Bridge Co.

(k) The failure on the part of the Quebec Bridge & Railway Co. to appoint an experienced bridge engineer to the position of chief engineer was a mistake. This resulted in a loose and inefficient supervision of all parts of the work on the part of the Quebec Bridge & Railway Co.

NOT FOR THE PUBLIC TO SEE

German Emperor's Letter to Tweedmouth Is Kept Secret.

WAS PRIVATE AND PERSONAL

Lord Rosebery Thinks the Nation Is Making Itself Ridiculous—Criticizes "Yellow" Journalism—Opposition Endorses Cabinet's Policy—The Foreign Secretary Had Been Consulted — Curt Answers.

London, March 10.—The hope that the letter sent last month by Emperor William of Germany to Lord Tweedmouth, First Lord of the Admiralty, in which, it has been charged, His Majesty attempted to influence Great Britain's naval legislation, and the British Minister's reply thereto would be made public for the edification of the people, was quickly dispelled by Herbert H. Asquith, Chancellor of the Exchequer, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon.

In a couple of curt sentences Mr. Asquith, who was acting as Premier, told A. J. Balfour and his other questioners that he had nothing to add to his statement of Friday, and that so far as he knew Lord Tweedmouth had nothing to add to his declaration, beyond the fact that immediately on the receipt of Emperor William's letter the First Lord of the Admiralty showed it to Sir Edward Grey, the Foreign Secretary, who agreed with the recipient that the letter had no official character, and should be treated as a private communication.

"It is clearly out of the question," continued Mr. Asquith, "to lay private, and personal correspondence on the table."

A question from Amelius R. M. Lockwood, a Conservative member of the House, as to whether it was possible for a communication on such an important question to be regarded in any way as private, drew a still curter "Yes" from Mr. Asquith, and when he was asked to give the House of Commons an opportunity to discuss Lord Tweedmouth's conduct, the acting head of the Government maintained a chilly silence.

Lord Lansdowne, leader of the Opposition in the House of Lords, twitted Lord Tweedmouth with not being able to keep his own secrets. He said that about as much privacy appeared to have been attached to this correspondence as usually was attached to the private view at the Royal Academy, that marked the commencement of each season, but he said he had no idea of pressing the First Lord of the Admiralty to depart from his decision not to make the letter public. He thought the letters might be regarded as the kind of communication that could pass verbally at a meeting between a foreign sovereign and a British Minister without any suggestion of impropriety.

The feature of the session in the House of Lords was a speech by Lord Rosebery, who had the Prince of Wales in a seat beside him. The former Premier made an attack upon the "yellow" journalism of England, with special reference to the inferences drawn by The London Times from the letters.

"We have witnessed," Lord Rosebery said, "the whole world drawing the absolutely insane inference that the German Emperor was attempting to influence Lord Tweedmouth to cut down the naval estimates and check the increase of British armaments. This country has been placed in an unseemingly ridiculous position, and I am quite sure the idea mentioned never entered Emperor William's head or the head of any educated person entitled to remain outside of a lunatic asylum."

Power Project In Vermont — Will Serve Parts of Three States.

Brattleboro, Vt., March 10.—The construction of a big dam across the Connecticut River is now under way, with the expectation of turning the waters of New England's greatest river into New England's biggest electric plant.

By means of the dam it is proposed to distribute the electric power within a radius including parts of three states. The power here is believed to be the largest developed water power in New England. The cost of the dam will be more than a million dollars.

The height of the dam, including its flush boards, would be 34 feet. The power house, which will be built of solid masonry, will extend from the Vermont shore 260 feet out into the river and will be a part of the dam. Beyond that there will be a spillway 600 feet long, making an 850 foot dam.

STRATHCONAS BEAT LINDSAY BANKERS IN SPLENDID GAME

The Lindsay Bankers of the Scugog City League were strengthened for the game with the Strathconas here at Brock street rink last night by the presence of Newton and Koyle of the Lindsay Midgets, but even those doughty allies were powerless to save them from defeat and the Strathconas won by 8 goals to 0, leading at half time by 3—1. The play was not as close as the score would appear to indicate. Inasmuch as the Straths had it all over their opponents up to the last few minutes, leading by 8 goals to 1. The local city league champions were not in the best of shape, however, not having been on the ice for two weeks and they tired badly on end, the Lindsay team rattling in five goals in a row and making the finish much closer than one would have expected from the showing of the two teams up to that period.

Individually, and as a team, the Strathconas were the better aggregation, and while they lasted they were all over the Scugog money men, their speed and aggressiveness keeping Lindsay on the defensive for the greater part of the game, until they performed the "fade away" act in the dying stages of the game. The Straths played clever combination and shot more accurately than the visitors from Mudville while the carried the puck well in on the nets for shots. They checked back well too until the last period, when they were too tired, and it was only on rare occasions that the Lindsay forward line made away together.

Ray, at centre, was about the best man on the ice last night, getting away with some of the prettiest stick handling of the season. He certainly accomplished the feature play of the year, when getting the puck at his own goal he dashed around behind the nets, and tearing down the other side of the rink outskating the Lindsay forwards, skated around Koyle and tipped the rubber into the nets, after the most sensational rush of the local team. Dusty, at rover was always effective and brilliant, tearing loose on some brilliant rushes while his checking always helped the defence. Weatherstone and McMillan both did good work off the wings and Barber, at point, stopped many well meant rushes.

Lindsay's defence was much stronger than the forward line and proved a hard three to beat On the line the work was nearly all of an individual nature, and they had not the speed to get away with it. Koyle, of course, was the star of the team, but he was so closely checked, especially during the first half, that he had little chance of breaking loose. When he did shake off the forwards, however, and bored down on the defence he was always dangerous. Byron Green, formerly of the Ontario Bank staff here, played a splendid game at cover, and "Bas" Newton, the goal keeper of the Lindsay intermediates, got himself in the way of a number of likely heaves. Cotton, formerly of St. Andrew's College, and Cain of the C. L. S. team were the stars of the forwards.

The greater part of the game was played with the teams six men a side. Ferguson had his nose broken within the first few minutes by an accidental crack from Koyle's stick and had to retire, the Lindsay team dropping Watson.

Len Dobson, of the Strathconas, refereed the game impartially and well, getting everything in the off side line, while no rough work was allowed to go.

Following were the teams:

Lindsay	Stratheonas
Goal
Newton	Wilson
Point
Koyle	Barber
Cover Point
Green	Ferguson
Rover
Cain	Dusty
Centre
Cotton	Ray
Right Wing
Conway	McMillan
Left Wing
Watson	Weatherstone

The play was fast from the start, with the Straths having the advantage. Dusty travelled right through the bunch for a score, but kicked the puck just before he shot and the goal was not allowed. Ferguson was hurt and went off, Lindsay dropping Watson. Finally, however, Ray got going and passed to McMillan when Koyle was reached, with the result a goal. Straths 1, Lindsay 0.

One minute after Dusty carried the puck from centre well in on the nets and scored with a pretty shot. Score—Straths 2, Lindsay 0.

Green was penalized for tripping Ray and had just got back in the game when Weatherstone was benched for tripping Koyle and McMillan followed for body-checking the big fellow too severely. Playing six men to four Lindsay succeeded in scoring, Cain doing the trick. Score—Straths 2, Lindsay 1.

Green was penalized for a heavy body check and then came Ray's sensational end to end rush, which resulted in a brilliant score. Straths 3, Lindsay 1, which remained the figures until half time.

It took ten minutes' hard playing in the second half before a goal was scored, Dusty carrying the puck and passing to Weatherstone for a tally. Straths 4, Lindsay 1.

Ray got away on one of his spectacular rushes, followed by a pretty shot and the score was, Straths 5, Lindsay 1.

Dusty was penalized for hooking Green but Straths kept on scoring Ray breaking loose again for a long run, driving the puck right in for a counter. Straths 6, Lindsay 1.

Dusty signalized his return to the game by carrying the puck up the ice and passing to McMillan, who scored on a scoop shot from the wing. Straths 7, Lindsay 1.

Koyle and McMillan mixed it up and both were sent away. Ray carried the puck up for the Straths' last goal. Score—Strathconas 8, Lindsay 1.

Then came Lindsay's brace and the fading away of the High Commissioners, who blew up all at once. Koyle started by a long rush for a score and two minutes afterwards he scored again, the puck coming back to him from a scrimmage. The play was nearly all in Strathconas' territory during this period, and before time was called the visitors succeeded in scoring three more from scrimmages, Cottor, Cain and Conway each tallying one. The Strathconas were very tired and welcomed the final bell.

Following is the summary:

1—Strathconas, McMillan, 10 mins.
2—Strathconas, Dusty, 1 min.
3—Lindsay, Cain, 5 mins.
4—Strathconas, Ray, 5 mins.
Half Time—
5—Strathconas, Weatherstone, 10 mins.
6—Strathconas, Ray, 4 mins.
7—Strathconas, Ross, 2 mins.
8—Strathconas, McMillan, 2 mins.
9—Strathconas, Ray, 4 mins.
10—Lindsay, Koyle, 4 mins.
11—Lindsay, Koyle, 2 mins.
12—Lindsay, Cotton, 1.30 mins.
13—Lindsay, Cain, 1 min.
14—Lindsay, Conway, 1 min.

Penalties—

Lindsay—Green 2, Koyle; total 3.
Strathcona—Weatherstone, McMillan 2, Dusty; total 4.

No Danger of a Fire Panic in the King Edward School

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir—If all the schools in the city are structurally in as good shape as the King Edward School and if the fire drill is as well handled as by the principal Mr Dunlop, the parents of the children can rest content as to their safety. Happening to be in the vicinity this morning I called on the eprincipal and entirely unexpectedly to him asked that the fire alarm should be sounded. The result was as astonishing as pleasing, every child being outside of the building in less than fifty seconds. I might add that this was done at a walk, running being absolutely forbidden by the principal, I think this fact will be of interest to many parents in the city, and trust that as good a result will be shown by the other schools in Peterborough. One thing should be obligatory, and that is that at least one fire drill should be held every week. The danger is that the necessity for the drill is forgotton untill some fearful catastrophe wakes us up to its need.

Yours very truly,
G. K. MARTIN.

ON THE CONSERVATIVE CONVENTION

Dummer Township Elector Cites Some of the Facts

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me space in your valuable paper to correct a statement made in the Review of 6th March in which the Review asserts that "nothing was done at the recent East Peterborough Convention that was not submitted to and confirmed by the delegates." Now, sir, we wish to state that a motion was put and carried almost unanimously, that each vice-president be allowed to substitute delegates from their respective municipalities for those who were not and could not be present, and as these substitutes were present the chairman ruled the motion unconstitutional and out of order. Thus they were deprived of the privilege to vote. These are facts which no one present can deny, and as Mr. Burnham was present we are surprised to read anything different from the truth in the columns of the Review.

We do not wish to keep up strife. But if the Review thinks not, we will send in a dozen or more names who did not or will not stand to make Mr. Thompson's election unanimous.

I do not wish my name published in the paper this time, until I see what the Review has to say, then, if it desires my statement, I will come out plainly and will send you all the names in full.

Thanking you in advance for your valuable space.

A Dummer Township Elector.

INDEPENDENCE RE CARNEGIE LIBRARY

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir,—During my short stay in this city, I have been told by several Canadians, that in their visit to the Old Country they were surprised by working men in railway stations, hotels, etc., asking for tips, showing, what they thought, a lack of independence which did not exist among the working men of Canada. I asked one gentleman if he knew the cause of it (and sure enough he hit the bull's eye first shot.) I suppose, he said, it is mostly the fault of the employer by paying poor wages—just so. Now, Sir, in which case does the greatest lack of independence exist—a poorly paid working man asking for a tip of a couple of coppers from any one to whom he has rendered some small service, or the city of Peterborough asking a tip of $25,000 or $30,000 from Mr. Carnegie, to whom they have rendered no service whatever? Free libraries are a great boon to some people, but in my experience it is those who can well afford one of their own who appreciate it. If you have one in Peterborough, have it so that it will not be like a millstone around your neck.

Thanking you for the small space,
Yours truly,
RUMINATOR.

Ontario Troops For Quebec.

Toronto, March 10.—"I shouldn't wonder," said Brigadier General Otter last night, when asked whether the military camps at Niagara, Barriefield and London would be omitted this year in order that the men might be taken to Quebec to take part in the tercentenary there in July. Nothing had been definitely decided as yet, he said, and the commanding officer of the district had received no instructions to that effect.

A mobilization of the militia east of Winnipeg at Quebec is a project that the department of militia is now considering. It would no doubt add greatly to the picturesqueness of the celebration.

The regiments of Toronto are already making preparations to send contingents, and it is thought that about 1,500 will go from Toronto.

Toledo Iceman Released.

Toledo, March 10.—Judge Brough in Common Pleas Court yesterday, issued an order releasing from jail R. C. Lemmon, R. A. Beard and Jos. Miller, the icemen sentenced to six months' imprisonment for violation of the anti-trust laws.

The men had served thirty-seven days. The motion for suspension of sentence was made last week, and there was also presented to the court a petition that counsel for the prisoners and the prosecuting attorney agreed the court that authority to suspend sentence. It was admitted that the families and business of the prisoners needed them, and that they had been sufficiently punished.

CURES ECZEMA!
Dr. Agnew's Ointment can count its cured patients by the thousands.
But in no one skin disease has it so many almost marvellous cures as in cases of Eczema—this tenacious skin disorder which has baffled many a physician in seeking after a cure. One application puts out the fire, takes away the itching, stinging sensation, and after a few applications the eruptions begin to dry up, diminish, and eventually disappear entirely. The beauty of the treatment is, it leaves no scar or trace of the trouble—but a skin as soft as baby's. Cures piles in four to six nights. 35 cts. (4)

Stanley Gorman Honourably Acquitted By Judge Weller

Old Charge Shown to Be Without Foundation and the Boy Was Found Not Guilty—Witnesses for the Prosecution

ADVICE FROM THE JUDGE

Stanley Gorman this morning was honourably acquitted when he appeared before Judge Weller charged with the theft of $45 from the steamer Monarch on July 21, 1906. He had been committed to trial on the agreement of Mr. Wood and Mr Gordon at the preliminary hearing. To-day he elected to be tried by the judge without a jury.

The evidence offered did not incriminate Gorman whatever, and the judge found him not guilty and acquitted him without hesitation.

Mr. R. E. Wood appeared for the Crown and Mr. Gordon for the defence.

The Evidence

Mr. Dan McAllister, partner with Mr. Wilbert Harris of Gore's Landing, as owners of the steamer Monarch, was the first witness. He said on Saturday, July 21, 1906, they made their regular trip to Peterborough and when the boat had been tied at the wharf all the employees went up town, leaving the boat with no one in charge. Witness said he had left over $45 in a cash-box in a locker in the bow of the boat.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon witness returned to the boat and was asked by one of the passengers who made the morning trip to change a bill. Witness went to the locker to get the cash-box but the locker had been opened and the box was gone. A cash-box was produced in court which the witness said was identical with that he had owned. Mr. McAllister said he had seen the box produced in court at the police station.

Mr. Wilbert Harris was called, but offered no new evidence.

Other witnesses were Joseph O'Toole and Fred Sullivan.

Mr. Wood stated that no case had been made.

Judge Weller, in finding young Gorman not guilty, said no evidence whatever had been offered against the boy. His Honour gave him a few words of advice about the company he had been keeping, and admonished him to be careful in the future.

East City Man, Bitten By A Cat, Dies of Blood Poisoning

Sad Ending of Mr. Roland Tivey—Had Just Returned From New Ontario to Visit His Parents—Was Well Known Here

THE FUNERAL TO-MORROW

The intelligence of the sad demise of Mr. Roland Tivey, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. R. Tivey, East City, who passed away at 10 o'clock last night in the Nicholls Hospital as a result of blood-poisoning, will be learned with deep sorrow and regret by all who knew him. The circumstances surrounding his death are very sad. Mr. Tivey came home from New Ontario about two weeks ago to spend a short vacation with his mother and father in East City. About ten days ago he was playing with a cat and was severely bitten on the end of one of his fingers. The wound at first was not given any serious attention and it developed into blood-poisoning. He was ordered to the hospital on Saturday but his condition gradually grew worse and he finally passed away last night in the hospital, surrounded by many of his relations.

The deceased gentleman was very well known around the city and his sad and sudden death is the topic of conversation this morning.

Mr. Tivey was 42 years of age and was born in Prescott. He came to Peterborough at the age of 22, with his parents and resided here until four years ago when he took a position in New Ontario on Railway Construction work. He was unmarried and leaves behind him his mother and father, four sisters, Mrs. E. D. Storey, of Ottawa, and Mrs. J. J. Howden, Mrs. T. H. Adams and Alice, of this city, and two brothers, Albert, of Englehart and Sidney, of Calgary.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the family residence, 137 Stanley avenue, East City, to the Little Lake Cemetery.

PROGRESS OF ST. JOHN'S MISSION

Two Excellently Delivered Addresses There Last Night

The mission service in St. John's last night was marked by two addresses of extraordinary power delivered by the missioner, Rev. W. B. Heeney, whose logical presentations and appeals were closely followed with deep interest by the large congregation present. Mr. Heeney's first subject was "The More Abundant Life," explaining the secret of the indwelling of the Holy Spirit. He followed this with a deeply spiritual meditation on the abiding presence of God and the power resulting from a realization of this fact. Rev. Dr. Langfeldt made a strong introductory address at the opening of the service.

A number of easy popular hymns were heartily sung, led effectively by Mr. Gliddon's orchestra, which is a striking feature in the services. A most enthusiastic spirit was observable in the large corps of workers who remained after the service for consultation on the present progress of the work.

Yesterday afternoon Rev. C. R. Wilkinson gave a devotional address on prayer, listened to by a large congregation, including many from the Sunday school. The service has been placed at this hour to permit of the attendance of the boys and girls.

After prayer and the singing of a hymn last night Rev. Dr. Langfeldt spoke on "Reality in Religion," referring to the half-hearted attempts that had been current in the past for Christianity, and showing the possibility of rising to share in some of the triumphs in religion.

Rev. W. B. Heeney next spoke on the secret of the abundant life. He said one sort of life might be found on the beds of a hospital, but it was a maimed and imperfect life. The life in the church was, unfortunately, too much of this nature, and it was time it was stronger and more robust.

In vivid terms he pictured what might be done if Christian people adopted the means placed within their power. It is impossible to give due justice to the real effectiveness of this address delivered in a clear, calm, logical way, carrying conviction to all who listened. After a hymn Mr. Heeney gave his second address on the Abiding Presence of Christ which was within reach of all though comparatively few availed themselves of the wonderful life. He should be near to us in the office, in the street and in the home. That we did not derive the benefit of this resulted from our lack of spiritual eyesight, which could be overcome by watching at the opportunities that lie in our paths.

Essex County Terrorized.

Windsor, March 10.—Essex County has suffered from a series of petty robberies the past month. Thieves have visited Maidstone, Ruthven, Essex and other places. Postoffices and general stores have been favorites with the robbers.

At Essex thieves entered the home of Mrs. Harry Daykin and chloroformed her while they ransacked the house. The latest place visited is Stoney Point, where the general store of Emmanuel Desmarais was entered and two hundred dollars worth of goods taken. The burglars had a wagon to take away the plunder. Provincial detectives and county officers are completely baffled at the many jobs pulled off.

Chased by Timber Wolves.

Port Arthur, Ont., March 10.—Twenty ravenous timber wolves kept Tom and Patrick Murphy, trappers, up a slim tree in Silver Mountains all Friday night. The thermometer was below zero, and the men were without overcoats. Two shots had failed to scare off the leaders of the pack, and the men had to barry so up the tree that Tom tore off part of his clothes.

Before the wolves scattered in the morning the men shot nine of them, for which they collected here yesterday a bounty of $125.

Stopped Jail Delivery.

Guelph, March 10.—A jail delivery was prevented here yesterday by the alertness of a son of Warden McNab, who overheard a signal given by one of the prisoners.

Six men under the leadership of John Cox, awaiting removal to the Central Prison, were found to have dug a hole under the wall with iron taken from the cell cots. The delivery was about to take place when discovered.

Blacks Have Revolted.

NEW PIANO WILL BE PURCHASED

Charlotte Street Sunday School Board Have Decided Upon This Step.

AN IMPORTANT MEETING

Last night's business and social meeting of the Charlotte street Sunday School Board was especially interesting. There was a large attendance of the teachers and officers of the school.

The first hour was spent in business matters the principal item discussed was the purchase of an additional piano, which was decided upon.

The old piano will be retained for use in the Guild Room and Primary Department.

The Ladies' Aid Society have donated $100 for this purpose. The choir and Mission Circle also made generous contributions. The special collection last Sunday of nearly $50 with previous contributions places the fund in good condition.

The Sunday School census movement was heartily endorsed by the Board and a committee appointed to look after the names that may be reported to this church.

It was decided to give special attention to organized Bible Class work at the next meeting.

At the close of the business session, the Board adjourned to the auditorium where they were delightfully entertained by the young ladies of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cunningham's Bible Class, and a social hour spent around the daintily arranged tables made a happy combination of business and pleasure.

The meeting closed after expressing a very hearty appreciation of the services of the class whose efforts had so successfully contributed to the enjoyment of the occasion.

EIGHT CHILDREN AT THE SHELTER

A Larger Number Than Usual Being Cared For.

The Children's Aid Society has now eight children under its care at the Shelter at the north end of the city. Three of them are brothers, there is a brother and a sister and the three other children are alone. All but one are for adoption. They have been coming into the Shelter in numbers, but are quickly distributed among good homes. The eight that are now there are all bright little ones and should soon be placed out in homes.

Suicide In The Room Where Mrs. Kerr Was Asphyxiated

Mrs. Louisa Atchison Howell Drank Carbolic Acid And Was Found in Dying Condition — The Bottle Found.

AN INQUEST WAS HELD

A partly emptied bottle of carbolic acid found under her pillow told the story of the suicide of Mrs. Louisa Atchison-Howell about six o'clock last evening. She was found dying, as a result of the poison, in her room on the second flat just over the rear of Dutton's store. Mr. William Austin for whom she has been keeping house a number of years returned from work after half-past five o'clock and shortly afterwards discovered that Mrs. Howell was dying. He ran down into the lane that extends south from Brock street at the rear of the stores and called to a man, who, learning the facts, went for a doctor. The time then was about fifteen minutes to six o'clock.

A Second Death

Medical aid was unavailing and death occurred shortly after six o'clock. It is a strange coincidence that in the latter part of December Mrs. Margaret Kerr an elderly woman, occupying the same room, was asphyxiated by fumes from a coal stove.

P. C. Meharry was summoned about six o'clock, and P. C. Newhall going on duty visited the room with Coroner Gray at seven o'clock. Mrs. Howell was in bed. Beside her on a table a cup was found partly filled with tea which smelled strongly of Carbolic and it is believed that she drank the poison diluted in the tea. The acid was bought yesterday morning at McDermid & Jury's by Mrs. Howell.

Dr. Gray considered that an inquest was necessary and ordered a preliminary investigation for 11 o'clock this morning.

At eleven o'clock to-day a jury was empanelled by the coroner to inquire into her death. The jury consisted of Messrs. J. Counal, W. A. Bell, D. Drummond, Wm. Lillie, W. H. Stroud, Geo. Hall, Ed. Campbell, H. Stenson, W. J. Oke, W. E. Lech, I. Richardson, W. H. White, A. Laidlaw, R. Turner. Mr. Bell was appointed foreman.

After viewing the remains Dr. Carmichael was called, but no evidence was taken and the inquest was adjourned until this afternoon at three o'clock. Whether there will be a post-mortem examination or not will likely depend on the doctor's evidence.

Havelock Merchant Meets With A Serious Accident

Mr. J. W. Bryans Falls Beneath C. P. R. Train at Norwood Station—Leg Amputated.

IN THE NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

Examiner Special.

Norwood, March 11.—Mr. J. W. Bryans, a well known Havelock merchant, had a narrow escape from death last night at the C. P. R. station here, as the local was leaving on her eastward journey.

Mr. Bryans met with a serious accident which may necessitate the amputation of his right leg. He was in Peterborough yesterday and on arriving at the station here, on his way home to Havelock, got off the train to converse with a friend.

While standing on the platform the train began to move out, and in an attempt to catch it he fell beneath the last coach, the wheels passing over his leg and crushing it badly.

As quickly as possible he was taken to Smith's hotel in the village, where the three local doctors, Pettigrew, Ford and Wilson, attended him. At 10 o'clock his wife and son, accompanied by Dr. Holdcroft, of Havelock, arrived in the village and he was taken to the Nicholls Hospital in Peterborough. His many friends here regretted very much to hear of the accident, as he is much respected in Norwood by all who know him.

During the night, on account of the wound being of such a serious nature, his right leg had to be amputated and he is progressing as well as is possible under the circumstances. Mr. Bryans was in the city yesterday and called at many places of business. He is one of the most prominent merchants of Havelock and is known to many the city hope for a speedy recovery of the mishap. His many friends in in the city, who were shocked to hear of his health and strength again.

A Deepening Interest In St. John's Parochial Mission

Rev. Mr. Barber of Bobcaygeon the Speaker Last Night — Many In Attendance.

THE STREET SERVICES

The mission services at St. John's are arousing a deep interest, not only among members of the congregation, but among many members of other communions, who are well represented among the large congregations that are growing nightly in attendance, with many evidences of greatly awakened interest in spiritual matters. On Sunday, when the mission opened, there were, of course, large congregations, on Monday night there was a good attendance, followed by a considerably larger last night. The services are quite informal, consisting of special prayers, plain, earnest, pointed gospel addresses, and the hearty singing of familiar hymns of special devotional character. The singing is led by Mr. Glidden's excellent orchestra, whose lead and accompaniment are a great assistance. The orchestra is most faithful in its work and attends night after night, as the contribution of its members to the promotion of the success of the mission. The singing is entirely congregational, and the energy and earnestness thrown into it, as, in fact, into every element of the service, seem to afford evidence of an interest which must result in good. The uniformity of the service extends, to a certain degree, to the congregation, many of whom appear in their ordinary attire, many labouring men occupying seats in their working garb. At the conclusion of the service last night many persons remained for personal conference with the missioner. There was also a meeting of the workers, and enthusiastic reports were given of the work done, and arrangements made for even more energetic work in this direction. The services will be continued to-night, when Mr. Salisbury Lloyd, the Welsh evangelist, will be present. On Friday evening a mass meeting for men will be held in the church, and will be addressed by Mr. E. J. B. Pense, M.P.P., Kingston; Mr. W. H. Hoyle, M.P.P., and others. On this occasion the special services and singing of familiar hymns will form a feature. On Sunday next Hon. A. B. Morine, late Attorney-General of Newfoundland, who recently addressed the Canadian Club, will be one of the speakers. It is expected that the mission services will deepen in interest from now till their conclusion on March 18.

Last Night's Service

The church was well filled last evening and the inspiring address by Rev. Mr. Barber of Bobcaygeon will no doubt be productive of much good. The street service attracted a large number to the service, and each evening the good results of conducting these services on the street corners are becoming more evident. The many popular hymns led by Mr. Glidden's orchestra were sung heartily by the congregation. Those present listened with intense interest to Mr. Barber's strong appeal, and a solemn impressiveness was noticeable throughout the service.

"What think ye of Christ?" the words found in the 42nd verse of the 22nd chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel, formed the basis of Mr. Barber's remarks. "That question is the greatest thought and theme that has ever been known," began the speaker. "Take into consideration all the great men and heroes that have ever lived and putting them all together there is not one to equal Christ. "What think you of Christ?" asked the missioner. The Son of God was sent into the world in the manner and fashion of a man. The same conditions exist with mankind to-day as before Christ came upon earth. He came to give man all that the children of Adam had lost. "In baptism we are made members of Christ, but through sin and the world, we have become estranged from His love," said the speaker. "There is a barrier that is holding us back and we need something to break it down." Christ alone can destroy it. He is ready to help and restore the outcast. In Him alone is true happiness to be found. There is before everyone His sorrows and sufferings, His trials and temptations. He suffered just as man of to-day suffers. He was wounded in His friend's house. The speaker referred to the fact that at the present time many a man has started out to do good in their homes and among their companions and have met with discouragements. Christ went through all these trials," said the evangelist, "but how often do we think of Him as possessing the same passions and desires as we have?"

He stands before each one to-day with the same purpose and the same power. He is a person, a Divine leader. His teachings are not a system, but are founded on His own life.

"How can you deny the Saviour who died for you?" Mr. Barber asked. "He is the same as when He was on earth and is He not worth following?" The missioner stated that the obstacles that prevented the following of Christ were the social and worldly things. These were all right in their place, but were being carried to excess, drawing many down deep in the mire of sin.

"Christ is waiting for us and can we afford to spurn Him?" asked the speaker in conclusion. He urged those present to accept Christ, and take Him as their example of living.

A short after services was held in which several took part.

MEETING OF LIBERALS.

It will be seen by announcement in another column that a meeting of the supporters of the Liberal party of West Peterborough will be held in the offices of Messrs. O'Connell and Gordon on Saturday evening next at 7.30 o'clock. The object of the meeting is to consider the matter of calling a convention to nominate a candidate to contest the representation of the riding in the Local Legislature. It is to be hoped there will be a good attendance. All supporters of the Liberal party will be welcomed.

WORTHY OF PATRONAGE.

As worthy of patronage as is "The Crystal" at all times, it is especially so when its revenues are devoted to the noble work of strengthening the funds of the Children's Aid Society. To-morrow afternoon the entire receipts contributed by visitors to see the excellent moving pictures, will be turned over to the treasurer of the Society. For the Society's sake it is to be hoped that the attendance will be large. Large as it may be no individual visitor by purchasing a ten cent ticket will put himself or herself on a par with Mr. Edwards, the proprietor of the Crystal, who contributes far more than his share in proportion to the citizens generally, for he turns over the receipts of a whole afternoon for the purposes of the charity. He does this periodically and it would be a decent thing on the part of the public to bear this in mind when in the interval, "The Crystal" from day to day presents its deserving claims, as an excellent place of entertainment, to the public patronage.

FARMERS AND MERCHANTS.

The Examiner has frequently insisted upon the intimacy and importance of the trade relations existing between the farmers and the merchants. The recent severe snow blockade which for days shut out the farmers from Peterborough was used as an illustration. While this blockade did not prevent the city dwellers from free access to the shops, there was a great shrinkage of local trade, which demonstrated how valuable was, and is, the patronage of the farmer. The Dry Goods Review is cognizant of the importance of the general condition illustrated above, and in an elaborate article points out the intimacy of relationship between the farmer and the merchant, asserting that "the farmer is the best customer the retail merchant has." This is where the merchant and business man have their opportunity in the way of assisting in the development of the farm industry to the advantage of both. The great need of the Ontario farmer is farm help and the merchant and business man are interested in helping as far as may be in supplying this need. If a merchant can find a farm hand for a customer he helps that customer's prosperity and himself stands to reap a direct benefit. It is easy to see how the co-operation made general can contribute immensely to the farmer's prosperity directly, and indirectly to the business of the merchant.

It is evident that the farming industry in this province falls far short of its tremendous possibilities. Farms in this province are not beginning to produce the wealth they are capable of producing. The last year for which statistics are available, the average yield of wheat per acre in Ontario, was 21 bushels and a fraction. No one will say that this yield represents the best possible average results, but the majority of persons will be amazed to learn just what the possibilities in this one instance are. If the condition were ideal; if the seed were perfect—no weak, or worse still, dead grains— if the soil were properly cultivated and the sown grain properly covered; if the land were clear of weeds and if reasonably favourable weather conditions prevailed, instead of producing 21 bushels per acre the yield should be 250 bushels. That is, the number of grains of wheat in the bushel and a half necessary to sow an acre of land are capable of producing 250 bushels.

These results are obtained ,it is true, under ideal conditions which cannot hope to be reached in practical farming, but they show what great improvement is possible. If the grain output of Ontario were increased five times, or even doubled and these are in within the reach of every farmer with right methods applied, see the extent to which both farmer and merchant and the whole community would benefit.

The same is illustrated in the dairying industry. Here is proof. The average yearly yield of milk of the cows of Ontario is not over 3,500 lbs., according to the statement of C C James, Deputy Minister of Agriculture. There is a herd of cows at the Guelph Agricultural College and the average yield of four of the best cows in that herd last year was 13,008 pounds, not ten times the average yield of the cows of the province, but almost. These four cows produced a profit over value of feed of $279.88, or an average of $69.97 as compared with a net averaga profit for the cows of the province of less than $7.75. Were the dairy cattle of Ontario equal to the average of the Guelph herd—which is quite possible—instead of producing $17,000,000 worth of cheese last year the province's cheese production would have been worth more than $160,000,000. Apply this reasoning to Peterborough county, which last year produced cheese to the value of nearly $500,000. With cows equal to the average of the four at Guelph the farmers would have had $4,500,000 from their sale of cheese alone. Would the retailers of Peterborough county have done more business had the farmers received $4,500,000 instead of $500,000? The answer is easy. Here is where the interests of the farmers and the merchants come into vital touch. The indications are far more friendly co-operation between both to their mutual advantage. These facts are given in the rough; the intelligent farmer and merchant can work out the details at their leisure. The results will furnish food for thought and inspiration for action.

A COMPARISON OF POLICIES.

Ottawa Free Press.

During the interesting debate upon the railway estimates in the House of Commons on Thursday last there was an invaluable comparison of the attitude of the two parties towards trades unionism, which it is to be hoped will not be lost sight of by the organized labour of this country.

Hon. G. P. Graham, in the course of his speech pointed out that the oft-repeated charge that the employees of the Intercolonial were subject to political influences was unfounded, and cited in support of his argument the fact that "63 per cent. of the employees of the Intercolonial railway are members of unions and their advancement is in the hands of the unions and cannot be meddled with by any political party."

Proceeding to elaborate this idea, the Minister said:—

"They are subject to the laws of the union, they get their advancement and their increase of pay as the union laws direct, if the men be competent. And, the manager himself does not interfere with that arrangement with the unions. Everyone knows what would happen if this arrangement was not carried out. We have the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, the Brotherhood of Firemen, the Brotherhood of Trainmen, the Brotherhood of Railway Telegraphers; all these men have their organizations, and these matters are regulated under arrangement made by the organizations with the management of the railway, and the promotions of the men are made according to the rules of the union, the men being qualified, and no political influence can interfere with the bargain or with the keeping back of any one of this 63 per cent. of the employees.

"It may be said: But why do you employ men belonging to these unions? I have been approached on this matter by several men who have said to me: You are allowing the Intercolonial to be run by unions. I say no. This is the age of organization, and the employees of the Intercolonial railway or of any other railway have as much right to form a combination for the protection of their own interests as has The Manufacturers' Association or any other organization.

"The unions may make mistakes, they do; sometimes they are unreasonable; sometimes other people are unreasonable as well as trades unions. Sometimes they ask for things that I think they should not have, and they do not get them if I can prevent it, if I think they are unreasonable. But take them all in all, the labour organizations, so far as The Intercolonial railway is concerned, have not been unreasonable. When I have met their officials or representatives in any capacity whatever, they have sat down and reasoned things out with me in a very intelligent manner, and up to date we have been able to come to conclusions with perhaps a little give and take on both sides, and always these conclusions have been in the interests of the proper running of the road. I have come to the conclusion that the presence of labour organizations such as I have mentioned is a benefit to the management of the road rather than a detriment. I think this is an answer to some critics who have suggested that the Intercolonial, being a Government road, should not recognize labour unions. While it is a Government road, it has to be run on those lines like any other road."

That is a plain, above-board explanation of the attitude of the Liberal party towards organized labour.

What is the policy of the Conservative party as voiced by its ex-Minister of Railways, Mr. Haggart? He characterized the Minister's statement as being "most extraordinary," and continued:

"Just fancy the absolute control over the employees on the Intercolonial Railway being, not in the department at all, but in the hands of a union which is controlled by these very employees. If that be the case then the Minister has no control over the expenditure or the running of his road. He cannot dismiss or promote a man except with the consent of the union. That is a most extraordinary position. Why, a Government railway, under the control of the people of this country, SHOULD NOT HAVE A UNION ON IT AT ALL. The employees of the Government railway have Parliament to look to, if the Minister does not do them justice. The absolute control over the Intercolonial Railway should be in the hands of the Minister and his officers, subject to the authority of Parliament."

These two declarations of policy are so divergent and so explicit that it is to be hoped that the Liberals of the section of the country through which the Intercolonial runs will see to it that every employee of the Government railways who is a member of one of the brotherhoods shall be made aware of the circumstance that if Mr. Haggart ever becomes Minister of Railways again he will make it his policy to prevent any employee of the Intercolonial belonging to a labour organization.

But there is not much to wonder at in this attitude of the Conservative party, after all. The only criticism of this department of labour that is heard in this country comes from Tories, who assert so often that this creation by the Liberals in the interest of the workers of Canada is "a pandering to Labour at the expense of Capital."

DEATH OF A DISTINGUISHED URSULINE NUN IN IRELAND

The Catholic Record in a recent issue says:

From a Thurles (Ireland) paper we take the following account of the death of a nun of the Ursuline order, Mother Patrick Tracey. It is published at the request of Rev. J. J. Kelly, of Doaro, Ont., whose cousin german she was:

Many sad deaths have been recorded in Thurles of late, but none could be sadder or more regretted than hers, whose loss we mourn this week —Mother Patrick Tracey of the Ursuline Convent, Thurles. We regret Mother Patrick, the religious who was beloved by her community—the highly gifted and accomplished teacher of arts and sciences—but above and before all, we mourn for Mother Patrick, the true, large hearted Irishwoman, whose generosity, broad-mindedness and kindness drew to her whatever might be their creed or station in life.

For almost twenty years Mother Patrick was head mistress of St. Angela's Academy, and in this position became generally known to the people of Thurles and the surrounding districts. For the past eight years she has held the post of Mistress General over the large boarding school of the Ursuline Convent, her remarkable talent for organizing and discipline, her untiring watchfulness for those entrusted to her care, her zealous efforts for anything which would further the cause of God and of Ireland, made her pre-eminently fitted for such an arduous and responsible post. With the learned she was learned, but with children she was a child, and the great secret of her success as a teacher and organizer lay in her whole-hearted devotion to her pupils and her personal interest in each individual child—an interest which remained to help and encourage when the child had exchanged her happy school days for the cares and trials of the world.

The number of children in the well-known boarding school of the Ursuline Convent, Thurles, varies from eighty to ninety each year. This fact alone makes us realize how wide-spreading was the influence of Mother Patrick's work and teaching. Therefore she will be mourned for not only in Thurles, where her great and genial personality was most directly felt, but in every town in Tipperary, in every county in Munster, in every province of Ireland there are people who have experienced her kindness, circuits who bless her for the help she has given their children, and children whose mothers have taught them to reverence Mother Patrick's name.

It is sad that we have lost so good a nun, so gifted a teacher, and such a true, unselfish woman, for Ireland needs many such women at present. But it is well that we have the example of her great self-sacrificing life, that we can see the good results of her efforts and hear her praise from young and old. In thinking of her we are consoled by recalling the words of a great man, who, like her, devoted his life to the education of youth—"Truly, a life lived in earnest cannot die. It goes on forever."

Peru-na Promptly Relieves Severe Cold and La Grippe.

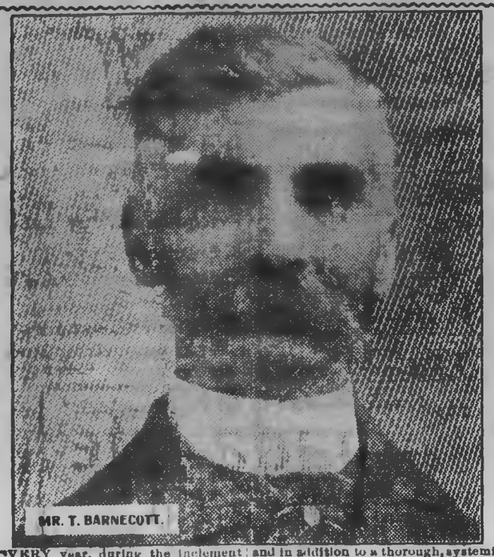
Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes:

"Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having la grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well, and I can say that any one can be cured by it in a reasonable time and at little expense. Every time I take a cold, I take some Peruna, which makes me well again.

"I also advised it for my daughter who was so ill with prostration that she could not follow her trade of dressmaking. A bottle of Peruna made such a change in her that she has been able to follow her business ever since.

"I also induced a young lady, who was all rundown and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring.

"I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."



MR. T. BARNECOTT.

EVERY year, during the inclement weather of winter, there is an epidemic of catarrh. The disease is really catarrhal in nature, but from the form it assumes, has been commonly termed 'the grip.'

Splendid Remedy For La Grippe.

Mr. Frank H. Fielder, 213 Pleasant Ave., Montgomery, Ala., formerly principal of Haynesville High School, writes:

I can truthfully say that Peruna is a splendid remedy for la grippe and a good tonic for building up the system."

Grippe is very tenacious when it gets a firm hold upon the system, and in addition to a thorough, systemic catarrh remedy, a great deal of patience and persistence in the treatment are required to eradicate the disease.

Peruna, an internal catarrh remedy, is one of the best medicines ever devised to meet the exigencies of these cases. The large number of commendatory letters received by Dr. Hartman, the inventor of Peruna, in behalf of his remedy is proof sufficient of its value as a reliable medicine for the 'grip.'

Prompt Relief.

Mr. Frank Bauer, Minneiska, Minn., writes: "I suffered with la grippe. I took Peruna and in four days I was able to go out."

AN OHIO SCHOOL IS BURNED

School Janitors May Be Arrested For Locking Doors.

DRASTIC STEP AT CHICAGO

Proposal to Have Firemen Stationed In Schools While Children Are Present — Almshouse Burned—Aged People Die of Fright—Fire at Yacht Club — Many Firemen Injured In New York.

Toledo, March 11.—The school building at Napoleon, Ohio, the largest of the kind in the state, was totally destroyed by fire yesterday. Loss $110,000.

The fire started at a quarter to nine, just as the children were on their way to school. Some were playing in the yard at the time it was discovered, and by nine o'clock, when all should have been in their seats, the building was a mass of flames. Superintendent Bemer and Principal White were alone in the structure. They escaped unhurt.

To Arrest School Officials.

Chicago, March 11.—The arrest and prosecution of one principal and the janitors and engineers of several public and private schools was demanded Monday by Acting Building Commissioner Robert Knight, in a letter to George H. White, city prosecutor.

This demand followed a conference held by Commissioner Knight, Architect Perkins of the board of education, and Fire Marshal Horan, at which reports as to the fire protection of Chicago schools made by 120 fire captains and thirty building inspectors were reviewed. The arrests asked for are those of custodians of school buildings, where doors have been locked when pupils were in their classes and study rooms.

Cleveland, Ohio, March 11.—The loss of lives of the little children in the Collinwood school fire was "absolutely inexcusable," Coroner Burk declared yesterday, after making a thorough investigation into the causes of the fire and the reasons why the children were caught in the hallway and burned without being able to escape.

"The poor little children were caught in a veritable trap and held until burned to death," he said. "Some one is responsible for this and should be held."

Firemen In Schools.

Boston, Mass., March 11.—An order was passed in the board of aldermen last night that the fire commissioner and the school commission at the request of the mayor consider the advisability of having a fireman in uniform stationed during sessions in every school house in the city having an attendance of over 500 children.

BRITAIN'S NAVAL SUPREMACY.

Debate on Estimates In Imperial House of Commons.

London, March 11.—The comparative strength of the navies of Great Britain and Germany, which already has occupied so much time during the present session of Parliament, was again brought to the front yesterday afternoon in the House of Commons by the debate on the naval estimates, and it drew from Herbert N. Asquith, the acting Premier, a reassertion of the intention of the Government to maintain Great Britain's unassailable supremacy at sea.

Mr. Asquith admitted that if Germany's present program of naval construction was carried out she would have 13 Dreadnoughts and Invincibles to Great Britain's 12 by November, 1911, assuming that Great Britain failed to lay down ships in 1908 to be completed prior to that date. Without forecasting the naval program for next year, Mr. Asquith said he could promise without the faintest hesitation that if the Government found a reasonable probability of the German program being carried out in the way the paper figures suggested, it would feel it its duty to provide not only for an additional number of ships, but for their construction by such a date as to make sure the suggested superiority of Germany would not become a fact.

Twenty Firemen Hurt.

New York, March 11.—A score of firemen were injured, hundreds of persons were driven from their homes and many buildings were threatened by a fire early yesterday which destroyed the six-storey brick structure at 38 West Eighteenth street. The Siegel-Cooper department store was seriously threatened at one time.

A back draft, which blew out every window in the burning building and scattered a shower of broken glass, was responsible for the injuries of so many firemen.

Sentenced to Four Months.

St. Thomas, March 11.—James A. Moore, who was recently found guilty of forgery to the extent of some $15,000 on the Dominion Bank, was yesterday sentenced by Judge Colter to four months' imprisonment in the county jail without labor, and the sentence to run from the 23rd of December, 1907, which practically means only one month yet to be served.

Three Killed by Fright.

San Francisco, March 11.—One of the buildings of the city and county alms house was burned yesterday. All of the 200 persons in the building, mostly patients, were removed in safety, but three old men died later from fright.

London, March 11.—Miss E. Swings, daughter of the late chief of police of St. Thomas, was struck by a train at the G. T. R. station here yesterday morning, dragged 40 feet and very seriously hurt.

Fire Escapes on Schools.

Stratford, March 11.—The public school board are unanimous on placing fire alarms in all the schools and also erecting fire escapes.
